ASSURING.

PORTENTS OF VICTORY IN THE EASTERN SKY.

Bright Republican Prospects Seen by the Editor-in-Chief of "The Times."

Taft's Splendid Leadership—Bryan's Crusade in the East Has Accomplished Nothing—Roosevelt's Powerful Personality Has Helped Win the Fight Against the Demagogue and Populist—Confidence in White House That Taft Will Get Four More States Than Roosevelt Carried.

BY THE EDITOR OF "THE TIMES."

JOHNS HOPKINS HOSPITAL, BALTIMORE (Md.) Sept. 26. [Exclusive Dispatch.] Political apathy in the East has been compelled to go to the rear by political activity. The campaign is warming up. The "Big Stick" is seen aswing, and its swish disturbs the circumambient as it falls with more or less violence upon the political pate of the "peerless one." He roars with rage and his responses take on a querulous tone, showing irritation and lack of equipoise. Red fire burns, and the chronic "smoke of battle" rises from numerous scenes of conflict. The combat deepens and the brave are summoned to the firing line.

TAFT'S BRAVE FIGHT.

But the finest, most inspiring spectacle presented by the whole campaign is that of the great Republican leader, William Howard Taft, entering the field of fight. Brave, capable, clean, honest and fearless, he is a powerful factor; and as he goes deeper and deeper into the combat he reminds us of a great battleship going into action. Casualties already occur; some heads on both sides have been knocked off, and the cries of the wounded are heard in various directions. But all this is merely a matter of course. No permanent harm will be done by a little preliminary bloodshed, and these events on the skirmish line will serve to clear the air and make the view of embattled hosts more luminous.

The reader who looks at the signature of this dispatch before reading it may say, "What can a man lying prone and immured behind the thick walls of a great hospital personally know about the political situation in half the country?"

I would confess judgment as to the amaze were it not for the fact that I have not a few special sources of information covering the great centers, and numerous substantiated facts have come to me here from political authorities of high standing and entire reliability.

In exploiting through this dispatch the political attitude of the East, I have not been able for obvious reasons to draw my information direct from the men who are managing the campaigns of the two great parties. But it has been my good fortune to receive visits from accredited politicians who are in close touch with the progress of political events throughout the East.

GEN. AGNUS.

Among my informants has been Gen. Felix Agnus, publisher of the hundred-year-old Baltimore American, and of its evening edition, The American Star. These are among the leading daily publications of the East and South. Gen. Agnus has long been recognized as standing among the national leaders of the Republican party and is at the very front in the work of moulding public opinion and advancing the interests of Baltimore. He was a delegate-at-large to the two last National Republican conventions. From Gen. Agnus and from friends in New York and Washington, including some Democrats, I have been so fortunate as to derive a tolerably accurate idea of political conditions all over the East.

The conclusion is that William Jennings Bryan, after an invasion of the former as well as the present "enemy's country"—the East—has returned, empty-handed, to his favorite haunts in the "wild and woolly" West. He came, he saw, and was seen, but he did not conquer. It is the same old East that blasted Adventurer Bryan's hopes in 1896 and again in 1900. After his visit, which covered two weeks, the East has found Mr. Bryan to be no stranger and no stronger. He is the same shopworn Bryan of 1896 and 1900, though he was not so loud nor so blatant as on previous incursions, nor did he tug as furiously at the hair of "Predatory Corporations."

FALSE FEAR OF THE WEST.

Curiously enough, here in the East there is fear that Mr. Bryan will sweep the Middle West and Far West and the Pacific Slope. That fear grows out of a lack of knowledge of the true political sentiment in the sections. The East, confident that it will do its duty, means for the third time to contribute its great part toward Mr. Bryan's overthrow. Not a few Bryan men in the East admit that he has no chance of carrying a single State north of the Potomac and east of the Alleghanies, but as solace they claim that he will sweep the West, the whole West.

Thus do their delusions protrude like a bump on a log. They lose heart when they ponder over a situation nearer home, with which they are familiar, but become eloquent and buoyant when they undertake to discuss the tariff situation, of which they are ignorant. Of course, Mr. Bryan created a furore during his invasion of the East. But that is nothing new. He creates a furore wherever he goes. He kicks up the dust but the solid earth remains intact.

WORKINGMEN SENSIBLE.

Mr. Bryan made a tour of the East during his campaigns of 1896 and 1900. In each campaign he was greeted by immense throngs of shouting, hurrahing men, but when the votes were counted Mr. Bryan was snowed under. As in former campaigns, so in this, Mr. Bryan made the industrial centers his storm centers. Wheeling, W. Va., Cumberland, Md., Baltimore, Camden, N. J., Trenton, New York, Rochester, Buffalo—the manufacturing towns of New York, of New England, were included in his itinerary. He tried to reach the ear of the workingman. He shot words of discontent into his audiences of laborers. They listened but they did not heed. It is strange that so many people who ought to know better place intelligent workingmen, skilled mechanics, upon the same plane as the wayfaring man who is said to be a fool. The workingman, just like the professional man, votes his beliefs and

MARRIAGE FAILS TO REFORM.

Woman Who Wed Opium Fiend Is Now Victim and in Jail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Sept 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A St. Paul special says: Mrs. Charles M. Chase, one time society woman in Los Angeles, who married a Denver man to reform him, is in jail with her husband and another couple on the charge of conducting an opium den. Chase two years ago was married in Los Angeles and later confessed he was an opium fiend. His wife tried to reform him and for a time succeeded, but he fell again and they went to St. Paul, where she, too, became a victim of the drug.

QUEEN RENEWS OPPOSITION.

MORE TROUBLE FOR ABRUZZI AND MISS ELKINS.

Suit of Actress Against Blaine Elkins for Breach of Promise Arouses New Objections by Margherita to Proposed Alliance of Royal Family With American Bride.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ROME, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Aroused by the news of the breach of promise suit brought by Ada Louise Lonsdale, the actress, against Blaine Elkins, Dowager Queen Margherita has renewed her opposition to the marriage of the Duke of the Abruzzi, cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, and Miss Katherine Elkins, sister of the defendant in the suit.

The Dowager Queen declares that it would be a disgrace to Italian royalty for the Duke to marry into such a family.

She has written the King to the effect that the suit brought by the actress offers sufficient ground for his interference. The Dowager Queen declares the suit to be a timely illustration of the unwisdom of alliances between the royalty of Europe and the totally different types of the New World.

Number of Deaths Also Diminishing—Roumania Establishes Shotgun Quarantine Against Russia, Philippine Authorities Postpone Welcome to Fleet.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 26.—The municipal hospitals report 312 new cases of cholera and 153 deaths for the twenty-four hours ending at noon today. This is a distinct improvement.

Among the deaths today are a daughter of Privy Councillor Smirnoroff and another student of the Pavlovsk Military Academy.

A dispatch from Kishineff says Roumania has established a shotgun quarantine against cholera along the Russian frontier.

POSTPONE WELCOME TO FLEET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MANILA, Sept. 26.—As has been previously predicted, the formal welcome to the battleships of the American fleet has been postponed on account of the presence of cholera in this city. The committees in charge of the reception, after a conference with Gov.-Gen. Smith and a number of prominent business men, today decided that it would be wisest and safest to cancel all preparations for the celebration until the fleet returns from Japan in November. In honor of the fleet's presence, however, the conference concluded to carry out the water parade on the day of arrival.

Gov.-Gen. Smith is advising the authorities at Washington of the development of strong criticism directed against the health authorities of the city because of the fact that Manila was not protected by quarantine and closer inspection of districts where cholera has claimed the greatest number of victims. It is probable that an investigation will be demanded.

POPE ATTENDS ATHLETIC MEET.

Two Thousand Participants March Past Him and Receive His Blessing, While Twenty Thousand Spectators Cheer—Dignitaries of Church Accompany Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The International Sporting Congress, which is organized as a feature of the Pope's jubilee, and which takes place in the courtyard at Belvedere in the Vatican, is the most important that has ever been held in Rome. The courtyard has been converted into a stadium, and over 2000 picked athletes of the National Gymnastic Union are participating in the contest.

Twenty thousand spectators attended the games today. The Pope's sisters occupied the tribune.

At the arrival of the Pope the spectators all knelt. He mounted the throne, surrounded by cardinals and prelates, while the crowd cheered enthusiastically. Then the Pope, smiling, blessed the athletes as they marched past, giving salute and a display of physical exercises. The athletes cheered him lustily.

who held a secret conference yesterday on the policies of the Japanese government, supposed to have a bearing on finances and foreign affairs.

SHAPING HER COURSE.

JAPAN'S STATESMEN DISCUSS HER POLICY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TOKIO, Sept. 26.—The elder statesmen held a lengthy session yesterday, but the subject matter of their discussion has not been disclosed.

The Associated Press understands, however, that the foreign policy of Japan was given the principal attention of the conference. Those present were Princes Ito and Yamagata, Marquis Matsukata, Count Yamamoto and Premier Marquis Katsura.

It is understood that the main features of the financial budget were discussed, and that Premier Katsura announced that the government's foreign policy would be in line with its financial policy—namely, the exchange of productive expenditure for productive income, and that the government would bend every effort for the material development of Japan.

Japan's policy relating to China will, it is stated, be made plainer, Premier Katsura believing it to be absolutely imperative that there should be no misunderstanding regarding it. He asserts that it must be increasingly friendly, and that it is necessary that Japan make her position clearly understood by all the powers.

The departure of Minister Ijuin to Peking, October 10, will, it is believed, mark a new era in the diplomatic relations of China and Japan.

The Associated Press has reason to believe that China was the subject of much discussion at the conference of the elder statesmen, because of the fact that Japan's foreign relations elsewhere are not complicated.

It is believed that Premier Katsura recommended, and that the elder statesmen approved of, a frank and liberal settlement of all matters in dispute between China and Japan.

LEAVES GREENLAND.

PEARY STARTS DASH FOR THE NORTH POLE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Peary Arctic Club today received the following dispatch from Commander Robert Peary, who sailed from here in July on the steamer Roosevelt in an attempt to reach the North Pole:

"ETAH (North Greenland) Aug. 17, 1908, via Indian Harbor and Cape Race, N. F., Sept. 26.—Peary Arctic Club, Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary: Arrived Cape York July 31. Roosevelt went to Etah to overhaul and trim for the ice. With steamer Erik visited Eskimo settlement to secure Eskimo dogs and material for equipment. Thirty-five walrus killed by party. Rejoined Roosevelt at Etah with Erik August 11. Coaled Roosevelt from Erik. Landed coal and supplies for relief of Cook, who had not yet returned. Put two men in charge and sent Cook's companion home disabled. Whitney will remain through the winter to hunt musk oxen and bear. Unusually stormy season, but no ice yet. Snowing furiously now—plenty of it. From Littleton Island and Sabine north all depends on ice conditions. Have good supply Eskimo dogs and walrus meat. All well on board. Expect to steam north some time tonight.

[Signed] "PEARY."

A second dispatch forwarded by the same route was also received by Secretary Bridgman from Capt. Samuel W. Bartlett, telling of the steamer Erik's having collided with an iceberg and sustaining serious damage.

Capt. Bartlett also reports that Peary's steamer, Roosevelt, left Etah August 17. The dispatch follows:

"Collided iceberg Monday night. Damage serious. Proceeding along shore. Roosevelt left Etah August 17. Prospects good."

GOODWIN CASE BADLY MIXED.

Defendant in Divorce Suit Is Mentioned in Papers by Three Different Names.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All efforts for both sides to bring a speedy end to the divorce trial of Nat C. Goodwin against his wife, Maxine Elliott, were frustrated today by Judge Pike in the District Court, when the case came up for hearing.

The complaint was made against Bessie Hall Goodwin, the answer was filed in the name of Jessie Dermott Goodwin, and the power of attorney for the defendant's wife was signed Maxine Elliott, and Judge Pike declared that Goodwin would not be getting a divorce from his wife even if granted, so he could not continue. He allowed the plaintiff to amend the complaint, and authorized Attorney A. J. Shores, for the defendant, to send for a new power of attorney, stating he would again hear the case next Friday if the papers arrived.

In her answer, Mrs. Goodwin grants all allegations except the desertion charge, which, it is thought, a contest will be waged over. She is represented by J. S. Parker of Reno and A. J. Shores of New York City.

HEROIC OFFICER SAVES THREE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Overcome by smoke, Miss Rosa Deljucca, Antone Legarra and Morello Antanso were rescued from a burning cottage in Union street early today by Policeman R. G. Skain. The young woman was unconscious when Skain dashed through the fire and smoke before the fire department arrived on the scene and carried her out. The policeman then returned and dragged the two men out. The property loss was about $1000.

Young Turks Regime Wins Praise.

Sir Edward Grey Says It Is Example of Morality in Constitution.

Solving Macedonian Problem, Which Europe Found Hopeless.

Theaters Crowded to Hear "Fatherland," Forbidden Drama.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary, calls the working of the new régime at Constantinople, now a little more than a month old, the most remarkable exemplification of the moral possibilities of the constitutional system.

Internationally the chief thing is the question of Macedonian reconciliation. Here is a problem Europe tried in vain to solve. Since the issuance by the Serbo-Ottoman Democratic League at Uskub of the manifesto abandoning the revolutionary organization and declaring the chief object henceforth to be the defense of the United Ottoman Empire against hostile outside elements, the Macedonian vilayets have become almost as orderly as Constantinople.

At the capital of Abdul Hamid the rule of the Young Turks is working a transformation that is amazing to European residents.

Reshad Effendi, heir apparent, until six weeks ago a prisoner in the palace, drives freely about the streets and is respectfully saluted. The Prince of Wales would not be safer in London.

FORBIDDEN DRAMA.

At the principal theaters crowded houses are applauding the presentation of Namik Kemal's drama, "Fatherland," a work which under the old régime was forbidden to be read even in private.

More than 200 applications for newspaper franchises have been granted in Turkish, Armenian, Greek and Bulgarian. At Smyrna seven sheets have been brought out this month, one of them a financial organ. It will be impossible to fill the public demand for the medals struck in commemoration of the constitution.

Plain speech characterizes British utterances on the Bulgarian question today. After holding back an expression of opinion for forty-eight hours, the whole British press, with one accord, scores Bulgaria for holding the Eastern Roumelian sections of the Oriental Railway in spite of the promise to withdraw its soldiers as soon as the strike was ended. If this was meant to goad Turkey into a war Bulgaria is informed from London it is mistaken in supposing it has the sympathy of Europe.

POWERS SUPPORT TURKEY.

The dignified appeal of Turkey seems to have made the same impression in the rest of Western Europe, though less so in Germany than elsewhere. According to the opinion expressed in London, there is no possible justification for Bulgaria's misappropriation of the railway, which, with even the most pacific intentions, Turkey cannot brook much longer. Either Bulgaria hopes to repeat the game of 1894 when it acquired another portion of the Oriental Railway, or else, encouraged by the cordial reception by Emperor Francis Joseph of Prince Ferdinand, it proposes to strike at once for complete independence, which would be a grave mistake, considering that Europe already guarantees its practical independence. That Bulgaria will not be permitted to become a firebrand at the present moment seems certain.

From inquiries made of well-informed persons in London, it appears that the Turkish protest is receiving the most serious attention, with a view to squelching as soon as possible the excessive zeal of the Bulgarian, who is getting civilized so fast, says one critic, that he is like a child with a toy.

TAFT RIDDLES BANK GUARANTY PROPOSAL.

Points Out Fallacies of Democratic Scheme—Gives Lucid Explanation of Postal Savings Bank System and Answers Bryan's Opposition to It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 26.—The fourth day of William H. Taft's speaking campaign ended here tonight with the delivery of his views on the question of postal savings banks and in opposition to Bryan's theory regarding government guaranty of bank deposits.

After a night ride from Des Moines the day's work was begun early this morning at Cedar Rapids and continued northward up through Iowa into Minnesota and ending with mammoth meetings at the Twin Cities, tonight.

An even dozen speeches were made by Mr. Taft, each to a decidedly larger audience than could hear him, although there was a noticeable improvement in his voice during the day. In Iowa the train was accompanied by local committeemen and Congressmen from that State and in Minnesota the speakers' list was augmented by Senator Clapp, Congressmen Davis, Stevens, Tawney and Steenerson and Jake Jacobson, Republican candidate for Governor, besides a large number of local politicians.

The big meeting came at the end of the day at St. Paul. The candidate was taken to the Auditorium, the largest assembly hall in the city, where he delivered a brief speech on the general policies of the Republican party, contrasting them with those of the Democratic party. The auditorium was crowded to its capacity and the meeting was one of great enthusiasm.

The St. Paul stop occupied more than an hour, when the journey to Minneapolis was made. Here, too, the meeting was held in the auditorium, the capacity of which was taxed to the utmost. Elaborate arrangements for escorts, bands and automobiles were carried out in each city and political enthusiasm was at a high pitch.

In his speech on postal saving banks and bank guaranty, Mr. Taft said:

THE PATERNALISM.

"I wish to call your attention today to a plank in the Republican platform and to a plank in the Democratic platform which involves an important though not controlling issue in this campaign.

"I refer first to the plank in the Republican platform that recommends the adoption of postal savings banks. The Republican convention doubtless had in mind the bill which had been introduced in the Senate and reported by the Senate Committee for passage authorizing and directing the Postmaster-General to receive savings deposits at every money order office and at such offices as he may designate, in sums of $1 or more and multiples of ten cents after the first dollar."

After narrating the provisions of the bill, Mr. Taft said:

"The objection has been made that this is paternalism and socialism and is introducing the government into the banking business. The objection is without weight. If there were savings banks in all the country as numerous and as easy of access as they are in Massachusetts in the New England States and in New York, it might be said that the postal saving bank was an invasion of territory properly occupied by private enterprises, although even then it could be pointed out that the function performed by the postal savings bank was much more comprehensive than that of the ordinary savings banks.

MUST BE EASY OF ACCESS.

"But when it is considered that only eleven out of thirty-five States have savings bank facilities, when it is known that in the Middle West east of the Rocky Mountains the average distance from any postoffice to a bank of any kind is thirty-three miles, and west of the Rockies is fifty-five miles, it can be readily understood that the private enterprises do not supply the need of savings banks, which, in order to furnish a motive for thrift and savings, must be of easy access to the class whose welfare it is sought thereby to improve.

"Of the $3,500,000,000 deposits in savings banks, over 33 per cent. is in New England, 38 per cent. in New York, 21 per cent. in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and California, leaving but 8 per cent. of the total in other States.

"We should not deny to our people throughout the country opportunity to make the small deposits with the security of the government promise to pay principal and interest. Such a system will add greatly to the money savings of the country.

BENEFIT TO OTHER BANKS.

"The fear by any class of banks that this would interfere with their business, the experience in other countries has shown to be utterly unfounded. Where savings banks are established, they pay a higher rate of interest than the government will pay for deposits in the postal savings banks, and confer privileges on their depositors which it would be impossible to grant under a government system.

"A significant fact in connection with the postal savings banks of those countries where they have been most successful is that one-third of the depositors of the postal savings banks abroad are minors and two-thirds of them are working men.

"The postal savings banks would perform a most useful function in case of panics because they are government institutions, with the whole credit of the government behind them, and would attract the deposits of those small depositors whose runs in panic times upon the banks produce such disastrous consequences. The deposits of this money in government offices and the power of the government, which redeposits that money in the national banks in the neighborhood, would furnish a means of meeting an exigency that no other system proposed has thus far offered.

WHY DEMOCRATS OPPOSE.

"This postal savings bank system, however, does not meet the unqualified approval of the Democratic party. It has not the vote-catching quality and involves only the old-fashioned, gradual movement toward better things by means of industry and thrift and saving. The party under its present leadership must have something which offers a short cut to reform at the cost of the honest and the industrious.

"The Democratic platform pledges the party to the support of a system by which all the national banks of the country are required to guarantee the deposits to the depositor in every bank, and this guaranty is to be performed by a tax upon each bank in proportion to its deposits, the proceeds of the tax to constitute a fund from which the depositors of any failing bank are to be paid, and if the amount of the tax is not sufficient to raise the fund required, the tax to be raised by subsequent assessment on all the banks of the country and State banks are to be allowed to come in and get the benefit of the same guaranty, under conditions to be imposed by law. While the Democratic platform does not elaborate the system, it is to be inferred from the fact that the precedent in Oklahoma is relied upon, that the provisions are to be like the Oklahoma law, and these are as above stated.

MAKE DEPOSITS SECURE.

"No one can dispute the importance of making the deposits in every national bank as secure as possible, provided the remedy adopted is not itself worse than the evil to be cured. The government has imposed certain limitations upon national banks which have already tended to reduce the losses of depositors.

"The result has been to introduce into national banks a class of men of high character and great business and banking ability, and the losses in the last forty years to depositors in national banks have been reduced to an average annual loss of one twenty-sixth of 1 per cent. of total deposits. If the loss, even though small, could be avoided, it would be of great benefit, and should be brought about, for while the percentage is small the individual upon whom the loss falls may be a heavy sufferer.

"The question is whether we are to bring about an avoidance of this loss by the proposed Democratic remedy, or in a more conservative and gradual way by perfecting the examination of banks and by rigid prosecution of all who violate the banking laws.

BRYAN'S PLAN SOCIALISTIC.

"The remedy proposed by Mr. Bryan will make the conservative banker pay for the negligence, carelessness, lack of confidence or dishonesty of the failing banker. It takes from one man without fault on his part money to pay for the default of another. That is socialistic doctrine, and so violates all equitable principles that the remedy should be condemned for this reason.

"To say, as Mr. Bryan does, that the postal savings bank system is more socialistic than this is to give a curious definition to socialism. Postal savings banks take no man's money to make up for the default of another. It merely uses an arm of the government which is not and cannot be discharged by private enterprises. Whereas, the enforced guaranty plan takes out of one man's pocket engaged in business of banking money to pay for another man's default. That is pure socialism.

"Mr. Bryan suggests the expense connected with the examination of banks imposes a burden on one man for the default of another. There is no analogy whatever between the reasonable requirements for the examination of all banks and the taking out of one man's pockets money to pay for the default of another. It is a reasonable imposition upon all banks that their their accounts should be examined, and that their methods of doing business should be constantly under public supervision and it is erroneous reasoning to make the pro rata cost of a general bank examination a precedent for taking money out of one man's pocket for another man's default.

INEQUITABLE SYSTEM.

"It has been shown that in the State of Connecticut that if this system had been in force during the last ten years, and the tax had been paid but $31,000 would have been received. This illustrates the unjust, inequitable and socialistic character of a compulsory system most completely.

"Now let us pass the socialistic and inequitable feature of this system and come to the question whether it will really help matters. It is permissable under the national banking act for banks to organize with a capital of $725,000. The security which banks offer the depositors depends upon the amount of capital, the amount of surplus, and public confidence in the officers of the institution.

"Under the proposed system the depositors in a bank with a capital of $25,000 and no surplus, and with officers of little experience and indifferent reputation cannot offer the public exactly the same security for the payment of deposits as a bank with a capital of $500,000, a surplus of $250,000 and with officers known to be honest and able. Depositors, therefore, insofar as security of deposits is concerned, are as likely to make their deposits in the $25,000 bank as in the bank with the capital of $500,000.

DIFFICULT TO FIX INTEREST.

"It is proposed to introduce into the law a limitation as to the amount of interest which under the system can be offered and paid on deposits. This, it is said, will prevent banks from offering excessive rates of interest to obtain deposits. A limitation of this sort is difficult to fix because conditions vary so much in different parts of the country. That which would be high interest in one part of the country would be low in another and that which would be high interest at one season and under certain conditions would be low at another time. Hence, whatever limitations is imposed, except when the normal interest is highest, there must always be an opportunity for those inviting deposits to pay a higher rate than that which conservative banks would pay.

"If the losses were limited to one-twenty-sixth of 1 per cent., the amount of the tax on deposit of course would be small and each bank readily pay it, although the principal would be an entire departure from equity; but the effect of a guarantee system on the character of banking would be such that the losses arising from recklessness would greatly increase, and the tax must increase to meet the losses on every bank in proportion. Instead of loss equal to one-twenty-sixth of 1 per cent annually it would rapidly increase in every financial stringency.

TWO OBJECTIONS ANSWERED.

"Two objections are made to the conclusion that an enforced guaranty system would lead to recklessness and dis-

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A cold wave, bringing the first chill breezes of fall, is headed for Chicago laden with showers to allay the suffering caused by a month of extraordinary heat. There doesn't seem to be a chance for the official forecast to go astray. In Minnesota, the Dakotas and Northern Iowa much lower temperatures prevailed today. Chill winds from the Chinook country and bearing the label of Medicine Hat are whistling across the plains headed for the Southeast. That the end, temporarily at least, of the abnoral heat will come late tonight was the judgment of the amateur as well as the professional weather prophets. Today's maximum temperature was 86 and the minimum 70 deg. Middle West temperatures:

CARMI (Ill.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The worst drought in Southeastern Illinois, the great fruit region, in a half century continues and unless rain falls next week, the situation will become perilous. Many farmers are hauling drinking water long distances, stockmen are experiencing great difficulty in getting water, pasture lands are stripped of all grasses, water famine prevail in towns, which rats have deserted for distant rivers, much typhoid fever and other sickness prevails and farmers this week gave up attempts to prepare ground for sowing wheat. Corn is parching, dust clouds make driving on roads difficult and fires are frequent. Railroads being especially hit hard. Southwestern Illinois drouth also continues.

COLD WAVE HITS OKLAHOMA.

NORMAN (Okla.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first cold wave reached this section this afternoon preceded by heavy rain, which was general throughout South Central Oklahoma.

TEMPERANCE HOSTS PARADE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Temperance hosts paraded the streets of Chicago today in what was intended to be an annual exhibition of the strength of the foes of liquor. Thousands of marchers were in the parade which traveled the downtown streets. Churches of almost every denomination were represented, and the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America contributed almost their entire local strength. The Good Templars and other temperance organizations had thousands of members in line and scores of the prominent clergymen of the city acted as officials of the parade. Several of the temperance paraders had elaborate floats while a score of bands were scattered among the marchers. Spectators lined the streets through which the parade passed. Eugene W. Chafin, Prohibition candidate for President, occupied a seat in a tallyho with a party of Methodists. He arrived in Chicago today after his long western trip in which he delivered 200 speeches. He said that he was sure he had shaken hands with half a million persons on the trip.

BAD FIRE AT FON DU LAC.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

FOND DU LAC (Wis.) Sept. 26.—The destruction by fire of three of the principal churches, an automobile garage and seven automobiles and the residence of former Mayor Mayham, entailed a loss early today estimated at $250,000, partially covered by insurance.

The fire is said to have started from an explosion of gasoline in the Crescent garage. That building with its valuable contents was soon licked up, and with the aid of a high wind the flames soon communicated to the church property in that vicinity.

Firebrands from the burning churches were blown over an area of ten blocks, spreading fires to roofs of many residences.

BRYAN CLUB FOR INSANE.

Inmates of Wyoming Asylum Organize for Money Campaign.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EVANSTON (Wyo.) Sept. 26. [Exclusive Dispatch.] The inmates of the Wyoming insane asylum here have formed a Bryan and Kern Club, numbering over twenty members. It is headed by James Kenworthy, who was sent here from Casper several years ago. Kenworthy claims the Republicans have cheated him out of $20, and that he proposes to collect this money if it costs him $5000.

INVITES ANOTHER SLAM.

MR. BRYAN ANSWERS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Attempts to Defend Himself in Consorting With the Now Disgraced Haskell—Nebraskan Switches Attack to Gov. Hughes.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 26.—Defending his knowledge of Gov. Haskell against the charges which have been brought against him, "until the charges can be examined in some court where partisanship does not bias," William J. Bryan, on his way from Madison to this city, today gave out for publication his reply to President Roosevelt's recent letter in a response to his telegram on this subject.

Mr. Bryan speaks of the election of Mr. Haskell as Governor of Oklahoma and says that "the Constitution was adopted and Gov. Haskell was elected in spite of the efforts of your administration and in spite of the speech made in Oklahoma by Mr. Taft."

Mr. Bryan charged among other things that the steel trust, "with your express consent," purchased one of its largest rivals and thus obtained control of more than 50 per cent. of the total output. He asks the President if he will insist "that in permitting this you showed less favor to the monopolistic corporations than I do in opposing them."

ATTACKS HUGHES.

Mr. Bryan abruptly charges that Gov. Hughes, quoted by President Roosevelt as having "riddled the Democratic trust remedy" was himself the beneficiary of the trusts, and cites the campaign contributions to the Hughes election fund two years ago. Among these are J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Mr. Carnegie and Nelson Cromwell. Mr. Bryan says that as the President quotes Gov. Hughes he takes it for granted that Judge Taft has not expressed himself satisfactorily on the trust question. The letter of Mr. Bryan follows:

"MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 26, 1908.—Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: While I have not yet received your letter and shall not until I reach home next week, I have read a copy of it in the press and beg leave to submit the following reply:

"Mr. Haskell having voluntarily resigned from the committee that he might be more free to prosecute those who have brought charges against him, I need not discuss the question of his guilt or innocence further than to say that the public service which he has rendered and the vote of confidence which he has received from the people of his State ought to protect him from condemnation until the charges can be examined in some court where partisanship does not bias and where campaign exigencies do not compel prejudiced judgment.

DEFENDS HIS RECORD.

"I would not deem it necessary to advise you further but for the fact that you seize upon the charges and attempt to make political capital out of them You even charge that my connection with Mr. Haskell's selection as a member of the Resolutions Committee and as treasurer of the committee, raises a question as to my sincerity as to an opponent of trusts and monopolies. As an individual, and as the candidate of my party, I resent the charge and repel the insinuation.

"I have been in public life for eighteen years, and I have been sufficiently conspicuous to make my conduct a matter of public interest. I have passed through two Presidential campaigns in which party feeling ran high and epithet was exhausted. I have no hesitation in saying that you cannot find an act, a word or a thought of mine to justify your partisan charge.

"I have never been informed of any charge that had been made against Mr. Haskell connecting him with the Standard Oil Company or with any other trust. I had known him as a leader of Oklahoma, and had known his as one of the men principally responsible for the excellent constitution which has since been adopted by a majority of 100,000, 70,000 of which was furnished by Republicans. I had known of his election to the Governorship of that great young State by a majority of some 30,000; I had known that the constitution was adopted and that Gov. Haskell was elected in spite of the efforts of your administration and in spite of the speeches made in Oklahoma by Mr. Taft.

WAXES SARCASTIC.

"You say that it was a matter of common notoriety that Mr. Haskell was connected with the Standard Oil Company. I have a right to assume that if so serious an objection had existed to Mr. Haskell's election and had been a matter of common notoriety in Ohio, as you say, Judge Taft would have felt it his conscientious duty to warn the people of Oklahoma when he spoke there. If he did not have the knowledge, why can it be assumed that I had it? And if he had it, how can you excuse his failure to communicate the information to the people of Oklahoma? If you feel it your patriotic duty to denounce Mr. Haskell when he is only a member of the national organization, how much would Mr. Taft have felt it his patriotic duty to denounce Mr. Haskell when he was aspiring to be the chief executive of a great State?

"I could have had no knowledge of the suit to which you refer when he was appointed chairman of the Resolutions Committee of the Democratic National Convention because the suit was begun while he was at Denver and, as a matter of fact, I did not know anything of the nature of the suit until until after he was made treasurer of the National Committee, and no fair-minded person can accede upon the merits of your charge without an examination of the provisions of the enabling act passed by the Republican Congress and the provisions of the franchises issued to the oil company by your administration.

CHARGES INJUSTICE.

"I need hardly refer to the newly-found evidence upon which you lay so much stress, viz.: the article in the Outlook of September 5. My attention was never called to that article until I read the published copy of your letter, and while I have great respect for the Outlook and I suppose I have for the writer (although you do not give his name,) I would hardly feel justified in deciding as promptly as you do on an ex-parte statement, without investigation.

"You present an indictment against our platform declarations on the trust question, but you do not refer to all of the planks and do not deal justly with those to which you do refer. Our platform declares in favor of the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against guilty trust magnates and officials. Your platform does not contain any such demand. Will you say that your platform is better than ours in that respect?

"Our platform demands that corporations beyond a certain size be compelled to sell at the same price in all parts of the country, due allowance being made for the cost of transportation. Will you deny that this is in the interest of the consumer and in the interest of the smaller competitor?

HUGHES UNDER BAN.

"We present a plan under which no corporation will be permitted to control more than one-half of the total productions. It has been stated that the steel company with your express consent, purchased one of its largest rivals and thus obtained control of more than 50 per cent. of the total output. Will you insist thta in permitting this you showed less favor to the monopolistic corporations than I do in opposing them?

"You quote at length from a speech made by Gov. Hughes in which he ridicules one of our anti-trust remedies. Is this the same Gov. Hughes who was counted as one of the "allies" who endeavored to defeat Mr. Taft when as you insisted Mr. Taft represented the 'reformers' of your party and his opponents the reactionary element? Did not Gov. Hughes have the support of the New York delegation in the convention, and is not New York the home of many Republicans most conspicuous in their connection with the law-defying corporations?

"You are certainly awareof the fact that in the statement filed by George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the State Republican Committee two years ago, after Mr. Hugghes's election, it appears that the following contributions were made to the campaign fund: J. P. Morgan, $20,000; John D. Rockefeller, $5000; Andrew Carnegie, $5000; Charles M. Schwab, $2000; John W. Gates, $2000; W. E. Corey, $2000; W. Nelson Cromwell, $1000; W. F. Havemeyer, $800; B. M. Duke, $500. Several of these men are known to be officially connected with the trusts. Would the fact that these gentlemen contributed to his campaign fund strengthen or weaken his testimony against the reasonableness of our anti-trust remedy?

SUBTLE SLAM AT TAFT.

"You cannot have failed to notice that Gov. Hughes in his speech assumed the role of the critic and not that of the constructive statesman. Any one possessing vivid imagination and a pen can find objections to remedial measures. Lord Macauley is quoted as saying that eloquent and learned men could be found to dispute the law of gravitation if there were any advantage to be gained by it. But when 'known abuses' are to be cured, an ounce of remedy is worth a pound of fault finding.

"As you quote from Gov. Hughes, I take it for granted that Mr. Taft has not yet expressed himself in a satisfactory manner on the subject, for you would naturally prefer to quote from the Presidential candidate wherever possible.

"You say 'let us repeat that no law-defying corporation has any other reason to fear from you save what it will suffer in the general paralysis of bushiness,' etc. Referring to the last part of the sentence, first I might question your ability to act as an expert as to panic preventives since you now have one on your hands, but as to your charges that no law-defying corporation has reason to fear the direct effect of the anti-trust remedies which I favor, permit me to suggest that your testimony on this subject is not conclusive. You are a witness, to be sure, but your interest in the result of the election must be taken into consideration in weighing your testimony.

WARNS TRUST MAGNATES.

"There is better evidence that the trust magnates know their own interests in supporting Judge Taft. Not one of the trust magnates helped to secure my nomination while it is a matter of common notoriety that they were conspicuous in the Republican convention and it is equally a matter of common notoriety that they are supporting your party in this campaign.

"If you will name a single official connected with 'a law-defying corporation' monopoly or trust, who has declared or will declare that he is supporting me, I will publicly warn him that I will enforce against him the criminal law and will enforce against him also the laws demanded in the Democratic platform as soon as these laws can be enacted.

"But there is another fact which raised a presumption in favor of our party and against your party. I referred to it in my former letter to you, but you inadvertently overlooked

MINER IS GOOD ANGEL.

Mysterious Individual Sends $349 to Help Deserving Student.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERKELEY, Sept. 26.—From some mysterious personage who signed himself only "Grubstake W.," $349 has come to the fortunate student of University of California to whom it may be awarded.

The money was brought, late last night, to the home of President Wheeler by a messenger, who refused to give his name, and who handed Wheeler a canvas bag, in which was the coin.

The messenger stated it came from a Northern California miner, who declined to have his name known, but who wished the money to be used to help some deserving student through the university.

TWENTY-ONE DIE FROM COLLISION.

TRAINS COME TOGETHER WITH FRIGHTFUL RESULTS.

Passenger Crashes Into Freight on Northern Pacific—Engineer and Conductor of Latter Testify at Coroner's Inquest That Former Was not on Time.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

HELENA, Sept. 26.—A special to the Record from Billings, Mont., says:

Twenty-one are now dead and nine injured as a result of a collision at Young's Point, four and a half miles west of Park City, yesterday morning.

R. E. Vickers of Hardin, Mont., died after being brought to the hospital in this city, while Sam Clomowitz of Billings and Berg Western of Atchison, Kan., died shortly after midnight this morning.

Identification of all but three has has been established, and these were workingmen, presumably coal miners, on their way to Kilby, Wyo.

Acting Coroner Mann empaneled a jury yesterday and visited the scene of the wreck, and an investigation was started this morning, at which Engineer Smith and the conductor of the train testified. Both stated that had the passenger been on time they would have cleared the siding, but seeing that a collision was inevitable, Engineer Smith is said to have backed the freight onto the main line and started it back so that the engines would collide head-on and the passenger would not collide broadside.

The freight train was moving backward when he and his fireman jumped.

INQUEST BEGINS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Sept. 26.—Acting Coroner Mann today at Billings began an investigation to fix the responsibility for the wreck on the Northern Pacific at Young's Point yesterday morning in which twenty-one persons were killed and more than a dozen seriously injured.

From the testimony thus far adduced, it would indicate that the wreck was caused by the freight train's reaching the siding too late for the passenger.

Hunting Licenses Profitable.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—According to a letter received at the State Controller's office from Charles Vogelsang of the State Fish and Game Commission, the sale of hunting licenses during the year ending June 30 last, in San Francisco, reached 13,281; Los Angeles, 12,545; Alameda, 5766; Sonora, 4030; Santa Clara, 3855; Sacramento, 3851; Fresno, 5718; San Bernardino, 3314; San Diego, 3620. All other counties disposed of less than 3000 licenses. During the year, $120,000 worth of licenses were sold.

Not Expected to Recover.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—W. D. Sanborn, general agent in this city for the Burlington route, is critically ill with pneumonia, and but little hope for his recovery is held out by his physicians. He has been in a comatose condition for the past ten days.

Bankers Off for Denver.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—A special train carrying thirty California bankers to the convention of the National Bankers' Association at Denver, left last night. Fully half of the delegates are accompanied by their families, and every large city in the State is represented. The party will stop at Lake Tahoe, and will visit Salt Lake en route. An effort will be made to secure the next convention for Los Angeles.

SAN ANDREAS, Sept. 26.—The Supervisors of Calaveras county have fixed the tax rate at $2.10, a reduction of 10 cents from that of last year.

Will Appoint Melvin Monday.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Gov. Gillett said today that he would appoint Superior Court Judge Henry A. Melvin to the State Supreme Court bench next Monday to succeed the late Justice T. B. McFarland. He says Judge Melvin will have his court matters in shape by that date to be handled by the other judges of the Alameda County Court, and will tender his resignation to be immediately appointed to the Supreme bench as soon as the resignation is received by the Governor.

MURDERER COMMITS SUICIDE.

MANHATTAN (Kan.) Sept. 26.—Milton C. Creviston, who ten days ago shot and killed John Coons, Jr., a college student, and wounded his companion, hanged himself in his cell in the jail here last night.

He was to have been arraigned on a charge of murder at a preliminary hearing today. Inability to secure funds to hire a lawyer made him despondent.

Creviston's house was near the sidewalk, and he was annoyed by some one rapping on the walls. When the offense was repeated, he grabbed a shotgun, and running to the street shot Coons and a companion. It was feared at first that an attempt would be made to lynch him.

CHICAGO, NEVER AGAIN.

Wife Who Deserted to Los Angeles Does not Want to Hear the Name.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Margaret Bozarth found married life in Chicago such a failure that she never wants even to meet with one who has ever been here. This is the summary of her feelings made in a letter written to her husband, John T. Bozarth, and attached to a certificate of evidence upon which a decree of divorce has been granted to Mr. Bozarth. The husband sued on the ground of desertion and produced the following letter as evidence:

"Dear Boze: Your letter came and I wish to say for the last time that I positively will never live with you again. And now, Mr. B., you just go ahead and get a divorce if you want it. You have my permission.

"When I left Chicago almost two years ago I had no intention of ever seeing you again. I never want to see Chicago nor any one who has ever been there. I want to forget the past, for it was nothing but unhappiness. No more married life for me if you please. I am happier in California and alone. I wish you success in getting a divorce, for I will never, never, never come back to you, so good bye.

"MARGARET.

"Los Angeles, July 28, 1908."

The Bozarths were married November 10, 1902, and separated August 3, 1906.

Newman Jones, Once Successful Lawyer, Caught Entering Berkeley Residence, Explains That He Knew Where Bottle of Whisky Was Kept and Wanted a Drink.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERKELEY, Sept. 26.—Arrested last night as he was about to crawl through the window of the home of J. H. Corcoran for the second time in quest of loot, Newman Jones was today identified as one of the State's prominent attorneys in days gone by.

He was formerly District Attorney of Mariposa county, and for some years was associated with Brad V. Sargent, judge in Monterey county. Twelve years ago he was engaged in a big battle against the Southern Pacific company as counsel for a timber interest.

Jones broke down when questioned by detectives and said:

"I knew Corcoran kept a flask always in the house. I had to have a drink, and having no money, thought of entering the house and getting it."

Jones is without employment or funds, and has been trying for days to find work.

BISHOP'S WIFE BRINGS SUIT.

SEEKS TO COLLECT LOAN TO WOMAN NOW DEAD.

Mrs. Henry Warren Is Creditor in Estate of Hannah E. Foster, One of Most Notorious Women in the Redlight District of Denver—Transaction Complicated.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Suit has been begun in the District Court by Mrs. Elizabeth Iliff Warren, wife of Dr. Henry Warren, Methodist bishop of Colorado, against Catherine Rawlinson, sister of Hannah E. Foster, known as Lizzie Preston, one of the most notorious women of the red light district of Denver, for years, who died about five years ago. The court is asked to take the first steps toward the foreclosure of a mortgage, held by Mrs. Warren, since she loaned $5000 to Mrs. Foster, seventeen years ago. The suit, in addition to naming Mrs. Rawlinson as defendant, incorporates the names of about thirty-five nephews and nieces of the dead woman who are all heirs-at-law to the estate.

The case, besides being of an unusual nature from the relative positions in life of Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Foster, also is one of the most complicated that the District Court has ever had to adjudicate, owing to the numerous deaths that have occurred since the loan was first made.

When Mrs. Foster's estate was probated Mrs. Warren filed a claim for the amount of the note and the claim was allowed Sept. 6, 1904. The interest has been paid, but not the principal and the bishop's wife wishes to to have it settled. Mrs. Warren is now in California.

TWO FATALLY SHOT.

One of Three Companions Drinking at Roadhouse Kills the Others.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, Sept. 26.—Two men were shot, fatally, in the Half-Way House on the San Leandro road, about 3 o'clock this afternoon. The wounded men are Harry Hammer and Fred Smith, both carpenters. The man who did the shooting is an expressman named Jackson, who, after the shooting, made his escape into the hills.

Hammer was shot twice, in the abdomen and the wrist. Smith was shot in the hand. Hammer is expected to die. Both victims were taken to Alameda County Infirmary near Leandro.

The three men had been drinking in the Half-Way House, a resort midway between San Francisco and San Leandro. They became involved in a quarrel while under the influence of liquor.

Jackson left the saloon and ran across the street to the second-hand implement store, where he makes his headquarters. He returned to the saloon with a revolver and began shooting in the barroom. He fired three shots, all of which took effect.

After the shooting, Jackson started for the hills, running as fast as he could. Deputy sheriffs have been sent to the scene and are on the fugitive's trail.

LOCAL OPTION NOW A LAW.

Gov.e Hanly of Indiana Signs Cox County Bill Soon After Legislature Passes It.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 26.—Gov. J. Frank Hanly, late today signed the Cox county option bill, which passed the house this morning by a vote of 55 to 45. The measure passed the Senate several days ago.

Opposition to the measure has been very pronounced by the liquor element.

The Cox county option bill provides that upon twenty per cent. of the voting population signifying their desire a special election shall be held to decide whether that county shall have saloons or not. If it is decided the county shall be "dry" no change can be made for two years, after which time another election can be held. This was one of the measures for which Gov. Hanly called the extra session of the Legislature.

RAILROAD RECORD.

TO END LOW COAST RATES.

All Lines in Favor of Two-Cent Minimum.

Threatens to Check Western Colonization.

Reduced Fares Cutting Out Passenger Profits.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The colonization of the western country is going to be materially retarded if railroads between Chicago and the Pacific Coast carry out a plan which has been advanced by executive officials. A proposition has received the approval of nearly every railroad in the Western Passenger Association to abolish low or reduced rates after January 1, 1909.

This determination has been reached because of the alarm felt over the reduction in net passenger revenues of western roads. This reduction is laid at the door of reduced rates and genuine alarm is felt for the future. Railroad officials declare that with the two-cent rate generally there can be no reduced rates without passing the margin of profit.

It is estimated that western roads have lost this season several millions of dollars in passenger revenues compared with what they would have enjoyed had they maintained a minimum 2-cent rate west of Chicago. This conclusion is based upon careful statistics, prepared by the Alton and other railroads, which show that railroads have carried more passengers than ever, but at a less net revenue than accrued for a smaller movement. This can mean only one thing, it is said, and that is, the return to a minimum 2-cent rate everywhere.

It is not expected that the change can be brought about until the first of the year, but it now seems certain that if the public desires reduced rates they can be had only by a return to the 2-cent basis.

BIG FIGHT.

ELECTION HAS RATE BEARING.

RAILROADS SEE HOPE OF WAY TO ESCAPE.

Cases Being Heard in Atlanta and St. Louis Affecting Tariff Schedules Are Preliminary Skirmish of Long Battle to Defeat Rulings That Are Objectionable.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Whatever may be the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the southeastern rate advance case heard in Atlanta this week, and the southwestern case, to be heard in St. Louis the coming week, it seems probable that they will amount to nothing more than the first round in a sharply-contested battle, that will be carried to the extreme limit.

Granting that it is determined to make the new rates operative, the time for them to take effect is likely to be about the first of next January. By that date it will have been possible to find out what the policy of the next administration is to be, at least, in some measure. By that time, also, some important matters, as to the composition of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will have been settled.

Chairman Knapp's term of office expires in December, and there have been rumors that his appointment would not be renewed, owing to the opposition of shippers to the policies he has adopted.

FARMERS ORGANIZE.

WILL CONTEST LAND GRAB.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SILVER CREEK (Neb.) Sept. 26.—A hundred farmers whose lands adjoin the Union Pacific right of way in this county have formed an organization to fight the road in its contentions that the road is entitled to 400 feet of right of way under the government land grant made to it when it was built. All farmers with land adjoining the right of way between Omaha and Ogden are made eligible. A full set of officers with Charles Wooster as president, was selected.

The Union Pacific road now has a suit in the Federal Court to enforce its claims.

MORE CARS IN USE.

PROSPERITY SIGN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If prosperity be based upon the busy freight cars, then it is apparently headed this way. The semimonthly report of the Committee on Car Efficiency of the American Railway Association was that, during the past two weeks, there had been a reduction in the number of idle cars of 49,045 cars. Of this decrease nearly 26,000 are in box and 13,000 in coal and gondola cars.

The greatest improvement was shown in the New England States and in the Northwest. In the former territory the surplus in box cars has almost disappeared, and some roads actually have a shortage. In the Northwest the movement of grain has drawn into service practically all of the grain cars available.

CANADIAN PACIFIC DEAL.

Railroad Completing Negotiations for Purchase of Yukon River Steamers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Vancouver transportation men expect to receive the announcement any day of the purchase by the Canadian Pacific Railway of the Skagway to White Horse Railway and the Yukon River steamers owned by the White Pass and Yukon Railway.

Negotiations for the purchase of the line have been going on, but up to a month ago the chief English bondholders of the White Pass were not willing to accept what the Canadian Pacific road offered to pay. The Guggenheims own a large block of stock in the line.

Control of the White Pass line would give a service by its own rails and steamers to the Canadian Pacific road from London to Dawson. The Canadian Pacific would also be in a position to absolutely dictate affairs in the handling of northern steamship business, for all steamers would have to pay tribute to the short line of railway, whether bound to the Canadian or the American Yukon.

Report Car Shortage.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Complaints have been made by various shippers in Arizona to the Interstate Commerce Commission that there is a shortage of cars and that business is suffering considerably, especially on the Southern Pacific lines. The matter has been referred to Commissioner Franklin K. Lane. It is said that the shortage has existed for two months past, and there seems to be no prospect of relief.

MRS. RICE IDENTIFIES DAVIS.

Woman Repeats Grewsome Story of Dr. Rustin's Plans to Be Murdered.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Sept. 26.—Mrs. Abbie B. Rice, at the hearing here today of Charles Edward Davis, told of the plans arranged between Dr. Frederick Rustin, the physician recently killed at his residence here, and Davis, whereby Davis was to shoot Rustin and then commit suicide.

Objections were made to nearly half the questions put by the county attorney. Mrs. Rice, however, was permitted to say that Rustin told her he had arranged with a man to kill him and later she was permitted to identify this man as Davis.

The State then rested. Counsel for the defense was given an opportunity to cross-examine the witness, but this was deferred until Monday.

Mrs. Rice's story follows:

"Dr. Rustin told me he had secured a man to kill him and that I was released from the duty. He said it was a man who had several times attempted to take his life.

"The doctor told me he had arranged to have this man do the shooting on condition that the physician give him enough poison to take his own life. He said Davis was to come to the office at 8 o'clock that evening. I then left with the understanding that Dr. Rustin would meet me shortly on the corner near his office. I waited for him on the corner and when Dr. Rustin came, got on a street car going past his home. He got off near the house and I went to the end of the line and then came back to town.

"By appointment, I went to Rustin's office at 8 o'clock and found Davis there. I stayed only a short time. The doctor sent to the drug store for a bottle of aconite. He poured half of it into another bottle, giving me one portion and putting the other in his pocket. He then told me to go to the street corner where he would meet me shortly.

"I did so, and he came down the street with Charles E. Davis. They waited until the first car came when the doctor put Davis on the car going west toward his home, and then joined me. We walked west to within a block of his home, the doctor stopping once to purchase some whisky.

"We talked of his plans. I shuddered at every mention of them, but the doctor talked freely. When within two blocks of Dr. Rustin's home, he bade me good-by, saying to me to wait a while. He told me if his plans did not [illegible] he would soon join me again. I waited quite a while and then went down town to my room at C[illegible] Gleason's place. I called up Dr. Rustin's home repeatedly after I got back but was told the doctor was not there."

Mrs. Rice, during her testimony, identified Davis as the man she saw get on the street car after he came out of Rustin's office and said she saw him standing at Fortieth and Farnum streets when she walked to that point with the doctor.

ITALIANS PASS CHECKS.

Organized Band Arrested Near Napa for Securing Money on Fictitious Paper.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NAPA, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While on their way back from St. Helena last night, where they had passed three fictitious checks, each for thirty odd dollars, on countrymen, Mr. and Mrs. E. Magiori and Gueda Rosaliene, all Italians, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Charles F. Otterson and Policeman Mark Hamilton, near the city limits after a most thrilling and exciting experience.

Rosaliene was riding on horseback and when he was ordered to stop, pulled a big pistol and tried to shoot the officers. They drew their own weapons and disarmed the murderous checkman. The pair of men have passed dozens of small checks on the Italians of Napa county during the past few weeks.

Many blank checks on the Bank of California of San Francisco were found in their possession, also a number filled out and signed with the name of Frank Lucci, a wealthy St. Helena farmer. This morning the officers found another loaded pistol and a wallet full of blank and executed checks on the road, where the arrests were made last night.

The two men are now in jail. Magiori's wife claims they came here from Lovelock, Nev., six weeks ago. They are wanted at Oakland and Sonoma on a similar charge.

DOESN'T WANT THE RELIC.

John D. Rockefeller Declines to Accept Putative Sword of Oliver Cromwell.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Unless John D. Rockefeller sends to the appraisers' stores for the antique sword said to have been worn by Oliver Cromwell, which was consigned to Mr. Rockefeller by an English woman, an admirer of the capitalist, the weapon will be put up at auction by the government and sold to the highest bidder October 6.

Mr. Rockefeller was communicated with, but declined to accept the sword or paying the accruing duties. A letter accompanying the sword also remains unanswered.

It is reported that Mr. Rockefeller sent a representative to inspect the relic, and that his report was unsatisfactory.

GRAPE GROWERS ORGANIZE.

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 26.—The grape growers of Santa Cruz county assembled at Boulder Creek today and organized an association which will affiliate with the State organization recently perfected in San Francisco. An assessment of twenty-five cents on every acre of grapes was levied to help finance the organization.

FOREST FIRES NEARLY OUT.

EUREKA, Sept. 26.—The forest fires which have raged for three days in Northern Humboldt county are now about burned out, although still smouldering and burning in places. There is no further damage threatened. Previous estimates of damage are about correct. A conservative figure places the total at $150,000, with the possibility that it will run to $200,000.

WASHINGTON.

NEW POWDER SHOOTS MILES.

Increases Range by Large Percentage.

Secret Formula Is Held by Government.

Enemy Could not Get Near Enough to Fight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The War Department has recently made improvements in powder and in shells which promise to increase the effective range of ordnance about 75 per cent. Tests of the powder have recently been made at Sandy Hook, with excellent results. The formula used in the new powder is secret.

Tests were made with a six-inch shell, which has been elongated and other changes made in it. The increased efficiency is said to be due mostly to the changes in the shell by which its range is increased 50 to 60 per cent., the efficiency of the powder being increased about 15 per cent. The present extreme range of the six-inch shell is six miles, and its effective range about two-thirds that distance, and the range increases about one mile for each inch of added diameter, the twelve-inch shell carrying twelve miles, and being effective up to eight miles. The improvements would make the twelve-inch shell effective at twelve to fourteen miles.

If these results are realized in actual warfare it will be possible to engage an enemy before it can get anywhere near fighting distance, and annihilate it before it can either escape or get within fighting distance.

ITALIAN SHOOTS UP PARK.

Empties His Revolver Twice and Gives Policemen a Lively Chase.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—An Italian of huge proportions, with a swarthy face and a bandana handkerchief around his neck, created a wild scene in Washington Square Park today when he tossed his hat in the air, and drawing a big revolver from his pocket, began shooting the headpiece full of holes.

The park was filled with loungers at the time, and the sight of the brigand-like figure with the blazing weapon in his hand sent them scurrying in every direction. The man paid not the slightest attention to his surroundings, however, and when the hat, riddled with bullets, had fallen to the ground, he calmly tossed it in the air again and renewed the fusillade.

The gun had been twice emptied when two policemen rushed to the park. When hte Italian saw the officers he darted away like a deer, bounding over fences and other obstructions with an agility that soon left his pursuers in the rear. He was finally captured by policemen who had cut around the park, but put up the hardest kind of a fight before he was arrested.

He was sent to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital in a straightjacket.

COL. GREENE TAKES A REST.

Cananea Copper King Retires from Business for One Year to Regain His Health.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 26.—Judge Fall, former Attorney-General of New Mexico, who is personal attorney for Col. W. C. Greene, formerly known as the Cananea copper magnate, is quoted in the Herald of this city today as having said Col. Greene had been forced to retire to the mountains in Northern New Mexico for a year's rest in an effort to restore his health, which has been impaired by business worry.

Operations on the properties of the Sierra Madre Mining and Lumber Company, the Greene Gold and Silver Company, and other companies in which Col. Greene is largely interested, Col. Fall is reported to have said, have been suspended indefinitely.

ANOTHER RUEF VENIRE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Of the special venire of 47 ordered by Judge Lawlor in the Ruef bribery trial, 27 answered to their names today and were ordered to appear on Monday for examination as to their qualifications to serve as jurors. The jury panel of 2400 names drawn for one year is now exhausted.

FRESNO BANK CLOSED.

FRESNO, Sept. 26.—The bank commission today closed the Valley Savings Bank of Fresno. The bank was in the formative stage and was being promoted by J. B. Monnette, recently of Pasadena. The commission said the bank was unsafe, being without capital or reserve.

LONDON TAKES TO ROULETTE.

Dealers Unable to Supply the Demand for Wheels.

Maxim-Rosslyn Game Rouses Public Interest.

Moral Element Fulminates Against It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The wickedness of the police in allowing and the press in reporting the progress of the roulette game between Sir Hiram Maxim and the Earl of Rosslyn will form the theme of half the sermons in London tomorrow, at the same time that the mammoth demonstration in favor of unlimited beer takes place in Hyde Park.

The effect of the roulette incident has been to clean out the stocks of the London roulette-wheel dealers, who declare there isn't another in all the town, though orders for several thousand have been sent to Paris, where the supply is inexhaustible.

"It is one of the most immoral occurrences that has ever happened here," one official keeper of public morals declared today. "What with these half-nude dancing-girls at every music hall and gambling protected by the police, God-fearing London will soon be a thing of the past.

"The fact that dummy money is played with in the Maxim-Rosslyn contest has nothing to do with the principle of the thing. But the worst of all is the effect on the youth of London through the publicity given the game. I have seen small boys playing the game on the street with marbles and chalk-drawn wheels.

"I thoroughly hope that somebody sufficiently prominent will bring a charge of law-breaking against these two gamblers."

COMING AND GOING.

TAFT GAINS BY EXPOSURE.

FORAKER AND HASKELL BOTH SERVE A PURPOSE.

Charles P. Taft's Newspaper Says Senator's Letter Ought to Do Republican Party Good, While Bryan Must Console Himself for Loss of Standard Oil Treasurer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times-Star, owned and edited by Charles P. Taft, brother of Candidate Taft, has the following as its leading editorial this afternoon:

"Senator Foraker's Letter: The Hearst explosion of a week ago has produced its logical result. It has driven the preposterous Haskell out of the Bryan camp and the pathetic Foraker into it. It is perfectly evident that Bryan didn't want to lose Standard Oil Haskell as the treasurer of his campaign committee. It is to be hoped that he finds enough comfort in Foraker's coming to make up for the loss. Senator Foraker's letter, in which he attempts to vindicate himself on the charge of improper connections with the Standard Oil Company and incidentally to throw as much mud as he could collect at Roosevelt and Taft, is an unusual document. It ought to do the Republican ticket quite a little good. Foraker was for months the chief obstacle in the path of that great movement toward reform upon which the Roosevelt administration must base its chief claim to a place in history. Whenever there was a chance to harass the President in this campaign; wherever there was a chance to help the "interests" against the people—there Foraker was found. His great hubbub over the unfortunate Brownsville affair may have had in it one part of sympathy for the colored troops, but it had a hundred parts of opposition to the President. In his political ideals, Foraker is as far apart as the poles from Taft and Roosevelt. He fought Roosevelt in Washington and he fought Taft in Ohio. Foraker was always willing for a compromise that would have sent him back to the Senate, but Taft was unwilling to be a party to any deal that would have tied him up to the support of Foraker for the Senate. He believed that it should be left wholly to the people whether or not they cared to indorse Foraker's record by sending him back to the Senate of the United States."

FORAKER CHARGE UNFOUNDED.

GARFIELD EXPLAINS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Secretary of the Interior Garfield made a statement concerning the relations of former Secretary Hitchcock with the issue of leases authorizing the Prairie Oil and Gas Company to lay pipe lines through Indian Territory, and through Indian lands in Oklahoma.

The records of his office, he says, show very clearly that Secretary Hitchcock simply complied with an act of Congress authorizing the construction of pipe lines, and that nowhere is there any record or other evidence that the President at any time either overruled Mr. Hitchcock or was at variance with him in the course he pursued in the issuance of the permits.

Mr. Garfield declared the department had never discriminated against nor in favor of any person or corporation in the granting of these leases, and that the Prairie Gas and Oil Company was dealt with exactly as were others who applied for the right to lay pipe lines.

About twenty permits to lay pipe lines have been granted by the department in connection with the Indian lands in Oklahoma. In no case, he said, had there been any interference with the laws of Oklahoma.

Secretary Garfield said: "The statement of Gov. Haskell that he protested against any action of the Interior Department, implying that the Interior Department was attempting to grant a franchise in opposition to the rights of the State of Oklahoma, is untrue, for no such protest was ever received, nor was the Interior Department attempting to take any such action."

Secretary Loeb also stated that the company had been granted no privileges that any other company could not have obtained. The President had nothing to say regarding Senator Foraker's statement.

STAMPEDES CONVENTION.

Bryan's Friend Forces Democrats to Nominate Lifelong Republican.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BURLINGTON (N. J.) Sept. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Positively refusing personal honors for himself and for his son, James H. Birch, widely known throughout the country as the New Jersey friend of William J. Bryan, today stampeded the Democratic Congressional Convention of the Second District for Gen. E. Burd Grubb, lifelong Republican, famous Civil War veteran, former United States Minister to Spain, and once Republican nominee for Governor.

The scene was dramatic. Mr. Birch did not know that his son was to be nominated until a committee was sent to bring him into the hall. Then he took the convention by storm and forced the nomination of Gen. Grubb and led in the applause for President Roosevelt, whose name had been mentioned.

TROUBLES IN BATTALIONS.

ANOTHER BLOW FOR HASKELL.

OKLAHOMA ASKING FOR HIS RESIGNATION.

Citizens Feel That Governor Should Be as Willing to Spare Them Embarrassment as Bryan and Petitions Are Circulated Asking Him to Vacate His Office.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That there is an organized effort to unseat Gov. C. N. Haskell of Oklahoma is borne out by numerous dispatches from Guthrie and Oklahoma City to prominent Democrats of this city and Dallas. Specials today from Oklahoma correspondents to Texas newspapers corroborate these private advices and add that Atty.-Gen. West, Democrat, who tried to oust the Prairie Oil Company, is bitter against Haskell and said the Governor should step down in light of the recent disclosures.

While Oklahomans have hesitated in taking part in the national quarrel, hoping Haskell would clear himself, today the tide turned and expressions poured into the State Central Committee from numerous towns that Haskell, if he resigned, that he might not embarrass Bryan, should resign his chair and thereby not embarrass Oklahoma. These dispatches are from Democrats and Republicans alike.

Residents in several Western Oklahoma counties, notably Alfalfa county, tonight are signing petitions asking that Haskell resign the Governorship. A big delegation is going to Guthrie early next week to present the petition.

HASKELL LEFT TO FATE.

Closeted With Bryan Nearly Hour, Then Goes Alone to Station on Way Home.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Gov. C. N. Haskell, to all intents and purposes no longer treasurer of the Democratic campaign fund, today is on his way back to Guthrie, Okla., after a forty-five-minute conference with William J. Bryan.

Mr. Haskell went to the train alone. His hurried departure, he said, was due to the necessity of his presence at the State Capitol on Monday, when the State Tax Board meets.

Asked if he would prosecute those who made charges against him, he said:

"Read the law. You will then know the limit."

He had asked, he said, that his resignation take effect immediately.

Mr. Bryan spent two hours in Chicago today. He and Mr. Haskell were closeted at the Auditorium Anex for three-quarters of an hour and although no announcement was made at the conclusion of the conference, it was taken for granted that the situation brought about by the charges of President Roosevelt and Hearst were under discussion.

BEER DRINKING FALLING OFF.

DECREASE ASTOUNDING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—According to figures given out last night by Charles R. Jones, national chairman of the Prohibition party, there was an astounding decrease in the production and sale of the intoxicating beverages in the United States during the months of July and August last.

Nearly $1,000,000 a day was the decrease in liquor production as estimated by the Prohibition leader. The great decrease, according to Mr. Jones, was in beer production, and this in face of the fact that July and August are said to be the two months of the year during which beer is most heavily consumed.

Mr. Jones says he bases his statement on official figures received from the Internal Revenue Department at Washington.

JEROME QUITS THAW CASE.

Says It Is Outside His Jurisdiction. Murderer Denied Hearing as to Sanity.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) Sept. 26.—Harry K. Thaw's plea for a jury trial to determine his present mental condition was denied today by Justice Mills in the Supreme Court.

At the same time, however, Justice Mills informed counsel in the case that on October 5, next, he would give Thaw a summary hearing under the application, and that in the meantime the prisoner will be held in the County Jail here.

One of the interesting developments of the day was the formal withdrawal from the Thaw case of District Attorney Jerome of New York. Mr. Jerome said he did not feel justified in incurring any more expense to his own office in connection with the case outside of his own county. District Attorney Winslow of Westchester county will now assume the conduct of the case against Thaw.

Justice Mills today held that the original commitment of Thaw to Matteawan was lawful and authorized.

PORTENTS OF VICTORY IN THE EASTERN SKY.

convictions, and is intelligent enough to adapt the tenets of one of the two great parties to his way of thinking.

Samuel Gompers is entitled to his own political views and will vote as he chooses, but the intelligent workingmen of the East have shown in previous campaigns that they will vote as they choose. Gompers never settled a big strike, they say, but President Roosevelt settled the greatest strike in the history of the country, that of the anthracite coal miners in Pennsyvania. They are justified in saying that Judge Taft can do things as well as Mr. Roosevelt.

But a strange thing in connection with this ever-recurring talk about the labor vote is the conspicuous fact that both parties handle it in a gingerly way with a far-off look in the eyes, as it were. Neither of the great parties meets the matter squarely on its merits. While Bryan and his men are catering and kowtowing to pretentious and supported claims of so-called organized labor (which is only about 15 per cent. of all labor) they utterly ignore the equal rights under the law of the 85 per cent. more or less of labor which is not organized and never will be. The electoral results of the past show conclusively that labor, broadly speaking, does not obey the commands of Gompers and his walking delegates, neither at the polls nor in the workshops, otherwise "organized labor" would have the entire country completely by the throat, which, thank God, it has not! William McKinley, the great and good, now gone to his reward, never uttered in a single one of the multitude of speeches made by him in the support of the cause of the tariff, the preposterous declaration: "We stand for the protection of organized labor." He invariably pronounced "for protection of American labor." The breadth, honesty and justice of that sentiment will be vindicated by the voters in the campaign of 1908.

THE LEAVEN WORKING.

The information in detail which I have gathered here in Baltimore applies more to Maryland than to other States in the East, since most of my visitors have been Marylanders. What is true of Maryland, however, is true of other Eastern States. The leaven that is working in Maryland is working the other Eastern States, for the East is the seat of conservatism. Its population is more permanent than that of the Far West, where new men are constantly settling with new ideas that uproot other ideas that seemed only days ago to be entirely new. Therefore what is true of Maryland, an old settled State, whose leading men are encased in conservatism, is true of other States along the Northern Atlantic seaboard. Indeed, as Maryland has gone at former elections when Mr. Bryan was a candidate for President, so has other Eastern States gone. Maryland is as sure for Judge Taft as is Pennsylvania. In 1896 the State rolled up a plurality of over 32,000 for McKinley.

Four years later when the free silver idea had lost some of its vitality, the plurality against Mr. Bryan was about 14,000. Another four years later, when all the gold Democrats and other anti-Bryan Democrats had returned to the Democratic fold, seven Democrats and one Republican elector, Charles J. Bonaparte, were elected. As Mr. Bonaparte's vote exceeded that of any Democratic elector by fifty-one, the Republicans have been justified in claiming the State.

THE RELENTLESS HEARST.

The same causes are at work this year which operated against Mr. Bryan in 1896 and again in 1900, not only in Maryland, but in other Eastern States, except New York, where the Democratic candidate for President had a double handicap. Not only is he confronted there by his old time foes, the anti-Bryan Democrats and the solid Republican phalanx, but this year the Independence party (the creation of the relentless Hearst) will deprive Bryan of at least 50,000, if not more, votes which would have been cast for him. In all the Eastern States Hearst's party will put electoral tickets in the field and will pull popular votes from the Democratic party, but not to the same extent as in New York.

WHY EAST OPPOSES.

To understand the wholesale opposition among the eastern Democrats to Mr. Bryan was at first puzzling to me. I know his financial and other heresies were repulsive to conservative men everywhere, irrespective of party. This did not, however, explain. One of my Democratic friends, who will vote for Judge Taft, tells me that he does not consider Mr. Bryan a Democrat, but a Populist, and recalled the fact that in the Presidential campaign in 1892, the present Democratic candidate voted for Gen. Weaver, the Populist candidate for President. Mr. Bryan's populistic proclivities have justified thousands of Democrats in the East in repudiating him. These proclivities explain the revolt in Virginia, whch will be classed a doubtful State before the campaign is over, and in other Southern States. Indeed, from what I can learn, I should not be surprised to see the solid South in the near future relegated to the pages of history. The South has had one experience with populism. It does not want another.

Solidity in the South is "loaded," of course. Mr. Bryan expresess confidence in his election. What else could he be expected to say?

LOOK AT THE FACTS.

As he goes merrily marching through his yawning graveyard he must whistle between speeches to keep up his courage. Look at the pluralities he must overcome to win: 26,000 in Indiana, 23,000 in Kansas, 14,000 in Maryland, 104,000 in Michigan, 77,000 in Minnesota, 70,000 in Nebraska, 69,000 in Ohio, 95,000 in Illinois, for be it remembered that the votes of these States added to votes of the solid South, if the South stays solid, and to the votes of a few scattering States in the Far West, are necessary to enable him to win in the electoral college. He could lose the electoral votes of some of the Middle West States and win if he could capture the thirty-nine votes of New York. To carry New York he must overcome an adverse plurality of nearly 144,000.

I have used the pluralities of the election of 1900, when Mr. Bryan was a candidate, because he has brought to the front the same issues which were more or less prominent in 1900, and because his personality (which is a valuable asset) is again injected into the campaign. It would be more disastrous to Mr. Bryan's chances if the pluralities of 1904 were used.

BRYAN'S APPEAL.

To overcome these enormous pluralities Mr. Bryan has appealed to the industrial classes in the East, though persistently refusing to squarely declare for the equal rights of all workingmen under the law. He has proceeded on the theory that there has been a disastrous panic in the East and that the streets are full of men demanding work. He has discovered his mistake. There have been hard times in the East, and the situation has not entirely righted itself; but the workingmen, even the "organized" minority of them, remain unconvinced that Mr. Bryan can cure their ills. Some of the Republican leaders in Baltimore became apprehensive after the ovation given to Bryan here two weeks ago, and they had a quiet poll of several factories made. Instead of a predominating Bryan sentiment, they found a healthy Taft sentiment. Democrats who had never scratched a ticket said they will vote for Judge Taft.

FORAKER AND KERN.

As I said before, what is true of Maryland is true of other Eastern States. If, therefore, Republican workingmen of Maryland, organized and unorganized, will not vote for Mr. Bryan, Republican workingmen of other States in the East will not vote for him.

The apprehension over the charges that Senator Foraker's connection as counsel with the Standard Oil Company might injure the Republican cause is disappearing in the face of the widely published facts. The disassociation between Judge Taft and Mr. Foraker in politics in Ohio and elsewhere is now plain. Boldly throwing his powerful personality to the breach the President put the Democrats on the run by following up the charges that Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma, who is no longer treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, was once an employé of the Standard Oil Company in an undesirable capacity. Haskell thereupon had to quit, by Bryan's frightened edict. Kern, the Democratic candidate for Vice-President, who has spent nearly a week in Baltimore on legal and political business, said "Me too."

Mr. Bryan's new issues, his expedients of the hour, are of no weight in the Eastern campaign. His prentice plan to guarantee bank deposits is not taken seriously. His tirade against trusts is not constructed on facts and arguments, but is a continuous performance of invective and nightmare, and men of sense and acumen are "horsetile" to it. His free-trade speeches have fallen flat. While a revision of some of the tariff schedules is deemed to be imperative, that revision, it is recognized, ought to be made by the friends rather than by the enemies of the tariff, and the Republicans have promised a revision. Since the disastrous experience of the country with the Democratic tariff law of 1894 it is not willing to repeat that experience.

Bryan has never abandoned his rotten free-silver heresy, as proven by a letter written by him this year of 1908. The East is for protection, and if there were no other issue in this campaign the Republicans would win on that.

In traveling through the Middle States of the West, through Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and New England, has the observant traveler failed to notice the numberless factories with smoke belching from their chimneys and with wheels whirring in the buildings? Has the western traveler not noticed that almost every town on the journey to New York, whether coming East by way of St. Louis or Chicago, is to be seen a factory of some kind, as well as a church and a schoolhouse?

WORD FROM WHITE HOUSE.

At the moment of closing this dispatch I have received through a citizen of national standing word from the White House up to yesterday (Friday) afternoon, when the President expresses to his Maryland visitor his complete confidence in the election of Mr. Taft, declaring that he believes that Taft will get four more States that he (the President) got when he was elected. He admitted the possible loss of Nevada and the closeness of the fight in Indiana, but expressed his belief that the last-named State will finally swing into the Republican column.

The portents of Republican victory make luminous the eastern sky and likewise shine in the skies of the Occident. They spell the election of William H. Taft, the brave and true, the safe and sure, to the Presidency of the republic.

MANY DEMOCRATS ENLIST.

Become Members of Taft and Sherman Club of New York Lawyers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The lawyers of this city have organized a Taft and Sherman Club, and the statement was made at Republican national headquarters that many Democratic lawyers have become members.

Three of the men who have been prominent in Democratic councils and who have joined the club are Frederick R. Coudert, William B. Davenport, formerly Public Administrator of Brooklyn, and Edmund Wetmore, ex-president of the Harvard Club.

Charles H. Sherrill, secretary of the new organization, said today: "The number of responses has simply swamped us. We have sent letters to comparatively few lawyers so far, but have received already more acceptances than we enrolled in similar movements in the last campaign, when we got 1900 members."

BRUTAL STREET SCENE.

CHOKES WIFE, TRIES TO ABDUCT HIS SON.

AFTER choking his wife, Mrs. Mrs. Mary E. Mulligan, until she was almost unconscious, at Second and Hill streets last night, T. F. Mulligan, a Pullman car conductor, attempted to abduct Roy, his 10-year-old son. Before he could reach a street car with the lad, he was caught by T. W. Harris of No. 218 West Third street, who, with the assistance of C. R. Goodrich of No. 150 North Main street, took the man to the Police Station. He was charged with battery and in default of $100 bail was locked up in the City Jail. The son said he preferred to remain with his mother, although his father had promised him everything he desired.

Mulligan and his wife have been separated for nearly a year. Since he left San Bernardino, where they formerly lived, Mrs. Mulligan sold her home there and removed to this city. Mulligan returned to San Bernardino last week, learned that she was in Los Angeles, came here and found her at No. 218 North Fremont street.

When he asked for the custody of one of their two children, Mrs. Mulligan refused to let him take either Roy or Mabel, who is 15 years old. After he left the mother took the children to a friend's home in order to keep them out of the way of their father. She was returning home with them last night, when Mulligan met them at Hill and Second streets. When Mrs. Mulligan refused to give him the custody of Roy, she declares that her husband grabbed her by the throat and choked her, tearing off her collar and waist. Mabel jumped on his back and shouted for help, which attracted the attention of Harris and Goodrich.

Mulligan told the police he intended to go to Pocatello, Idaho, where he has a position on the railroad, and to take his son with him.

STEAMERS STRIKE IN DENSE FOG.

COMMONWEALTH SINKS VOLUND ON LONG ISLAND SOUND.

All Hands Rescued, but One of Latter's Crew Is Injured—Wireless Message for Help from Former Brings Five Responses from Other Vessels Inside an Hour.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The steamer Commonwealth, newest and largest of the Fall River line's Sound steamers, arrived at this port today after colliding with and sinking the Norwegian freight steamer Volund, in a dense fog off Race Rock, at the eastern entrance to Long Island Sound, early this morning.

The Volund's officers, the captain's wife and crew were rescued, and brought here on the Commonwealth. One member of the Volund's crew was injured, which constituted the only casualty.

The bow of the Commonwealth was smashed above the water line, but the damage was not considered serious.

The collision took place at 1:20 a.m.

The Commonwealth was proceedingly slowly because of the thick fog, which had obscured everything from the time she left Fall River. The Volund was also proceeding slowly when Capt. Williamson of the Commonwealth sighted it coming in his direction. The siren blasts which followed, however, were sounded too late to prevent the collision, and the Volund, after remaining above water a short time, rapidly settled, forcing the crew to take to the water, whence they were rescued.

Following the collision, Capt. Williamson ordered the wireless operator to send a general message of distress along the Sound, and within an hour five vessels had answered and volunteered assistance.

The steamers Maine, Providence and Priscilla stood by the Commonwealth until she started on her journey at 4:30 a.m., assisting in caring for the members of the Volund's crew, and in Capt. Williamson's hasty examination of the damage sustained by the Commonwealth.

The Volund, which carried a crew of seventeen men, left New York yesterday for Windsor, N. S., with a small cargo. She was in command of Capt. Schjott.

DRAGGED QUARTER OF BLOCK.

COLTON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Louise Turley of Los Angeles, with her nephew and niece, Willis and Norma White of this city, narrowly escaped fatal injuries this afternoon in the heart of the city.

A runaway team frightened the horse Miss Turley was driving, so that the animal ran away. The buggy struck a pepper tree, and one of the rear wheels was removed.

Miss Turley held the reins until thrown to the ground. She was dragged about a quarter of a block. The children were also thrown out, but escaped injury. Miss Turley was unconscious when picked up, but is only suffering from a much-bruised shoulder.

Eighteen Dead and Many Injured as the Result of a Collision on Elevated Railroad in German Capital—Accident Caused by Misplaced Signal.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Two trains on the Berlin Elevated Railroad were in collision early this afternoon, and as a result eighteen persons are dead, eight serious, and many other slightly injured. Most of the deaths resulted from contact with the electrified rails. The accident was caused by a misplaced signal.

One of the cars, which was crowded with passengers, was thrown into the street, forty feet below, and shattered. The greatest mortality was in this car. The police were quickly at the scene, and the work of extricating the dead and wounded begun.

The collision occurred in the heart of the eastern commercial district, upon what is known as the Triangle, a notable piece of railroad construction where three double tracks cross. A model of this crossing was exhibited at the St. Louis Exposition.

Among the dead is Richard Wendt, an architect.

KING EDWARD PEACE MAKER.

Credited With Disposal of Morocco Problem.

His Talk With Emperor Was Responsible.

Buelow's Action May Have Been Arranged.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For what promises to be a felicitous solution of the Moroccan question, following the conciliatory tone of the German reply to the joint note of France and Spain to the powers signatory to the Algeciras agreement, there is a general disposition to applaud Edward VII. No longer is any doubt felt regarding a satisfactory adjustment, and the Moroccan issue, long the storm center of Europe on the west, bids fair to become as defunct as the Dodo in a comparatively short period.

"Bring laurels for the world's greatest peacemaker," exclaims a London journal, which goes on to trace the connection between the "unexpected abandonment of its wonted truculent tone" by the Berlin Foreign Office and the interviews of Edward and William at Kronberg and of Edward and Clemenceau at Marienbad.

It is suggested that the King and his imperial nephew then and there discussed the step Berlin took later when Buelow called for the recognition of Mulai Hafid without further delay, and that Edward acquiesced in this proposal, "as a way of gratifying German susceptibilities without doing serious harm."

This is ingenious, at all events.

DUCK SEASON ON THURSDAY.

Forty Clubs Waiting to Slay Toothsome Birds.

Two Organizations Put up New Quarters.

Fowls Observed on the Ponds by Thousands.

All of the local gun stores report the big business of the year in the last week, for 500 duck hunters have started to stock up on shells for the opening of the duck season next Thursday morning, and from now until the appointed time there will be something doing every minute in the way of getting ready.

Reports from the majority of the clubs from Venice southeast to Balboa and far back into the interior indicate that the coming season will be a great one, if advance information can be taken for anything. All of the members who have visited the clubs during the past three weeks unite in saying that there never has been a season that showed any greater number of ducks at this time than this one. Some of the clubs did not begin to fill their ponds until the first of last week, and at that time there were thousands of birds up and down the coast.

A number remained here all summer, and early rains in the far northwest sent the birds here correspondingly early, and as there has been nothing but a glad welcome for them and plenty to eat, they decided to stay, their number being augmented every day by fresh arrivals. Almost all of the clubs have been throwing out grain for a month, and several club members declare that the ducks appear to be almost too fat to fly.

There are now about forty duck clubs in this end of the State along the beaches adjacent to Los Angeles, three or four having been organized this summer. The new ones are naturally small ones, for the old clubs long since secured the best ground and have kept almost all of the acreage. Considering the expense necessary to continue as a member of a duck club, it may be surprising to many that there should be so few changes in the membership, and it is safe to say that in the thirty-five old clubs, with more than 500 members, there have not been fifteen changes. Those that have been made are due to members leaving the city for good, and to inactive hunters dropping out. Not a few club members shot only twice last season, and a few of these have sold their interests.

Many of the clubs have made minor improvements during the summer, and a few have probably spent only $20 in repairs. The Creedmoor, in the Westminster section, and the Westminster, near the Bolsa Club, have each built fine new clubhouses, the Creedmoor's costing $3700 and the other $5000. In addition to the regular clubhouse, the Creedmoor has built a seven-room house for the keeper and an auto shed large enough for four autos and four horses.

The Westminster's new house contains no less than twenty rooms, and each of the sixteen members has his own room, if he cares to use it. The sixteen blinds have been made better, and twelve of the sixteen ponds are full of water, and also of ducks. The members are planning for a big housewarming on Wednesday night, and many of them will probably remain up all night to be ready for the first shooting before sunrise, or as soon as the mist clears away.

A few of the clubs have had some trouble this month in getting a sufficient amount of water for their ponds, many heretofore gushing artesian wells just flowing enough now to get the water over the top of the casing. Several wells stopped altogether, and where this has happened water has been secured from other clubs or irrigating ditches, and as a result almost every club is ready for the opening of the shooting. The ponds that are not full now will be this week, and those clubs that have had bad luck in this manner have made up for it by liberal feeding, and as a result the birds are very evenly divided.

One of the small clubs that has just been organized is north of the Cerritos, and will probably be called the Chanslor club. There are but fourteen acres in it, but the three young members already have three flowing artesian wells, and are putting down a fourth. The members are Albert and Jim Cosby and Morrison Chanslor.

The hunters will run up against sprig next week in large numbers, and mixed in with these are teal. Mallard, canvasback and spoonies are very scarce, but several hundred geese have been noticed. The prospects in every direction are very flattering, and the rain of the past week will start green feed that will keep all the birds that come here for the winter.

OLYMPICS BEATEN.

NO CHANCE WITH STANFORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Entirely outclassed and utterly helpless before the fierce onslaughts of the Stanford 'varsity, the Olympic Club team from San Francisco went down to inglorious defeat on the Rugby field this afternoon by the score of 28 to 0. While the visitors fought hard for a time, there was no coördination in their play and the fast passing rushes of the 'varsity back field utterly bewildered the visiting players. Six tries, five of them converted by Crawford and Mitchell, constitute the score.

While the poor condition of the club players is partly responsible for the large score, the 'varsity earned every try by clever and spectacular Rugby of as high class as shown any time last year. In the back field Mow Mitchell of Los Angeles played a wonderful game, repeatedly making long gains through crowded fields, while Scott put up a class of Rugby which makes him as the find of the season. Cook of Santa Barbara made a forty-yard run unaided through the heart of the Olympic field, passing to Cheda, who scored after dragging two men nearly ten yards.

W. B. Higley of Pasadena substituted for Reynolds in the pack, and played the best ball he has done this season, scoring two tries and dribbling well. Referee Blaim made the game rather slow at times by penalizing for doubtful offside plays.

FRESHMEN FIRST.

For the first time this season, showing a flash of real Rugby form, the freshman football team today won from San José High School by the score of 14 to 3. Though badly weakened by the loss of Brown and Erb, the freshmen pulled together well and fought harder than at any time heretofore.

The forwards continued to do most of the work, however, with Hubbard continuing the most aggressive player. That there is no dearth of material was shown when the substitute team put in during the second half continued to pile up the score.

PARADOXICAL.

CLASS GAMES LACK CLASS.

RUGBY MATCHES AT BERKELEY ARE DISAPPOINTING.

Students Are Praying That the Coaches' New System Will Prove Successful in Developing a Winning Fifteen—Southern Men Are Showing up Well.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA. Sept. 26.—The interclass football games have been the chief things of interest in football circles this week and they have been neither cheering to the coaches nor to the student body except that considerable interest has been aroused by them. From the standpoint of Rugby they were very poor, the senior-junior game being much worse than the sophomore-freshmen contest. The senior team included seven old 'varsity men, as well as several of last year's second team, while the juniors had four 'varsity veterans. The game was fierce and hard fought, but very discouraging, for many of the 'varsity men played like untutured freshman. The passing was wild and slow while the forwards did not follow the ball.

The sophomore-freshmen game was better, especially in the second half, when Schaeffer sent in his strongest first year men. The "babies" passed very fairly and accurately, but when much speed was put into a throw there was a decided tendency to fumble.

The wildness of the 'varsity passing during the past week is attributed by many to be a result of the coaches' ideas of playing the men in unfamiliar positions in order to make them more of all-around Rugby players. Dr. Taylor is quoted as saying at the beginning of the season that the majority of preliminary games would probably be lost but that he felt confident his plan would bring better results at the time of the big game. Twenty-one days before that contest he will practically pick the 'varsity, choosing the twenty or so men who will be put on the training table and they will be played together until the time for the game.

The students are praying for the success of the new system, for it was the Cardinal passing more than anything else that brought defeat to California last year and will probably do much toward carrying Stanford to another victory this year, unless neutralized by equally good work on the part of the Blue and Gold.

The class series has brought to light the fact that several of the freshman and other underclassmen are playing just as good Rugby as many of the 'varsity men. Webster is more than ever to be considered as a very likely candidate for 'varsity honors. His work this week has excelled that of many of the men on the team last year and he has proved himself a heady field general. Swartz of last season's freshmen fifteen is another man who has been playing excellent ball, as have McFie of Los Angeles and Pauly of San Diego. Williamson, who played sub-end for Pomona College last year is registered here this term and seems to have all the earmarks of a very good rugby player. He was one of the stars of the junior game and has been doing very well in practice. He will be ineligible for 'varsity consideration until next season.

With the intercollegiate freshman game but three weeks away, the dopesters are beginning to figure the chances of the two teams. At the present time it seems as through hte coming contest would be one of the closest games ever played between the institutions. From reports Stanford will have the heaviest scrum, while California will have the best backfield, although the passing may be not quite as good. Last year the local scrum outplaced the Cardinal. This will probably not be the case this season, but Stanford probably will have enough additional weight in the pack to make it hard for the Blue and Gold to heel out an equal number of times.

A strong fight is on for the local back-field positions, but certain men seem certain. Wheeler is practically a fixture at wing forward, and Harris seems sure of a three-quarters position. Watts is another man who is as good as picked for a wing three-quarter in the estimation of most people, while for the third place McDonald of Pasadena. Frees of Monrovia, McFarlane and Rathbone are fighting hard. Rathbone is the speediest man, but is not the fighter and sure tackler that McDonald is.

Gabriel of Pasadena will probably play one five-eighths, while Powers of Los Angeles may play the other, although Weber and Abbott seem to have the advantage at present.

Lawton seems to have supplanted Krueger at full back, and if he makes a good showing in the freshman game, will have en excellent chance to understudy Capt. Butler on the 'varsity.

Evans of Pomona is having a hard fight against Elliott from Oakland for the position of half, and at present honors appear about even. Carpenter of Pomona seems a fixture in the scrum, as he has played throughout every game so far.

Fall crew training for freshman started this week with sixty candidates putting in appearance. This number will be increased after the freshman game by the addition of some of the husky Rugby players.

IN DEADLY EARNEST.

U.S.C. IS BUILDING UP.

A large number of football candidates at U.S.C. received their preliminary instructions from "Bill" Traeger at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon, when the new field coach outlined the work before the Methodist team in preparation for the coming intercollegiate contests.

Traeger has issued his call for candidates for the first 'varsity practice for tomorrow afternoon, and the players will get down to hard scrimmage as soon as the elementary "stunts" of handling the ball and punting are fairly mastered by the men. A practice contest will likely be arranged for Saturday afternoon with either Santa Ana High School or San Diego Y.M.C.A.

After instructing the men on the necessity for strict observance of regularity in living and eating, the coach urged the candidates to give their best effort in assisting the instructors.

The coaches and men all realize they are up against a situation never before met in university athletics, and one which necessitates the utmost mutual confidence and coöperation between instructors and players. The men are nearly all unknown to each other, and at present the material is below the caliber available in former years.

Big "Bill," however, is not discouraged at the lack of 'varsity men of experience and weight, and is optimistic of the chances of the university to make a strong showing in the big games. Traeger says he is right in his element in developing a winning team from light material, and made a splendid record while at both Pomona and L. A. High in a like capacity.

At present the university will not want for desirable material for the quarter-back position. John Berryman, who played quarter on L. A. High for the last two seasons, enrolled in the freshman class Friday. Ickes, a newcomer from South Dakota, and Reed, the 'varsity quarter-miler, are both playing a strong game at quarter, and in the class contests displayed promise of ability, which will be utilized on the 'varsity.

Charlie Haigler, the All-Southern tackle and 'varsity captain last year, registered Friday, and his appearance raised the Methodist stock fully a hundred per cent. in the eyes of the student body. Haigler is to graduate this year, and promises to tear things up before the season is over.

The interclass contests uncovered a likely amount of good material, light but fast, and the coaches expect to have three full teams out on the field tomorrow for the preliminary start. Plays will be given suitable to the personnel of the team, and great emphasis will be placed on team work rather than developing trick plays centering on the strength of a few star players.

Training table will probably be inaugurated by the end of the week, and the men will receive the best of care from the rubbers and coaches. A number of students have offered their services in rubbing the men down every afternoon, and this care is expected to work a good effect in the condition of the men.

POLICE JUDGE BARS TIPS ON THE RACES.

IN A decision handed down yesterday morning by Justice Joseph Chambers of the Police Court, the anti-tip ordinance was declared, in part, to be unconstitutional, and two cases which have been under consideration for the past six or eight months were thrown out of court.

By the ruling, it is permissable to print the results of races and the odds of the betting. It is not permissible to print tips of any kind or print the odds of any race to be run at any future date.

The stories of try-outs may be printed, together with the time made by the horses in such try-outs.

The decision was given orally. The justice held that the ordinance was unconstitutional in that it did not state that information along these lines was to be used for the purpose of betting on future races.

The case in court was the prosecution of E. J. Redfox and Sylvester Saal, charged with selling papers containing the results of races in San Francisco.

When the case came up for trial several months ago, Attorney Fred Thompson, representing the accused men, entered a demurrer to the complaint on the ground that the ordinance was in part unconstitutional. City Prosecutor Woolwine defended the ordinance, but lost.

An amendment to the law may be made to cover the ground ruled out by Justice Chambers yesterday.

TORTURING ANIMALS TO ASSIST SCIENCE.

Is a Cruel Method to Follow, But It Has Saved Many Human Lives.

Prof. Pawlow of Russia was engaged for many years in experimental work, trying to learn the workings of digestion, especially the digestive glands.

He, with able assistants, operated upon dogs, cats, guinea pigs and other animals.

His methods were seemingly painful, but he gave to science a work which won the Nobel prize and made for him an undying fame.

Science penetrated the secrets of nature. Prof. Pawlow saw animals digest food. He analyzed juices from every part of the digestive canal and stomach under all conditions of digestion. He spent years of ceaseless study amid the howling and dying beasts, but he won, and science today looks upon him as a great man.

"To do a great right do a little wrong," Shakespeare said, and Prof. Pawlow obeyed this trite saying.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are prepared by the most scientific process. They are produced by modern appliances, and meet the demand of the 20th century chemistry.

They give man the means to correct his infirmities of stomach and digestive organs.

They enrich the blood, give nature the juices and fluids she lacks, stop the formation of noxious gases and the fermentation of food. They neutralize powerful acids and alkalies, which irritate and devour the stomach. They prevent and relieve bowel and intestinal trouble and soothe the nerves.

They should be used after every meal, whether one has dyspepsia and stomach trouble or the stomach be naturally healthy. By their use one may eat at all hours and whatever one desires and they help the system digest or throw off such food. They are thoroughly meritorious as their tremendous sale and popularity illustrate.

Every drug store has them for sale, price 50c per package. If you would like to test their merits free, send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail without cost. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CALLS NEW PASTOR.

Rev. Will C. Roberts Asked to Succeed Dr. Wishart at Mt. Washington Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Will C. Roberts of Highland Park will receive today a formal call from the members of the Mt. Washington Presbyterian Church to fill the pulpit left vacant by the resignation of Dr. S. E. Wishart. It is understood Mr. Roberts will accept.

The action of the congregation is a high compliment to the ability displayed by Mr. Roberts when he fulfilled the ministerial duties during the recent absence of Dr. Wishart. Mr. Roberts's scholarly attainments, combined with a general sympathetic nature, seem eminently to fit him for the work before him.

The following extract from the letter calling Mr. Roberts indicates the esteem in which he is held:

"During the recent absence of our beloved pastor, Dr. S. E. Wishart, it was our good fortune to be under your charge, and the esteem and appreciation which you merited during that period impel us, now that our pastor is about to bid us farewell, to turn to you, and ask that you will accept, as your first call to the ministry, the change of the Mt. Washington Church. We know of no one else so well fitted to minister to the needs of our congregation at this time, for in the few months you spent with us, you endeared yourself to the people of this congregation, and have gained an influence which will be a powerful aid in the work of your ministry among us."

Dr. Wishart's resignation, which was announced in yesterday's Times, caused widespread regret. The aged minister is greatly beloved by his people, who have expressed their appreciation of his work in a farewell letter that breathes something of the love felt for him.

BALLOON-ROUTER BACK.

C. M. Pierce, manager of the Balloon Route Excursions over the Los Angeles-Pacific system, returned last evening from and outing of three months in the mountain wilds of Oregon, where the hum of trolley traffic is never heard. He brought a special party from the North, stopping in San Francisco and other coast cities and places of interest on the way. Tomorrow morning Pierce will resume personal charge of his excursions.

BURRO LUNGES, BOY HURT.

Leon Hurth, 12 years old, of No. 2518 Central avenue, was painfliy injured yesterday afternoon, when a burro which he was trying to drive ran away at Grand avenue and West Adams street. The boy attempted to pull the balky little animal from the car track. The burro refused to budge until, frightened at the sound of a car gong, it made a sudden lunge, knocking the boy down and opening his scalp for three inches. Leon was attended at the Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon Garrett.

JOURNEYS EAST TO WED.

Professing that he was going only on an extended vacation trip, R. J. Morrell, well known in local society circles, and treasurer of the Rivers Brothers Produce Company, quietly slipped away several weeks ago. Yesterday a letter from friends in Washington, D. C., revealed the fact that Mr. Morrell had stopped long enough in that city to wed Miss A. Fulton, daughter of a prominent Pennsylvania Railroad official. She visited Los Angeles with her father three years ago, and it was then that Mr. Morrell met her at a social function in her honor. The young people will make a trip through Canada and the northwestern portion of the United States and return here in about four weeks. They will probably reside in Pasadena.

SWEDISH REPUBLICANS.

An entertainment and political rally will be conducted next Saturday evening at Blanchard Hall by the Swedish-American Republican Club. There will be speeches in English and Swedish, and the varied programme will include songs, instrumental numbers and tableaux depicting Swedish scenes. Carl Oscar Nelson, president of the club, will preside. The organization has more than 500 members.

thought the body will adjourn with the announcement of the appointments late in the afternoon, though if the business is too much rushed, an evening session will be held.

There are to be few changes in prominent pulpits, according to the wise ones, and the scarcity of gossip on the subject indicates the correctness of the diagnosis. The same source of information places Dr. A. W. Lamport, who will be taken from the great First Church of Pasadena, by his own request for a lighter work, at South Pasadena; and Rev. George Foster at Trinity Church, Pomona, if he is not returned to Newman Church, this city.

JEWISH NEW YEAR.

GENERALLY OBSERVED HERE.

There was a general closing of all Jewish places of business throughout the city yesterday, and services in the several synagogues were largely attended.

In Temple B'nai B'rith, the progressive Hebrews held services at 10 o'clock in the morning, conducted by Rabbi S. Hecht. The attendance was unusually large, and the services were of the usual impressive character. No services will be held in the temple today.

The orthodox Jews celebrated the holiday at Beth Israel Synagogue, Olive and Temple streets, holding services at 7:30 in the morning and at 7:30 last night, and a service will be held at 7 o'clock this morning. They also report an unusually large attendance. The officiating rabbi was Dr. M. A. Alter.

Congregation Sinai, under the leadership of Rabbi I. Myers, held its services in the Woman's Club House, where practically every seat in the auditorium was occupied. There was a morning service and one at 5:30 in the evening. Today the services will begin at 7:30 a.m., and continue until 1 o'clock p.m.

RELIGIOUS BREVITIES.

WILL TALK OF THE WIZARD.

Dr. Charles Edward Locke will make his first appearance before the men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium this afternoon at 3:30. He will tell of his visit to Edison's laboratory. There will be a fine musical programme.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the first vesper service of the year will be held in the chapel at Occidental College. Rev. Josiah Sibley of Long Beach will be the speaker.

The Young Men's Christian Association will maintain a tent at Atascadero during the month of October while the National Guard is in camp. They will furnish free reading and writing facilities for the soldier boys, and do many other things for their comfort during the joint maneuvers.

The United Evangelistic Mission Association will begin a nightly meeting at No. 1256 East Ninth street tonight, under Rev. P. H. Crisp and Rev. J. W. Hill. They will also hold services at 10:30 and 3 o'clock today.

This evening Dr. Henry will begin a series of six sermons on "The Big Whys of Life" in the First Baptist Church. The particular topics will be: "Why I Believe in a Personal God," "Why I Believe in a Personal Devil," "Why I Believe the Bible Is the Word of God," "Why I Believe in the Diety of Jesus Christ," "Why I Believe in a Real Hell" and "Why I am a Christian." The first of these subjects will be Dr. Henry's topic tonight. He will also deliver a prelude on "The Liquor Dealers' Campaign of Education." The annual meeting of the church was held on Wednesday night, when the new board of trustees was chosen, consisting of Weymouth Crowell, W. A. Brown, L. C. Cline, Ernest Canfield and B. O. Gardner.

ASK LIGHT ON AMENDMENTS.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB QUIZZES SPEAKERS AT DINNER.

Proposed New Taxation System Discussed, and Assemblyman Leeds Refutes Heney's Ante-primary Statements Concerning Vote of Los Angeles Delegation in Legislature.

Responding to the invitation of the directors of the Union League Club, the purpose of whom is to elucidate the constitutional amendments pending at the election in November, a large part of the membership of the club attended a special dinner last night at 6 o'clock, at which the amendments were discussed by Senator H. S. G. McCartney and Assemblyman Walter R. Leeds. McCartney discussed only the amendment relating to the change in taxation; Leeds discussed several of the other amendments of importance.

President R. N. Bulla was toastmaster and introduced the discussion by saying that, under its constitution, California has long possessed a practical referendum, as all amendments to the organic law must meet ratification by the people. He said the amendments pending were of great importance and should be well understood before being voted on.

Senator McCartney's discussion reviewed the work of the Commission on Revenue and Taxation, of which he was a member, and discussed the effect of the new system of taxation proposed should the amendment be adopted. (The arguments of the Senator are contained in an extended article on the subject, in Part II of this issue.)

Mr. Leeds prefaced his remarks with a rebuke to Francis J. Heney for misrepresenting the Los Angeles delegation in the last Legislature in a speech he made here the night before the August primaries, when he spoke of the attitude of its members on the change of venue law, the Cartwright anti-trust law, the Capitol Removal Bill and the Johnson Railroad Commission Bill. Mr. Leeds said Heney in mentioning those who supported those measures, to whom he imputed malign motives, omitted the name of a charter member of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, Assemblyman Cogswell, who supported two of them, and the name of President Devlin of the league, who supported the other two.

The venue bill, said Leeds, was denounced as an attempt to give Ruef and Schmitz a chance to escape the jurisdiction of the San Francisco courts. Leeds wrote to Heney, asking him if he so regarded the measure, and Heney replied that he cared nothing about it. But in order to make safe, the bill was amended by the committee so as not to apply to pending civil or criminal cases, and as such passed the Legislature.

Heney charged, in his speech, that the Johnson Railroad Commission Bill was for the relief of the corporations, but did not say that it had the support of President Devlin of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League.

As to the removal of the State Capitol, Mr. Leeds said he would not vote for removal until the State was divided and a new capital established at Los Angeles.

Leeds urged serious consideration of the amendment to enable the State to issue seventy-five-year bonds for harbor improvements, on the ground that San Pedro, by developing its municipally-owned water front, could increase the facilities of commerce here. The amendments affecting schools were beneficial, he said; in fact, there is a present-day illustration in the closing of the Los Angeles night schools, which would have no excuse for closing if they received proper State aid.

The amendment giving the Governor thirty days to consider bills, after the adjournment of the Legislature, was needed, Mr. Leeds said, because for lack of it laws giving relief to the Whittier school and establishing a uniform insurance policy were made void, for the reason the Governor did not have time to properly consider them in the ten days now fixed.

The direct primary nomination amendment, Mr. Leeds thought, would work all right as a municipal and county regulation, but he doubted its utility as a State nominating agency. He explained the bill he proposed in 1907, which he will introduce again.

After the speeches, the members quizzed the speakers and others. N. W. Thompson, candidate for Senator, and Thomas Hughes made brief talks.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

The E. J. McCully Company reports the following recent sales in the sightly North Elysian Heights district: For W. B. Judson to Rosa E. Taylor, a lot 81x166 feet, on Echo Park avenue, for $750. The owner will shortly improve with bungalow. For Dr. Thomas Davidson to Mary E. Henry, a lot 50x150 feet for $800. For Charles Brandes to Thomas Jones, the resale of lot 34, block D, North Elysian Heights tract, for $900. This lot was only recently purchased by Mr. Brandes and has now been resold for him at an advance of $200. The new owner purchased for a home site. For R. D. McCully to Mrs. Mabel I. Chambers, a lot 50x150 on south side of Olympian avenue between Baxter and Donaldson streets, for $600.

HUNTINGTON BEACH CANNERY.

R. W. Ainsworth of San Francisco, who has passed two weeks at various points in Southern California, will leave today for the North. He announced last night that arrangements have practically been completed for the construction soon of a strictly-modern cannery near Huntington Beach, to cost approximately $25,000. The new enterprise, to be known as the California-Pacific Canning and Preserving Company, is reported to have financial backing in San Francisco, Oakland, San José and this city. In addition to putting up fruits, a specialty is to be made in vegetables. Work is to be commenced November 15.

Wise Talks
By the "Office Boy"

Years ago a perennial plant was found in Asia, called "Ramie," and from the fiber the linen of the Bible was made. All the mummies were wrapped in this famous linen. A linen that will preserve dead ones for thousands of years, certainly should be a fit covering for the "live ones" of this century. Schlichten Ramie Underwear in itself, combines all the good qualities of wool, silk, flax and cotton, but has none of their faults. It is very agreeable to wear, makes the skin healthy and elastic, does not shrink and is more durable than any other mesh underwear. It is the only underclothing that can be washed absolutely clean. It keeps the body in normal temperature at any season of the year. It is positively all pure "Ramie," of the best quality that can be made. We carry it in two-piece suits and union suits in the different weights. We also carry the men's half hose. If you will call at any one of our stores, we will not only show you the underwear, but the plant and the fiber, from which the linen is made. If you can't come, write for booklet, which will tell you all about it. People subject to colds or rheumatism will find this celebrated underwear indispensable. The manufacturer claims Ramie hosiery will positively cure perspiring feet. The old man has worn it himself for a long time and tells me I can't recommend it too highly.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES

(The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents without holding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. The space of 250 words, on the average, is sufficient for the point. Well-written letters are liable to be declined merely on account of their length.)

Good Roads.

PASADENA, Sept. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I noticed recently in The Times that a body of English experts were to investigate the effects of motor traffic upon macadamized roads. As you rightly said, it is of vast importance to Los Angeles county to know what may be expected on such roads from motor traffic.

I was on the English and French roads considerably last year. I found that the great damage done to the roads comes not so much from the wheels as from the intense suction of the air under the body of the car. This has the effect of disintegrating the dirt from the stone and dispersing it in clouds of dust, and soon leaves the center of the road in a hard, "bony" condition, necessitating constant repair. The roads in England and France are as perfect as they can be from an ordinary standpoint, horse-drawn vehicles, heavy drays, etc., practically raise no dust whatever, but the scorching chauffeur disappears from sight in a volume of dust that is a standing menace to the public and its comfort.

The Duke of Westminster laid down six miles of experimental road near his famous Eaton Hall estate in Cheshire last year, with what result I cannot say; but a letter of inquiry addressed to the chairman, Cheshire County Council, England, would no doubt be gladly answered and information elicited that would be valuable to us at this juncture. The problem is to get sufficient cohesion to overcome the effects of the suction before mentioned, otherwise the maintenance of our roads will be exceedingly expensive, a fact which the English officials have already found out.

These Are Only 30 Minutes From This Office.

Eastern people don't come to Southern California to live in rented flats. This is the land of broad area, fertile soil and individual ownership, with the golden sunshine over all. There is only one way to realize its beauties and comforts, and that is to own your own home. This is more possible for you now than it ever will be again. Southern California is rapidly filling up. By securing good land close to Los Angeles, the great metropolis of the Southern Coast, at the prices of today, you not only assure yourself a domain a millionaire might envy a few years hence, but you will found a fortune for yourself in the rising values.

Somerset Acres Presents a Golden Opportunity and Is Only 30 Minutes From This Big City, With the Electric Railway Station in the Center.

The land is a portion of the old Bixby Ranch, famed for its products, but marked for annihilation as a ranch by the rapid growth of the city. Beans, peas, potatoes and, in fact, all garden vegetables are produced there. It is fine for fruit. Berries and melons do well. Alfalfa and corn grow heavy. It is the natural home of the walnut. The climate is ideal for poultry. The tract is piped with big steel mains from ever-flowing wells and water doesn't cost a cent.

PAIN IN THE BACK?

A Trial Bottle of the World's Greatest Kidney Cure Sent ABSOLUTELY FREE to Every Reader of The Times Who Suffers from Kidney, Liver, Bladder or Blood Disease, or What Is Commonly Known Among Women As "Female Weakness."

It Is Your Kidneys!

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Disease and Do not Know It Until It Is Too Late.

This Simple Test Will Tell. Put some morning urine in a glass or bottle; let it stand for twenty-four hours, if then it is milky or cloudy or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased. This is the supreme moment when you should begin to take WARNER'S SAFE CURE to arrest all these unnatural conditions, for they are the unmistakable symptoms of kidney disease. Analysis free. If, after you have made this test, you have any doubt in your mind as to the development of the disease in your system, send us a sample of your urine, putting your name and address on the package, and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report with advice, free.

Warner's Safe Cure

"Before I began using Warner's Safe Cure I was all run down in health and spirits and did not care whether I lived or died. My back ached, kidneys out of order, liver deranged, and there was no time when I was free from aches and pains. I had liver spots on my face, felt depressed and nervous all the time.

"The first bottle of Warner's Safe Cure improved my appetite, made it possible for me to obtain a good night's rest, and in less than three months I was well. My back never causes me any trouble, my complexion cleared of all the liver spots, and I certainly have every reason to praise Warner's Safe Cure."—Miss Kathleen Butlers, Sec'y Catholic Social Circle, Virginia, Minn.

Cures Kidneys

Are you tired? Low spirited? Weak and flabby? Have you a constant drubbing ache in the small of your back? Have you chills? Scalding and pain when you urinate? A frequent desire to urinate? Are you troubled with sleeplessness? Have you headache? Is your appetite bad? Do you find your food does not nourish your body and make your blood rich and red? Have you a bad taste in your mouth in the morning? If you have any of these symptoms your kidneys have been diseased for a long time, for kidney diseases seldom put out such symptoms until they have been working several months and the tissues have been eaten away with the disease. You have every reason to be alarmed, and you should take WARNER'S SAFE CURE at once. WARNER'S SAFE CURE is purely vegetable and contains no harmful drugs; it does not constipate; it is put up in two regular sizes, and is sold by all druggists at 50 CENTS AND $1.00 a bottle.

Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, Nervous Exhaustion, On-Coming Insanity, Loss of Memory and Brain Fag.

Our Lymph treatment has absolutely cured Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, Nervous Exhaustion, On-coming Insanity, Loss of Memory and Brain Fag. Heretofore, most of these diseases were considered incurable. We introduced this treatment to the scientific medical world about 10 years ago, and since that time thousands have been treated successfully.

In connection with our treatment we use re-educational methods.

Patients who are unable to come to our Sanitarium can be treated at home.

Our Home Treatment is a wonderful success.

Our price is within the reach of all.

Until we perfected our home treatment patients were compelled to come to our Sanitarium or have the treatment administered by the family physician. The expense was so great that thousands of sufferers were compelled to be without the treatment for lack of money. This is no longer an obstacle as our price is within the reach of every sufferer.

TAFT RIDDLES.

aster in banking. One is that the government examinations would prevent, and the other is that it is an insult to the banking community to assume that the national bankers of this country, in view of their present high character, would yield to the temptation to recklessness presented by the system.

"I answer to the first objection that the government examinations do not now prevent banks from failing; that it is difficult for a bank examiner to discover the unwise recklessness and speculative loans, and that often such loans are made between the government examinations and then the evil is done and cannot be remedied by strict supervision.

"Second, while I fully concede the general high character of the bankers throughout this country, my point is that the opportunity to obtain deposits and invest them on very little capital afforded by the guaranty security will attract into the banking business men of no experience and will distinctly lower the tone of the banking business.

"It has been said by Mr. Bryan that the Republicans of Kansas, by adopting a plank in favor of a kind of guaranty of deposits, rebuke me for my opposition to the plan outlined in the Democratic platform. This is entirely inaccurate. The Republicans of Kansas have recommended the passage of a law by which the banks if they choose may enter into arrangements with other banks by which they shall all be subject to an assessment to pay the loss to depositors in any bank in the agreement.

POINTS OUT DIFFERENCE.

"It is the voluntary feature of the Kansas proposal that makes the radical difference between it and that of the Democratic platform. It is entirely conceivable that banks in the same neighborhood and within the observation of each other may profitably and safely accept and guarantee the security of all for the benefit of each, especially when they can select their partners.

"One of the great merits claimed for the enforced guaranty of deposits is that it will prevent panics. It is sufficient to say that the plan proposed cannot prevent panics. A panic is not stayed by the promise that money will ultimately be forthcoming. It can only be stayed by the production of money itself. When a financial stringency is on, it is the cash the man needs, and to say that he can get it next week certainly does not assist him. No one who has heard that his bank was going to fail will delay in immediately applying for his money merely because he is assured that at some time in the future he will get it. Therefore, the system could not stay the panics unless the funds were large enough to enable the banks to pay all of their depositors at the time of the run.

VAST SUMS NEEDED.

"A tax is proportioned only to the loss sustained after liquidation and payment, so that the funds would be utterly inadequate to meet the demand for ready money which would prevent a panic. The total deposits of the national banks are $5,000,000,000. One-half of 1 per cent. upon that, and this is a much larger percentage than proposed, would make a fund of $25,000,000. The amount of money that was needed to stay the late panic in New York banks alone was many times this sum.

"In other words, the cash needed to stay a panic it is impossible to accumulate in any other way except by such emergency measure as is provided in the Aldrich-Vreeland bill, in which banks are given an opportunity, upon security, to issue $500,000,000 to meet such an emergency, and are prevented from over-issuing by the imposition of a heavy tax of 5 per cent. The proposed guaranty plan also invites the coöperation of State banks and proposes that they shall have an opportunity to come into the same guaranty.

"The practical objections and difficulties do not frighten Mr. Bryan at all. He pays no attention to the difference between State banks and national banks, or to the fact that State banks are authorized to lend money on real estate, whereas the national banks are prevented from so doing. The difference in the business and the tying up of assets between the systems is radical. It would be impossible to bring in the State banks without making the supervision of them as strict as on the national banks, and if that supervision is to be strict, it must be under national auspices, and therefore in effect they must become national banks. This will entirely destroy the system of State banks, and will introduce into the national banking system trust companies and savings banks.

BRYAN ANSWERED.

"Mr. Bryan says that as the government has security why should not the individual depositor have security. The government's deposits are usually not a commercial matter, and they are usually passive deposits that are not checked out every day, but are allowed to lie a long time in the banks. The government is rich enough and strong enough not to give deposits to the banks if it does not choose to, and may keep them with entire security in a safe of its own. It only makes the deposits for the purpose of realizing the proceeds of taxes which are not immediately necessary for the use of the government, and which is in the public interest to have deposited in order that the money may go back into trade, but, as the government generally makes nothing out of the loan, except the benefit to the public just stated, and as the government would be greatly embarrassed by inability to secure its money when it needs it, and while the money is the money of all the people, the statutes require such security, and the advantage to the banks getting the money and prestige is such as to make it worth while for the bank to give security, but if a bank were required to give security for all its deposits, it would require the investment of all the capital in securities, and banking would cease to be attractive to any one.

DEMOCRATIC FALLACY.

"But the example of the security for deposits does not justify the proposed system because the government gets its security from the bank that receives the deposit. It does not get its security from all the other banks in the community, and they are not required to furnish security for that which they do not control or have custody of, which is the system proposed by the Democratic platform.

"I think I have shown that the tendency of the system proposed would be to destroy the high character of the present banking. This is not, however, to be taken as an argument that the securtiy of deposits is not a good thing, and is not to be brought about as fully and perfectly as possible. It is only to show that the method here suggested is a sophistical method that will not accomplish the purpose, but will ultimately increase the losses from bank failures.

OKLAHOMA CASE.

"The case of Oklahoma has been cited as an instance to justify the Democratic platform. The system has been in operation only since March of this year. No panic or other financial disturbance has tested its efficiency. The statement is made that the public has so much confidence in the banks that the deposits in the unsecured banks are running down and the deposits in the secured banks are running up. If my correspondents in Oklahoma can be credited, this increase of deposits was due to the fact that $3,000,000 of the State money received from the government for public school lands was removed from the national banks and put in the State banks operating under the guaranty, which would explain nearly all the increase in deposits.

"The postal savings bank has a guaranty by the government under circumstances which justify it because it receives and husbands the deposits. This guaranty will, of course, attract deposits, but the interest fund is so low that the usual savings of savings banks will not be drawn away as experience in other countries shows.

"The Democratic platform proposes if the guaranty system can not be put into force to then adopt the postal savings bank as if the guaranty system supplied the means met by the postal savings banks. This is entirely untrue. No enforced guaranty system will supply what the postal savings banks will supply."

UNTRUE.

TAFT REPLIES TO FORAKER.

DENIES ALL IMPLICATIONS BY OHIO SENATOR.

Explains That He Recommended Judge Doyle for Appointment Because of High Character and Ridicules Charge Involving Hospitality of Middle Bass Club.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 26.—Taft will rest from his labors here tomorrow and continue his campaign Monday.

Judge Taft today made answer to the criticism of himself by Senator Foraker. He had recommended Judge Doyle, a private individual, for appointment as Federal judge because of Doyle's great professional attainments and high character. In doing so he explained to the President that Doyle had acted as attorney for the Standard Oil Company and other corporations. The President had chosen to appoint Judge Taylor instead. As to Mr. Foraker, Mr. Taft commented that he "argues that this is a justifictaion for him, while Senator of the Uinted States, in accepting professional employment from the Standard Oil Company, and in making what was in effect a new partnership with the Standard Oil Company to control public opinion."

As to the second charge of Senator Foraker that Judge Taft rode to Middle Bass in the private car of Mr. Lewis, and in the yacht of Commodore Richardson of the alleged glass trust, Mr. Taft declared that he used a private car which he paid for, and that the boat he rode on was that provided by the Middle Bass Club, whose guest he was at the time.

TAFT STATEMENT.

Mr. Taft's statement is as follows:

"First, Senator Foraker says in his statement that I recommended Judge Doyle for a United States judgeship in Northern Ohio, and the President acquiesced in the recommendation, when he knew that he was attorney for the Standard Oil Company, and argues that this is a justification for him while a Senator of the United States in accepting professional employment from the Standard Oil Company, and in making what was, in effect, a newspaper partnership with the Standard Oil Company to control an organ of public opinion.

"Judge Doyle held no public office and numbered the Standard Oil Company as among a number of clients. I told the President that Judge Doyle was a man of high character, and a lawyer of great ability and experience, and would make a good judge, but explained what his corporate personal connection had been, and the President, as between Doyle and Taylor, also an able man, preferred Taylor and appointed him, not, as I recollect it, for any reason discreditable to Doyle, but because Doyle's very many corporate professional associations would make him less acceptable to the public, and interfere with his usefulness as a judge.

QUESTION OF FACTS.

"Second, Senator Foraker refers to my alleged receipt of favors from C. T. Lewis, partner of Judge Doyle, and Mr. Richardson, whom he denominates as a magnate in the glass trust, as parallel with, and in a measure, justifying his relations with the Standard Oil Company already described.

"If the facts were exactly as he gives them, I would be content to submit the justice of the parallel to the American people without comment, but the facts are not as he describes them. I visited Middle Bass as the guest of the Middle Bass Club, as Presidents Harrison, McKinley and Cleveland had done. Gen. Keifer invited me as the spokesman of the club.

"Mr. Lewis was present and carried out the will of the club in making the arrangements. I did not travel on Mr. Lewis's car. He tendered it, but I declined it. I hired a special car from Hot Springs to Toledo from the Pullman Company for $50 a day and paid them for eighteen fares to the Ohio River and twenty-two fares to Toledo at the regular tariff for a special, together with fares for berths. Mr. Lewis joined us with his private car when we were half way to Toledo, and I spoke from his platform at stations because his was the end car, but I had my own car and used it and paid for it.

CLUB PROVIDED BOAT.

"The Middle Bass Club advised me that it would see to my ferriage from Toledo to Middle Bass, and secured for the purpose a power boat of Mr. Richardson's, who was a member of the Middle Bass Club. I did not know Mr. Richardson or what his business was when I went aboard his boat. I did not know and don't know now that there is a glass trust or Mr. Richardson's relation to it, if it exists. I respected his courtesy as tendered on behalf of the club whose guest I was.

"I am indebted to the Middle Bass Club, numbering over one hundred, for their hospitality, but the attempt to connect me with the Standard Oil Company and the glass trust—if there is any—through the Middle Bass Club is ridiculous and shows the extremity in which the author of the statement finds himself."

IOWA REPUBLICANS LISTEN TO TAFT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WATERLOO (Iowa) Sept. 26.—Judge Taft indicated today that he would comment on the statement issued yesterday by Senator Foraker as soon as he was able to obtain a full copy of the same. This will be available when the Taft special reaches St. Paul late this afternoon, if not before. Pending the perusal of the statement, he said he would refrain from saying anything regarding the matter.

The second day of Mr. Taft's tour of Iowa began with a short address by the candidate to an immense crowd at Cedar Rapids before 8 o'clock. The carrying power of the candidate's voice was still noticeably deficient. In explaining his condition, Mr. Taft told the crowd that it was "because I talked yesterday to about one hundred and twenty-five thousand good Iowa Republicans."

It was, he added, very trying not to be able to impart his ideas satisfactorily to the big crowds that greeted him, but he expressed the keenest appreciation of the compliments shown him by the presence of the crowds and their enthusiasm.

When he had concluded at Cedar Rapids his review of the duties of good citizenship, which, he said, included the selection of government agents who have been tried and found satisfactory, rather than those who made promises and prophecies which time universadly proved unsound, he faced the crowds on all four sides of the raised platform from which he spoke. As he did this he remarked with a smile, "I feel like a performing bear."

"Well," was the retort from the crowd, "we are going to give you the ribbon all right."

"That's what I want," rejoined the candidate. "I want Iowa to show the good sense of her men and women by rolling up a majority of 100,000 for the Republican ticket, which I believe she will do."

Another big crowd awaited the special at Vinton, and from the rear platform the candidate made a brief talk and was heartily cheered.

Waterloo's reception was another big affair and here, too, the crowd was demonstrative.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota boarded the special in Iowa to act as the escort of honor after the Minnesota line should be reached.

Five stops were scheduled in Minnesota before reaching St. Paul at 3 o'clock. He will go to Minneapolis tonight, where he will remain over Sunday.

In his speech at Vinton, which gives a good idea of Mr. Taft's short talk, he spoke as follows: "I only want to say to those who are farmers that they are in a very comfortable situation with reference to their crops and their prospects. That if they will look back twelve years they will find a situation under the German-Wilson tariff bill that was not quite so comfortable, when prices went down to half of what they are now, and then a panacea was proposed that we just cut down half our debts by act of Congress, and having thus paid off half, we go on and struggle with the remainder. Instead of that, which was the recommendation of the gentleman who is now my opponent, you went ahead and pursued the honest policy of paying your debts in the coin in which you had contracted them, and honesty proved to be the best policy. Together with that and with the adoption of the Dingley tariff, we went to prosperity never before known in this country.

"We have had a panic. We got too far spread out, and in business circles and in labor circles that panic is hurting. But we are on the upgrade. And if we can only keep the confidence of these men who control capital so that railroads may borrow money, so that corporations engaged in industrial enterprises may borrow money, prosperity will come again. But, my friends, I ask you, heart to heart, if you were alone in business would you select a stranger as your agent, putting out a man who had served you well? Would you select a gentleman as your agent to bring about confidence who had made recommendations for twelve years with respect to economic systems and economic plans and short cuts and nostrums of prosperity, every one of which had been refuted by events?

"I believe the people of Iowa are a one-headed people. I believe that when they see a good thing they know it, and I believe that in next November they will show their common sense, will show that they are still standing where they have always stood—for good government, for progressive government, by voting the Republican ticket and again bringing about prosperity."

TAFT SCORES SAM GOMPERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MASON CITY (Iowa) Sept. 26.—To an audience composed of laboring men, at Waterloo, Judge Taft paid his compliments to Gompers, in the following vigorous language:

"Samuel Gompers has already delivered the votes to the Democratic party, and that makes it rather hopeless for one who is struggling for the Republican party to deal at all with the labor question. He seems to have removed it from doubt by carrying the vote in his pocket. He leaves no place outside for me.

"Now, I venture to think that the laboring men of this country think for themselves and have an intelligence that enables them to take their own judgment to the party and the candidate whom they select. It is rather a cheap method of attacking a candidate to say that he is opposed to labor, that he is in favor of oppressing and tyrannizing labor, and that he has nothing in his heart that sympathizes with labor.

"The only way you can meet that is to say that it is not so, and that it what I do say. I yield to no man in my sympathy with labor, as a class, in its effort to organize to make it properly powerful in the community, to maintain its equality and its level in the struggle for life and in dealing with capital on those issues where its interests and those of capital are opposed."

RETURN TO SAVAGERY.

LACROSSE GAME ENDS IN FIGHT.

VIOLENCE APPROACHES MURDER AND LYNCHING.

Vancouver and Westminster Teams Stop Match to Engage in Riot in Which Two Players Are Egged While Negro Trainer Attempts to Shoot Two Opponents.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW WESTMINSTER, (B. C.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A most disgraceful exhibition of savagery occurred at Queens Park this afternoon when, following a fight at a Lacrosse match between Tommy Gifford, of Westminster, and Vernon Green, of the Vancouvers, the latter was chased off the field by an infuriated mob, rotten egged and forced to take refuge in the dressing room for nearly an hour.

George Parris, a negro trainer for the Vancouvers, is in custody having attempted to murder two Westminster men by firing at them with a revolver.

The game broke up towards the end of the last quarter when the score stood eight to nothing in favor of the home team.

Archie MacNaughton, manager of the Vancouvers, was egged by the crowd, being hit several times. A. Hardman, a hardware merchant, escaped death only because of a faulty cartridge in Parris's revolver. Dave Burnett, who wrenched the weapon from the negro's hand, was slightly wounded in the scuffle. The police had to threaten to fire on the crowd to prevent the big trainer from being lynched after his gun had been taken away from him.

I have always heretofore shared with most people the dread of a dentist's chair. But now am sure I shall not dread the ordeal again, for at your office I can truthfully say, "I was not hurt at all." Even the bridgework which I had dreaded was painless and most satisfactory.
MRS. EARL ROGERS.

It gives me great pleasure to state that Dr. Schiffman extracted an impacted wisdom tooth for me, which had been giving me great annoyance for years. It was extracted absolutely without a particle of pain to me. It was easily worth 100 times the amount paid.
ROBERT MARSH,
Of Robert Marsh & Co., H. W. Hellman Bldg.

Dr. Schiffman placed bridgework in my mouth which has proven, after five years' use, to be a perfect piece of work and durable. Is now quite as serviceable as original teeth. A very difficult tooth was pulled before this bridgework was put in, and "it didn't hurt a bit."
C. S. SPRECHER,
Printer and Publisher, 118 Winston st.

Dr. Schiffman extracted twenty teeth for me, and did it absolutely without pain. I have had a great deal of experience with others dentists, and can truthfully say that Dr. Schiffman's method is best of all. I highly recommend him to everyone.
T. B. ROSECRANS,
Soldiers' Home.

For all the past fourteen years Dr. Schiffman has been doing my dental work. In all they extracted and replaced by means of crown and bridgework some twenty odd teeth. The work is very satisfactory and I highly recommend him.
H. A. WITTICK,
81 Mary st., Pasadena, Cal.

Have had molar tooth extracted by Dr. Schiffman. It was a complicated task, but work was done very successfully and I heartily recommend Dr. Schiffman to any needing dental work.
REV. W. E. BLAIR,
District Supt. Children's Home Society of California, 234 Daisy ave., Long Beach, Cal.

Have had several teeth extracted by Dr. Schiffman without any pain.
M. E. MASON,
With Fairbanks-Morse & Co., 130 S. Los Angeles st.

Dr. Schiffman did some crown work for me, four years ago, which proved satisfactory. I came in today and had my teeth examined and found that everything was just like new.
MRS. A. SCHILLING,
854 W. 32nd st.

I have had two plates made by Dr. Schiffman and after a three months' trial can truthfully say that they are entirely satisfactory.
T. H. BREWSTER,
President Santa Monica Oil, Gas and Mining Co., 128 West 41st st.

I have had teeth extracted, plate and bridgework done by Dr. Schiffman. I am delighted with the work and advise nervous women to go to Dr. Schiffman.

BRYAN ANSWERS.

it in your reply, and the members of your Cabinet, called in for consultation, evidently did not notice it. I stated that we had not knowingly received a dollar from any official connected with a corporation known as a trust and that any money so received would be returned as soon as we received knowledge of the fact. I now remind you that your convention deliberately rejected, by a vote of nine to one the plank favoring publicity as to campaign contributions.

ON PUBLICITY PLAN.

"Mr. Taft has repudiated the action of the convention and rebuked the members of the convention by declaring himself in favor of a publicity law, but he favors publicity after the election, while we favor publicity before the election. Which do you regard as the better plan—to let the people know before the election what influences are at work, or to let them know after the election?

"Are you willing to say that any public interest was served in 1904 by concealing until after elections the contributions made to the Republican Campaign Committee by Mr. Harriman and those collected by him from others? Are you willing to say that the publication previous to election would have no effect on elections?

"As I have said, we will publish the names of contributors above $100. Will you ask your National Committee to publish before the election, the contributions above $100, or if you regard this as too small a sum, the contributions above $1000? Or if this also too small, the contributions above $10,000? If not, what excuse can you give for not doing so? I insist our willingness to let the public know the sources from which we receive contributions raises a sentiment in our favor that must be overcome before you can ask the people to accept your statement that the law-defying corporations have more to fear from Republican success than a Democratic victory.

"In conclusion you say that you ask support for Mr. Taft 'because he stands for morally uplifting the nation, because his deeds have made good his words, and because his policies to which he is committed are of immeasurable consequence alike to the honor and interests of the whole American people.'

"I dare to compare my efforts for the moral uplift of the nation with his efforts, my deeds with his deeds, and the policies to which I am committed with the policies to which he is committed, and more than that, if I may assume that he will follow in your footsteps, I dare compare my ideal of the Presidency with his.

"I do not regard it as proper for the President to use his prestige, his influence or his patronage to aid one member of his party as against another who aspires to office, and I regard it as a violation of the obligation that the President owes to the whole people to use an office that belongs to the whole people as a party asset for the advancement of a personal friend and political protegé.

"Believing that the President should not be tempted to use that power for his own advantage, it is equally repugnant to the spirit of our institutions that he should use it for any one else's advantage. I tried to secure an amendment to the Constitution limiting the President to a single term, and I have announced three campaigns that if elected I would not be a candidate for renomination.

WHAT "I" WOULD DO.

"I believe the occupant of so high an office, with such enormous power at his command, should be absolutely free to devote himself unselfishly to his country's welfare, and I am sanguine enough to believe that if entrusted with power I would be able to make my administration so successful that the members of my party could, without interference from me, select the one most worthy to carry on the work begun by me—so successful that the administration would speak for itself and that it would not be necessary for me to defend it in bulletin or pronunciamentos. I think I could in this way give to the members of the opposite party, as well as to the members of my own party, a 'square deal.'

"Very truly yours,
"WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN."

HUMANE SOCIETIES ROW.

San Francisco Organizations Barred by State Organization in Fight for Prestige.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 26.—The exclusion of three San Francisco societies from the convention of the California Humane Association, which has been in session here several days, has started a bitter fight among several alleged humane societies of San Francisco for prestige.

The three societies excluded were the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Pacific Humane Society and the United States Humane Society. They were barred from the convention on the ground that they were not bona fide humane societies. The charge made against the trio of societies was that they had been organized for the purpose of securing privileges for their members to wear a special officer's star and to carry weapons.

In a signed statement to the Associated Press made by the excluded societies tonight they claim the three organizations had been formed for the sole purpose of protecting children and animals, and they maintain that they were prevented from affiliating with the State organization through the machinations of certain representatives of rival organizations of San Francisco.

Tonight the following officers were elected: President, John L. Partridge, San Francisco. Vice-president, E. E. Conger, Los Angeles. Secretary, Mathew Currie, San Francisco. Treasurer, W. J. D. Hambly, San Jose. Directors, (three years,) Mrs. Edna Winn, Sonora; Mrs. A. Gronland, Oakland; W. W. Zimmer, Los Angeles; (two years,) Mrs. W. A. Weldon, San Pedro; K. M. Leith, Sacramento; H. I. Baldwin, San Diego; (one year,) Helen Mathewson, San Pedro; Mrs. J. S. Scott, Santa Cruz; B. M. Spencer, Sonora.

DISGUSTED MEN QUIT OFFICE.

DEFEAT OF PARK BONDS CAUSE OF THEIR ACTION.

President and Director of Tournament of Roses Association Send in Resignations—Others of Board Threaten to Follow Their Example. Population Over Thirty Thousand.

Office of The Times, No. 26 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Sept. 27.—At a called meeting of the directors of the Tournament of Roses Association yesterday morning the resignations of President Cary and Frank V. Rider were received. Both directors based their action on the outcome of the recent bond election, in which the proposition to raise $50,000 was turned down. The other directors threaten to follow their example, but it is probable they will take no action until after the next meeting of the association, which will be at an early date.

Mr. Cary, in his letter of resignation, says:

"After the just criticism that the directors of the Tournament of Roses Association received last year on account of the uncomfortable, inadequate and unsafe facilities at Tournament Park, I stated that another tournament ought not to be held until these facilities were comfortable, safe and adequate. . . .

"Feeling that it is wrong to hold another tournament at the park in its present condition, and seeing no way in which to remedy the same, I herewith tender to the board, through you, my resignation and ask that the same take effect at once."

In speaking of the resignation of the officials, Dr. F. F. Rowland, one of the founders of the Tournament of Roses and a member of the association, said last night: "I was much surprised at the outcome of the bond election, and I feel deeply hurt that the voters did not indorse the present directorate. I believe that within three or four days the public sentiment will be so strong that both President Cary and Mr. Rider will be forced to withdraw their resignations. Both are capable and public-spirited men and should have the backing and confidence of the people. The water bonds were placed above the Tournament Park bonds in the recent issue and had the park proposition been thoroughly understood and allowed to come up alone it would undoubtedly have carried. I believe that if the bonds were put up tomorrow they would be carried nearly unanimously.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE.

A committee composed of Prof. Holder, Walter Raymond, Kingsley N. Stevens and Dr. Malaby will investigate the situation and report at a meeting to be called early next week.

Mr. Rider has been active in the affairs of the association for seven years, and served as treasurer for the past four years. He says he did not send in his resignation because he is disgruntled, but because he does not feel that he can be a party to such a fraud as was committed the last two years at Tournament Park, when over 1000 people were turned away without seeing anything after they had paid to get in. He made up his mind five months ago that he would resign if something was not done to improve conditions at the park, and he believes the Tournament of Roses will be a failure without adequate accommodations.

President Cary has been connected with the association for the past four years, serving as secretary under Presidents Neff and Off, and acting as president for over a year.

COMING HERE SOON.

H. C. Barroll of No. 70 South Orange Grove avenue, who started on a big automobile tour covering the territory between here and Maine, with a trip through Canada, is expected to arrive in this city early in November. Letters received from him say he has had a delightful trip, and without serious mishap is back in Chicago again. He expects to move his household goods and come to this city for good.

POPULATION INCREASES.

According to a street and household directory just issued by the Thurston Company of this city, the present population is 30,750. In 1888 the same company issued a directory giving the population as 1200 persons. Last year its estimate was 30,000 people, and two years ago 25,000. The new book contains the names of residents not only of this city, but of Lamanda Park.

ORGANIZED TWENTY YEARS.

The Pasadena branch of the Los Angeles County Medical Society will celebrate its twentieth anniversary Thursday evening at the Nurses' Club, No. 85 South Euclid avenue. Among the charter members who expect to be present are Drs. George Deacon, D. B. Van Slyck, F. F. Rowland, Fordyce Grinnell and S. P. Swearinge. Much has been accomplished through the organization, in which most of the civic improvements along sanitary and health lines have found their inception.

PASTOR RETURNS.

Rev. F. M. Dowling, pastor of the First Christian Church, has returned from an extended vacation. He camped in Santa Ana Cañon and in Big Bear Valley and enjoyed his outing immensely. While away he prepared a paper which he will read at the national convention of Christian churches at New Orleans on October 6. He will occupy his pulpit today.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, returned yesterday from an eastern trip.

The annual Sunday-school rally will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning, at the First Congregational Church. Rev. R. R. Meredith will preach at the 11 o'clock service.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Kendall of South Los Robles avenue, announce that their daughter, Miss Jeanette, will be married to Mr. Elliott Lee Ellingwood, of Seattle, Wash., on December 2.

The annual house warming of the Y.M.C.A. will be held tomorrow evening from 7:30 until 9 o'clock.

The public schools will open tomorrow and it is expected that the enrollment will be considerably larger than last year, especially in the High School.

Miss Bernice Hess, a well known horsewoman, was rendered unconscious yesterday for two hours. She was examining the hoof of a horse when the animal kicked her in the face.

The Polytechnic Elementary School, which prepares for Throop Institute, opened Monday, September 21. Special course of manual training, domestic science, art, French and German, kindergarten and eight grades.

FAKE?

BELIEVE HE'S STILL ALIVE.

SUPPOSED DROWNING APPEARS VERY SUSPICIOUS.

Fourteen Days Have Elapsed Since Emmet Cochrane Gave the Impression That He Lost His Life in the Surf at Long Beach—Police Think He's Lively Corpse.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 26.—Fourteen days have elapsed since Emmet Cochrane, a mining expert of Alameda, is supposed to have been drowned in the surf here, and by all the rules of life-savers today was the day when the body must surely come to surface if it had not before. Close watch has been kept along shore and between here and San Pedro ever since Monday, but without result, and the suspicion that Cochrane's disappearance was another "fake" drowning is turning into certainty. The missing man, in leaving behind his clothing, watch and money and a friend to raise the alarm with a most plausible story made a strong case, but rather overdid it. The sudden departure of his friend after giving the alarm and not waiting until the dressing rooms were searched, was the first mistake, and the removing of his cuff buttons from the cuffs left behind was another. Further investigations of the officers have brought out that Cochrane, when he left Alameda, had a suit case and around his body a money-belt containing $1300 in gold and currency. Neither the belt nor suit case can be found. The fact that Cochrane in July took out insurance in favor of his wife for $7000 and that in his clothing was a picture of a woman whom Mrs. Cochrane does not know, are all little things which cloud the validity of the drowning, to which is now added the non-appearance of the body. Chief Williams is in correspondence with the authorities of Arizona and Mexico, and has received information which rather strengthens his belief that Cochrane is a very lively corpse.

LODGES COMPLAINT.

Capt. Russell, of the launch Music, went to Los Angeles today to lodge complaint against the steamer Hermosa, which he claims disregarded the Music's signal of danger last night. As a consequence the latter was crushed against the dock and damaged considerably. The Music was lying at the dock and tried to get out of the way of the steamer, but her engines would not work at once. Then Russell blew four whistles, but says they were disregarded.

A novel entertainment at the First Methodist Church next Wednesday will be a show for babies under three years of age. The proceeds are to pay for the bond subscribed by the social circle to aid in completing the new church.

BIDS FOR SCHOOL.

The school board this morning opened nine bids for the construction of the new ten-room brick school at Burnett. The contract was awarded to J. W. Davison of this city for $21,465. The highest bid was $24,965. It is not thought the building can be completed before the first of April.

Statements of the four national banks issued today show combined resources of $2,722,893.77, available cash, $648,306.42, and the total deposits, $1,541,256.87. The bank officials are pleased with the showing.

SAVES THE EGGS.

Officer George Austin this morning ran in front of a galloping runaway, seized the bridle and stopped it within three feet of two women who were crossing the street. He did it so neatly that not one of six cases of eggs were broken.

Work on the San Gabriel jetties has given rise to a rumor that they are to be extended 2000 feet into the ocean. This is denied by Manager Curtis of the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company, who says that piling torn out by a recent storm is being replaced.

STOVE EXPLODES.

A gasoline stove at the home of C. D. Bourland, No. 1335 Lime avenue, exploded this morning, and set fire to the kitchen. Mrs. Bourland succeeded in extinguishing the flames without serious damage.

The secretaries and physical directors of the Southern California Y.M.C.A. closed a two days' conference today. About fifteen were in attendance.

HOLLYWOOD GROWS.

Thousand Dollars a Day Expended in New Buildings Since Last November.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—The building records for the past ten months show that $1000 a day, Sundays and holidays included, has been expended in the construction of new homes in this city. The building department here was started November 1 last year. Prior to that time no record was kept. Since then permits aggregating $330,820 have been issued. Practically all of the money has been spent in the construction of homes ranging in price from $2000 to $10,000. Permits amounting to $39,390 have been issued since September 1.

PLANS FOR FESTIVAL.

Plans for the annual tournament and flower festival which takes place each spring are already under way. A committee composed of three members of the Board of Trade, three from the Woman's Club and three from the Hollywood Men's Club have the work in hand. Considerable money has already been raised, and it is expected a fund sufficient for the proper advertising of the events and other necessary expenses will be secured without difficulty. E. O. Palmer is chairman of the committee.

GARDEN PARTY.

St. Catharine's Guild of the Episcopal Church will give a garden party Saturday evening, October 3. The affair will take place on the beautiful grounds of the C. J. George home on Ivar street.

Mountain View Lodge, K. of P., is preparing for its first annual ball, which will be given in Wilcox Hall on the evening of October 12.

FORGOT DAY OF WEDDING.

Remembers He Was Married, but Can't Think of the Date Now.

PASADENA, Sept. 26.—Emmet Williams, formerly of this city, was so excited over the San Francisco earthquake that even his own wedding day failed to make much of an impression on his mind. Williams has just obtained a divorce in Chicago from Lizzie Williams and in the certificate of evidence is recounted how he forgot his wedding day.

"Where were you married?" was asked.

"In Pasadena, Cal."

"When?"

"I can't think of the date now."

"You should remember the day you were married," said his lawyer.

"Well," replied Mr. Williams, "it was right after the earthquake and I was pretty well excited."

ACCOMMODATIONS.

MORE COMFORTS FOR VETERANS.

NUMBER OF IMPROVEMENTS AT SOLDIER'S HOME.

Eighteen Thousand Dollars to Be Expended—Second Floor of Headquarters' Building to Be Remodeled—Inspector-General Examines Treasurer's Books—Concert in Hall.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Sept. 26.—Invitations for bids on a number of improvements in the home will be opened at various dates within the next fortnight. The aggregate cost will be about $18,000. Among the more important items are the furnishing and installing of a dynamo in the power-house, to be used for operating purposes; an electric motor for the laundry, an ammonia compressor in the power-house; for the renewal, in the latter place, of the steam heater and main hot water and return pipes; also, for remodeling the second floor of headquarters' building. This floor, formerly occupied as the library, will be converted into a six-room dormitory, to be used as quarters for officers of the non-commissioned staff.

EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS.

Extensive alterations at the general mess hall, which have just been completed, include a pantry, a utensil room, and separate apartment for the dish-washing machine. A portion of the south porch has been enclosed and provided with individual lockers for the use of the waiters.

WHITING PROMOTED.

Capt. Webster B. Whiting, late captain of Company B, Eighty-eighth Illinois Infantry, and for some time past commander of home Company I, is promoted to inspector of this branch, and Capt. Ignatius Malline, for many years commander of home Company C, is transferred to Company I, vice Whiting promoted.

Charles O. Baker, former sergeant of home Company C, is promoted to commander of that company, and Nelson Rustin, late Company A, Forty-second Illinois Infantry, is appointed sergeant of C, vice Baker promoted.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. took place yesterday afternoon. Among the speakers were Dr. Sarah Norris of Santa Monica and Mrs. Jane Dawson of Redondo.

Memorial hall was crowded last evening, the occasion being a concert by the home orchestra, in addition to a number of moving pictures.

AT WORK ON ACCOUNTS.

Col. W. T. Wood, inspector-general, U.S.A., arrived at this branch this morning. He is accompanied by Maj. W. T. Kent, special accountant of the War Department, and both immediately began work in the treasurer's office.

Henry Keller, late Company A, First New Jersey Infantry, admitted in 1895, from Los Angeles died in that city September 14, while on furlough, aged 67.

TEA FOLLOWS TOURNEY.

And Swell Little Dance Winds up Glendale's Tennis Distraction. Lights on Again.

GLENDALE, Sept. 26.—Following the excitement of the afternoon when a large crowd of Country Club members and tennis enthusiasts gathered at the clubhouse to witness the playing off of the semi-finals, tea was served by the wife of the president, Mrs. L. C. Brand. She was assisted by women of the auxiliary. Punch was served all day on the north veranda. Tonight a swell little dance was given in the big assembly-room, the hosts being President L. C. Brand and the executive board. In the receiving line were the president of the Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. Charles Shattuck, and Mrs. L. C. Brand. Varicolored lights were used to great advantage. In the billiard-room were the prizes. The west and north verandas, with the help of comfortable seats, made cosy rest corners. Several of the guests were Los Angeles society folk.

GOOD SERVICE AGAIN.

The Home and Sunset telephone lines have been repaired and good service is resumed. All day yesterday and the day before workmen were busy replacing fuses for the Light and Power Company, as that portion of Glendale east of the boulevard had been in total darkness.

Many pupils called at the Fourth-street grammar school today to obtain certificates of admission and to enroll. Mrs. M. O. Ryan, the principal, called the first teachers' meeting. The school was a very busy place all afternoon.

HUNGER-MAD.

FIERCE SEALS ATTACK MAN.

Gotham Doctor's Desperate Battle at Avalon.

His Legs Imperiled by Sea Monster's Jaws.

Saves Albacore by Wielding Broom Handles.

AVALON, Sept. 26.—In a desperate battle with seals, whose hunger had driven them mad, Dr. W. A. Pratt of New York City narrowly escaped injury, this morning. He fought the sea monsters with a broom handle for ten minutes and only his great agility saved his legs from the snapping jaws of the sea monsters.

A seal finally seized the broom handle and wrested it from the physician. He secured another and wielded it fiercely for a few moments, when it, too, was seized and was smashed to pieces in an incredibly short time.

Dr. Pratt went fishing early in the morning and returned to the island with twenty-two albacore. The seals have had little to eat since the recent storm and were at the point of starvation. As the doctor's launch neared the wharf, they surrounded it and strove furiously to leap aboard to get the fish. They were beaten back but when the craft was tied up and the albacore had been transferred to land, the seals made a rush for the catch.

The fiercest of them was the one recently brought here from Eastlake Park, Los Angeles. Although blind, or almost so, it seemed to have no difficulty in keeping near the doctor, at whose legs it snapped viciously.

The physician finally won the contest by an act of diplomacy. He surrendered four of his largest fishes to the assailants, who immediately began to fight among themselves, and under cover of this, the rest of the albacore were taken to safety.

The medical man qualified for membership in the Light Tackle Club, one of his catches weighing thirty-one and a half pounds.

BABY'S VALUABLE FIND.

Four-year-old Helen Locke, whose parents live in Los Angeles, this morning found a very perfect nautilus shell. It is valued by experts at $27.50. The little girl was playing in the sand under the new waiting-room at the south end of the beach when she espied the shell. Several older persons, who were near by, immediately tried to get it from her but she said it was "berry pretty" and would not part with it.

REDONDO.

REDONDO, Sept. 26.—Officials of the Redondo Improvement Company say everything is in readiness to begin the construction of the new plunge when Mr. Huntington approves the necessary appropriation of funds. Several sets of plans have been prepared, but each one except the last failed to come up to the wishes of Mr. Huntington, who wishes to see here the largest and best equipped bathing establishment on this Coast.

Business interests here are trying to have the work started at once, so as to tide over the dull season by the employment of the large force of men necessary in construction work. The argument is also being used that delay will endanger next season's plans, and the rush work on the pavilion is given as an instance. The bath-house will be a much larger building than the pavilion, and cannot be completed in the same length of time.

OCEAN PARK.

OCEAN PARK, Sept. 26.—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the public schools on Monday morning. Sloyd, cooking and sewing will be among the branches taught.

Dr. W. H. Kiger expects to start tomorrow morning for New York, where he will remain until December.

C. C. Connelly, who has been passing the summer on Ozone avenue, left this evening for New York.

S. M. Franklin has returned to his home in Los Angeles, after a summer spent by the sea.

VENICE.

VENICE, Sept. 26.—Fred Welsh has broken camp at this resort and transferred his fight headquarters to Rustic Cañon, where he will prepare for his next battle.

Jud Rush, Democratic nominee for representative in Congress, is resting at the seaside for a few days.

The Chamber of Commerce last night adopted resolutions condemning the County Supervisors for their attempt to sell the good roads bonds at private sale.

School Teachers

Also Have Things to Learn.

"For many years I have used coffee and refused to be convinced of its bad effect upon the human system," writes a veteran school teacher.

"Ten years ago I was obliged to give up my much-loved work in the public schools after years of continuous labor. I had developed a well defined case of chronic coffee poisoning.

"The troubles were constipation, flutterings of the heart, a thumping in the top of my head and various parts of my body, twitching of my limbs, shaking of my head, and, at times, after exertion, a general 'gone' feeling, with a toper's desire for very strong coffee. I was a nervous wreck for years.

"A short time ago friends came to visit us and they brought a package of Postum with them, and urged me to try it. I was prejudiced because some years ago I had drunk a cup of weak, tasteless stuff called Postum, which I did not like at all.

"This time, however, my friend made the Postum according to directions on the package, and it won me. Suddenly I found myself improving in a most decided fashion.

"The odor of boiling coffee no longer tempts me. I am so greatly benefited by Postum that if I continue to improve as I am now, I'll begin to think I have found the Fountain of Perpetual Youth. This is no fancy letter but stubborn facts which I am glad to make known."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest

DEAFNESS, OTITIS, RINGING NOISES AND CHRONIC CATARRH.

Harvey W. Bell, 324 East 54th street, Los Angeles, says: "I have had catarrh for six or seven years, affecting my ears, nose and throat. My left ear got so bad I could not hear an ordinary conversation and it discharged all the time and I had ringing noises in my ears. My nose would also stop up until I could not breathe through it. Would also hawk and spit, especially in the morning. This was my condition when I came to Drs. Shores & Shores just two months ago. In two weeks the discharge from my ear stopped and the ringing in my ears has ceased, my LOST HEARING HAS BEEN RESTORED. I now breathe good through my nose and my catarrh is better in every way. I had tried other treatments without benefit. Drs. Shores' treatment helped me from the first, and I feel that the afflicted with catarrh, deafness and ringing in the ears ought to know about Drs. Shores' great skill for they have done wonders for me. Any one doubting this testimonial is at perfect liberty to call on me and I will gladly verify the truthfulness of this testimonial.

CATARRH AND BRONCHIAL TROUBLE—GAINED TWENTY POUNDS.

Chas. H. Duering, who lives at 1213 E. Washington St., Los Angeles, says: "I have been a terrible sufferer from CATARRH and BRONCHIAL trouble for the past four or five years. I had pain in my lungs and was SHORT OF BREATH, especially if I did heavy work. My bronchial tubes was always sore. MY NOSE WAS ALWAYS STOPPED UP. I had to breathe through my mouth my catarrh was so bad. I had lost thirty (30) pounds in weight and was weak and run down. This was my condition when I came to Dr. Shores & Shores two (2) months ago. Their treatment helped me from the start. My lungs don't pain me any more, and I breathe good through my nose. I HAVE GAINED TWENTY POUNDS in weight, and feel strong and able to do A GOOD DAY'S WORK AS A CARPENTER. Thanks to Drs. Shores' wonderful treatment. Any one doubting this testimonial is at liberty to call on me and I will gladly verify this testimonial.

DO YOU HAVE CATARRH?

READ THESE SYMPTOMS AND SEE.
MANY FOLKS HAVE CATARRH AND DON'T KNOW IT.

CATARH OF THE HEAD AND THROAT.

This form of catarrh is most common—resulting from neglected colds—quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Is your nose stopped up?"
"Does your nose discharge?"
"Is your nose sore and tender?"
"Is there pain in front of the head?"
"Do you hawk to clear the throat?"
"Do you sleep with your mouth open?"

You can be easily cured now—don't let it run into complications.

THE BRONCHIAL TUBES.

When catarrh of the head or throat is neglected or wrongfully treated, it extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes and after a while attacks the lungs. Quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Have you a cough?"
"Have you a pain in the side?"
"Do you raise frothy materials?"
"Do you spit up little cheesy lumps?"
"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"

Don't risk neglecting these warnings—stop the disease before it reaches the lungs.

CATARRH OF THE EARS.

Catarrh extends from the throat along the eustachian tubes into the ears, causing partial or complete deafness. Quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Is your hearing failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Is the wax drying in your ears?"
"Do you hear better some days than others?"
"Is your hearing worse when you have a cold?"

Don't neglect this until your hearing is irreparably destroyed.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Catarrh of the stomach is usually caused by swallowing poisonous mucus, which drops from the head and throat at night. Quickly cured at little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Is there nausea?"
"Do you belch up gas?"
"Do you bloat up after eating?"
"Is there constant bad taste in the mouth?"

Now is the time to be permanently cured. Drs. Shores are curing hundreds every year.

STRICTLY RELIABLE

If you suffer from CATARRH or CHRONIC disease, just as sure as you read these lines just so sure will DRS. SHORES & SHORES cure you IF YOU ONLY TRY (except, of course, you by neglect or improper treatment, have allowed your disease to become incurable.) DRS. SHORES are experts in treatment and cure of Deafness, Catarrh and all forms of Nervous, Private and Complicated Chronic Diseases.

Free Nasal Douches

Drs. Shores have procured at considerable expense the wonderfully improved nasal douche to better administer their famous catarrh treatment. They will be given free to all patients beginning or renewing treatment during September. First come, first served. They are free while they last.

POSTMASTER ON A LONG HIKE.

THREE-HUNDRED-MILE TRAMP INCLUDES RIVERSIDE.

Federal Official of La Jolla Taking Vacation in Novel Way—Guests Wear Colonial Costumes at Miss Baldwin's Supper—Foreman's Perilous Fall from Telephone Pole.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 26.—Instead of spending his summer vacation at the beach or under the pines at some mountain resort, Postmaster Solem of La Jolla is taking a tramp of 300 miles, stopping at various Southern California towns along the way and paying his respects to his brother postmasters. Mr. Solem arrived here yesterday. He carries his camping outfit on his back and sleeps outdoors every night. He says he is enjoying the trip immensely.

FALLS FROM POLE.

Harry C. Howes, foreman of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, fell a distance of thirty feet from one of the company's poles on the corner of Fourteenth and Lime streets, this morning, sustaining serious, though not fatal, injuries. His left wrist was broken, his right elbow fractured and his face and hip were severely bruised. The accident was caused by a shock which Howes received from a high-tension wire.

COLONIAL SUPPER PARTY.

The prettiest social event of the season was a Colonial supper party given this evening by Miss Mary Baldwin at her home at No. 696 Fifteenth street in honor of Miss Bertha Holmes, who is to be married next Saturday to Miss Baldwin's brother, Otis Baldwin of San Francisco. The guests were dressed in Colonial costume, with powdered hair and patches. Yellow chrysanthemums and maidenhair ferns were banked on the table, and the rooms were lighted by yellow-shaded candles. Miss Baldwin was assisted by Miss Ethel Smith and Miss Josephine Seger.

FAREWELL TO PASTOR.

Rev. Alexander Eakin and Mrs. Eakin, who leave next week for San Francisco, were given a reception by the congregation of Calvary Presbyterian Church, last evening, as a mark of appreciation of Rev. Mr. Eakin's efficient service for the past eight years as pastor of the church. He has accepted a call to St. John's Presbyterian Church of San Francisco. A short musical programme was given and informal talks were made by Rev. D. L. Macquarrie, pastor of the Arlington Presbyterian Church, and others.

ELSINORE EVENTS.

Angeleno Buys Tract—New Buildings. Changes Among Santa Fe Employees.

ELSINORE, Sept. 26.—Oscar Ray, Santa Fé agent here, wil soon begin the erection of a five-room cottage on his lot on Prospect street, J. W. Snow being the contractor.

C. S. Kenyon, wife and son, are here from Los Angeles, occupying A. Timmis's cottage on Riley street. Mr. Kenyon has bought a tract between Elsinore and Wildomar and has men employed planting trees.

Mr. Didberrow, wife and children, are here from San Bernardino. The former is the new section foreman on the Santa Fé. He takes the place of Stewart Clark, who left yesterday for San Bernardino, to become foreman of the material yards. Mrs. O. S. Clark, his mother, will join him soon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Langstaff returned home yesterday after six weeks' absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham and George Alvey went to San Bernardino yesterday in their auto to meet Mr. Alvey's daughter, Miss Sadie Alvey, who arrived from Idaho.

E. D. Robinson returned today from Los Angeles.

James A. Lynch, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph exchange at San Bernardino, is a guest at the Bundy.

The Union High School will open Monday.

The Old People's meeting will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. in the M. E. Church.

ENROLLMENT INCREASES.

Hemet High School Has Larger Attendance This Year Than Last. Realty Deal.

HEMET, Sept. 26.—The enrollment at the High School is much larger than last year, seventy having entered to date. It is probable this number will be increased. The classes are crowded, Spanish being particularly popular. New apparatus has been added to the chemistry laboratory, so that the classes can bring their work up to the requirements of the university. The faculty this year numbers five, E. T. Boughn, principal, Grace de Fremery, Mildred Hudson, Carolyn Goodwin and A. E. Downing.

The first ball game of the season was played yesterday between the High School and Town teams. The High School won by ten to six. The school team expects to play all the nines around Hemet this fall.

SELLS FORTY-ACRE RANCH.

S. F. Daniels has sold his forty-acre ranch south of town to Annie Steinburg of Burbank for $15,000. The place is set to walnuts, and is one of the finest in the valley. There is a four-room bungalow, a large tent house, and all necessary buildings.

Alger Fast left yesterday for Paso Robles, where he will take the baths.

The registration this year, 404, is much larger than two years ago, when it was 284.

Most for your money at Coronado.

BALBOA.

BALBOA, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Ogden Jones will leave tomorrow morning for Jersey City, N. J., where she will visit her son, George Jones. Mrs. Jones has been at Balboa since the first of June.

F. F. Oster and E. C. Donnald left last evening for San Bernardino, after three weeks at the beach.

C. H. Deezan and family returned to their home in Pasadena today.

Anna Percey, who has been visiting friends here, returned to her home in Los Angeles yesterday.

Miss G. Norton of Redlands is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gilliland.

Charles O. Butler and S. W. Butler were in Balboa today on business.

William Rohs is in Santa Ana for a week's stay.

NEW INDUSTRY.

PLEDGE ACREAGE FOR PLANTING.

INTEND TO GROW COTTON ON COMMERCIAL SCALE.

Imperial Valley Ranchers Promise to Go Into Industry Extensively Enough to Warrant the Erection of Cotton Gin and Compress at El Centro.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Definite steps were taken this afternoon to establish a new industry in Southern California, that of growing cotton on a commercial scale. A public meeting held here resulted in nearly 500 acres being pledged for planting, with prospects good for this amount being raised to more than 2000 acres for spring planting. This insures the erection of a cotton gin and compress here, at a cost of $15,000 to $20,000. Many Texans from the southern cotton belt, now residents of Imperial Valley, declare they never have seen such productiveness in cotton as has been shown in experimental patches the past three years, and assert that it will make from a bale and a half to three bales to the acre.

TREES BY THOUSANDS.

Thousands of eucalyptus trees are to be planted in Imperial Valley this fall and winter. Plans have been made for the planting of wood lots on many ranches, and reports are coming of several large tracts to be set to the rostrata and sugar gum varieties. County Clerk D. S. Elder will plant 100 acres on his ranch in district No. 8, and Deputy County Clerk R. E. Wills 100 acres on his ranch just east of Brawley. A large acreage will be set to these trees in the Silsbee vicinity, while around El Centro nearly every ranch will be improved in this manner.

This city itself plans to become a forest of shade trees, and an ordinance of intention to plant trees on every residence street will be presented to the Trustees for their adoption at their next session.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN.

Monday will witness the opening of both the El Centro grammar schools and the Union High School, which is composed of seven valley school districts, but which had its seat here. The Presbyterian Church building has been secured as a temporary quarters for the Central Union High School, and provides three rooms for this purpose. Three teachers are employed: Prof. B. C. Nichols, principal; Miss Ethel A. Meredith, teacher of science and music; Miss Mary A. Sands, teacher of Latin and English history. Formal opening exercises have been prepared for Monday morning, at which Dr. R. P. Shepherd, Rev. H. Eummelen, M. W. Conkling and Prof. Nichols will make addresses. The High School will open with pupils present from several of the valley towns.

EDITORS ARE COMING.

The Southern California Editorial Association is to visit Imperial Valley in November, the fifth anniversary of its visit here, when the valley was still a forbidding desert. It is proposed to give the editors an opportunity to visit all the valley towns and much of the ranching country, so that they may realize to some extent the wonderful development of the past five years.

VALLEY PICK-UPS.

San Francisco commission men are endeavoring to interest valley ranchers in the raising of flax, and offer to contract to pay $2.20 per 100 pounds for next year's crop, f.o.b. San Francisco.

Representatives of Imperial Valley towns are to meet here tomorrow to form the Colorado Desert Baseball League and to arrange a winter schedule.

Paul Maull and associates, mostly Imperial Valley men, have taken salt claims near Pope, on the main line of the Southern Pacific, along the eastern shores of the Salton Sea, and they plan to begin development work this fall. Maull says he has discovered a large vein of Glauber salts, valuable for the fluxing of ores. The mines will be but three miles from the railroad.

James W. Dunn has come from Kansas City and has purchased an entire section of land near the station of Bernice, in the northern part of Imperial Valley.

W. P. Mansfield and County Supervisor F. S. Webster have gone to Albuquerque to represent Imperial Valley and work for bringing the session of the National Irrigation Congress to this place in 1910.

A. J. Morris of Los Angeles is in the valley to make plans for the location of a creamery and canning factory at Mexicali, just across the international border, in Mexico.

ENDS FIGHT OVER SITE.

Department at Washington Decides That Redlands Postoffice Shall Stay Where It Is.

REDLANDS, Sept. 26.—A telegram was received this morning by Postmaster Tisdall, from First Assistant Postmaster-General Garfield, stating that the Saunders proposition of $1 per year was accepted, and the agreement with K. C. Wells for the removal of the postoffice is abrogated. This definitely settles the fight over the location of the postoffice.

The agreement is that the office is to remain in its present place for ten years from October 1, 1908. Mrs. C. B. Saunders is to furnish the building with equipments, lights, water and heat for $1 per year. In order that she shall get a fair rent, business men and property owners near the building will subscribe specified sums to be paid each month.

SANTA ANA.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 26.—The trial of Attorney W. M. Peck of Los Angeles on a charge of forgery will commence in the Superior Court here Monday. Peck is accused of making and passing a bogus check for $300 on March 30. The First National Bank here cashed the check. Peck has been in jail several weeks. E. J. Fleming of Los Angeles will defend him.

Manuel Varelas of Huntington Beach is in jail on a charge of burglary. Jesus Batres accuses him of stealing a suit of clothes. The preliminary hearing is to be held at Huntington Beach Monday afternoon.

BEAUTY AND BAD BREATH

Cannot Go Together No Matter How a Woman May Try to Make Them.

It does not matter how beautiful a woman may be, if she is afflicted with bad breath she will be shunned and pitied by men and even women will studiously avoid her.

If any woman doubts this statement let her make a point of asking a friend in whom she may confide, a man friend or relative. If he be honest he will tell her that foul breath from the mouth of a woman will drive men from her more rapidly than any other personal affliction.

Foul breath arouses in man disgust and where this quality is brought into play no amount of self-denial or reasoning can overcome the natural repugnance which comes to man when he is in company with such a woman.

What is true of bad breath in woman is not true in so great a degree in men. Women are looked upon as the incarnation of sweetness, breeding, virtue and refinement. Foul breath will sicken a man so that he cannot feel for such a woman a companionship necessary to make him desire to be in her company.

There is absolutely no occasion for bad breath in either men or women. Charcoal, the strongest absorbent known, when taken into the stomach, will prevent this repugnant tendency or affliction.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are sold in tremendous quantities all over America and Canada. They cure and have cured all forms of bad breath. A single box will convince you of this fact. One should eat some of these lozenges after each meal and upon retiring. You might eat fifty of them without harm. They are not medicine, but pure willow charcoal, mixed with sweet honey to make them palatable and compressed into a lozenge to preserve their peculiar and lasting strength.

The next time you wish to go into company and don't want your foul breath to humiliate you, eat several of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges and your breath will be pure and sweet.

Every druggist carries them, price 25 cents, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

ROAST FOR THE SUPERVISORS.

SANTA BARBARA GRAND JURY CONDEMNS THEM.

Describes Their Methods as Loose, Lax, Unbusinesslike and Unlawful and Recommends More Thorough Examination of Claims Against the County.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The new grand jury, in its report to the Superior Court today, strongly roasts the County Supervisors as follows:

"We most heartily condemn the loose, lax, unbusinesslike and unlawful manner of the Board of Supervisors in the matter of allowing county claims and demands, and while there are many changes which recommend themselves to the grand jury, they would take too much time and space here to mention them. The matter of any member of the Board of Supervisors furnishing material, supplying labor, or hauling same, is most heartily discountenanced, besides being illegal.

"We most heartily condemn the practice of any member of the Board of Supervisors selling or transferring county material and applying the proceeds to the payment of other claims, without having first turned the money into the county treasury. We believe that no private firm or corporation would permit an agent to so do, and we do not believe it is to the best interests of the county for its agents to do so. We would recommend more thorough, careful and business-like examination of claims against the county.

"We condemn the practice of letting any contract, either under the emergency act, or any other, without ample time for full and competitive bids."

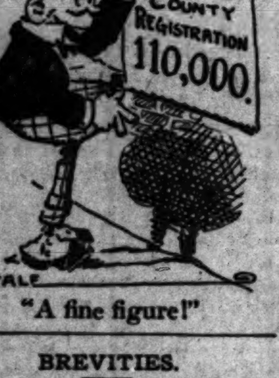
THE CITY IN BRIEF



"A fine figure!"

BREVITIES.

Hardwood Floors. Most of us spend one-third of our lives in bed. From a hygienic standpoint hardwood flooring in bedrooms is very necessary. If we breathe pure air while sleeping, it is conducive to good health and longevity. Stuffy, dust-ridden atmosphere (which is to be found in rooms where the floors are covered with carpet) is more injurious than most people imagine. We have a fine lot of white maple flooring in stock which is very appropriate for bed chambers. The low price will surprise you. This flooring can be laid equally well in new or old houses. If your carpets are worn out let us quote you net estimates on our "Crown Maple, Flooring." Our renovating department is a special feature with us. We clean and polish floors at reasonable rates; old floors made like new. We have for sale wax, cleaner, furniture rests, rubber tips, felt brooms, etc. John A. Smith Floor Co., 619 S. Olive st. VICTIM OF LEPROSY.

Mexican Who Has Disease in Cutaneous Form Is Taken to County Hospital.

Antonio Moro, a Mexican laborer, aged 30 years, was taken to the County Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering with leprosy. After a careful diagnosis in the clinic at the medical department of the University of Southern California, he was turned over to the health authorities. Dr. L. M. Powers, Dr. O. R. Stafford and Dr. I. R. Bancroft made an examination of the cultures taken from the skin and determined that the disease was in the cutaneous form, which is transmitable. When taken to the County Hospital, Moro was isolated in the department with Mrs. Wardwell, another leper, who has been at the hospital for several months.

Moro has been afflicted with the disease for three years. He contracted it in Mexico while working in a railroad construction camp. About three months ago he came here from Mexico and then went to Fresno, where he worked. He returned here three days ago and rented a room at the Great Eastern rooming-house on Marchessault street. Yesterday he was unable to walk on account of the swollen condition of his feet and applied at the clinic for medical attention.

Dr. Bancroft made the first examination and then called Dr. Powers of the city health department. Moro has a wife and family in Mexico.

piano, and want ... long been wanting to buy a piano, but who have heretofore been unable to do so. The low prices and easy terms make it possible for almost anybody to have one of these pianos.

In our piano experience of many years in Los Angeles, we have never known such a favorable opportunity. We must warn you, however, that the number of pianos left is limited and that the instruments are selling off rapidly. If you want one of them, you must attend to it without delay.

The stock includes such meritorious pianos as ay, Kranich & Bach

CKERING, SOHMER, MILTON, STECK, WISSNER, KRAKAUER, NEEDHAM, EMERSON, KRELL, SMITH & STERLING, HENRY F. MILLER, HALLETT & DAVIS.

OLA AND ANGELUS PIANO PLAYERS, KURTZMANN AND WHEELOCK PLAYER PIANOS.

... realize by this that values are unprecedented. Remember, the prices quoted are not for unknown makes, but for pianos of reputation, of genuine merit, productions of the world's most famous factories. There is also a great range of variety in case design, in tonal qualities, in size of the instruments, etc.

People from all over Southern California have purchased pianos at this sale—from San Bernardino, Pomona, Riverside, Redlands, Santa Monica and other points. Almost every person who has bought has sent in to us some friend who wants to buy a piano—the sale has advertised itself so keenly do those who investigate it appreciate the opportunity it affords.

All instruments offered are in the best of condition. The second-hand pianos have been thoroughly remodeled and to all intents and purposes made as good as new instruments. All instruments are marked in plain figures and there is no deviation from these prices, except that when you buy on time you pay the 6 per cent interest.

Just one word of warning—this sale ends Wednesday evening. You must come by that time, if you wish to take advantage of it. We advise you to come Monday or Tuesday, during the day, if possible. You will then have a wider range to select from. Make it a point to come tomorrow, if you can.

DANGERS TO PEOPLE DISCOVERED IN PROPOSED TAXATION AMENDMENT.

Assessors Declare That Big Corporations Will Pay Less Taxes and Plain People Will Pay More If It Is Adopted—Los Angeles City and County Will Lose Heavily—Senator McCartney Makes Address in Favor of the Scheme. Says Real Estate Owners Will Benefit.

COUNTY ASSESSOR HOPKINS, City Assessor Mallard and City Auditor Mushet have sounded a note of warning against the ratification of State Constitutional Amendment No. 1, for the separation of State and local taxation. This amendment provides that public utility corporations shall pay to the State a percentage tax based on their gross earnings in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, State, county and municipal. It also provides that banks shall pay a State tax based on the book value of their stock and shall be exempted from all other taxes and licenses. The assessors assert that the amendment is too favorable to the corporations and will increase the burdens of other taxpayers.

This amendment was prepared by a State Commission appointed by Gov. Pardee. The theory of the Commission is that the scheme will raise the taxes paid by the banks and the utility companies. State Senator McCartney advocated it in an address to the Union League last evening. County Assessor Hopkins quotes from the tax records of Los Angeles County and city to show that it will decrease the annual taxes paid by the utility companies operating here about $1,000,000. He asserts that this sum must be made up by a corresponding advance in the taxes paid by other property owners, and that the city of Los Angeles will lose heavily.

In this contention he is supported strongly by the City Assessor, the City Auditor and by the Finance Committee of the City Council. Here is the case as set forth by these officials:

"The taxpayers of Los Angeles city and county exclusive of the corporations will have to make up a deficit of $1,000,000 a year if State Constitutional Amendment No. 1 providing for a separation of State and local taxation is ratified at the State election in November." Statement by County Assessor E. W. Hopkins.

"If State Constitutional Amendment No. 1 should by any mischance carry the effect would be disastrous to the taxpayers of this city, for it would mean of necessity a very considerable increase in the amount of taxes they would have to pay. It would necessitate an immediate amendment to the charter raising the dollar limit for current revenue taxation as it would relieve all the public utility corporations and the banks from paying any city taxes at all." Statement by City Auditor W. C. Mushet.

"If State Constitutional Amendment No. 1 is adopted it will take from the tax rolls of the city more than $60,000,000 of taxable property, which will make it impossible for the city to derive enough revenue from the balance to run the city government at the $1 rate. The public utility companies and the banks will escape payment of any taxation at all on any improvement completed under a bond act. They will pay nothing to State, county or city for the good roads, for new schools, for our outfall sewer or water system, for our fire-houses or for any other improvement for which the city or county is now bonded." Statement by City Assessor Walter Mallard.

Opposed to the tax statement of County Assessor Hopkins, taken from the actual tax rolls and from the sworn statements of the banks and public utility companies is the theoretical statement of Prof. Carl C. Plehn, the expert of the commission recommending the amendment, that Los Angeles will gain $617,000 by the separation contemplated.

Between these two statements there appears a discrepancy of $1,600,000 in the taxes to be paid in Los Angeles city and county alone.

Accepting the theoretical estimate of the Berkeley professor the State Legislature has asked the voters of the State to ratify an amendment to the State constitution at the State election, this fall. The County Assessor, the City Assessor and the City Auditor say that the ratification of his amendment will cost the taxpayers of this city and county $1,000,000 a year. They name this sum as the amount in taxation which the public utility companies, the banks and the other corporations here will escape yearly if the amendment is adopted.

WHAT IS PROPOSED.

Constitutional Amendment No. 1 proposes to place in the State constitution a section exempting public utility companies from payment of city and county taxes or licenses and substituting a tax to the State based on the gross earnings of the corporations. This rate varies from 4 per cent, for railroads and lighting companies to 2 per cent. on express companies. It also provides a rate of 1 per cent. on the book valuation of the stock of banks.

LOSS TO CITY.

Los Angeles city will be hard hit financially if this amendment carries, as it will wipe about $60,000,000 of taxable property from the city assessment roll. This will mean a decrease of $750,000 in the city tax receipts; in order to replace this revenue there must be a sharp advance in the city tax rate. If the public utility and other corporations were cut out the tax rate to raise the year's revenue would be $1.80 in place of $1.25. The city would also lose about $40,000 in licenses.

This will be compensated in part by a reduction in the State and county tax which, according to the estimate of the State commission this cut would be 40 cents. The city and county assessors say these figures are too high almost by half and that the county rate would not be reduced nearly that much. This is one of the questions in controversy.

The greatest loss to the city will be in its bond account. The corporations will escape all tax for interest and sinking fund payments, including our outstanding bonded indebtedness. But this would be compensated in part by putting a stop to the incessant cry for new bond issues.

PROPOSED CORPORATION TAX.

State Constitutional Amendment No. 1 provides the following tax for certain corporations in place of all other State, county and municipal taxes and licenses:

Railroad companies, 4 per cent. of the gross income.

Gas and electric companies, 4 per cent. of the gross income.

Refrigerator car companies, 3 per cent. of the gross revenue.

Telephone and telegraph companies, 3½ per cent. of the gross income.

Banks, 1 per cent. on the book valuation of stock.

The State Commission on Revenue and Taxation estimates that this rate will increase materially the amount of taxation paid by these corporations to the State, counties and to municipalities. And it is this statement which is challenged by the local city and county officials.

Here is the comparison prepared by County Assessor Hopkins:

"The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company paid to the county last year [illegible] in taxes. The city tax, exclusive of licenses, amounted approximately to the same, making the total tax paid to Los Angeles city and county $117,632.

"The sworn statement of the gross earnings of this company, made by its auditor last January and filed with the City Clerk, is $2,340,230.03. The 4 per cent. on the gross earnings would produce a tax of $93,609.20. This makes a saving to that corporation of $24,023. This does not take into account the tax which this company pays to the other cities in Los Angeles county where it supplies gas, or the license fees which it pays in Los Angeles city and in other cities. The entire saving to the company must be between $30,000 and $40,000, and this must be made up by the other property owners in this city and county.

"Now, take a telephone company. We will consider the Home company. Its sworn statement of gross revenue is $729,126.81. Its tax at the 3½ per cent. rate would be $25,519. Last year it paid to the county alone $24,115. To the city it pays as much and its licenses and other fees must bring its tax here to $54,000. This does not include the municipal taxes and licenses which it pays to the other cities in this county. Plainly the taxation of the company would be cut at least in half.

"Take a railroad company. The Pacific Electric Railroad paid to Los Angeles county last year $116,031 in tax. It paid the city an equal amount, making its total tax to the county and to Los Angeles city $230,000. This does not take into account the city tax it pays in the other municipalities of this county. The company's statement of gross revenue as submitted to the City Clerk by its auditor on July 15 of this year is $2,918,855.01. The 4 per cent. rate would make its total tax for this county, including all the cities, $116,754.20. Including the car licenses and other fees, this company must have paid to this city and county $250,000 last year. The other taxpayers in the county would have to make up the difference between $116,000 and $250,000.

"Now consider the banks. The banks of Los Angeles place the book value of their stock in their sworn statements to me at $25,378,103. The tax at the 1 per cent. rate would be $25,378. But these banks paid to the county alone last year $50,000 in tax; and they paid as much to the city, making a difference here of at least $75,000 in one year which the other taxpayers of the city and county must pay.

"The grave defect in the report of the State commission is that it considered State and county taxes only. It seems to have overlooked entirely that in Los Angeles county for instance the corporations pay a city tax greater than the State and county rate combined.

"The commission also overlooked, apparently, the fact that under their amendment the corporations are exempted from paying any tax whatever for interest and sinking fund on bonded indebtedness. The utility companies and the banks pay their tax at a rate to be fixed in the Constitution. This makes it unchangeable except by constitutional amendment. When we voted our good-roads bonds it increases the tax on all the property here. But the banks and the utility companies escape the payment of their share if this amendment carries.

"The same is true of every improvement under a bond act.

"There is a constitutional amendment proposed to raise the money for moving the State capital to Berkeley. If this amendment carries, the people of every county in the State will be assessed to pay the cost of the new Capitol building, but the guilty companies and banks will pay nothing. How do you think that will strike the average voter?

"In its report the State Commission estimates that the rate which it has named will draw from the utility companies and other corporations enough money to pay the State tax. The error of their estimate is made apparent by the part of it relating to this county. Here they estimate that there would be a saving to the county of $600,000. Now the estimates made so far show that there would be a loss of $1,000,000. This shows that they overestimated surprisingly in calculating the gross receipts of the corporations, and underestimated accordingly in the amount of taxes and licenses these companies pay at the present time.

"There is an appalling difference in the gross revenue as estimated by these theorists and that shown in the sworn statements of their auditors by the utility corporations. These statements are furnished the city of Los Angeles each January by the telephone, lighting and power companies. Two of the railway companies have made such statements in their report on the 2 per cent. due on franchises. If the experts of the board had come to Los Angeles and investigated in preparing their report they might have received some information that would have been of value to them.

"Our system of taxation is not the best; there is plenty of room for improvement. But the way to improve it is not pointed out by constitutional amendment No. 1, which would only make matters a great deal worse. The trouble comes in the overestimate of the gross receipts of the companies. We must take their sworn statements as the basis for the per cent. rate. The trouble appears also in the failure of the commission to find out how much taxes these corporations pay at the present time. They appear to have missed the city taxes and the taxes on bonds."

It is only fair to the corporations of the State to say that they are not responsible for the drafting of this new constitutional amendment. It was proposed by a group of reformers for the purpose of "making the big corporations pay their share of the State's taxes."

The trouble seems to be that these reformers did not stop to investigate carefully just how much these corporations are paying at the present time. They did not realize that the Pacific Electric Railway is paying $230,000 a year in taxes and licenses to Los Angeles county and to the cities in the county. They estimated its tax payments at about half that amount.

This holds true of all the other public-utility corporations. It did not occur to them that the Los Angeles Railway Company alone is paying the city and county $200,000 a year, and that it will pay only about half that amount if this amendment carries.

ITEM BY ITEM.

City Assessor Walter Mallard has taken up the report of the Commission on Revenue and Taxation in detail and replied to such parts of it as affect Los Angeles city and county. The paragraphs in small type are the "findings" of the State commission based on the reports of Prof. Plehn. The comments in larger type are by City Assessor Mallard.

In general the present system of taxation does not meet the demands made upon it. It is antiquated, having been adopted fifty years ago, and has not been revised to keep pace with modern conditions.

I contend that the Legislature has, from time to time, amended the revenue laws as conditions have changed, so that at the present time there is no serious fault to be found with them.

It is full of inequalities, which impose a handicap on the growth of the State, a handicap which only the vigor and inexhaustible energy of our people can carry.

These inequalities twist and distort our industries and prohibit a symmetrical development of our resources. They place an undue burden upon agriculture especially; the foundation of our wealth, the one industry which most fully exploits the great natural resources of the State.

Property used in agriculture is, proportionately, the lowest assessed property on the tax roll. The incorporated citizen in this county pay taxes on .8513 per cent. of the total assessed value. Property outside pays on .1487 per cent. The City of Los Angeles alone pays on .653 per cent.

Our chief tax, called a general property tax, has, in fact, become a real estate tax. Only from 15 per cent. to 18 per cent. of the entire taxes are levied on personal property.

In Los Angeles city personal property is assessed for 30.93 per cent. of the total assessed value of the city. In the county it amounts to 25.28 per cent.

The amount of personal property on the tax rolls today is hardly larger than it was in 1872.

The unfairness of this statement is shown by the fact that in 1872, during the Nevada bonanza boom, the Assessor of San Francisco ran his assessment up nearly one hundred million dollars on assessments, the mass of which were contested and upon final action, the Supreme Court of the State declared them illegal and void, for the reason that in what they called their subsequent assessment roll, in which these assessments were made, there was no provision in law for its equalization. This assessment made by the Assessor of San Francisco increased the assessment roll of the State of California on personal property, from $86,000,000 in 1871, to $219,000,000 in 1872. After that, the assessment on personal property dropped.

Money and credits escape taxation almost entirely. Our laws in regard to the taxation of this class of property are full of absurdities and utterly unenforcible. It is unwise to retain these provisions on the statute books.

This commission does not offer a substitute. The only remedy would be to require the banks to furnish a list of depositors, with the amount of their deposits. This would be against good public policy, as it would wreck all the banks of the State.

National banks pay no taxes at all, except on real estate, of which they are not permitted to hold much, by the provisions of the Federal laws.

The national banks do pay on their capital stock. One instance is the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, which pays more than $30,000 taxes on its

Their Views Differ.

Three officials who are playing a prominent part in the controversy over the proposed constitutional amendment separating State and local taxation. State Senator McCartney, who proposed the amendment, says it will save the taxpayers of Los Angeles county six hundred thousand a year. The County Assessor and City Assessor say it will cost the taxpayers a million dollars annually.

IMPROVEMENT.

STONE WALL TO BE CUT DOWN.

CHANGING COURTHOUSE YARD TO TERRACED LAWN.

Placing of Memorial to the Late Senator White Causing Alterations That Are Expected to Enhance the Appearance of the County's Fine Public Building.

When the alterations now in progress on the Broadway front of the Courthouse grounds are completed, as they probably will be next month, the entire perspective of the building will be changed. By sloping the yard gradually to the sidewalk and by the placing of the Douglas Tilden statue of the late Senator Stephen Mallory White on its granite pedestal, the perspective of a repelling stone wall supporting a gigantic palm will become a green terrace surmounted by the bronze image eight feet high, on a pedestal sixteen feet above the grade of the yard.

The changes and alterations are being made by the Executive Committee of the Stephen M. White Memorial Fund, under plans approved by the Board of Supervisors. The work is directly in charge of an advisory committee composed of David Cunningham, A. B. Benton and Sumner P. Hunt, and there is every reason to believe that the work will be finished.

Until the changes, the steps forming the approach to the Courthouse on the Broadway side were between two walls of brown sandstone, and these walls continued along the Broadway front to Temple street. At Temple street a driveway entered the yard and formed a turning path about a magnificent palm tree planted when the Courthouse was completed sixteen years ago. There was hostility to removing this palm, and the committee tried to find some place where it could be transplanted. The Park Commission decided it could not take it, and the committee concluded, after hopeless efforts, to cut it down and destroy it.

From this concrete base the yard will be sloped in a curve to the retaining wall along its foot at the sidewalk, resodded and the walls finished just as they have been, but so reduced that they will be, on an average, only three feet above the sidewalk level. The steps leading to the Courthouse will no longer be between two walls, as the north wall will be cut down and the view of the statue and yard will be full from the bottom.

The changes are expected, from a landscape standpoint, as well as architectural advantages, to give the Courthouse an improved appearance. One of those interested thus explained it:

The alterations are to cost about $3000, which will be borne entirely by the Memorial Committee. The statue is now at the Courthouse ready for placing.

BRUTAL.

THUGS ATTACK IN BROAD DAY.

Young Boy Victim of Savage Assault on Street.

Jaw Fractured, Teeth Broken, With Crowds Near.

Assailants Drag Sufferer to Doorway and Flee.

Brutally beaten by thugs, in broad daylight, on a busy street, Harold Aldrich, 14 years of age, son of Dr. J. D. Aldrich of San Bernardino, was left for dead in a doorway on South Main street, Friday afternoon. His assailants, alarmed at the condition of the boy after the attack, feared to rob their victim.

The boy is at the California Hospital, suffering from a severe fracture of the jaw, a long gash on his chin, and concussion of the brain. Detectives are doing their utmost to get some trace of the brutes who committed the assault.

Young Aldrich arrived in Los Angeles Friday morning for the purpose of having his eyes tested. He expects to enter college next season, and his eyes have caused him considerable trouble. He had considerable money in his pockets.

After visiting his uncle, Albert Finch of the Morgan Oyster Company, on Main street near Fourth, the boy left his suit case there and departed for a stroll through the business section. He was attracted by a crowd on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth, and stood about, watching a performance of street fakers, unconsciously rattling the money in his pocket.

FOLLOWED BY THUGS.

When he left he was followed by two thugs, who waylaid him as he stopped for a moment to look at a window. It was then nearly noon, and the streets were well filled with pedestrians. The Aldrich boy paid no attention to the men, who walked up on either side of him. One swung a slug, hitting the unfortunate boy on the point of the jaw and felling him. Fearing detection, and noting the desperate wound they had inflicted, the thugs dragged the unconscious boy to a near-by doorway, then fled.

Some time later, young Aldrich recovered, got to his feet, and began to stagger about. He was stopped by a boy of his own age, who guided him back to the Morgan Oyster Company's store.

"When Harold came in here he was covered with blood, and did not know what had hapened to him," said Albert Finch, the uncle. "He had left the place probably half an hour before, and when he came back with that gash in his jaw and the blood trickling from between his lips, I did not know how to account for it. He felt his pocket and remarked, 'Well, they didn't get my money, anyhow,' and then he lapsed into a semi-conscious condition.

TERRIBLE INJURIES.

"He is not a boy who would hunt trouble. I took him to my home at No. 118 North Fickett street, and called Dr. J. A. Colliver, who attended him. It was found that he had sustained a terrible fracture of the jaw, a three-inch gash on his chin, and that the teeth of both the upper and lower jaws on the left side had been broken off by the fearful blow. The boy could give no explanation. I telephoned his parents at San Bernardino, and they came here immediately. Friday night he was removed to the California Hospital, and operated upon this morning. The operation was successful, and we have hopes of his ultimate recovery, though he is desperately injured."

Yesterday afternoon, Harold regained consciousness for a time. He has but little recollection of the events between the time he stopped to look in at the window and when he staggered about the street, spitting out his crushed teeth.

"The case is one of the most remarkable I have ever had to deal with," stated Dr. Colliver yesterday. "The boy's clothes were not mussed, as they would have been had he been dragged about the street. He sustained a terrible injury, probably inflicted with some heavy slung. His jaw was cracked in two, his chin gashed and he suffered concussion of the brain. So forceful was the blow that the teeth of his left jaw were gritted together and broken in two.

"When I reached him he was bleeding at the right ear and it was many hours before he became conscious enough to talk intelligently.

Detectives are working hard to get some clew to the identity of the thugs, but thus far have been unable to find any one who witnessed the assault.

Harold Aldrich, a San Bernardino schoolboy, who was beaten and terribly injured in broad daylight on South Main street, presumably by robbers, and left for dead in a near-by doorway.

Los Angeles Aircraft

Inventor and his balloon-aeroplane combination, which he believes will attract world attention and solve the sky-travel problem.

Charlemagne W. Sirch, an electrical engineer and inventer, who has resided in this city several years, has evolved an aircraft—a combination of a balloon and heavier-than-air aëroplane—which he believes will out-rival the monstrous craft of Count Zeppelin of Germany, and in original and sound principles will eclipse the ideas of the Wrights and revolutionize thought on the subject of aëronautics.

Heated air will furnish the lifting power of the novel craft, and the use of this means of keeping the airship afloat is, asserts the inventor, the most important feature of his creation. He asserts it will solve the problem of sky-travel.

The principal features of the new airship are: Length, 240 feet; diameter, 40 feet; weight, 1950 pounds; aëroplanes, "reefable;" framework, magnalium; bag, canvas; motive power, gasoline engines; guiding power, aëroplanes (no rudder;) cost, about $4000.

Mr. Sirch has submitted his plans to several engineers and they have approved the new airship in all its details. Among his acquaintances, the inventor has raised enough money to build the craft, and work will begin upon it immediately. Sirch believes the airship will be ready for its first flight within sixty days. He is negotiating for a five-acre tract of land in the vicinity of this city, upon which the airship will be constructed and from which the first flight will be made.

INVENTOR'S CLAIMS.

The inventor intends to name the new craft "Sirch's Transport," and he asserts it will perform the following feats:

Rise or drop under full control of the operator several thousand feet without hydrogen, hot carbonic acid gas or ballast of any sort, also without turning a wheel of its engines.

Automatically remain at any height for which it is adjusted without turning a wheel.

Travel twenty days with two men.

Carry sixty or more passengers one day.

Travel thirty or more miles an hour, higher speed being easily predetermined in design.

Soar and steer under perfect control by means of aëroplanes which are "reefable."

Transport freight or passengers at less cost a ton mile than any other vehicle, and probably travel more cheaply than any motor-driven craft, including launches.

Withstand rain or fire, and be absolutely safe in a lightning discharge or storm.

The ship, says Sirch, will possess the lightest possible frame and the greatest possible strength with the highest factor of safety, without the use of any silk, wood or rubber.

WORK OF MANY YEARS.

Sirch is a native of Milwaukee, Wis., and is 32 years old. He has been an inventor along electrical lines for twelve years, and has been working fifteen years on the aircraft which he is about to construct. Among his inventions is a rectifier for converting alternating currents of electricity into direct currents, which is in use throughout the world. He is well-educated, of few words, and modest bearing, and in setting forth his claims regarding the new airship, speaks with the conviction of one who knows he is right. For many years he has brought an inventive and trained intellect to bear on the problem of aërial navigation, and now, believing the results of his labors are about to be realized, and having procured domestic and foreign patents fully covering his invention, he has come forth with a full statement regarding his work in the field of aëronautics.

RADICAL DEPARTURE.

The Sirch Transport in its fundamental principles and several details, he says, is a radical departure from all recent aircraft.

The "Transport" might be called a combination of a balloon airship and the heavier-than-air aëroplane. Sirch porposes to raise the ship with a lifting power twice as great as any hitherto developed for its size with the sole use of heated air, and the to be able to take advantage of the soaring possibilities of the aëroplane developed in greater perfection than those of the Wright brothers and Prof. Langley.

In general appearance the Sirch Transport will be of elliptical shape, its sides bearing aëroplanes similar to a shark's side fins and its front at the bottom flattening off in line with the wings. The bag otherwise is long and of the shape of a cigar, tapering to a point.

There will be no netting over the bag of the balloon. In fact, there is no rope, no wood and no silk used in the entire craft. The bag actually is built around a considerable portion of the frame and machinery of the ship, the entire frame being as firm and rigid as a metal box.

The pilot-house, companionway and rooms will lie closely beneath the bag, the absence of any combustible gas, which has caused destructive explosions in every previous airship disaster, making it possible for human beings aboard to operate close to the seat of their buoyant power.

DETAILED PLANS.

Sirch's detailed plan, which he has arranged with tests and estimates of power and cost to the finest point, provides for a bag 240 feet long and 40 feet in diameter, divided into six separate chambers, and his tests of the lifting power of hot air, combined with the weight of his machinery and frame, show that this will raise sixty persons; in fact, his fuel will provide for maintaining such a burden for one whole day. The ship could travel for twenty days with two persons and supplies. Its total weight is less than 2000 pounds.

The novelty of the machine extends from the fundamental principle of using heated air instead of combustible gases, and heating the same in course of flight within the bag, down to the various materials used.

The framework is to be constructed of the new and almost unknown metal, magnalium, lighter than aluminum and stronger than steel. The bag will be composed of stout canvas treated with gelatin and other ingredients and combined with asbestos so that it is not only of great strength and very light weight, but also is fire and waterproof.

The greatest and fundamental new principle of Sirch's transport is the use of pure hot air for buoyant power. This principal goes back to the year of 1783 in the history of aëronautics. Almost unanimously, however, in later years, air navigators suddenly abandoned the hot-air principle, several standard works on the subject declaring "that it need not be further considered at this time, as it seems incapable of further improvement."

Sirch has proved scientifically, he asserts, that the heated pure air has double the lifting power of combustible gases. He has sent a small model of his ship into the air with a weighty burden that seems to have proved the principle.

HEATING THE AIR.

The most original part of the discovery is his method of heating the air within the bag. The bag, which is in several distinct compartments, is first filled with pure air. It is then heated by means of radiator pipes extending from his engines' exhaust pipes. The cause it is the largest available one in town, that would come anywhere near holding the expected crowds. The immediate purpose of the festival is, of course, the raising of funds to entertain 100,000 Elks and their friends, will be in Los Angeles next July.

The Elks and their various subcommittees, with Postmaster Flint as chairman, are arranging a hundred and one details that crowd for solution. Every Elk in town, and many merchants, have been asked to donate "something that may be turned into cash." The amount of merchandise that will be on sale will make visitors recall vividly a large department store; and in fact it will be possible, says Chairman Flint, to buy "anything from a needle to an anchor, from a haystack to a coffin," to say nothing of such prosaic things as groceries, jewelry, dry goods, burros, saddles, dress suits, millinery, trunks, furniture, china and pottery.

There will also be oceans of jollity intermixed, such as never was known in the most liberally managed department store on earth.

Those in immediate charge of the booths, each to be assisted by thirty others, will be Mrs. Will Stephens, palmistry; Mrs. Frank Bryson, Japanese tea garden and ice cream; Mrs. E. B. Drake, silverware; Mrs. F. E. Pierce, furniture; Mrs. T. J. Darmody and Mrs. John E. Brink, "where fortune smiles;" Mrs. W. H. Mead, grocery and country store; Mrs. Frank Pitner, ladies' furnishings; Mrs. A. J. Daniels, candy; Mrs. M. H. Flint, crystal; Herbert L. Cornish, paddle; Mrs. G. U. Whitney, leather goods; L. E. Behymer, theatrical booth; Mrs. E. J. Brent, household necessities; Mrs. Al Levy, "Spa;" Mrs. C. D. Hudson, fancy articles; Mrs. Chloe Routzhan, Japanese art; Mrs. Col. Tom C. Thornton, gents' furnishings; Mrs. Robert Green, jewelry; W. T. Calderwood, Native Sons and Daughters; Mrs. C. H. Ward, Pasadena, special booth; Mrs. Feliciana C. Stein, Spanish garden; Mrs. E. J. Stanton, "booth of chance;" Mrs. E. E. Sherrard, household necessities; Mrs. Lottie Barre, art; Mrs. Otto C. Soakes, floral.

The harvest festival will be open afternoons and evenings, but, of course, the big business will be done at night. There will be a grand march, each evening, joined in by the ladies of the booths. It will begin at 9 o'clock and general dancing, on the big main floor, will be on at 10 o'clock.

One of the bright spots in the festival will be the competitive drills of various lodge teams. Monday will be Elks' night; Tuesday, Fraternal Brotherhood; Wednesday, Al Malaikah Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine; Thursday, Newman Club, Knights of Columbus, Young Men's Institute, Ancient Order of Hibernians; Friday, Woodmen of the World and Knights of Pythias; Saturday, Native Sons of the Golden West, Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Every fraternal order in Los Angeles will receive a special invitation to cooperate, and will have a place on the official programme.

TRANSFER PATTERNS.

The Times, on Sunday, October 4, and each Sunday thereafter, will distribute to each subscriber and purchaser of the paper a four-page TRANSFER PATTERN SECTION. It is a unique, exclusive, attractive feature of particular interest and value to women. It will not injure the most delicate fabrics, and so simple that a child can successfully manipulate the process.

We notice that among the charges made against Frank Gould by his wife, is what is called "the omnibus charge." It seems to us that a rich man like that would have at least traveled in a cab.

THE LIME VAT.

Politics has apparently undergone the same evolution that has characterized prize fighting. Before the days of John L. Sullivan the heroes of the squared arena used to fight the better half of a whole day, pounding one another for dear life, the fight ending only when the weaker combatant laid down exhausted. When Mr. Sullivan engaged in the business he changed all this by putting his opponents to sleep with a wallop on the jaw, usually in the fifth or sixth round. Then came James J. Jeffries, who improved on the Sullivan method by throwing his antagonists into a lime vat as Johann Hoch did with his wives, so that neither hide nor hair of them could ever afterward be found.

Now let us observe the analogy in politics. Before the time of Andrew Jackson politicians used to battle for power year after year, but never anything worse than a temporary exhaustion was fated for the losing side. It could get up again and prepare for another fight. But when Jackson engaged in the business the knock-out blow was introduced and Old Hickory's antagonists went to the mat to take the count, one after another. And now comes T. Roosevelt with the lime vat.

The lime vat in politics is a grand idea and we have no doubt that it will be welcomed by a great, throbbing populace, weary almost to death with ranters, rainbow-chasers, wind-jammers and other pestiferous insects that fasten themselves on the body politic.

The lime vat is a vast improvement on even the steam roller, which is a ponderous and clumsy machine at best. No matter how the anatomy of an opponent may be flattened by the steam roller, the friends of the flattee, so to speak, can rush forward with first aids to the injured, regalvanize the human disc, inflate the vapid compartments and restore the object to its previous condition of flatulence.

When, however, the victim is lifted in the air, hurled through infinite spaces ranging from the height of the stars to the width that marks the dry land areas between the two oceans—when, we say, the mark against which a strenuous opponent has thus directed his wrath and leverage is elevated and thrown into the lime vat, what is the result? Do we ever hear of that erstwhile particular political unit or factor, as we might say, again? Not on your birthday. It is him for the calcium oxide. Not a trace of him remains; his very viscosity is a thing of the past.

It is perhaps not too early to begin to make a list of the great figures of current history that are even now unsteadily walking the tight rope that stretches across the lime vat, or of the possible two or three entities that are suspected to have disappeared from sight in the reeking depths of that hot-stuff receptacle. Let the chroniclers of events sharpen their goose quills and spread the expectant papyrus.

INSPIRING FACTS.

Persons interested in the future of Los Angeles or any part of Southern California who do not read carefully the news columns of The Times are neglecting their own affairs. They can have no conception of the multitude of facts inspiring confidence as to our future which are taking place at every turn, every day.

An item may be headed "High School" at some point, and the reader may think, "I am not interested in a school there." The headline may relate to a new wharf, and the reader may think that is not of interest to him. The paragraph may be about the sale of an orange grove or a walnut grove, or the beginning of a new business block somewhere. It may relate to the registration of voters in some city or town, and that may be a matter of indifference to him.

Suppose he should form the habit of scanning these news items with some care every day, what might he learn? That all the schools of all the grades in all the cities and towns of Southern California are overcrowded, and that pupils are turned away from part of them from lack of seats; that this has taken place in spite of large additions to the school accommodations made during the vacation, and because the number of pupils has increased by tens and scores and hundreds; that new people are pouring in at all these points. The increased registration of voters points to the same conditions. The new buildings going up are for new settlers who have just come in here. The sales of orange groves and other productive property are mostly to newcomers. They are paying good prices, and the sellers are investing their money in other ways.

To read of one or two such developments in some district where a reader is interested does not impress him. But when he reads of one evidence of growth added to another, of these multiplied evidences of growth extending to all cities, towns and districts of Southern California, and when these facts force their attention on his mind seven days in the week, he must be impressed.

That is what is going on here. It is a steady, constant, rapid growth. It is general, almost universal. It indicates a great increase in population, that the new people are of the very best class of citizens, that they bring means, have intelligence, are enterprising and full of energy.

There never was a time in fifty years in Southern California when the promise of the future was so bright. There is nothing tentative in our local civilization as it is today. The value of our soils is tried out and proved. The products of our soil are of exceeding variety and of great value. The oil output of the section makes it one of the richest in the world. This lays a sure foundation for large manufacturing development in the near future. The mineral regions near us are pouring out treasures at a marvelous rate. The $20,000,000 crop of citrus fruits and the $30,000,000 output of oil are only two of our many sources of wealth. They are leading industries, but they are flanked by a hundred auxiliary ones. Do not forget our tourist industry, larger today than ever before, and to be larger still next year. The wealth these visitors leave here is not so great as that brought in by our oranges, or that due to the oil, but it is very large.

Think how much these new settlers add to our live capital. Here in Los Angeles city the population increase is 20,000 to 30,000 a year. Scores of these are persons of great wealth. They add millions to our accumulation annually. And there never were so many coming as now.

Business is constantly expanding here, partly owing to the rapid increase in population and partly to the rapid extension of the territory tributary to this city. This broadening back country affords a good market to our farmers and fruit growers as well as to our merchants.

To the person who keeps in constant touch with all these evidences of growth it is a natural conclusion that the future prospects of Los Angeles and of all the neighboring cities were never before so bright as today. Let us consolidate and all pull together.

Sir Francis Bacon wrote in Latin because he feared that if he wrote in English his work would not survive. And yet, to this day, the sun never sets on the breakfast tables at which this man's name is spoken.

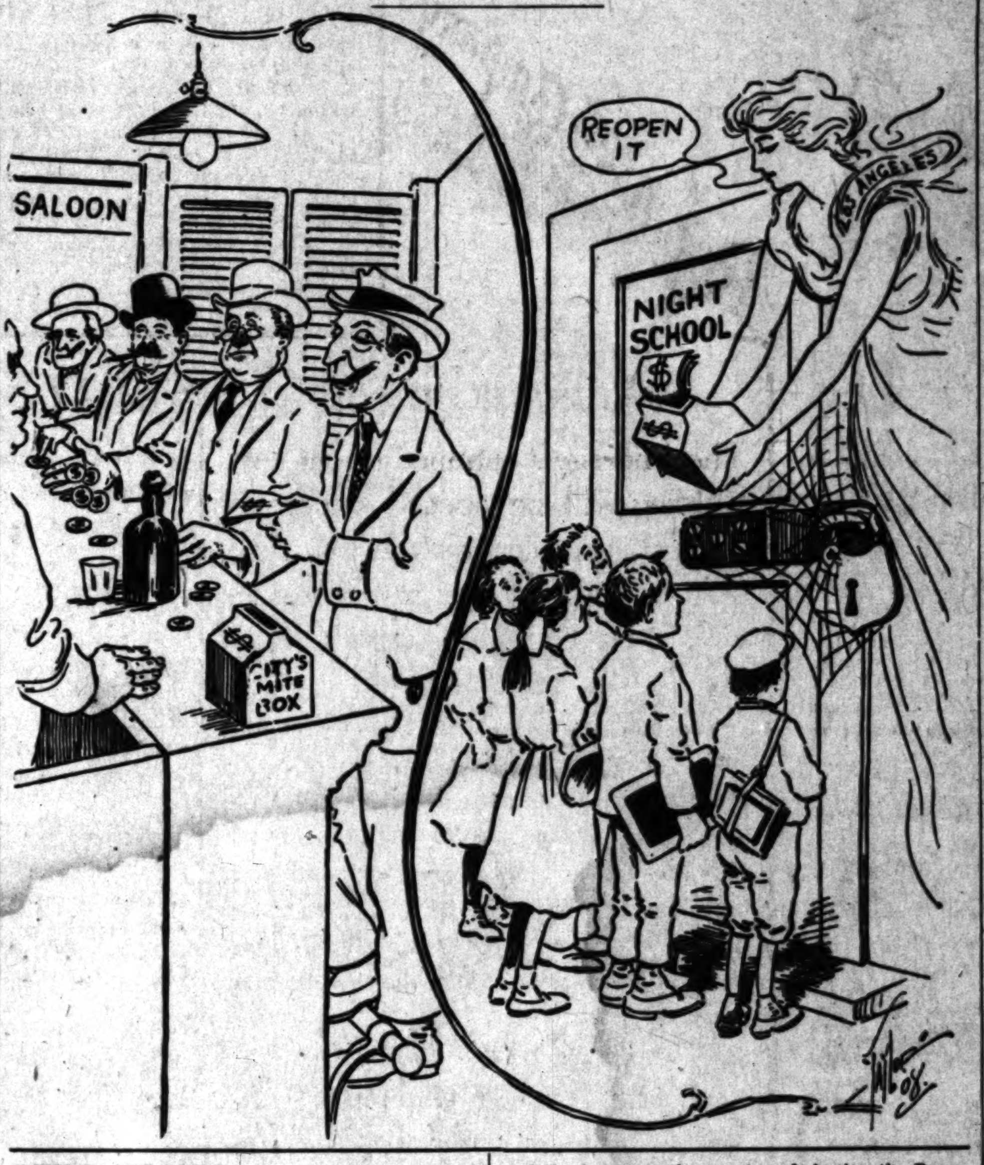
A JUSTIFIABLE DIVERSION OF FUNDS



CHILD CULTURE.

Mrs. William Rockefeller, sister-in-law to the richest man in the world and a woman of immense wealth herself, is certain to command attention when she says anything. And, the other day, she did say something. In fact, she said several things, but the utterance which will probably strike most deeply is her assertion that the child-study circles of the country are doing a lot of harm and no good.

It appears to be Mrs. Rockefeller's idea that the best place for a mother to study her child is at home and not in a woman's club or at a neighbor's house in a meeting of a child-study circle.

If we look back on the past we will find that history rather bears out Mrs. Rockefeller's contention. There have been a great many children reared successfully by mothers in the past who never heard of a child-study circle. At the same time, it might be admitted that if a child-study circle be attended by mothers who know how to rear children and that they there try to coach the mothers who do not know, considerable advantage might be gained.

And yet, the mother who likes to bring up her own child in her own way is likely to come out all right, whether she be rich or poor, or whether she lives in a big city or a big woods. It is rare to find a mother who is mistaken about her child. Generals have been mistaken about how to fight battles, and statesmen have erred on questions of the public weal, but the woman who bears a child can be depended on to take the safe course though she have no adviser but her own natural instincts.

The croon of the cradle song, the good-night kiss, the little prayer taught to the child-heart beside the waiting bed are safe practices for all mothers of the world. Happy the child whose mother has no newer or no other theories upon which to proceed.

PROPOSED NEW TAX LAW.

Elsewhere in this issue The Times presents the pros and cons on the vastly important subject of the constitutional amendment providing for a new method of raising State funds, namely, by a special tax on corporations to take the place of city and county assessments.

The plan was devised by a special commission appointed by Gov. Pardee and will be submitted to the voters of the State at the November election. It is one of the most important questions to come before them.

City Assessor Mallard and County Assessor Hopkins are opposed to the plan. They believe it will result in the collection of a lesser amount of taxes from the corporations and in a great loss to the city and county. They urge that it will operate especially to the prejudice of the larger cities. The corporations and their special friends evidently are in favor of the change. State Senator McCartney, the father of the proposition in the Legislature, addressed the Union League last evening in favor of the amendment. He declares that it will lift a burden from the owners of real estate, who now pay too large a share of taxes, and will enable large cities and counties to escape their present predicament of paying more than their proportion of the State's revenues.

The Times places all phases of the question fully and fairly before its readers. They should study them with care, as their interests are vitally concerned. This journal proposes to investigate the question exhaustively and to protect the interests of the people.

It must be confessed that the dangers lurking in the amendment, as seen by the assessors, are startling in their possibilities. Further study and consideration will determine whether they are absolutely prohibitive when all the rights of all the people are weighed.

LEST WE FORGET.

The campaign has "ginger" enough now. The ginger is good in the cake, but the spice is not the cake. The political "ginger" is not the campaign.

We wish to emphasize what we said last week. Gov. Haskell is not running for the Presidency. The exposure of rank hypocrisy in the Democratic treasurer shared knowingly by the Democratic Presidential candidate will keep many persons from voting for Mr. Bryan, but it will not bring the Republican vote to the polls. To get out the vote is the real work of the campaign. Nothing should divert our mind from that. The country is Republican by a very large popular vote and by a large majority in the electoral college. If the vote all comes out the Taft majority will be as large as the Roosevelt majority was four years ago.

The way to get out the vote is to fill the party members with enthusiasm for party principles, to show them the fallacies of Democratic doctrines and the danger to the country of electing the Democratic ticket. That is what got out the vote in 1896, and in the two following campaigns. The people saw what the Wilson-Gorman tariff act had done, and were filled with fear as to what the free coinage of silver would do. The issues stirred the voters. So it will be this time. The exposure of the double-dealing of Gov. Haskell, and of Mr. Bryan's knowledge of the facts, will disgust some Democrats, but we must remember that the rank and file of that party is not troubled with weak stomachs.

We present today in the "campaign" matter a political symposium, gathered from many sources all purely Republican, which sets forth one (we think the most important) of the issues on which the election must turn. This collection of views is made in the interest of our Republican readers in Southern California and in the whole great Southwest. The matter presented is so important to us all that it should bring to the polls with a Taft vote in his hand every person in this section who has any material interest to protect. There is not a product of the soil or of the mines, not a manufacturing industry in the country, not a wage-earner whose welfare is not tied up in the election of Judge Taft. There never was a tariff act in force which so well protected all interests from crushing competition with foreign producers using labor at starvation wages, as does the Dingley act. The tariff is to be revised and the work will be done under the influence of Taft or Mr. Bryan. The one is a Republican believing in protection; the other is a Democrat, and one of the most extreme free-trade views. To vote for Mr. Bryan is to vote for one of the framers of the Wilson bill, who stood for its most extreme free-trade provisions. To vote that way is to vote for another period of industrial depression such as followed the passage of the Wilson bill. It is to vote for the conditions that prevailed in 1896, when 3,000,000 persons were idle and the country was full of soup houses. To vote for Taft is to vote for the business activity and general prosperity that have prevailed almost every minute since the Dingley bill became a law. It is to vote for the protection to our industries which has made the citrus fruit industry and the growing of nuts, raisins, olives, barley and every other thing produced here pay so well. To vote that way is to keep the mining industry on a paying basis. It is to keep our factories in operation and all willing hands busy at the highest wages labor ever has been paid in all the history of the world.

This is what we must keep in mind; this is the real magnet to draw voters to the polls and inspire them with enthusiasm to vote for Taft.

EGGS IN MANY BASKETS.

No blow can bring disaster on the Great Southwest. Its interests are too manifold and great.

The unusual September rain of last week did some little damage in spots, but when all is told the benefit will outweigh the injury, leaving the balance on the right side of the ledger.

Some beans were caught out, but the sunshine will dry them and the loss will be small. It will be about the same way with grapes. A little hay got wet, but this is a bugaboo only here where such an event is not common. In other sections rain on hay is usual, but they get their hay made all the same.

To offset these small losses, the benefit to the orange groves will be great. The downpour on the mountains will provide irrigation water for the future. All the lands will be improved by the soaking and fall work will be easier and more effective. The mines will be worked earlier and the output of ore greater.

An inch of rain could hardly fall in the Great Southwest which would do more than a small amount of injury in places—and one could not fall that would not be worth $1,000,000.

NEVER MIND PROCESSIONS.

The way voters have registered here in Los Angeles indicates that we shall need no processions nor spellbinders to get out the vote. The city registration shows an increase of about 14,000 since the last registration. The growth in the county is in nearly as large a ratio.

The intention of the people is to have a hand in selecting a Chief Executive and a Congress. They have made up their minds that they will vote, and for the most part, how they will vote.

If there was ever any doubt of Uncle Joe Cannon's election, it may be put aside without further consideration. The Los Angeles Express has come out against him.

it sends a shudder down the spine of El Monte when he dips it in ink.

On two occasions, lately, have the half-frightened but fascinated citizens seen Whitaker's brother really "extend" himself, as racing men say.

One was on the occasion when the Lincoln-Roosevelt League was organized.

Whitaker was watched with admiration while his brother marched down from Monrovia and proceeded to wipe the Republican organization off the face of the earth. Had the "organization" ever found out about it, the tragedy would have been almost too fearful to repeat.

They talk about Roosevelt's letter to Bryan. Pshaw! Tush! Meyer Lissner? Pish! Fudge! You should have seen the fearful sarcasm writ by Whitaker's brother about the Taft Republicans—for which Whitaker (not his brother) was to have a job at Sacramento, when the L.-R.'s captured it. He and Dicky Dickson were to have charge of the card index department.

Luckily, THE OUTRAGE occurred just at the height of a brilliant editorial campaign, diverted Whitaker's brother, and the Republican party was thus allowed to escape utter annihilation.

The cashier of the town bank—a mild man named Snell, who says he believes in socialism—created the outrage.

He sent some job printing out of town to another paper that owed money to the town fund, raised when Mr. Huntington built into El Monte.

Here was Whitaker, knowing it was about time for this job to be done, and looking around with sudden blushes every time he heard a footstep that sounded like a banker. And here the banker, wretch, went and sent the printing out to an editor in a Jim Crow town somewhere across the gap.

Whitaker simply gritted his teeth and sent for his brother.

His revenge against the timid cashier with socialistic tendencies was indeed a terrible one.

He wrote the worst thing he could about Mr. Snell's views and the flag, and inscribed these burning words:

"Think of that kind of rot going before our children! Would he wave a red flag over our beautiful High School?"

But meanwhile, the Taft Republicans, eager to escape further castigation by that terrible pen, managed to slip away while Whitaker's brother thumped the socialist editorially.

This explains why the Republican party still lives. Napoleon had a severe headache at Waterloo, Whitaker's brother was diverted onto a socialist who sent out the printing. Thus is history made.

The facts sketched in above only relate to Whitaker's more public affairs. Of his secret services to the country, we can only whisper faintly.

Whitaker's work of annihilating the Republican organization brought him new responsibilities.

The rumor is that Whitaker has to drop his type stick or his office broom every once in a while and go into long-distance conference with the illustrious "Chet" Rowell, the great Fresno crusader, who organized and managed the wonderful campaign by which the Lincoln-Roosevelt League gained political control of all that portion of the State which consists of ex-pawn brokers.

Some of "Chet's" most brilliant inspirations have trickled in from the Park Row of El Monte.

As is well known, "Chet," the illustrious, has to nearly run the government, and has the heavy responsibility of telling the President what to do next.

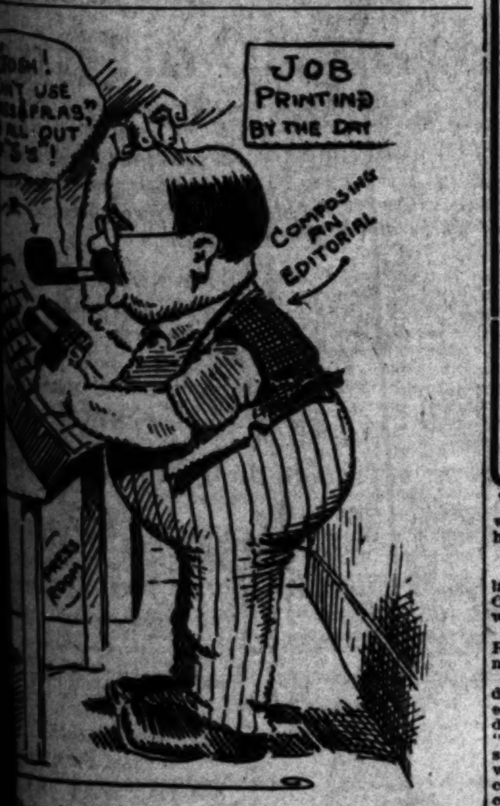
Sometimes, he even has to run back to national headquarters and instruct the Republican leaders what to do.

Upon these occasions, when he has to hurry East on these missions, "Chet" takes counsel with Whitaker of El Monte.

So it may be said that Whitaker has a good deal to do with running the government.

Of late, you may have noticed some rather brilliantly written and burning letters passed out by the President. And it was conceded that many learned men had been in conference with the President.

Of course, I wouldn't go so far as to say . . . Still, Whitaker's brother was observed to be unusually busy about that time.



JOSH! DON'T USE "SASSAFRAS," ALL OUT "S's"!

Individual patterns for tailored suits consisting of striped material for skirt and plain for the coat—shades of blue, green, Taupe, mode and brown—$50 a suit.

Novelty Pattern Suits in cheviot, swivel, French twill, serge and diagonal weaves for the tailored gown—all the desirable colors—$20 to $37.50.

Handsome bordered patterns in diagonals and fancy twills, showing the most exclusive designs from the world's fashion centers, $40 and $45 a pattern.

Skirts Made and Finished Free

It's the tailoring in a skirt that counts, no denying that. No matter how expensive the materials, if the cutting and making are even a little way off, the entire effect is bad. As a rule, clever tailoring costs, but not here, for we place at your command the services of the best men-tailors money can hire, without charge.

The only conditions are that you purchase the materials of us, selecting from our big stock goods costing $1 or more a yard, and pay for the necessary findings, we will then make a 5, 6, 7 or 8-gore or circular skirt for you absolutely free of further cost. If you prefer a pleated or trimmed skirt, with bands, straps, etc., the additional cost is very slight.

And remember this always. If the skirt, when finished, is not entirely satisfactory, we will refund all money for making and findings, and also give you similar goods by the yard to that which went into the skirt. If that isn't proof of our confidence in our ability to please you, we don't know what is. For a year past we have been doing this sort of work, and have hundreds of orders and re-orders on our books.

Only the best of findings are used, pure silk thread, etc.

We sponge and refinish all materials in our own plant, the most complete in the West, without extra charge.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The petition for charter amendments has failed verification on the registration of 1908, and is now being compared with the 1906 registration, which may affect the petition either way by a narrow margin.

The District Attorney yesterday issued a complaint for the arrest of A. H. Dean, charged by J. B. Jardine, Jr., of San Francisco with the embezzlement of $3813 on or about August 23.

Five men were sentenced by Judge Jamison yesterday to prison terms ranging from six months to three years.

On grounds of cruelty and non-support, Judge Rives yesterday granted Mrs. Katherine C. W. Pugh of Pasadena a divorce from J. T. Pugh.

C. R. Hassen, who pleaded guilty to passing a fictitious check, was placed on three years' probation by Judge Jamison.

AT THE CITY HALL.

SMALL MARGIN FOR PETITION?

CHARTER AMENDMENTS MAY FAIL OF VERIFICATION.

Comparison With Registration of This Year Leaves Signatures Insufficient, and the Registration of Two Years Ago Is Consulted—May Reach the Council Tomorrow.

According to the comparison of the charter amendments referendum petition with the registration of 1908, it will prove deficient in the number of signatures. When this fact was made plain to the City Clerk yesterday, he asked further instruction from the City Attorney, and was advised to compare the names not found on the 1908 register with the registration of 1906 and ascertain those qualified. This is now being done, and it is hoped to have the work completed in time to report to the Council Monday.

It is understood that the petition as filed shows a deficiency of 1600 names. As it had a margin of 1492 names over the actual number required by the Constitution—15 per cent.—it is only a hundred or more deficient. This may be overcome by the comparison with the 1906 registration. So that the sufficiency of the petition is still in doubt, and a narrow margin may sustain or defeat it.

Whether the petition may be amended by the addition of other names, if it should not prove mandatory by the required number, is something that the City Attorney has not determined. The constitution, he says, is silent on this feature, though the city charter is explicit in providing for supplementary petitions. The preponderance of opinion in the Council is that it may not be amended, and that it must stand or fall as originally filed.

THOMPSON'S PIG.

ADDITION TO EASTLAKE ZOO.

J. R. Thompson, a citizen of Los Angeles, now working on the Yaqui River branch railroad of the Southern Pacific at Corral, Mex., has caused consternation in the park department. He has written to the board saying that he shipped a three-months-old "jabolin" as a valuable addition to the Eastlake Park zoo. He says it is a very affectionate pig, and follows him wherever he goes. And it is shipped under an aureole of romance, for it was a reward to Thompson by the turbulent aborigines, whose name is terror, for his helping a sick Yaqui girl back to life. It was captured in the mountains, writes Thompson, but seems well disposed in the confines of civilization.

After much investigation park officials learned that the animal is a wild pig. But whether it is a jabali or a jabalina, the Spanish names distinguishing the sex, cannot be deduced from Trompson's spelling "jabolin." When it comes Secretary Mulally promises to pay the freight charges and then find out whether it should be fed chocolates or alfala. Ed Rice, keeper of the zoo, has been notified and will prepare for his pigship.

According to the zoölogists the jabali is a wild boar and its mate, the jabalina, is the opposite in sex. They are ferocious when attacked, but are not always ready for battle. The hunt for them is regarded as exciting, and a little dangerous. The park department is not sure it will keep the animal after his—or her—habits of life are diagnosed.

Acacia Trees Destroyed.

Because vandals ruined twenty-four young black acacia trees on Occidental boulevard, between Bellevue avenue and Marathon street, City Forester Harper is hopeful that information will be brought to him through which prosecution may be begun. The trees were three years old and were on a block where the abutting property is owned by E. A. Davis, formerly a Supervisor. Four trees were sawed at the root and toppled over in the street. The remainder were cut in rings with a knife and will doubtless all die. The only trees not harmed were in front of the one house in the block. The Forester wishes to go to the bottom of the acts, as he says it is a good opportunity to make an example of those who mar young trees.

HOROSCOPE.

Sunday, September 27, 1908.

BY COZETTE.

Resign thyself to quiet and content.
For this the stars in harmony are blent.

On this 271st day Mercury, Venus and the moon are in ecliptic conjunction. Saturn enters the sign of the Fishes.

Trouble not thy mind about worldly affairs in this period, nor dwell on the perplexing problems of the week. The indications are that there will be little clearness or decision, for the planets speak of "divided counsels and halting minds" in these twenty-four hours.

Saturn afflicts the land and the waters. Game and fish will be affected.

Plague is menaced again in India during the life of this moon.

Troubles are indicated for Eastern Europe.

American business prospects are excellent for the coming weeks. An exceedingly disturbed condition of the public mind is threatened, however. There will be violent fluctuations in many values.

Be needful this day against running waters. Avoid brinks of cascades, edges of dams and banks of swift rivers.

Women with this birthdate should be careful against a temptation to incur extravagant expenses through their love of beautiful things—a love hard to resist for the children of Libra.

Men with this birthdate will probably have an active and unsettled business year and will need sound judgment and a calm mind.

Children are born today under aspects signifying success after traversing rough ways. Girls will probably have a great sorrow in early life, but will attain a happy and contented existence. Boys should prove to be clever and active with much perseverance.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

EACH OF THREE MAKES CHARGES.

PRISONER, MANAGER, LAWYER IN LEGAL DRAMA.

Former Detective Accused of Embezzlement—Man in Jail Says He's There Because He Knows Too Much—Attorney Denies Conspiracy. Involved Case for Judge.

Charges and counter-charges of dishonesty were made yesterday by E. P. Walton, a County Jail prisoner; J. B. Jardine, Jr., manager of the Machinery and Equipment Company, with offices in the Lankershim building, and Attorney E. L. Hutchison, counsel for A. H. Dean. Deputy District Attorney G. Ray Horton had issued a complaint, at Jardine's instance, charging Dean with the embezzlement of $3813, about August 23, while connected with Jardine's concern.

Walton asserts that he was arrested Friday evening on a trumped-up charge of stealing Hutchison's typewriter because the lawyer and his client wanted to scare him out of the country because of his knowledge of the doings of Dean, his former partner in the detective business. He says he refused to scare and will show that he is the victim of a conspiracy when he is brought before Judge Bordwell Thursday morning.

Jardine states that Dean has embezzled fully $4800 of the Machinery and Equipment Company's funds since he was employed to act as Los Angeles agent of the concern last June.

Attorney Hutchison says that Walton's charge of conspiracy is false; that Dean was Jardine's business partner and not his agent, and that Jardine has never fulfilled the terms of his contract with Dean.

"I met Dean in San Francisco last May for the first time," said Jardine yesterday. "He said that he owned mining machinery at Hornitis and that he wanted to sell it to our concern, but could not give us a bill of sale, and the deal lapsed. Later, he produced a bill of sale for the machinery in the Vivian mill at Searchlight, Nev., and I went there and bought it of him, paying him $1100 in checks. I afterward found from the County Recorder there that he never owned the machinery. I was out my money, but before I learned the truth I employed Dean, who is a bright man, as local agent for our Los Angeles house. I had met Walton, who passed as Allen, in Dean's company at Searchlight, but Dean told me that Walton was a stranger to him. I gave Dean $75 to pay his fare to Searchlight when he went up with Walton.

"Dean entered my employ last June, and in July I began to hear things about him that made me uneasy. I investigated and when he asked me for $615 to meet certain contract payments on deals he had under way, I issued through Dean two personal checks on our San Francisco bank, one for $500 to W. A. Ramsey and another for $115 to Ballee and Brandt. Before these checks were presented, my brother in San Francisco learned things about Dean that led him to wire me to hurry home from Bakersfield, and he drew all our funds from the bank, instructing it to let the checks I had given Dean go to protest.

"As a result I was arrested on Ramsey's complaint, last August, on charges of uttering fictitious checks, but the cases were dismissed on August 24, when the prosecuting attorney here learned the truth. Then I had enough knowledge of Dean's methods to enable me to get after him. He parleyed when I demanded a full statement of accounts, but finally an expert accountant discovered $2300 in false entries on the books of our local office, while $2500 more is unaccounted for.

"For three weeks the District Attorney has had this matter under advisement, and the complaint was issued after full investigation of my charges. Dean was formerly a Pinkerton detective, employed at Hornitis, Mariposa county, and later conducted mining operations at the Red Rover mine near Acton, where he is well known. He then went into the detective business here with Walton, and has a long record."

"Jardine's charges are false," said Attorney Hutchison. "Dean was employed by Jardine as his agent for six months before last June, when the branch business was started here. Then Jardine agreed to take Dean in as equal partner, Dean to do the business and Jardine to furnish the money. Dean has embezzled nothing. The contract between him and Jardine was a verbal one.

"As for Walton, the fact is that he stole my typewriter from my office last Thursday and sold it to the elder Jardine. I brought the matter to the attention of Judge Bordwell, for Walton was paroled by him but a fortnight ago on a forgery charge. Walton is the victim of no conspiracy, but was arrested for a theft."

"Dean was my partner in the detective business," said Walton, "and the very forgery I pleaded guilty to was to raise $25 to enable him to get to Searchlight to put through his deal with Jardine. He told me that he would make $3600 on the deal, and split it with me but he never gave me a cent, left me to walk out of town, and took all the money himself. He wants to get me out of the way, for I know his record and he fears me."

JUDGE IS KIND.

ENGINEER GIVEN CHANCE.

C. R. Hasson, 23 years old, a civil engineer who pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a fictitious $10 check on a local wine house in August, was placed on three years' probation by Judge Jamison yesterday. The court told Hasson that he must repay the amount secured by him on various small fictitious checks, totaling about $200, that he had issued prior to his arrest.

"I knew your father well and did business with him," said the judge. "I have never in any other case received so many letters from prominent business men and bankers asking clemency for a prisoner as I have received on your behalf. I do not think that the interest of society would be served by sending you to jail, but you must within six months repay the money you obtained on these checks. The trouble with you seems to have been that you had too much money."

RIDICULE AND CURSES.

PASADENA WOMAN'S STORY.

Mrs. Katherine C. W. Pugh of Pasarena was granted a divorce by Judge Rives yesterday from J. T. Pugh, whom she charged with cruelty and non-support. She was allowed to resume her maiden name of Watson.

"I was married eight years ago," said Mrs. Pugh, "and for the last six years have lived with my mother. My husband contributed nothing to my support during that time. He lived much of the time at my mother's home, also, and frequently told me of late years that he wished I would get a divorce from him. He has subjected me to ridicule before our guests, has cursed me and otherwise ill-used me, and has informed me frequently that if I could not go out with him, he could find plenty of other female companions.

"On one occasion, after a dinner to our friends at our home, he left me but returned at 4 o'clock in the morning and told me he had been automobile riding with a party of men and women. I had been awake all night, waiting for him. My health was good before my marriage, but since then unhappiness has made me ill."

FIVE SENTENCED.

JAIL AND PRISON TERMS.

Terms, ranging from three years in the penitentiary to six months in the County Jail, were imposed by Judge Jamison yesterday morning on five men, who were convicted of crimes.

Bert J. Huyber, who admitted that he passed a fictitious $15 check on the Newhall Company on September 8, was sentenced to one year in Folsom. The policeman who arrested him said that Huyber got possession of a bank book belonging to C. C. Curtis of Arizona, which showed a credit of $2900, then got drunk and entered into negotiations with a Los Angeles restaurant keeper for his business, and with a Long Beach liveryman for the sale of his stable. He gave both men large checks and uttered about six checks for smaller amounts before he was taken into custody. No money was paid on any of the checks. Huyber said he thought one year in Folsom would give him a chance to conquer the drink habit.

Alonzo Hill, who pleaded guilty to stealing $32 from the person of H. McCrea in a saloon at First and San Pedro streets on August 5, was sentenced to three years in San Quentin, his petition for parole being denied. The police said that he had been hanging about the saloon for some weeks, that he was sober when he committed the robbery, and that he hid part of the money before he was arrested. Hill said he was drunk and did not know what he was doing.

José Cardenas, convicted of the robbery of $10 from Louie Gait, a peddler, in the outskirts of Los Angeles on July 2, was sentenced to Folsom for two years. He was assisted by a confederate, who escaped.

Henry Kohler, convicted of stealing a bicycle from the W. P. Lowman Company on August 25, was given one year in San Quentin. He had been convicted of petty larceny in the Police Court last January.

Frank McDonald for the theft of a watch from Elmer Bergeson on August 17, will spend six months in the County Jail.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

GRAND JURY MEETS. A session of the grand jury was held yesterday morning in the Courthouse, and at noon an adjournment was taken to Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Secretary M. S. Gregory stated that the good-roads bond issue and reports of committees on other subjects had been discussed, but that the work done had been of a routine nature.

CHARGES FRAUD. M. S. Gunn yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against H. F. Hearing to recover $450, alleged to have been paid by him to the defendant since last May, and $160 alleged due for labor. The plaintiff asserts that on June 1 he bought for $600 a half interest in the "Independent Country Advertisers" business on Hearing's alleged false representation that the business was clearing $250 monthly and that there were no outstanding liabilities. He states that business was being done at a loss, and that, in addition to the payment of $450, he lost eight weeks' time, valued at $160.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk yesterday by the A. J. Warner Company, capital stock $15,000; the Roosevelt Social Club of Roosevelt, and the Anti-Friction Axle Company, capital stock $25,000.

JUDGE GOES NORTH. Judge Wilbur left last evening for Oakland to take part in the three days' conference of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, which opens Sunday evening. Various matters in relation to penal legislation and the improvement of penal institutions will be discussed.

AUTO THEFT. Percy B. Short, 21 years old, who pleaded guilty to the theft of Gus S. Berry's automobile on July 17, was examined by Judge Jamison yesterday on his application for parole. Short said he took the machine from in front of the Belasco Theater because he wanted to use it for a time. He was arrested at El Monte after he had had it a fortnight. He stated that he was paroled some years ago on a burglary charge and later was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon. The court continued the hearing until Monday morning.

CONDEMNS STATE TEXT-BOOKS.

Prominent Canadian Educator Finds, However, Much Worth in the California School System.

The public schools of California are critically handled in a special report to the Minister of Education of the province of Ontario, Canada, just issued. The report is prepared by J. H. Smith, for more than a quarter of a century inspector of public schools of Wenworth county, Ontario, and recognized as one of the leaders in educational circles of the Dominion, who, with his daughter, Miss Louise M. Smith, a talented artist, visited for some weeks in Los Angeles last year. From this city Mr. Smith went to San Francisco and Sacramento, making a careful study at the latter city of the public school system from official records.

Mr. Smith says he is very much impressed with the high ideals of popular education in the State, and with the determination to carry these ideals into effect. "The distinctive features of their system," he says, "that merit special mention, are the care taken to obtain an accurate record of all the children of school age resident in each district, irrespective of color or nationality; the levying of a uniform rate of taxation over counties for the purpose of salary and equipment, and the very generous appropriations made by the Legislature for education."

After a careful and exhaustive synopsis of the State school laws and the duties of various school officials, State, district and city, Mr. Smith takes up the question of State text-books, which he condemns in the following paragraph:

"Speaking from my own personal observation of these books, as seen in the schools in different parts of the State, I may say that I was not favorably impressed with either the subject matter of the contents, or the gradation and arrangements of the material. The mechanical work was not up to the standard of what a good text-book should be, for the paper, the binding and the printing were not of a high order of excellence. These books seemed to me to be defective in the selection of the subject matter and of its adaptation to the educational requirements of the pupils for whom it was prepared. Many things that from my point of view seemed unimportant, found a place in these books, and things of primary importance were touched upon very lightly. The difference between essentials and non-essentials was not clearly defined. The writers or compilers of these books failed to recognize the essential elements of the subject from the point of view of the learner, and too frequently the subject matter was burdened with technicalities that caused the pupils to cram without obtaining even a moderate grasp of the essential elements of the subject."

All is not condemned, however, in the report, for Mr. Smith formulates "the following propositions as worthy of consideration in any movement for the improvement of our own system: The appointment of a census marshal in each rural school section, and in each urban district; the appointment of a truant officer for each municipality represented in the county council; the formation of a county board of education, and the levying of a uniform rate over the entire county, for the creation of a fund to be known as the salary and equipment fund."

SKILLED CRAFTSMEN ARE HERE—AT YOUR SERVIC

PEOPLE who have never had occasion workshops of the "California" can scarcely ciate the extent of this department, which ganized and is maintained for the sole giving our patrons a service of real value obtained elsewhere.

A large force of skilled artisans is constantly designing, building and making all sorts of home furnishings large clientele.

The shops occupy the entire sixth floor, where perfect abundance of sunlight and plenty of fresh air insure the sanitary conditions.

A special department is devoted to the designing of furniture pieces and the originating and outlining of home furnishing schemes.

The cabinet shops, where the woodwork is done, have an almost unlimited scope. Here, special pieces of furniture are made to order in any style or shape to suit any particular place in the home. Any wood you wish may be used, from the quarter-sawed oak or the bird's eye maple to the rich mahogany.

In the finishing shop, the real beauty of the woods is developed.

The upholstery shop executes any class of upholstering that may be required, whether it be in leather or in some suitable textile fabric to harmonize with the draperies. Every piece of upholstered furniture in our vast stock is covered to order in this department, so you may have some idea of its capacity.

We invite you to come and visit the workshops some day when you have a few leisure moments. You will see much that is interesting and instructive. We believe the service of our workshops is unequaled anywhere west of Chicago. And it is economical—our prices for high class work are based on our usual close margin system.

Some handsome pieces, the products of our own shops, are shown in one of our windows this week.

BIG PROFITS IN ALFALFA at our CORCORAN FA

Alfalfa Land $20 an Acre
1/3 Cash—Nothing More to Pay For 2 Y
Except Interest—Balance the 2 Years Following

Alfalfa growing pays handsomely at our Corcoran Farms. No better Alfalfa land in California. The land will grow six cuttings of Alfalfa yearly, averaging to one and one-half tons of Alfalfa to the cutting. This means $40 to $7 on Alfalfa alone. It's a sure crop.

Water is essential to success in Alfalfa. Plenty of water is available at our Corcoran Farms. You can reach surface water at a depth of from 8 to 12 feet. Plenty of artesian water can be reached also at moderate depths. If a man works the dairying business and hog raising along with his Alfalfa, he can make a still bigger profit from his acreage. Two creameries are located near this property, giving a ready, profitable market for dairy products.

Our Corcoran Farms are only three and one-half miles from the town of Corcoran. 40 per cent. cheaper than any land in the entire Corcoran district. easily. Pay us one-third cash cept the interest on the balance years. Then, during the following the balance due. These favorable you can get your acreage fore you pay for the larger carefully.

Millinery Opening

A Magnificent Presentation of What Is New and Correct in the Millinery World
Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday---Music 2 to 5---Everyone Invited---Souvenirs

Our $5.00 Hats

We wish to make special mention of this part of the Opening. Women in quest of a bewitchingly becoming hat at a moderate price, will not overlook these creations, nor underestimate their value. Not one of the favored new shapes has been forgotten, not one of the clever new ideas in trimming and color combinations has been overlooked. A $5.00 display par excellence.

$10 Dress Hats $7.50

Specially priced for the Opening, as an added incentive for your attendance. Every hat has an individual style and beauty all its own, exclusive models. All the favored colors are represented—new grays, navy, greens, leather, black and white. There are hats of stately beauty, hats with a coquettish tilt, hats that curve with winsome grace, and fittingly frame the fair face of the wearer.

Tomorrow we invite every one to a matchless style exposition. Rarely have you been favored with an invitation to an exhibition revealing so fascinating a variety of completely new and effective shapes—so entrancing a display of cleverly mingled new shades and colors. Dame Fashion has seldom given such full rein to the artist's imagination, and many oddly beautiful shapes and effects are the result. Chief among the season's styles and those most favored, perhaps, are the Directoire, Gainsboro and Mushroom models. Never have the trimmings been more bewitching. Whether of majestic ostrich plumes, novelties, ribbon or feathers, the classy lines adhered to give this season's millinery a decidedly distinctive air.

These hats tomorrow, bewitching in their freshness of design, and luxurious blending of rich colors and materials, will make an unerring appeal to the feminine fancy. The assemblage is one which will bring forth many frank expressions of wonder and delight from women versed in the mysteries and intricacies of the milliner's art. Too many colors and styles to attempt a full description here. COME and see them! Listen to the music, and get acquainted with the styles.

MUSIC BY LEVY'S LADY ORCHESTRA, 2 TO 5 P. M.

For this notable occasion we have engaged the Ladies' Orchestra from Levy's Cafe, who, under the able direction of Miss Quigley, will discourse sweet music. Again COME!

$1.00 Souvenirs Free

Another reason why you should attend tomorrow. Every customer making a purchase of $2.50 or more in the Millinery Department will be given one of these handsome hat, veil or auto pins. A regular $1.00 value, beautifully designed, gold-filled pins, set with artistically carved coral, cameo heads. A high-class souvenir which every woman will appreciate. Don't miss getting one.

Would Make Heavier the Burden of the Small Taxpayers.

apital stock; and all other national anks are assessed by me.

State commercial banks, subject to our tax laws, are badly handicapped by the competition of the untaxed national banks. Many of them have become national banks partly for the reason that they would not then be subject to taxation.

This is answered above.

State commercial banks, to live at all, in face of this competition, are forced to evade taxation whenever possible and are hampered in their investments by unwise provisions of our tax laws.

This gives a market to California securities which otherwise they would not have.

Savings banks, which harbor the savings of the workers, and which are, in many States, granted special rebates in taxation on that account, are the only class of banks which pay their full quota of taxes.

If there is any class of banks that can beat the savings banks in evading taxation, I have not made their acquaintance. The bulk of the resources of savings banks is invested in mortgages, which do not pay taxes.

Equalization, so called, does not equalize and in the nature of things, cannot equalize. After the officers have exhausted their best efforts in this direction there are inequalities—glaring ones between real estate and personal property; between different classes of personal property; between county and county; between city and city; between city and county; between man and man. All of which are rarely removed and often intensified by so-called equalization.

While this may be true, this proposed amendment will have a tendency to make conditions worse.

The present system takes the revenues derivable by taxation from large general organizations, like the railroads, which revenue belongs by right to the people of the State at large, and distributes it most inequitably among the local divisions of the State which have no claim to it whatsoever.

I do not agree with the commission in this question. When you take into consideration the electric railways, the lighting companies, the telephone companies, and banks and commercial houses, I think you will see that they are strictly local concerns, and that the tax derived from them should belong to this locality and not to the State.

Under the present system it is impossible to adjust the burden of taxation equitably between different classes of corporations.

The capital stock assessment on corporations provided for by law, gives them the same just treatment that any other property receives.

Our present system is a "school for perjury," puts a penalty on honesty, and pays high premiums for dishonesty. Our present system is so embodied in our constitution that it cannot be bettered without a constitutional amendment.

I contend that the laws governing the assessment of corporations are so simple that the Assessors of this State can make an equitable assessment on them without trouble, and no matter how much they may perjure themselves, it will not change their assessment. For instance, a railroad running its cars on the streets of this city has a stock issue worth $10,000,000 in round figures, and a bond issue worth $5,000,000, which amounts to $15,000,000 of liabilities. Under our system of assessment, the assessed value of their property would be 50 per cent. of this $15,000,000, or $7,500,000. It doesn't make any difference how much this corporation would perjure itself, their taxes are fixed. We take all the different items of tangible property, such as road bed, cars, machinery, and other property, and total them up, then deduct from the $7,500,000, and assess the difference as an intangible property. Under the proposed amendment, their assessment would be based entirely on what the company would return to the State Board of Equalization as their gross earnings, which is a very deceptive quantity when a company wants to lower its taxation.

This amendment appears to me to be a very one-sided affair. You will notice that they propose to fix the rate of taxation in the constitution so that it cannot be changed. But the people who are not stockholders in corporations, do not have their rate fixed in this manner. You can easily see what an injustice it would be to the people of this State with a stationary rate for corporations, when if any extra expense should be incurred, as for instance, should the people determine to move the Capitol from Sacramento, or some extraordinary expense which might be incurred by the militia, or any other incident which would demand a large sum of money, the amount of taxes which these corporations pay could not be increased under any circumstances, and this extra amount which would be necessary must be raised by levying on the property of the people of this State.

And lastly, I do not believe that it is possible, under the provisions of this amendment, for the State to raise enough money for the ordinary expenses of the State government.

If this proposed amendment to the constitution were adopted, it would eliminate from the tax rolls of Los Angeles city many millions of dollars of taxable property, which would make it impossible for the city to derive enough revenue from the balance that was assessable at the $1 rate to run this city government. There is no doubt that the voters of this city will refuse to ever take the limit of $1 out of the charter? Did it ever occur to you what would have happened to the taxpayers of this city if there were no $1 limit on the rate this year? At the beginning of this fiscal year, the budgets of the different departments of the city government demanded a million dollars more than the possible revenues of the city government, and if this limit had not been in the charter as a check on the expenses of the city, there is no doubt that your rate would have gone to at least $1.50 this year.

MUSHET OPPOSED.

City Auditor Mushet is strongly opposed to the adoption of this tax amendment. He believes that it will increase very materially the amount of taxes to be paid by citizens who are not heavy stockholders in some corporation, and that there will be no corresponding benefit.

Mr. Mushet prepared the following statement on Constitutional Amendment No. 1 for The Times:

"If the Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 1 should by any mischance carry, the effect would be disastrous to the taxpayers of this city, for it would mean of necessity a very considerable increase in the amount of taxes that they would have to pay.

"The proposal is to exclude all corporations, including railroads, street railroads, car companies, express companies, telegraph companies, telephone companies, gas, light, heat and power companies, insurance companies, banks, banking associations, savings and loan societies and trust companies from all local taxation, including the payment of licenses, and make them subject only to the State taxation.

"This would without question decrease enormously the amount of money which the city collects under the dollar limit as compared to that collected hitherto from these sources and would add a correspondingly heavier burden to the rest of the taxpayers.

"Under the city charter the tax levy for expense purposes is limited, very wisely, to $1 on each $100 of assessed valuation; and to this must be added sufficient to provide for annual payments of interest and principal on the bonded indebtedness; this bonded indebtedness is increasing every year, and will be largely increased in the near future as the $23,000,000 Owens River bonds are sold.

"Whilst it is true that a proportion of the State tax on corporations will be placed to the credit of the city, in the light of past experience one cannot for a moment believe that that portion refunded to the city will at all approximate the amount now received by the city under the present system of taxation, and this shortage will have to be borne by the other property owners of the city. The assessed valuation this year is about $265,000,000, of which the corporations are assessed over $73,000,000.

"If the people understand where their interest lies they will certainly vote against this proposed constitutional amendment."

SENATOR M'CARTNEY'S VIEWS.

At the Union League last night State Senator H. G. S. McCartney presented an argument setting forth the theoretical side of the proposal to exempt corporations from local taxation or license.

Senator McCartney presented State Constitutional Amendment No. 1 at Sacramento, after it had been prepared by the State Commission. The statistics which he uses in his address are the theoretical ones, which were prepared by the expert of the commission.

It is interesting to mark the striking contrast between the theories as presented by Senator McCartney and the actual facts as set forth in the statements by the city and county assessors, and by the figures taken from the records as presented in this issue of The Times.

The portion of Senator McCartney's address, dealing with the Commission of Revenue and Taxation is as follows:

THE ADDRESS.

For the purpose of revising the tax system of this State, and to correct the evils existing in the same, the session of the Legislature of 1905, at the instance of Gov. Pardee, who deserves the greatest praise for inaugurating this proposed plan of taxation, created a Commission on Revenue and Taxation, consisting of four members of the Legislature and the Governor of the State.

The act creating the commission provided that the commission should select an expert on taxation, and that the commission should investigate the tax system of California and report to the Legislature the best method of revising the same; and in accordance with the duties imposed upon the commission, previous to the convening of the last Legislature, they submitted to the people of the State of California and the Legislature, its preliminary and final reports.

The commission had spent some two years in investigating, not only the system of taxation of California, but the system of every State in the Union that had made any advancement along that line, and it had also held several public meetings to ascertain the views of any citizen who might feel disposed to appear before the committee, and with those reports, recommended a constitutional amendment, which was finally passed by the Legislature and Senate, known as Constitutional Amendment No. 1, and is now submitted to the people of the State for their adoption or rejection at the next general election in 1908.

The commission was careful not to inject into its report, or the constitutional amendment recommended, any new or untried scheme of taxation, but it systematically gathered data from all the States in the Union, and especially those which had adopted the system of the separation of State from local taxation as a source of revenue.

This proposed system is not an untried theory.

Every State in the Union, except six or eight, already have this, or a similar system, or have originated tax commissions with that end in view, or are investigating the best methods to reach public utility corporations for the purpose of taxation.

The leading States of the Union which have already accomplished this are the States of Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Maine, Vermont, Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconson.

It has been the aim and endeavor of the commission to profit the State of California by the experience of other and older States on the question of the best system of taxation and revenue.

The first steps to be attained to remedy and revise the old antiquated system of taxation of this State is a separation of local and State taxation.

This implies that the State of California for State purposes shall collect its revenue from sources other than a direct levy on real and personal property of individuals, leaving the counties and cities of the State the right to tax such property for local purposes.

This will take the burden of direct taxation off real estate for State purposes, and save the owners of real estate $4,000,000 per annum, based upon the returns of the years 1905 and 1906.

As for instance: Every county in the State of California, with the exception of three or four, pay into the State treasury each year, upon levy made for State purposes, more money for tax purposes than counties collect in taxes and pay into the county treasury from the public-utility corporations taxed in the county.

The excess of what counties have annually paid into the State treasuries, above what they receive into their own treasuries from public utility corporations tax in the county, is approximately $4,000,000, based upon the returns for the years 1905 and 1906.

The average State rate for the last ten years has been 50 cents.

This year, however, owing to a desire on the part of the State Board of Equalization, or the State administration to have a low tax rate, the Board of Equalization have assessed railroads and other public utility corporations higher than they ever have heretofore, and have gone over the State and urged the county assessors to raise the assessed valuation of property in their counties, therefore, this year's showing of the amount of State taxes paid by the counties will not be so great in proportion to the amount of taxes collected by the counties from the public utility corporations, as it was in the years 1905 and 1906.

Based upon the returns of 1905 and 1906, the individual taxpayers in Los Angeles county, if this system had been in operation at that time, would have saved over $600,000 that year.

If complete separation of State from local taxation, according to the plan proposed by this commission, had been in operation in 1905 it would have saved the taxpayers in the counties—meaning thereby those taxpayers who would remain on the county rolls as local taxpayers—$4,285,118.01.

It would have saved the owners of real estate $3,620,924.71.

It would have reduced the average tax rate by 29.75 cents.

Partial separation would have worked proportional results.

The proposed amendment provides that the State government is to be supported from a tax in proportion to gross receipts laid by the State upon public utility corporations, such as steam and electric railways, heat and power plants, banks, insurance companies, express companies, telegraph and telephone companies, etc., doing business in this State.

That is, the State will collect from these concerns in the neighborhood of three or four million dollars more per annum than they have heretofore paid in taxes by a system of taxation based upon a certain per cent., fixed in the constitutional amendment, of their gross income from operation, and so firmly fixed in the constitution and statutes that there will be no escape.

This will result in releasing individual general property taxpayers of the State from the payment of some three or four million dollars per annum.

It is plain to be seen that this system will at once establish home rule in matters of local taxation.

It abolishes immediately any necessity for the equalization between counties, and cures the evils which State equalization fails to reach, thereby eliminating discrimination between counties. The principle applied to the subjects selected for State taxation shall, so far as it is reached by the State, whether through its earning or directly, be at the same time exempt from local taxation.

This separation, while not a complete remedy in and of itself, except for the evils arising from the burden of so-called equalization under the old system, opens a way for a proper classification of the subjects of State taxation, and makes it possible to tax each class with a greater approximation to equality than is possible without.

It is the opinion of some that equal taxation can be attained only by applying the same form of taxation to all subjects, irrespective of differences in their character.

This might have been the case half a century back, but it is not so in modern times, for any person who is at all acquainted with the different uses to which property is put, as compared to its use fifty years ago, readily understands that the general property tax is inadequate to reach all forms of tax paying ability which modern civilization presents.

The adoption of this amendment means the abolishment of the necessity for equalization between localities.

It abolishes the temptation of necessity for undervaluation, and the inequalities arising therefrom.

It establishes at once home rule in local taxation; it means that if a county or city so choose it can economize in the assessment and collection of taxes.

As, for example, all but two of the incorporated cities in Los Angeles county have city assessors and city tax collectors, because under their charters they are limited to a certain tax rate and to collect sufficient taxes in the city they must have an assessor to assess the property high enough to furnish sufficient funds under the low charter rate.

Now, if the County Assessor could assess high enough for the rate of the county to provide funds for the city without forcing his county to pay more than its share of State taxes levied upon his county assessment, there would be no need of city tax collectors and assessors, for the County Assessor and Tax Collector could do the work.

Then it is to the disadvantage of every county in California to have a low property assessment, and a corresponding high tax rate.

This the county assessors are obliged to have, to protect their counties from paying more than their share of State taxes.

Why have a tax rate aggregating $3, when you can cut it to 75 cents and raise the same revenue?

It is correctly estimated that Los Angeles county actually has $1,500,000,000 worth of property (an amount almost equal to the entire assessed value of all property in the State of California.)

Our present system of taxation has a particularly dangerous feature to the interests of the public in general, and this has been practically demonstrated. It has now, and has had in the past, the effect of inducing every public-service corporation into politics in the hope of securing reduced rates in their taxes. With that object in view, they have an interest in the election of every Assessor, Supervisor and City Councilman in the State of California. On the other hand, one of the principal merits of the new system is that it tends to take public-service corporations out of politics.

They certainly will not be able, under the new system if the constitutional amendment is adopted by the people, to reduce their taxes by a reduced assessment, except by the consent of the people expressed in the form of a constitutional amendment to that effect.

The rates placed upon the corporations cannot be changed. When once fixed in the Constitution at the solicitation of any person, they are for once and all beyond the control or command of any political boss.

They can be changed by a constitutional amendment only, and that in the open light of day, hence by adopting this amendment, these corporations are put out of politics.

The amendment provides for the taxation of public-service corporations in a simple, effective and uniform manner, by a mathematical rule, with as little latitude as possible for the exercise of discretionary power on the part of the taxing officials. The rate fixed in the amendment is as follows:

(1.) Railroads, including street railroads, 4 per cent. on gross earnings.

(2.) Sleeping car and other car companies, 3 per cent. on gross earnings.

(3.) Express companies, 2 per cent. on gross earnings.

(4.) Telegraph and telephone companies, 3½ per cent. on gross earnings.

(5.) Light, heat and power companies, 4 per cent. on gross earnings.

(6.) Insurance companies, 1½ per cent. on gross premiums.

(7.) Banks, 1 per cent. on capital and surplus, less assessed value of real estate, taxed locally.

The present $20 annual license tax on corporations to be made a graduated tax with rates ranging from $10 for corporations whose capital does not exceed $10,000 to $250 for those whose capital exceeds $5,000,000. The rate of this tax does not exceed $25 until the capital exceeds $100,000. (This part of the amendment is already in operation by statute of 1907.) The taxation of all franchises by and for the State alone.

What we strive for in matters of taxation is even-handed justice to all, and that is the essence of the new plan. The commission has devoted its best energies to the work committed to it to perform. It has had no corporation connections whatever, notwithstanding whatever may be said to the contrary. It has worked hard to formulate a system of taxation which would adjust and equalize tax burdens for all. At all the meetings of the commission and at all the meetings of the Committee on Revenue and Taxation of the Legislature, which were public and open to all, all of the corporations concerned voluntarily appeared before both the commission and the committee and opposed the amendment on the ground that the rates fixed therein were too high and excessive. We gave them a fair hearing and decided against them, and in so doing we found that corporations generally were undertaxed under the present system, and would, under the new plan as set out in the constitutional amendment, be forced to pay some $4,000,000 more per annum. To particularize, let us run over the general groups. The mere suggestion of the new plan and the discussion of the equities involved, led the State Board of Equalization to raise the assessment of steam railways from $65,000,000 in 1905 to $114,000,000 in 1907, an increase of 65 per cent. This in no small measure foretells the benefits of the new system. And there is still further increase of about 20 per cent. coming, when the new tax system is in full working order. The Assessors, strengthened by the investigations made by the commission, and at the solicitation of the State Board of Equalization, have recently raised the taxes of street railways. But their aggregate taxes are not over 2½ per cent. of their gross earnings even after the recent raises, and the commission recommended that they pay 4 per cent. of their gross earnings as a fair rate. The revelations made in the report of the commission as to the assessment of the Pullman Company led the State Board of Equalization to increase the assessment of that company from $600,000 to $1,600,000, an increase of 166 per cent., and when the new plan carries that company will alone pay about double what it now pays under the recent raise.

The telephone and telegraph companies are asked to pay $250,000 per annum instead of $140,000, and light, heat and power companies to pay $600,000 as against $425,000. Under the new system the national banks will pay $375,000 as against less than $74,000, an increase of fivefold. Yet this is only what these corporations ought to pay to put them on a footing of equality with the farmer.

Public-utility corporations cannot escape the payment of taxes provided in the proposed amendment, first because the amendment provides that they must first pay their gross earning tax before they can contest the same in court, and secondly every one of such corporations will be required to make a sworn statement of their gross earnings from time to time, and if such statement is false punishable perjury has been committed and the guilty party is subject to imprisonment.

Their returns can be investigated by data already public and which will continue to be public, and if necessary the State Board of Equalization can have their books experted as it will have access to them.

It is to be understood that only operative property of the public-service corporations named in the amendment is to be withdrawn from local taxation.

Also that the real estate of banks and insurance companies is still to be subject to local taxation.

The following items are not operative property, and while it still belongs to such corporations, it is still subject to local taxation:

(a) All lands and buildings not necessarily used by a railroad or street railroad company in the operation of its business as a common carrier.

All mines, oil wells, water sources, pipe lines and water ditches should be considered as property not used in operation, even though the products of such lands, mines, wells and water sources are so used.

(b) All property of such corporations not in the actual operation in the service of the public.

And real estate and the improvements thereon held and used for purposes other than the right of way, works, shops or offices of the company, or its agents.

When such real estate and the improvements thereon are used partially by the company for its offices, or for other purposes actually connected with the operation of the road, and are partially rented to or used by others, it should be considered operative property in that proportion which a reasonable estimate of the rental value of that part used by the company bears to the full rental value of the real estate.

Under the system of separate sources of revenue for the State, as distinct from the sources of revenue for local purposes, there is a plain line of demarcation. This proposed plan a considerable number of States have adopted, and others are preparing to discard their old and obsolete system of taxation for the one under discussion as more equitable and more in conformity with modern conditions.

All these public service corporations should naturally be taxed for State purposes only upon all but non-operative property. This is natural because they, the public-service corporations, are general and public, and not private, nor local in character or use. Even the street railroads since the use of electricity are all an integral part of the general transportation system of our State, and the light, heat and power companies which have miles and miles of wires have become general distributors to the public, and one single system may supply the inhabitants of several counties and cities.

These corporations owe their taxes to no particular locality, but rather to the State in general, and logically so.

The attempt to tax all classes of property in the same way, and at the same rate, is productive of much evil and injustice; property subject to taxation should be classified so that taxation may be made to bear equally on all persons similarly situated.

The taxing of one class of citizens in the same business higher and disproportionately to a class of citizens in some other line of business is not only a discrimination between citizens, but is downright robbery of one for the benefit of another, and upon that ground, if no other, our present system of taxation should be considered.

The commission does not attempt to pose before the public as corporation "cinchers." We contend that our work shows for itself an honest endeavor to establish a tax system upon a more just and equitable basis as between all taxpayers; and that the more it is investigated by fair-minded men, the more they will be convinced of its merits.

You and I want a tax system effective and just to all. This is the principle we are striving for, and not a personal ambition nor a local and personal interest. We may from time to time have an assessor that will, in so far as he can under our present system of taxation, force something like just taxation, but he is a man, not a principle of taxation. He will not be with us always—the principle will.

It is self-evident to any unbiased mind that if the amendment is adopted, and thereby these public utility corporations pay millions in taxes more than they have been made to pay under the old system, as has been practically demonstrated in the past, that what the counties are relieved from paying comes out of the public-service corporation.

In conclusion, the merits of the proposed constitutional amendment should be judged solely in the light of the wellbeing of all, and should not be considered from the narrow standpoint of local or personal interest. The attitude of the opposition involves the assumption that the present system of taxation is right, equitable and just to all, although we well know that it possesses none of these qualities, for we know that some are taxed too low and others too high, and that such a system of taxation as the present cannot be successfully defended.

The law affords all citizens equal protection, and the expense of administering it should be borne equally by all. Every citizen has a right to know whether or not his neighbor is bearing his just proportion of this burden.

Ex-President Harrison once said that "each citizen has a personal interest, a pecuniary interest, in the tax return of his neighbor. We are members of a great partnership, and it is the right of each to know what every other member is contributing to the partnership, and that he is contributing his full share. It is not a private affair, but a public concern of the first importance."

Taxation can never be just unless it is equal. It can never be equal in this State under our present system of taxation, because all classes of property are not and cannot be assessed equally. Consequently, certain classes of property are overtaxed, other classes of property are partially taxed, or undervalued, or cannot be successively reached by our present tax system, which is subject to local self-interest, bias and ambition. And in no two localities in this State is property equally assessed.

By the Hour.

Wertz recently was presented with an old-fashioned clock. That evening he hung it on his bedroom wall, wound it up, and after admiring it awhile, went to sleep. He was drifting into very pleasant dreams when he was startled.

"Coo-coo, coo-coo."

Wertz sat up with a start, but in an instant recovered his wits and listened to eight more coo-coos with a foolish grin. Then he lay back and went to sleep again.

He had gotten into a fine doze by the time the thing went off again. This time he didn't grin, not even foolishly, but felt more inclined to throw something.

Wertz is a light sleeper, despite his German extraction, and though he tried to get used to the thing he gave up after the cuckoo had announced 2 o'clock, and got up and stopped the clock.

Next evening Wertz, Jr., who had not seen the clock, went to look at it.

"Why, it's stopped," he said. "Whats wrong?"

Wertz, Sr., stroked his chin.

"Maybe I didn't wind it this morning," he replied. "That's so, I didn't. Ferd," he continued, generously, "if you will promise to wind that clock every morning I'll let you have it for your room."

Wertz, Jr., was delighted, and the transfer was made.

At the breakfast table next morning the heir of the house of Wertz looked tired and somewhat sheepish, but offered no explanation. After considerable general conversation, his father said:

"You look tired. How did you sleep last night?"

Wertz, Jr., yawned.

"By the hour," he answered.—[Kansas City Times.

HOT AIR BAG.

hot exhaust from the engines shoots around through the circular radiators within the bag and out again, heating the air therein to a high temperature. A second and supplementary system of radiator pipes heats the air by means of ordinary small combustion boxes, so that the heat may be administered without the necessity of revolving the engines and propellers, or in the event that these are incapacitated.

No ballast is used in Sirch's plan, the ship being sent upward or downward by the heating of the air or by injecting cool air into the chambers.

The Sirch transport also will carry the first set of "reefable" aëroplanes. A famous air navigator has said that the first inventor of "reefable" aëroplanes would solve the problem of navigation by a heavier-than-air type.

NOVEL CONCEPTION.

The all-metal framework on the inside of the bag is one of Sirch's most novel and important conceptions. There is nothing about it that can burn or that will break excepting under the most unlikely strain. It is put together like the framework of a suspension bridge. It is so built that it might rest upon its side or end without the slightest injury to it as a whole. The magnalium, out of which it is built, seems specially designed for the construction of aërial craft. A bar of it as large as a broom handle is like a feather in the hand. Yet the tensile strength of the material is several per cent. greater than the highest grade of steel. It is made in Germany and is now used in this country for various purposes.

The cost of the entire structure, framework, bag, machinery and all, Sirch has computed to be less than $4000.

The principal piece of metal in the framework is the long four-inch bar running horizontally through the center of the airship from end to end. This is hollow, giving it the greatest possible strength. Attached to this and extending to the sides of the airship are several ribs of the same material, fixed at intervals, and which connect with the wires at the outer end, over which the canvas is stretched. On each end of this horizontal bar are located the gasoline engines which furnish the motive power.

FOR LOWERING CRAFT.

The horizontal bar, being hollow, is used as a pipe for conducting of cold air into the different chambers of the bag when it is desired to lower the temperature and also the ship. Simple valves in the pipes allow for the ingress of the air into the bag from a central centrifugal blower located near the pilot house.

Large radiators are located in each compartment, through which the hot exhaust gases from the engines are forced, thus generating the heat for purposes of buoyancy. The bars and wire used in the construction have been tested by experts and have a tensile strength of from 60,000 to 75,000 pounds per square inch. This metal is peculiarly adapted to this purpose, as it will stand a tremendous strain.

The composition of the bag itself is also Sirch's own patent and discovery. It is composed of a heavy texture of canvas specially treated by an application of a thin solution of gelatin, containing a small percentage of ammonium bichromate or potassium bichromate mixed and applied to the inside of the bag. When exposed to light this hardens. The cloth is thus rendered fire and water-proof and airtight. Its numerous advantages over the old fragile silk bags hitherto employed in airships is obvious. A section of this material has been tested by Sirch in extreme heat without its sustaining any injury. It also has been soaked in water for a period of six months and has proved impervious. A coating of asbestos applied to the gelatin before drying accounts for its non-inflammable quality.

MAXIMUM POWER.

The employment of the latest pattern of light gasoline engines at either end of the airship provides for the maximum of motive power. Sirch estimates that his transport will easily be able to make thirty-five or forty miles an hour. The fact that the driving power is located of the airship instead is of itself deemed vantage. The transport a companionway which to end and connects underneath with the end, making them the operator. A place is arranged at each end.

animal will not attack its mate without the greatest provocation. A dog will turn tail and fly before the attack of a small mother dog who resents the intrusion of a visitor to the nursery. A man who beats his wife has not even the instincts of the sort of latent chivalry present in the hearts of these wild beasts.

"Put them in the stocks or the pillory where people will look at them and the street boys swear at them, or take them out and strap them to a whipping post and you will be serving them in the way they deserve. It is a harsh punishment, but it is a harsh subject to treat, and can only be solved in a way that will strike fear into the hearts of others who are in the habit of abusing their wives."

"I'm in favor of the whipping post in a public place," said Attorney Guy Eddie of the City Prosecutor's office. "I have always contended that the only way to reach a wife beater is through his dirty hide. Give him some of the medicine he inflicted upon that poor defenseless woman at home. Make his back ache and sting with the lash and he will remember that he must keep his fists off of women in the future. A jail sentence makes him resentful. He is too cowardly to try anything with the officers who put him on the chain gang, but he goes back to his home and makes his wife and family suffer for it.

"The same punishment should be meeted out to the cowardly sneaks who without reason desert their wives on the eve of a new arrival in the family. We have many reports of that kind. The woman is always ready to forgive the beast who beats her. We have complaints from women about their husbands and these women later get down on their knees and beg that their husbands be kept out of jail.

"Convict a man of wife beating and send him to jail for a long time and you take away the support of his family. He eats three square meals a day and sleeps well and his wife and children have to get out and work like dogs for food and shelter.

"Lash his back and send him to his home and he may be ready to treat his wife in the proper way, if only through fear.

"Wife beating has become a habit in Los Angeles and men in almost every walk of life indulge in it.

Would Want the Umbrella.

Ignorance often saves much disquietude. Many have heard the story of the woman whose first experience in a railway train ended with an accident. Thrown from her seat and shaken up generally, she nevertheless retained her equanimity. When asked if she were frightened she replied. "Frightened! No. I didn't know but that was the way they always stopped." It is to be hoped that the trolley passenger in Mr. Howels's anecdote introdced into "Confessions of a Summer Colonist," was possessed of the same trust in the event. The conductor, at least, preserved his presence of mind. Says Mr. Howells:

I had long expected to see some one thrown out of the open trolley car at some of the short curves. One day a woman was actually hurled from her seat into a road. Luckily she alighted on her feet,, and stood looking about as if in a daze.

The conductor promptly threw it out.

"Why did that lady wish to get out?" I asked.

The conductor pondered a moment before he answered:

"Well, she'll want her umbrella, anyway."

Gay World Condemns Fat

The Empire and the Directoire gown having coming to stay, fatness is de trop—that is to say "not in it." Fat ladies are threatened with being wiped off the map.

There is one loop-hole of escape, however, for the overfat lady. Let her get one of the large cases of Marmola Prescription Tablets, and take one after each meal and at bedtime, and pretty soon she will notice she will be wearing the new mode with satisfaction to herself and the consternation of her dear enemies.

These cases of Marmola Prescription Tablets, which, by the way, being made strictly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, are perfectly harmless, contain such a generous quantity of tablets that they last a long time and are found to be most economical, costing, as they do, only 75 cents. They are also a very pleasant method to adopt, for they render dieting and exercising entirely unnecessary. All druggists keep them, or they may be obtained from the Marmola Company,

USE AND RECOMMEND

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

"I am sending you my photograph to show what Newbro's Herpicide has done for me.

Since I first tried Herpicide upon my hair I have used it exclusively in giving scalp treatments to others, and I would not think of trying to get along without it."

(Signed) MRS. ANNA CONNER.

2807 Archer Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Hundreds of lady scalp specialists and hair dressers use and recommend Newbro's Herpicide, instead of products of their own manufacture upon which a much larger profit could be made. They claim that Herpicide makes friends for them and gives much better satisfaction. Some hair dressers use Herpicide for obstinate cases only, but why not use the best first?

Herpicide is a delightful dressing that can be used when there is no disease of the hair or scalp, and as an actual remedy for dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair it stands in a class singularly its own.

Many ladies object to a gummy and sticky hair dressing or one that is full of sedimentary chemicals intended to dye the hair. The marked preference for a clean and dainty preparation, particularly one that overcomes excessive oiliness and leaves the hair light and fluffy, is reflected in the enormous sale of Newbro's Herpicide. Discriminating ladies become enthusiastic over its refreshing quality and exquisite fragrance. Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Two sizes, 50c and $1.00, at Drug Stores. Send 10c in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Dept. N., Detroit, Michigan, for a Sample. Some druggists boast of their ability to sell substitutes to mild mannered customers. Get Herpicide. FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES. Applications at prominent barber shops. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906.

IN THE EARTH.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY AND CHEMISTRY.

To Correspondents:

This department is not conducted for pay. Its object is to convey reliable information of interest and value to the public, and it is not for the private benefit of any miner, collector, speculator or prospector. Correspondents are particularly cautioned to take careful note of the statements and injunctions contained in the paragraphs below.

(1.) Specimens must be small and bear a tag giving name and address of sender, and the general—not exact—locality from whence the specimen was taken, also the name of it as nearly as the sender knows. Send, also, with the specimen a clearly-written letter briefly describing the find and what the finder wishes done with it. The letter must be properly dated and plainly signed.

Letter and specimen must be in one package, not in separate enclosures.

(2.) No attention will be paid to anonymous letters or to letters signed merely with initials.

(3.) No examination of samples or specimens will be made in cases where The Times may decide that the specimen and inquiry are not of public interest. This office does not undertake to perform the work of an assay office.

(4.) Inquiries relative to matters of purely personal interests will not be answered.

(5.) When no response to an inquiry made or specimens sent appears in these columns, the inquirer will understand that his inquiry does not come within the purview of this department.

(6.) It is impossible to return specimens, as they must necessarily be destroyed or impaired in the process of analysis.

Address invariably, The Times.

Potassium.

PASADENA, Sept. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please give me some information on potassium and by whom discovered. Does it ever occur native? Can it be obtained otherwise (as carbonate) than from wood-ashes? I will hope for a reply in your "In the Earth" column.

Yours respectfully, MISS B. A.

ANSWER: Potassium is not obtained in a pure state from nature. As chloride it occurs with many chlorides in combination with silica and alumina—it is a constituent of metamorphic and igneous rock. By decomposition its salts go into the soil and from the soil into plants. From plants salts of potassium pass into the organism of animals. Potassium was first isolated by Davy in 1807—"by decomposing the hydroxide by electricity, the potassium appearing at the negative pole."

A great amount of potassium carbonate is obtained from wood-ashes by lixiviation. It is also obtained from beet-root molasses, and from the native chloride.

The washings from sheep's wool are known as "suint" and contain a large per cent. of potassium combined with animal acids. "By evaporating the liquid to dryness and burning the residue, the organic salts are decomposed and the carbonate of potassium left. This is separated by lixiviation from the ash."

Slate Spar.

CORONA, Sept. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please tell me what this streak of ore is. It occurs in a lime formation near this town.

Yours truly, A. C. T.

ANSWER: The sample is "a massive variety of carbonate of lime, occurring in very thin parallel laminae, of a milkish-green or reddish-white color. It is friable, soft, and tender, and has a pearly luster. Translucent. Yields easily to the knife, and often feels greasy. T. G., 2.5."

Lime Alumina Garnet.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The enclosed piece of rock is a contact formation which I discovered in the 29 Palms mining district, San Bernardino county, while prospecting.

Old prospectors and mining men declare it to be a strange find in the county and can not name it. They also doubt that I found it as stated.

Will you please define the rock with valuations, and oblige, yours truly,

J. B.

ANSWER: Many samples such as you forward have been submitted to this department of The Times from the locality stated, and as far south as Yuma, Ariz.

All of them have been varieties of massive garnet, some almandite.

Your specimen is very impure with zinc traces.

Values nominal commercially.

Soda and Titaniferous Iron.

INDIO, Aug. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you kindly classify in your "In the Earth" the samples enclosed herein. No. 1 of which there is a vast deposit comes from the Piñon Mountains near the Lost Horse mine. Nos. 2 and 3 from a vein about three miles to the north. No. 4 from the Hexahedron Mountains. Will you also kindly state whether or no they are of any commercial value.

Thanking you in advance, I am,

Yours truly, W. R.

ANSWER: No. 1 is a poor grade soda with low per cent. nitrate. No. 2 is quartzite and porphyritic, with traces only of copper, lead and zinc values. No. 3 carries titaniferous iron and manganese silicate, silver present. No. 4 is mixed, with porphyritic rock and quartzite specimens, the lead from which No. 4 was taken should be assayed for gold. Values of all of the samples are low commercially.

Botryoidal Limonite.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please name the specimen enclosed for me. It is from near St. George, Utah.

Yours truly, D. J. J.

Low-Grade Vanadate.

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Aug. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please find herewith in wooden box sample of rock taken from hills near Tombstone.

Is this a vanadium ore, and if not, does it contain any metal or acid of commercial value?

Thanking you beforehand for a reply in your "In the Earth" I remain, Yours truly, A. B.

ANSWER: The samples are low grade lead vanadate with traces of copper phosphate.

It would require a personal examination of the locality and its ores with many analyses thereon to arrive at commercial values.

Bog Manganese.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I now hand you a sample of ore which I believe to be graphite; as it marks anything it touches. It is from a location in this county. Please give me its classification and name—if it is not graphite.

Yours truly, H. L. L.

ANSWER: The sample is wad, and named, mineralogically, at sub-heading.

By the term "wad" (graphite plumbago" is erroneously referred to by the natives of Cumberland, England.

Wad not only occurs in "sooty" forms (as shown by your samples) but it is found in reniform, botryoidal, and arborescent shapes also; and again as a coating on other minerals. It often carries nickel values (no such values are in your specimen.)

The color and streak of wad is black or blackish-brown. Hardness rarely over 1, very often, under that degree of hardness. Of dull luster; sectile; soils the fingers; and 2.6 in specific gravity. manganese .73; oxygen .15; water .10; baryta .2, approximate percentages as stated.

Wad is a good ore of manganese. It is seldom found in large masses; it often forms the dendritic markings on rocks and mineral chalk, limestone, talc, porphyry, etc. Such markings are known as "forest rock" by the mining boys in the hills.

"The name is in allusion to the light forms, like wadding, which this mineral assumes."

Minerals of Interest.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I herewith inclose some specimens from F. D. Mear's ranch three and a half miles east of Riverside, in the Box Springs mountains.

As yet only a prospect hole has been dug of about six feet in depth.

Some fine specimens of aquamarine have been taken out. There are immense deposits of quartz, orthoclase and greenish mica. Several fine crystals of tourmaline have been taken out, and several mineralogists have declared there are the best indications for emeralds.

State Mineralogist Aubrey says that the mica has the finest color of any he has ever seen.

I wish you would write this up in your "In the Earth" department.

Unfortunately these are the only specimens I have with me.

Yours truly, F. D. M.

ANSWER. The editor of this department of The Times is responsible only for replies to correspondents on samples submitted.

It is not clearly stated by you that the specimens you offer are from the six-foot hole.

Among the samples are noted: One of spodumene, of exact form and formula as that of the Etta mine, South Dakota.

One other sample carries beryllium (ortho-silicate.) One large specimen is chiefly albite (soda feldspar,) with non-commercially valuable mica on one surface and pegmatite (graphic granite) mixed with part of the matrix.

Quartz with inferior tourmaline and mica appears on one other specimen.

One sample carries non-gem value acicular tourmaline.

A piece of other tourmaline is among the lot, as also, massive and crystallized beryl.

It is not within the purview of this department to "write up" any find or deposit of mineral. It's all right to "write of," thereby keeping clear of any matter "on the boom order."

If fossiliferous limestone were in the locality it would be an indication for emerald.

Emerald and beryl are varieties of the same mineral.

Emerald when first obtained from the Muso Mine, New Granada, Mex., is soft and fragile. "The largest and finest emeralds could be reduced to powder by squeezing and rubbing them with the hand. After exposure to the air for a little time they become hard and fit for the jeweler's use."

No aquamarine is among samples noted.

Your prospect—judging from the specimens before us—is encouraging, especially so for beryl, ores of tin, tourmaline and columbite.

Carbonate of Lime.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please find in this tin box a white sample. I think it must be scheelite. Will you state in your "In the Earth" if my guess is correct, and if not please name the ore.

The sample is from a small lead seven miles from Corona.

Yours truly, C. C. P.

Uranicum and Vanadium.

PROVOST (Utah) Sept. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am greatly interested in vanadates and ores of uranium, and am now gathering facts relating to the ores in Colorado and Utah.

By mail of even date I am forwarding you a sample of coal from near St. George, Utah. I get vanadium present in this coal.

Please verify my analysis, or if some other metal, kindly advise me.

One more request: please give me some information regarding the ores referred to and tests for vanadium and uranium, both blowpipe and chemical tests.

Let me thank you now for a reply to my letter in The Times:

Your fraternally. A. P. D.

ANSWER: Vanadium is widely distributed in nature and is obtainable from slags, certain coal and combined sparingly with many ores of metal, including magnetite. Colorado and Utah have widely scattered vanadates—"a mountains of it" (as once expressed by a certain scientist) near Telluride.

Many ores of vanadium carry uranium values also—notably carnotite, a double vanadate of uranium and potassium, which occurs in La Sal Creek Cañon, at Rock Creek (near Paradox) both in Montrose county. Carnotite occurs also near Price, and at many other points near the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad in Utah, with a lead of it near Vernal.

Very many samples of low-grade vanadates are sent to this department of The Times for determination; many samples coming from Nevada, along the line of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, and other samples from points in Arizona.

Vanadium is rarely ever present in rocks high in silica contents, among the igneous and metamorphic rocks the metal is often present in analysis. "The source of the vanadium in rocks appears to be the heavy ferric-aluminous silicates, biotites, amphiboles, pyroxenes. Sometimes the vanadium occurs in considerable amount in these minerals."

Your coal sample carries vanadic acid 1.56 per cent. This appears in the ash from the coal submitted by you.

The tests asked for by you will appear in these columns in a few days.

Look Aloft.

In the tempest of life when the waves and the gale
Are around and above, if thy footing should fail—
If thine eye should grow dim, and thy caution depart—
Look aloft and be firm, and be fearless of heart.

If the friend who, embraced in prosperity's glow,
With a smile for each joy and a tear for each woe,
Should betray thee when sorrows, like clouds, are arrayed, Look aloft to the friendship which never shall fade.

Should the visions which hope spreads
in light to thine eye,
Like the tints of the rainbow, but brighten to fly,
Then turn, and, through tears of repentant regret, Look aloft to the sun that is never to set.

Should those who are dearest, the son of thy heart,
The wife of thy bosom, in sorrow depart,
Look aloft from the darkness and dust of the tomb,
To that soil where affection is ever in bloom.

And oh! when death comes, in terror to cast
His fears on the future, his pall on the past,
In that moment of darkness, with hope in thy heart,
And a smile in thine eyes, look aloft and depart.

NEVADA'S BONANZA CAMP.

GOLDFIELD: MODERN MINING WONDER.

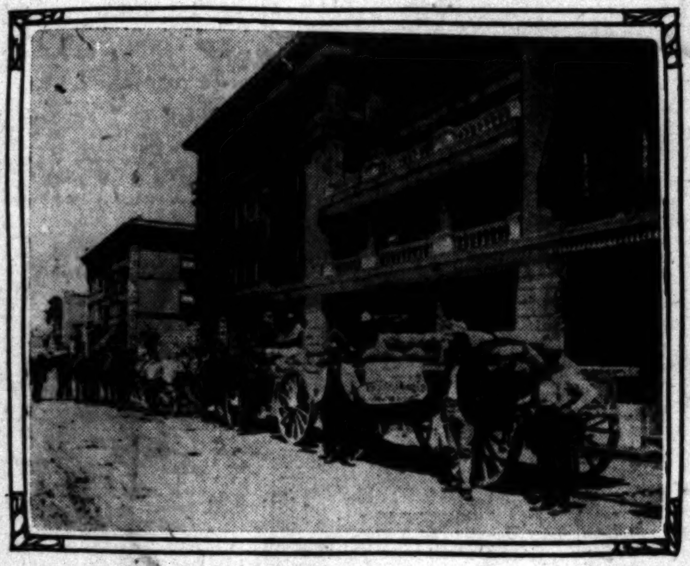
Milling Era Will Inaugurate Second Boom Based Upon Bullion Results. What the Consolidated Mines Show. Reserves Are Immense.

BY SIDNEY NORMAN,

Mining Editor of The Times.

I HAVE been, I have seen, and—I have been conquered. I am now willing to admit that it is so, willing to join my voice with those that proclaim Goldfield the greatest gold camp on earth—with just three qualifying words—"for its age."

So far as results accomplished in five brief years are concerned, it is certainly the greatest the world has ever seen, and that opinion goes as it looks, without qualification of any sort. Further than that, I believe that when adequate milling facilities are provided, it will rival the Rand in dividend production. It has already surpassed it in the sensational discovery of high-grade ore.



Goldfield's $400,000 hotel.

A little knowledge is usually a dangerous thing, but in this case I do not believe that a two days' visit to the camp is too short a time in which to secure adequate information upon which to base such an opinion. I am sure that the longer one stays, the more familiar one becomes with the immense ore-bodies already developed, the more enthusiasm one must accumulate.

The only danger is that the dazzling glint of the high-grade may blind one to the greater lower-grade possibilities that point to Goldfield's ultimate destiny as an unexcelled milling center. The ore will be high-grade when compared with any other camp of the past, but lower than the fabulous precedent that has been established by the famous Hayes-Monnette, Reilly, Zinn and other leases that have set all the world by the ears and raised the cupidity of half the adventurers of the world.

In one strenuous day of seventeen hours I skimmed over the surface of the producing area in a four-cylinder automobile; took a run out to the Diamondfield section; passed forests of groaning gallows frames; took a thirty-five mile trip to Gold Crater and back; indulged a day's-pay appetite with tid-bits from a Beau Brummel menu at a $400,000 hotel that would be a credit to any city on earth; visited a hundred and one of the widest-open gambling rooms this side of Monte Carlo; listened to the wild-eyed "boosts" of hundreds of friends of my earlier mining experience and wound up an eventful day with a thorough inspection of the workings of the great Mohawk and the almost-as-great Combination.

In order to enjoy such a trip to the full it is essential that one share it with another who has seen the camp grow from the seed sown by a few hardy prospectors five years ago to its present full-ripe condition of production. I was fortunate to be piloted by A. D. Myers, who now uses a forty-horse-power auto in place of a can-fed burro, and who trudged into the old camp of Grandpa on the esthetic diet prescribed by a five-dollar "touch" of Cal Brougher, former variety-theater king of the Bella Union of Spokane, and now a stock-manipulating magnate of San Francisco. And so I saw the camp at its best and had the additional pleasure of the company of one of the most whole-souled and genuine pioneers that the golden desert has produced. All the world knows that he was one of the original owners of the great Mohawk; that he sold his 100,000 shares for a cool $400,000; that he located the Combination, the Combination Fraction and a score of other leading properties in the camp that emerged from the chrysalis stage of Grandpa to the golden butterfly perfection of Goldfield.

COSMOPOLITAN AIRS.

Apart from a few remarks about what I saw in the depths of these great properties, I will not attempt to describe Goldfield from the physical standpoint of its mines. I know that I visited the camp in one of the quietest periods of its existence and yet the feature that struck me most forcibly was its undeniable atmosphere of cosmopolitan metropolitanism. There is no place on earth where gambling is conducted with the open-faced abandon that exists in Goldfield; few places where a community of little over ten thousand inhabitants supports a stock exchange bristling with excitement and spurred on by the plaudits of hundreds of women gamblers; fewer places still where one may rest himself in a $400,000 hotel of brick and stone, manned by uniformed bell boys of precocious knowledge of the world, fitted with telephones in every room, enlivened with the sweet music of a stringed orchestra, and where, in the lower regions, ice is manufactured in a country as far removed from polar suggestions as church is from the little gambling room in the hallowed spot just off the main lobby. Really to me this hotel is the most wonderful part of all Goldfield, and it fully exemplifies the sybaritic tastes of those who have made wealth from its golden gashes and who, though they remain in the atmosphere that they love, are anxious to forget as far as possible, the burro days of their earlier experiences. This metropolitan hotel is a of those who have made Goldfield what it is today, such men as A. D. Myers, who owns a fourth; Jim Davis, of Loftus-Davis lease fame; Jim Douglas, the lawyer who beat the unions to a standstill, and a few others of the same ilk. When I returned mud-bespattered and begrimed from the bowels of the Mohawk I felt that I might be thrown out, but the strange part of it all is that the miner is as welcome as the magnate upon its tile-laid floors; each receives the same sweet smile from the modern, white-tied clerk, who smiles benignly as he charges a limit near the roof.

I suppose there is no camp on this earth of ours that is not represented in this modern Aladdin-like civic cave of fabulous riches—all struggling against the scorching sun of a summer desert, fighting the pneumonia-laden winds of the winter, buoyed up by hope from January to December and just within reach of a tail-hold upon autos and affluence. My seventeen years' experience have taken me to many of the mining camp lodestones between Alaska and Southern Mexico, and I think I met a representative from every spot where I have paused in my quest for the gold I am now seeking in a newspaper office.

There was John Mackenzie, now Pooh-Bah of the Goldfield Consolidated, formerly manager of the Le Roi mine of Rossland, who paid off a deficit of $500,000 and placed a credit of $315,000 to the company's bank account in the northern boom days of ten years ago; E. J. Wilson, who managed the Le Roi smelter in the same days, who helped to build the Humboldt smelter in Arizona a few years ago, and who is now the plethoric owner of a valuable lease; Harry Hughes, who located the Best and other foremost properties in the Slocan excitement; Bill Hennessey, of the immortal Noble Five, who tracked Eli Carpenter from the rugged shores of Kootenay Lake to the wooded heights of Payne Mountain, and last, but by no means least, dear old "Uncle George" Clark, who taught me how to hold the business end of a shovel when disaster drove me to day's pay mining and who has been pulling a burro around by the face for several years in the desert. He is three score years and ten now, but his heart is as stout, his hope just as strong, as in those days when the Washington mine gave promise of being one of the silver-lead wonders of the world. And there were scores of others, all chock full of enthusiasm for Goldfield, and some with a quiet, friendly tip that would have helped them had I heeded it and set me to the job of counting ties back to Los Angeles.

SYMPATHY FOR HIGH-GRADERS.

Before I went to Goldfield I entertained the utmost abhorrence for the high-grader, but, after a visit to the golden treasures of the Mohawk, I extend my most distinguished sympathy, and am sure that, with the same chance, I should stuff my pockets to the bursting place and fight to the last ditch against the ignominy of poverty suggested by the "un-American" change rooms. I saw the lockers on the surface, arranged as they are in any well-regulated gymnasium, where the miner leaves his street clothes and dons his digging clothes when he goes down, and resumes his boiled shirt and creased pants when he comes up, and I also saw the double change room at the 450-foot level, where such fabulously-rich ore is being mined that he who would participate in the pay-roll dividend must change his clothes yet once again. The storm aroused by this sop to honesty has subsided, and the miner now takes it as a matter of course, but, just the same, the town is quieter than of old, and the saloon-keeper and gambling man weeps into his cups when he thinks of the golden glory that has gone. I have heard of the high-grader who was so heavily loaded that he was unable to get up when he stooped to reach the bucket that had fallen from his hand, and I cannot help admiring him for his modesty. He might have filled a wheelbarrow and walked off under the protection of his union. But now the high-grader is but a "piker;" what unearned increment he accumulates is carried away surreptitiously in a belt worn next to his hide. And thus has the day of the high-grader passed, and some say the dignity of labor has been lowered because it has been disassociated from the privilege of common theft.

STAGGERING VALUES.

What I saw in the depths of the great Mohawk almost took my breath away, and I am still dazzled by the high-grade that shows on every hand. I did not, of course, take samples of the immense ore bodies exposed, but there is no reason to doubt the figures given to me by Mr. Canovan, who piloted myself and Myers through the workings. We went down the Combination shaft, passing the immense surface stope near the mouth, from which $1,000,000 was taken in the earlier days, and climbed from the Combination lower level to the 450-foot level of the Mohawk. Where we went, or what direction we were going, was a difficult matter to determine, but I am sure we traveled four or five miles without coming to the end in any direction. I am informed that the total workings now owned by the Consolidated company aggregate between thirty and forty miles, but, of course, that includes the development of the Red Top, Laguna, and other mines that are not yet connected with the Mohawk. In places I saw mysterious bulkheads, reminiscent of the days of apex warfare before the consolidation was effected or indicative of the presence of high-grade bodies that are kept under lock and key. I was shown the abandoned stope through which a particularly enterprising company of high-graders wormed their way to their Aladdin's cave, and understand that when they were discovered they had carried off a fair-sized fortune, and occupied a roomy stope fitted up with beer, whisky, and all the other luxuries of life.

and crusher plant, Goldfield Consolidated.

AT THE DEEPEST POINT.

At the 600-foot level of the Mohawk I was shown thirty-two feet of solid quartz that, upon Canovan's statement, runs no less than $60 to the ton. The main ore-shoot of the mine is 700 feet long, and has been traced down from within thirty feet of the surface to the lowest level. It is figured that a seven-foot stope 120 feet long, from the 600 to the 450-foot level, would produce $8,000,000, if the values remain the same, and there is no reason to believe that they will not. On the 450-foot level the vein is 360 feet from wall ot wall, with a grand general average of $4 per ton, outside of forty feet of ore that will run $30. It is probable that the milling ore body throughout the mine will average from thirty to seventy feet wide, with values in the neighborhood of $30. No 307 stope, on the 450-foot level, is 110 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 40 feet high. Every pound of the material shipped from this excavation milled $175 to the ton. A winze from the 450-foot level, 170 feet deep, 12 feet long and 6 feet high produced $75,000 from actual shipments. One pillar left in the celebrated Hayes-Monnette ground is estimated to contain seventy-three tons of a value of $30,000. The general average of all ore shipped from this record lease was $125.

THE NEW MILL.

If any confirmation of the values of the ore bodies exposed on the Consolidated estate be necessary it is found in the new mill which is being erected on Columbia Mountain, and which it is believed will be ready to start up some time in January. Practically the entire steel work is in place, and the immense Pachucha mills are now being set. The capacity will be 600 tons a day, and it is said that the company now has enough ore in sight to keep it running night and day at full capacity for ten years, and that the average of the material will be $30. For the first year a $40 average will be maintained, and it is expected that the total cost of mining, milling and transportation will not exceed $7 a ton. Upon this basis the mill should make a monthly profit of $20,000 a day, $600,000 a month, or over $7,000,000 a year. In figuring upon averages, it must be remembered that the company has been accumulating high-grade ore for several months past, and that it can always be used to "sweeten" the product to almost any desired value. Dividends of $500,000 a month are already being rumored, and I can see no reason why they should not become a fact early next year, if the information given to me is correct. When one stops to consider what ten years' supply for such a mill means, the figures are staggering in their immensity. Granting that the estimates are within the mark, no less than 2,000,000 tons of $30 ore is ready to be mined, and no account is taken of the additional reserves that must come from the great development now under way. Eventually the greater portion of this product will be hoisted through the new Claremont shaft, 1200 feet east of the Mohawk shaft, and which will cut the big vein at between 900 and 1000 feet. The new shaft will be equipped with four-ton skips, and is now being put down with the utmost dispatch.

THE FUTURE OF GOLDFIELD.

These few facts and figures will be sufficient to show upon what the great future of Goldfield is based. No mention has been made of the great Florence estate, the Combination Fraction, and a dozen other producing mines. It seems to me that Goldfield cannot escape another boom, founded upon actual bullion results, and I believe that its second term of world-wide popularity will come within the next six months. The labor troubles that caused so much friction in the past have been adjusted upon a permanent basis, and nothing but a complete failure of the milling operations can stop the inevitable revival. That contingency is too remote for consideration, and it is therefore safe to say that the Goldfield of the past and present is but a sample of what the greater Goldfield of the future will be.

MORMON STATE IN ARIZONA.

WILL DEVELOP RAY CONSOLIDATED ON LARGE SCALE.

Controlled by Utah Copper Interests in Conjunction With Los Angeles Men—Mines Show Great Low-grade Tonnage — London-Arizona May Be Affiliated.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 25.—The advent of "the Salt Lake crowd" into copper mining in Arizona looks certain to prove an epochal event. Arizona now leads the world in the production of copper—leads Montana and Michigan by a very long lead, the former by 29,000,000 pounds, the latter by 36,000,000 a year. That was for 1907. my judgment is that her lead will be as good as that this year—and probably a little better.

Arizona's copper output is produced at a lower cost than any other region in the world is able to produce an equal quantity—observe, I say an equal quantity. Arizona does not produce her copper at as low a cost as Utah, but Utah does not, and probably never can, produce as much copper as Arizona—hasn't the deposits.

The most admirable copper mining done in the United States today is that done by the Utah Copper at Bingham Cañon near Salt Lake. Their treatment plant at Garfield Beach, on the shore of Salt Lake, is now handling 6000 tons a day mined by steam shovels from their Bingham Cañon property and the company is earning 70 per cent. a year on its capitalization with copper at 13 cents.

That tells the story of the cost of producing—for the ore is a very low-grade sulphide, averaging slightly less than 2 per cent. copper, 15 cents gold and 16 cents silver per ton. It sustains my oft-repeated statement that the Salt Lakers are the cleverest copper miners in the world, when it comes to low-grade ores.

The Utah Copper Company has planned to increase the capacity of its treatment plant, unit by unit, till it reaches 12,000 tons a day. They have a vast ore body or they couldn't produce that much ore. The enterprise is dominated by a great mind or they never would produce it, no matter how much ore they might have in the ground.

Charles M. McNeill, formerly of Philadelphia, later of Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek, but now of Salt Lake, is the genius of the Utah Copper Company which is distinctly recognized as the finest, though not the largest, copper enterprise in the world of today.

LOS ANGELES IN IT.

They acquired the property in the spring of 1907 and a number of Los Angeles business and professional men were taken in as ground-floor investors—all followers of Seely W. Mudd and Phillip Wiseman, Los Angeles mining engineers of high reputation. Mudd & Wiseman, I believe, brought the proposition to the attention of McNeill and his Salt Lake crowd. They knew him from his Cripple Creek days where all were bucking their luck in the same camp. McNeill's genius always ran to the handling of low-grade propositions. It did in Cripple Creek, where he was among the first to work out the different problems of successfully concentrating the low-grade tellurium ores of that camp.

Most operators cannot figure on the handling of very low-grade sulphide copper ores. The loss of metal in the process of concentration—always 25 to 40 per cent.—appalls them, and the necessity for enlisting vehy large capital for the extensive and expensive plant required to do the business on a large enough scale to show an attractive profit, appalls them some more. The milling of gold and silver ores has spoiled them for the milling of low-grade copper ores—filled their minds with the ineradicable bigotries of the gold-silver milling craft—always try to make too high a saving.

You can make just as high a saving milling copper as milling gold—but it will not pay. A pound of gold is worth 2340 times as much as a pound of copper; consequently you can afford to spend a good deal more money to recover it.

McNeill's great Arizona proposition is in many points strikingly like his great Utah proposition, but it appears to be a good deal bigger in volume—three or four times as big—and a little richer in the average tenor of the output. It is distinctly a very low-grade sulphide ore, but it averages six pounds more of copper to the ton, and probably from 10 to 15 cents more in gold and silver per ton than the Utah property. I would estimate that it is worth close to a dollar a ton more than his Utah ore.

NEEDS BIG CAPITAL.

It chances that I had examined and reported on this great Ray property for a client myself before the McNeill crowd took it over and so I am able to speak closely as to its merits. I advised my client to take it at the price asked, but I advised him also that it would be a hopeless enterprise without a working capital (including cost of operating plant) of three millions. He was a wealthy man, having good mining experience, and plenty of courage and he wanted it, but it got past him somehow and fell to McNeill and his followers.

GREAT ACREAGE.

I am confident that it is destined to rank ultimately as one of the greatest producers in Arizona—and Arizona leads the world. It has now—proved up by shafts, drifts, tunnels and drill holes, over four times the acreage of the Utah Copper Company—825 acres as against 200 acres. And it has a great acreage undeveloped, but believed to be valuable.

McNeill took over the property, I think, on the advise of Mudd & Wiseman, and these naturally drew in their own Los Angeles following, just as McNeill drew in his Salt Lake and Colorado Springs following, as "ground floor people." Mudd is now supervising engineer, and Wiseman engineer in charge, with his residence at the property. Sherwood Aldrich of Colorado Springs is president of the company—probably representing McNeill, but himself a man of wide mining experience and of proven ability. They have been prospecting the ground with about forty miners and two churn drills for a year and a half, and are now almost ready to break out on a systematic scheme of vast development.

The ore presents a milling problem closely identical with that of the Utah property—a disseminated sulphide in a matrix that makes a troublesome amount of "talc"—really a sericite, a hydrated, white magnesian mica—under the stamps. This will inevitably entail a large loss of the copper. It does everywhere. But they claim to be now saving 75 per cent. of the metallic values in the great new concentrators at Ely, Nev., on a similar ore, and they should do as well at Ray. That means a saving on a 2½ per cent. ore of about thirty-seven pounds of copper the ton. I think it close of this month, upon the arrival here of Vice-President A. D. Parker. The company is capitalized for $1,250,000, but only 1,050,000 shares have been issued. The money paid out in dividends has been derived exclusively from royalties paid by the leasing companies and the revenue from this source continues to flow into the company's treasury at a rapid rate. In addition to the dividends paid, the company has expended about $280,000 upon its new mill and water-supply system, and has over a half million dollars in its treasury. Mr. Lockhart has informed The Times correspondent that no special dividend will be paid for the present as the company is now maintaining regular payments on a basis of 25 per cent. annually.

Of the producing leases on the Florence which, in the past year or less, have taken out over $4,000,000 worth of ore, as shown by the mint receipts, the leaders have been the Little-Florence, Rogers-Syndicate, Engineers', Florence Consolidated, Baby Florence, Mohawk Florence, Florence Annex, Florence Gem, Florence Jumbo. Several of these have now lapsed and have reverted to the company, and their workings are to be connected at once with the main company shaft in order that all ore may be trammed underground to a central point and hoisted directly to the ore bins at the mill. This mill is of the most modern and approved type, the machinery and appliances being almost identical with those installed in the big plant of the Consolidated Company on Columbia Mountain.

ZINN-FLORENCE GAINS.

Through an error in the original survey recently discovered, the Zinn-Florence lease has been granted an additional strip 25 by 200 feet, which was a part of the Baby Florence. In this strip there is a good chance of the Zinn finding a portion of the rich vein lately opened in the adjoining Florence Consolidated as well as a portion of the Jumbo vein, from which the Engineers' lease has been shipping ore of bonanza grade. The Engineers' lease has been the banner producer for some time past, the three young men who operate it having struck one of the finest ore bodies ever exposed in the district at a time when their funds were practically exhausted and having cleared over a half million dollars within a period of less than three months from their venture.

A LUSTY INFANT.

The Baby Florence lease has been granted an extension of two months, which will bring its life into February next, and in that time Manager Meikle is confident that he will take out a fortune for the stockholders. Meikle took the management of the lease upon a percentage basis and is well satisfied with his bargain. The stock of this leasing company has been more actively traded in on the exchange than any other security of late, some days having witnessed the transfer of over 100,000 shares at a single session. Ore of extreme richness has been opened in the lease within the past week and the property is apparently assured of an output which will yield good returns from the samplers. At the 150 and 200 levels the vein has been exposed, carrying some picture ore and averaging from $75 to $95.

On the Florence Jumbo, known as the Von Polenz lease, the shaft is being sent down with three shifts and is past the 350 point. It is expected to shortly encounter the ore body which was opened above in crosscutting, when stoping will begin and the production of paying ore will yield profits for the leasers. A new, high-power hoist and ore bins have been installed and the crosscut from the 350 may encounter the pay ore with any shot. The Florence Jumbo was originally a sublease from the Baby Florence, but, under the renewal agreement between the latter and the Florence company, it will pay all royalties to the parent company and operate independently of the Baby. The ground adjoins the Florence company workings, the Baby, Florence Consolidated and Florence Wheeler and is conceded to be one of the best prospective blocks of ground on the Florence company's estate.

FLORENCE CONSOLIDATED.

The Florence Consolidated has recorded one of the largest and richest strikes of recent times. The lease has been making shipments for some time past, but late in the week the west crosscut at 175 feet depth broke into a vein from which the miners are breaking nine feet of shipping ore, which is sent out without sorting. The average of the whole nine feet, when last sampled across the face of the shoot, indicated a consistent value of about $80 per ton and of this ore the company, which is headed by G. S. Johnson, is shipping forty tons daily, an output that will be materially increased as soon as more miners and machine drills can be employed to advantage in the workings. The new electric hoist is now being installed and the vein is being sought by means of crosscuts and drifts at the 300-foot level. The lease has still nearly five months to run and sufficient shipping ore now in sight to assure its success in its rivalry with the neighboring lease enterprises on the Florence.

NEVADAN LEASE.

The Nevadan lease on the Florence, adjoining the Combination Fraction and the old Reilly lease, has been taken over by the California Florence Mining and Leasing Company and despite the fact that the ground had been widely explored by former leasers and that the shaft was down 500 feet with no ore having been found, the new operators were enabled to make a shipment of high-grade rock within a few days of their taking possession of the leasehold. The shaft will be continued to the 600-foot level, at which point it is the object to seek the Reilly lead from which a million in extremely rich ore was taken nearer the surface and to open the extension of the Combination Fraction vein. The new company was organized by Macmillan and Holleran with M. D. Martin, brother-in-law of Charles Gates, the Wall-street operator, associated with them.

Of the thirty-two leases operating on the properties of the Consolidated company it is probable that several will shortly suspend work and either abandon their enterprises or seek leases elsewhere. This is owing to the announcement made by the company that no further leases will be granted by the company and in no case will an extension of a present lease be granted. In their operations all the leasers have been compelled to establish common levels, which will be connected with the principal working shafts of the company on the Mohawk, Combination and Jumbo. The territory thus made available for ore extraction will, in view of the vast deposits of high-grade ore exposed, far exceed in value that of any gold mine in the world.

KENNEDY'S LATEST.

On the Lone Star the Goldfield Star Mining and Leasing Company, headed by Ernest Kennedy, who for some time past has made his headquarters at Los Angeles, is sinking a double compartment shaft near a point where, in the early days of Goldfield, something like $20,000 was taken from near the surface in an incline shaft. One of the early discoveries of rich ore in this district was made at this point and the ground has been in high favor with mining men, although but a limited amount of development has been performed. According to the dip of the vein, as demonstrated, the operators are convinced that they will encounter shipping ore at a depth of 200 feet and the shaft will be sunk to that depth before any lateral work is begun. The leasing company's stock has been listed on the Goldfield exchange and is finding favor with the public.

COMBINED LEASING.

The Combined Mining and Leasing Company, under the management of J. H. Blanchard, is pushing a crosscut toward the junction of the main leads of the Velvet and St. Ives and the objective point shoud be reached within another month or so, when developments of the utmost importance are anticipated, as rich ore has been found near the surface close by in both these veins and the formation is of a most encouraging character. On adjoining ground on the east the Goldfield Merger Mines Company, owning the Velvet, St. Ives, Potlatch and Gold Horn groups, has started to enlarge and sink the old Menardi shaft, which will be sent down 1000 feet and, just south of the Combined Mining and Leasing block, the Codd lease on the St. Ives is taking out shipping ore from a depth of sixty feet and will follow the vein to depth, cutting it from the lowest level of the 500-foot shaft. This section is steadily coming into prominence and other leasers are about to begin operations on the Merger company's estate.

MURPHY OUT.

Combination Fraction is now well established as one of the best properties in the Goldfield district. Thomas D. Murphy has returned and confirms the report that he has sold his interest in the mine, amounting to nearly 200,000 shares, to George Wingfield, vice-president of the Consolidated, which company, it is believed, will eventually absorb the Fraction. The Fraction is completely surrounded by properties of the Consolidated and, on its southern end is bounded by the Florence. It has the identical veining system of the Mohawk and Florence and has already exposed gigantic deposits of high-grade and good milling ore at depths all the way down to 600 feet.

The purchase of the stock from Murphy was not made for the Consolidated, but for the firm of Nixon & Wingfield, who own individually a large number of centrally-located mining properties which have no connection with the big merger which they control. Mr. Murphy is still in charge of the mine and will remain in that capacity until the next meeting of the directors when he will resign and the conduct of the property will pass to the new owners. Production from the Fraction has been somewhat curtailed of late owing to the performance of development work and the necessity for retimbering a portion of the deeper workings. The mine is splendidly equipped and will soon resume a heavy output of high-grade ore. Nothing can be gained from the owners at present regarding dividends, but those in interest have the utmost confidence in the management and the assurance that they will receive good profits in due time.

LITTLE FLORENCE.

Seventy men are now employed on the Little Florence company's lease, which embraces a large area on the southern part of the Combination Fraction. The lease is making a record for development under the supervision of Downie Muir, who is also superintendent of the company's work on the Fraction. The lease has three shafts and as many compressor plants with the finest type of equipment throughout and is sending the main three-compartment shaft down to 1000 feet depth, having already passed the 360 point. James E. Keelyn, who is treasurer and managing director of the leasing company, which took a big fortune from its lease on the south side of the Florence hill, declares that the lease on the Fraction has exposed an enormous tonnage of high-grade milling ore and will yield an output of bullion which will discount the production from the former lease. Since the agreement between the Consolidated and Fraction was signed, by the terms of which both companies bound themselves to abandon for all time all claims to extra-lateral rights without their boundaries, it has been determined, so it is said, that a portion of the rich Jumbo vein apexes on this lease block on the Fraction and that the latter will be enabled to work the lead to a considerable depth before it dips beyond the boundary line. To reach this lead a shaft is being sunk near the southeast extremity of the Fraction and is down 100 feet. In the main workings of the lease five distinct veins have been opened at the 500 level and the total width of the quartz exposed is about 150 feet. The lease, which comprises over one-half of the Fraction, runs until January 1, 1910, and while no production is yet being attempted the mine is being put in condition for a heavy output with the lowest possible cost in ore handling and treatment.

Love and Pity.

Are you too tender-hearted to be true?
True to your love, to me and your own soul?
Will you for pity give what is love's due

To squander in dishonest charity;
Then love is outcast, with the exile's curse
Who sees his varlets loot his seigneury.
Is love so hard it recks not where I lie,
While pity melts at aught that he endures?
I deserve nothing save that you ensky
No other with those vesper lips of yours—
I deserve nothing; but your love of me
Deserves of you the courage to be free.

Finest Furniture Stock in City to be Sacrificed and Store Closed

Los Angeles Furniture Co. Decides to Retire From Business---Entire Stock to be Sold Out, Commencing at Once

One of the Finest Gatherings of Choicest Furniture, Floor Coverings and Draperies in Western America---Marking Down of Goods Already Begun---Will be the Greatest Sale in This Line Ever Held in Any Western City---Prices to be Cut All Through the Stock From 15 to 50 Per Cent. Without Exception---Sacrifice Selling Begins Tomorrow

With the retiring of the Los Angeles Furniture Company will be inaugurated the most important furniture selling event, without exception, ever brought before the people of the West. In fact, seldom, anywhere in the United States, has a stock of such splendid and exclusive quality been thrown upon the market at prices so greatly and regardlessly cut. However, it seems the only way to accomplish a quick and complete disposal of such an immense collection.

NEWEST GOODS INCLUDED.

The selling off of the stock will begin at once. The marking down of the goods has been commenced, and will continue, day and night, without intermission, until every article has been given a "ticket of leave." This will require several days—perhaps a week or more—but in the meantime, purchasers may select any article, taking advantage of all goods that have been reduced at the time of selection. The smallest reduction even on the very newest goods purchased at the recent Eastern Furniture Expositions especially for the Fall and Holiday trade, will be not less than 15 per cent.; the price cutting will, however, be much greater on the larger portion of the stock, ranging up to as high as 50 per cent.

FINEST IN ALL LINES.

Lovers of the beautiful in home furnishings have always turned to the Los Angeles Furniture Company, when the finest, most exclusive articles of furniture and the choicest floor-coverings and draperies have been sought. The products carried in all lines throughout the entire establishment represent the "cream" of the best productions from the foremost manufacturers in America and abroad. Not only have the finest goods of domestic make been carried, but also the exclusive, high quality sorts from the leading foreign makers, this pertaining particularly to drapery, upholstery and decorative materials.

BEAUTIFUL PERIOD FURNITURE.

There are beautiful reproductions in the classic period furniture in most costly woods; there are the prized Colonial pieces; a wealth of magnificent parlor, living room, dining and bedroom furniture; the most desirable furniture for library, hall and den. In fact, there is not an imaginable want that cannot be met with unusual satisfaction, in this grand stock.

Brass and iron beds, the best lines from the leading factories; all are to go at decisive price cuts.

Also the entire office furniture stock.

VISIT THE STORE THIS WEEK.

Every one who seeks furniture during the coming week will, of course, wish to visit the Los Angeles Furniture Co.'s store first of all.

Remember the goods will be marked down just as fast as possible. If the articles you wish for have not yet been reached when you call, it will pay to wait a day or two and come again. The saving will certainly well reward you. Those who desire to open accounts and take advantage of this most extraordinary event, may make the usual arrangements for convenient settlement, and goods will also be stored free of charge and delivered later, if desired.

Remember the location, 631-633-635 South Spring Street, between Sixth and Seventh Streets. Watch for further announcements.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

DIVIDENDS ARE NOW AWAITED.

Associated's Future Seems Very Bright.

Company Expected to Be on Paying Basis Soon.

Will Enter Supply Business on Large Scale.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—That the Associated may be expected to pay dividends before long is indicated by two things. The first is the new stock issue of 102,630 shares, which exhausts the treasury holdings and the entire capitalization. At $25 it will bring in $2,556,750. The total indebtedness is $2,691,024.89, so that when the stock receipts are applied to its liquidation there will remain only $134,274.89, a sum easily paid through the ordinary revenues. A director and official stated that this debt will be wiped out very soon after the issue is taken and that dividends will then be paid.

The second reason is the completion of the rifled pipe line, that has been tested and found capable of delivering 18,000 to 20,000 barrels in twenty-four hours at Port Costa, this full amount having actually been pumped in that period several times. The figures are not based upon short tests but practical work for days. Barring, of course, accident, the line is expected to be able to do this right along, except for occasional short stops for slight repairs.

Suppose, however, the line delivers an average of only 12,000 a day, the freight from Bakersfield to San Francisco is 40 cents; pipeage costs about 5 cents, or less, making a saving of 35 cents a barrel, for a total per day of $4200, or $1,533,000 annually, which would pay a 3 per cent. dividend. It is impossible to estimate what proportion of this is for the general market and what is Espee fuel. The latter was delivered at the well and transported at railroad expense. The pipe line is owned by the Associated Pipe Line Company, a corporation controlled by the Associated Oil Company and the Southern Pacific jointly through the directors of the former, who hold the stock in trust. What understanding the railroad and oil company have as to transportation of the former's fuel no one has learned, but with the control placed as it is, is is safe to say that there will be a substantial return.

CARS RELEASED.

But saving on transportation from Bakersfield to the bay is far from the only return. There will be released for other service two hundred cars, or more. For the last year and a half there has been no car shortage. As a result these cars will be used to seek a new market inland. Within a few weeks Associated agents will be canvassing for fuel orders in Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Arizona and inland parts of Oregon and Washington. Another year is likely to see California liquid fuel brought into the closest competition with Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico coal. The prospects of oil being used again on the Espee from Reno east are very good.

Once oil is established in these parts, it will bring a good price. With more cars, freights to Nevada points will come down to aid the sale of oil in which the railroad people are so much interested. It must be remembered that the Southern Pacific has not a dollar's worth of coal interests; is neither a coal-carrying or coal-mining road and only a small coal consumer and is a lare oil user as well as an oil producer and oil carrier.

The Associated today produces one-seventh of the State's oil and controls through contracts over 50 per cent. The Union, whose acreage is greater, but the volume of whose business in fuel and crude production is less, is paying large dividends. Of course, the Union's refineries add greatly to its income while the Associated does not touch that line.

The statement accompanying the stock offer is calculated to enlighten the public on a number of points. It covers "expenditures made in the acquisition of additional properties since the organization of the company on January 1, 1902, and for improvements since that date to July 31, 1908, inclusive." The value of real estate acquisitions is $1,141,776.65.

In stocks and bonds the values are as follows: Amalgamated, capitalization $5,000,000, owned by Associated, $2,500,500, cost of stock $543,662.34; Buell Rancho Oil Co. capitalization $100,000, owned by Associated $50,000, cost $30,000; California Coast, capitalization, $200,000, owned by Associated $100,000, cost $216,938.98; Commercial Petroleum, capitalization $250,000, owned by Associated $97,450, cost $150,533.80; Coalinga Oil and Transportation Company, capitalization $750,000, and National Oil and Transportation Company, $2,000,000, both owned entirely by Associated, cost $3,104,716.65; Sterling Oil and Development Company, capitalization $250,000, owned by Associated, $175,169.50, cost $454,539; Sunset Monarch, capitalization $500,000, owned by Associated, $30,200, cost $18,780.31; Shreeves, capitalization $250,000, owned by Associated $141,919.50, cost $18,780.31; West Coast, capitalization, $500,000, half common and half preferred, owned by Associated, $625,100 of each, cost $168,975.33 (paid on account of subscription;) sundry stocks and bonds, cost $695,919.83; Associated Transportation Company, capitalization $2,500,000, all owned by Associated, cost $412,492.45; total cost $5,851,859.69.

Other expenditures: Rolling stock, sundry personal property, etc, $790,501.20; distributing plants and tanks, $426,142.37; vessels, additional to those acquired with National Oil Transportation Company, $1,066,112.25; field improvements (wells, pipe-lines, reservoirs, etc.) $1,890,895.21; total of all expenditures $11,167,287.37. Of this $8,476,262.48 has been paid, leaving $2,691,024.89.

It will be noticed that the Associated Pipe Line Company and the Associated Supply Company do not figure in the stock holdings.

Water for Midway.

The Southern Pacific price for supplying water to Midway producers is 3 cents a barrel, a rate that seems amazingly low at first, but it must be remembered that there is almost no cost to the railroad. It has to haul empty cars to the field every day and by filling them with water, the cost is paid. Moreover, unless there is water, there will be no development and hence no business for the carrier. The price was given out by a Midway producer in this city, who is interested. The water is hauled fifty miles from Bakersfield and full credit is due Elmer E. Jones for taking the matter up.

Delivery will be at Siding No. 2 on 13-32-23 whence pipe is to be laid to the hill on 25, where storage is provided, and connection made with field lines and water gravitated to bases. A pump is being put in on section 13 now.

THE NEW FALL SUIT

Are Not Unlike the Uniforms Worn By the French Soldiery

During the Period of the Mad Revolution in Paris

IN no former year has the prevailing modes shown more radical departures from the styles of the preceding season. of novel ideas have been introduced—some to find favor, others to be relegated to a forgotten past. Fashions of the period are being effected by swagger dressers—while in millinery, as well as in suits, many of the smartest styles or less of the "Militaire;" and it is said that Directoire bags and purses are soon to become part of the up-to-date girl's nalia. Robespierre collars are seen on some of the more pretentious suits, and mussel shells are used for buttons.

The New Suits

POSITIVE assurance is given not only of the absolute correctness of the styles shown here in Women's Outer Apparel, but of the completeness and variety of the display; while especially low prices prevail this week.

The Drama---Players, Playhouses, Gossip of the Stage.

TOPICS OF THE STAGE.

"The American theater-goer in London"—says a Los Angeles woman, now abroad, in a letter to The Times—"finds some surprising differences in his own and London playhouses, not only in architecture, but in general management, and, to some degree, in the characteristics of the audience. These differences, while interesting to note, as are all variations in custom, are on the whole rather trying to the visitor, who cannot but feel how infinitely superior are theatrical conditions in his own country.

"One of the striking variations in construction is the presence of the time-honored pit. Formerly occupying the whole of the main floor, it is now confined to the rear of the orchestra stalls, below the dress circle, that part of the house corresponding to the rear half or third of our parquet.

"The seats here are long, padded benches, with backs, unreserved, and sell for a half-crown, as they have ever. There is not the derogatory significance attached to the term 'pit,' which is sometimes given it in America; neither is it patronized by costermongers and Billingsgate fishwives. The upper gallery, also unreserved except at the newest houses, retains its original price of one shilling. Prices in other parts of the houses, however, have been raised until they are a third in advance of those asked in America. At the opera they are double. This is really dreadful, but it doesn't seem to draw any complaint except from people accustomed to more liberal treatment. Perhaps they do it because of the small size of the theaters—scarcely any of them being as large as the average run of playhouses at home. The first balcony, or dress circle, is lower and nearer the stage than in our theaters, and is only a few rows deep; the second, or 'ampitheater stalls,' likewise possesses but five or six rows, so that the gallery above them is not further from the stage than our second tier. Because of the smallness of the parquet the luxury of a middle aisle is denied, and in fact none exist except on either side. Very often the orchestra stalls—or in our western parlance, 'seats'—extend across the theater in a straight line, rather than a curved one. The seats are frequently luxurious armchairs joined together, and space is frequently economized by a hidden orchestra.

"All of the houses do not support both pit and upper gallery, but one or the other is sure to be found. Indeed, the English are so fond of the former that when the old Haymarket was remodeled a few years ago under the Bancroft management, and the pit done away with, indignation and resentment were so bitter that one of the balconies had to be given over in place of it.

"I find that London supports an almost endless number of playhouses, the most important being almost without exception, accoustically good and attractive in appearance. A remnant of their popularity as a center of social life—a feature so prominent in Restoration days—still remains. During the long between-acts waits, lemonade, tea, coffee, cake, ice cream, salted nuts, and even bread and butter are sold throughout the house. The service is quietly performed by maids, neatly attired in black and white. Covent Garden has a buffet in connection with the opera. Nothing is free, not even water. Programmes sell for sixpence, save in the pit, where they are half that price.

"It seems to me that English audiences have much more esnthusiasm than American ones. There is not our frantic rush and scramble to get out when the last curtain is half-way down. Final 'calls' are much more numerous and insistent. Cries of 'bravo,' 'encore' and 'speech' mingle with the clapping and pounding. On the last night of the present Covent Garden season, Melba was recalled twelve times after the end of the opera, and the gallery almost refused to leave its place.

"I notice, too, that London audiences dress more formally than our gatherings of similar nature. Full dress for both men and women is not obligatory save in certain seats at the opera, but it is the universal custom in the stalls, and is quite general in the balconies.

"Perhaps the worst evil of the London theaters is the 'rush seat,' or general admission custom, which makes it necessary to stand in line for hours in order to secure a good seat in either pit or gallery. The unutterable weariness and physical exhaustion which this occasions among the very patrons to whom the theater means most, renders full and appreciative enjoyment impossible.

"Running a close second to this antiquated nuisance is the monstrously-grown scalping system, which is taken as a legitimate business. All the leading hotels, and even many business houses have their ticket offices, where an advance price, ranging from sixpence to four shillings, is charged. Good seats may be secured at these places when 'sold out' is hung over the box-office windows.

"The music halls have no counterpart in the vaudeville theaters of our country. Smoking is permitted, and the performances vary greatly, programmes of great mediocrity being sometimes suddenly enlivened by a few minutes of truly marvellous specialty."

The Ingenues.

Ingenues as a rule may be indiscriminately classified into one not particularly interesting division, but the ingenues of the four local stock companies—Misses Bernard, Esmond, Schuyler and Noyes—have not only proven actual dramatic worth, but possess unique and absolutely individual talents which are not comparable in any way.

Within a few weeks, if present plans mature, writes The Times London staff correspondent, there will be a gigantic amalgamation of English music halls under the captaincy of Oswald Stoll and the Moss Empires. The importance of this combine can best be conveyed to the American reader by likening it to the agreements of late years between the warring factions in the vaudeville world of the United States. Inevitably it will have the same results. To the American vaudeville artist it is interesting and welcome because it will result in a concentration of the booking business and the consequent possibility of booking for long routes, even as long as two years solid in almost as few minutes. But should it also result—and it is almost sure to do so—in the death of competition among managers and the reduction of salaries to artists it will not be the unmixed blessing that the several managers interested would have us believe. Of late years the salaries of performers, and especially of "stars" able to dictate terms, have gone up amazingly in England, and it is presumed that the first business of the proposed combination will be the letting of wind out of these inflations.

Incidentally, the high prices now paid in the United States to artists and the constant demand there for English artists of the better class by such managers as Percy Williams and E. F. Proctor, have had a whole lot to do with the fattening of the English artists' Saturday evening envelopes. Every London manager of importance has been busily engaged for several years in keeping such artists as George Robey, Little Tich, Marie Lloyd, and Wilkie Bard in England at any price with varying success, and the "stars" have taken advantage of the state of affairs. The result is that they are drawing from $500 to $750 a week for one performance a day, and have been appearing at three, and sometimes four houses a night, a thing unknown and unpermitted in the United States, where the basis of a contract between manager and artist is the exclusive services of the performer.

The new arrangements will throw something like seventy-eight theaters in London and the provinces under the control of Stoll and his associates. The Moss Empires, of which he is the managing director, and the guiding genius, already holds sway over twenty-nine, including the Hippodrome and the big Coliseum in London. The augmented string of houses will be managed from the Moss headquarters in London, and it is possible that some of them will be weeded out entirely in cities where competition has been most ruinous.

If I were writing for an English public I would receive scores of protesting letters if I were to assert that the enormous success of the Palace Theater of Varieties in London marked a real triumph for American vaudeville. Yet such is nevertheless the fact for the most successful of London vaudeville houses is based on American lines and run with American ideas. Under the management of Alfred Butt it has served up to a waiting English public the class of entertainment with which the best American vaudeville houses in the larger American cities have been identified, adapted, of course, to English needs and tastes. No one will deny the ability of Mr. Butt, but the fact remains that his inspiration is to be found on your side of the water.

The Palace has declared a dividend of 20 per cent., but that fact is not as remarkable as the circumstance that the annual report shows a weekly profit of almost $5000. It means that almost every seat in the big theater has been occupied at every performance. For the past six months, of course, its big business can be traced to the presence in the bill of Maud Allan, the American dancer, but the policy of the house has always been to present a strong bill regardless of cost, and such American performers as Marie Dressler, R. G. nated with English and French favorites like Albert Chevalier, Gus Elen, Lottie Collins, Yvette Guilbert, Arthur Roberts, Ada Reeve and Ruth Vincent.

THE LOCAL WEEK.

"The Test" will be given its first performance upon any stage tomorrow night by the Lewis Stone company at the Auditorium.

The play is by Jules Eckert Goodman, a new dramatist, who has produced an apparent pronounced success in "The New Generation," which is being played in Chicago by Louis Mann.

In the New York production, which is to be made in about a month, Knowles and Anna Held have alter- Blanche Walsh will have the role accorded to Florence Oakley in this presentation.

The story is a strong one of contemporaneous life in New York City. The people of the play are all humanly interesting, and the story as developed during the progress of the four acts has a concise, swiftly-moving and compelling plot.

Mr. Stone will be seen in the role of Richard Tretman, a young man, who has just completed a ten-year penitentiary term, for stealing money from his employer, the money being spent on the heroine of the play. This young woman will be played by Florence Oakley, who should find an unusual opportunity for effective emotional acting.

George Farren will have the part of Arthur Thone, a writer on sociological topics, who has left his Madison-avenue home to study social conditions as found by settlement workers of the East Side. Howard Scott will appear as Frederick McVane, the former employer of Tretman. Leslie Preston will enact the sister of Arthur Thone. The cast will also include Bennett Southard, James Applebee, Beatrice Noyes and others of the Stone company.

Following this play will come a revival of the favorite "Prisoner of Zenda."

George Ade's quaint and nature-true "County Chairman" will be given its first western stock production this afternoon at the Burbank Theater.

The story of the play is familiar, as several syndicate productions here, of varying excellence, have been generally patronized by all classes of theatergoers.

Byron Beasley is to have the leading part, and the piece will also mark the return of Henry Stockbridge.

In addition to the cast, which will comprise all of the Burbank people—John Burton playing the old negro—forty auxiliary people will be used in the political scenes.

The Gayety folk at the Grand Operahouse will present an entirely new musical sketch today in "The Girl From Over Yonder."

It is from the pen of W. H. Lytell, with Clarence Drown's assistance, and the music is provided, either originally or in interpolations, by R. F. Kirkpatrick. The scene is laid at a springs resort of Southern California, and the principals of the company are assigned to characterizations suited to their individual talents. Libby Blondell has the principal role.

Aubrey Car is programmed as a "wine brewer," and the cast only needs a "beer distiller" to make it complete.

Edwin Milton Royle's play, "The Squaw Man," is serving the popular young actor, Dustin Farnum, as a vehicle this year, and in the piece Mr. Farnum will be seen at the Mason Operahouse during the week commencing tomorrow night.

In the first act Mr. Farnum appears as an Englishman in the uniform of a crack British regiment. He is in love with the wife of his cousin, the Earl of Kerhill. The Earl is disgraced because of an embezzlement. Capt. Jas. Wynnegate (Farnum) assumes the responsibility of the crime and flees the country. He comes to Western America, and is known as Jim Carston. An Indian girl, Nat-u-ritch, befriends him and kills a man who has designs on him. Carston, so-called, then marries the Indian girl and they have a child. The Earl of Kerhill, meanwhile, has died, and the tremendous problem again confronts Carston with startling force. In the end his Indian wife shoots herself as she is about to be arrested for the murder of the Wyoming bad man, and Carston's child, taken into the arms of his old sweetheart, indicates the imminence of marriage bells.

Good support is promised Mr. Farnum.

The entire Belasco company should be seen most advantageously this week in Edward Peple's fine comedy, "The Love Route." Miss Taylor will prove her capabilities in the leading role, originally played by Odette Tyler, while Mr. Van Buren will have the part created by Guy Standing.

"The Love Route," which has a somewhat unusual story, has been presented here before. The story concerns railroad building in Texas, and when the road attempts to cross a ranch owned by a fearless young woman the trouble begins. The crucial scene is in the third act, where the railroad agents, followed by their track-laying gang, come to the rifle-guarded barbed-wire fence which the girl has constructed across her property.

Five new acts are scheduled for the Orpheum for the week beginning with matinée of tomorrow.

[illegible] Phillips and her company head the bill with a new farce by Una Clayton, entitled "Lost, A Kiss, in Central Park." This is based on mistaken identity, involving a society girl and a French maid.

The Grasseys, new here, but said to be well-known abroad, present a musical novelty in which harmony and mystery are said to combine interestingly. Frank and Joe Wilson offer a German travesty, "In a Padded Cell." Carter and Bluford, from Cuba, have an act said to combine much "atmospheric" charm and dainty scenic effect. McPhee and Hill, programmed as "the clown and the tired man," are the last of the new ones. They do horizontal bar and aërial work.

The holdovers include the DeHaven sextette, the four Baltus in their athletic performance, and Eugene and Willie Howard.

Popular-priced vaudeville continues at the Los Angeles Theater. The new bill will include "The Trans-Atlantic Quartette," a comedy four said to possess real singing ability; the J. C. Nugent company, in "The Rounders;" the Mozarts, German comedians; Cadieux, wire performer, and Louise Auber, vocalist.

Herr Fischer will this week produce "Three of a Kind," travesty on "The Three Twins," now running at the Herald Square Theater in New York City. The local travesty is written by James T. Kelly, and the cast will include Ben Dillon, Frank Vack, Max Ascher, Fred Lancaster, George Howard, Laurel Atkins, Marguerite Favar and Nellie Montgomery.

The musical burlesque company at the Unique will present one of the new director's musical adaptations during the coming week, in "The Devil's Doll." Mr. Harris has interpolated two of his own songs, and the sketch will have much comedy.

The comedy company will offer another of James P. Lee's farce-comedies, entitled "Mr. Pickel in a Pickle." Lee will assume the character of Babbley, a young man who impersonates an aunt, who does not appear on time. The suggestion from "Charley's Aunt" seems evident. Charles Perley, Marie Barbier, Nick Cogley, Ole Olsen and Maxie Mitchell will be seen in the cast.

Fred Griffith, former director at a local playhouse, will bring his own musical company to the People's this week, presenting "The Troupers." The piece was written by Mr. Griffith himself.

Up-to-date songs will be the chief musical feature, and leading roles will be taken by Miss Helen Douglas, Dale Fuller, Morris Headman and Eddie Murray.

MISS ANGLIN IN AUSTRALIA.

Critics of Island Continent Express Great Faith in Dramatic Powers of American Actress.

It is in her capacity for presenting the real, and of making us see it, that Miss Anglin is an artist altogether exceptional; and the real includes the natural, says the critic of the Sydney Telegraph. Only very, very rarely is anybody so perfectly natural upon the stage. We know, of course, that this is the result of extreme art, combined with extreme talent and very perfect taste. And the art is so perfectly disciplined that when she is on the stage there is no world at all on the opposite side of the footlights for this artist. There are not even any of the "traditions" of that side of them on which she is placed. Never was acting more wholly unconventional. There is no audience for her, and there is no stage for her audience. It is a chapter of life—not as well written as it might be, perhaps—but singularly perfect in its representation.

When, in the first act of "The Thief," Marie Voysin talks to and flirts with her husband, she talks to and flirts with no one else. She never made a point for the audience all through the evening, and she never missed one that was in the play. And the splendid art of her "listening!" A good many of us may recall that wonderful "listening" of Sarah Bernhardt. It is a thing one hardly ever sees upon the stage, that concentration of the hearer upon the speaker which makes us listen, too—which so often, so to speak, evaporates during manifold rehearsals, and is quite gone before the first night. Miss Anglin has this force of a magnetic silence, and, as it seems to me, in no less degree than the great French actress. It was manifested early in the first act, and then we knew that we were safe. One who can do so much with silence may be trusted to do more with speech.

In no part of the play does Marie Voysin trespass upon the picture; her subordination of herself where it is needed is always perfect; but we never forget her. It is her position, after all, which makes the long explanatory passages possible, although Miss Anglin's perfect art refused to make capital out of a situation which might have offered many temptations if placed in slighter hands. This capacity for subordination is to be noted from the rise successful young California girl, who is winning a name for herself in metropolitan musical productions. She is at present playing Natalie, in the Boston "Merry Widow" company, but will soon be promoted to the title role. Miss Foltz is the daughter of Clara Shortridge Foltz, practicing attorney of this city, and is a niece of Samuel Shortridge.

of the first curtain to the fall of the last.

Miss Anglin has been spoken of as an "emotional actress." She is much more. There is quite enough here to lead us to the belief that she can play upon the lighter as well as upon the deeper strings. We get quite light comedy in the opening, and we pass through serious comedy to something which makes us quite sure that tragedy also is within the artist's range. She would play Desdemona to perfection; but, most of all, one would like to see her as Lady Macbeth—the Lady Macbeth of Shakespeare—the high-strung woman who sacrificed loyalty and sex and soul on the altar of another's greatness, and was undone at last by the feminine sensibility which her will, here or there, was able for a little time to trample down.

Dramagraphs.

Henry Miller ended his fifty-four weeks' season of "The Great Divide" at Rochester last Saturday night. He will take a month's vacation from acting.

Beerbohm Tree produced the Stephen Phillips-Comyns Carr version of Goethe's "Faust," at His Majesty's Theater, London, on September 5. Mr. Tree, of course, appeared as Mephistopheles.

Mrs. Fiske will open her New York season this month at the Belasco Theater in a new play by Brewster Sheldon. It has not yet been named.

Henry E. Dixey has been engaged by Henry W. Savage to play the title role in one of the numerous companies which he is organizing to send on tour in "The Devil."

Vera Michelena returned to New York on September 5, after spending several months in England, Germany and Switzerland, where she appeared in vaudeville. This season she will have a part in "The Soul Kiss."

Leo Ditrichstein was arraigned in the City Court of Stamford, Conn., on Sept. 8 on a charge of giving a challenge in violation of the antidueling law. He was held for trial in the Superior Court, with bonds fixed at $3500. The challenge and arrest grew out of an altercation with Major Schavoir, in which the actor was worsted. The altercation, in turn, was the result of an anonymous letter alleged to have been received by Mrs. Ditrichstein.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

While the music promoters are expending these chapters of suggestion and theory upon our thick and muggy choral situation, it may be well to consider for a moment our orchestral needs—which to my mind really outweigh the choral necessities.

If the town is to grow musically, if the public at large is to be musically educated, we must have more orchestral recitals, and orchestral recitals which fill a true "popular" demand.

Now it is not within my province to say who should do this, nor how it should be done, but it is an absolute truth that a series of twenty or thirty concerts given by an orchestra of our orchestra's size, with programmes of—say—the general caliber of Damrosch's presentations here last spring, would do more to truly uplift the musical status of the community than a dozen choral efforts, and another half-dozen "music festivals" of commercial nature and outside inspiration thrown in.

I do not think I am doing any one an injustice when I say that our symphony programmes do not meet that demand, and as far as the stirring up of the public at large is concerned, programmes of the present class might be continued until doomsday, and still the town would be left in its present absolutely apathetic condition.

All of which is not to snarl or snap at Mr. Hamilton's work; he presents music for musicians and he does his work well, but our symphony orchestra, with its six ultra-classic and formal concerts every year, is making no appeal outside its own conservative and unchanging clientele, and as far as the body of the people is concerned, it would not be missed at all.

Nor do I mean to say here that any man could have done more than Mr. Hamilton under the present conditions. I am not presenting a theoretical programme which may be carried out at once, but I am merely stating conditions and needs.

Generations yet unborn would rise up and call that man blessed who would endow our orchestra in such a manner that the present concert series could be greatly enlarged and varied.

We have endowments for colleges, schools and libraries right along in Southern California. There is scarcely a month in which some kindly disposed old gentleman or benevolent and fast-failing old lady does not get corner-stone immortality for some sort of worthy educational deed. All our larger schools have endowments added every year, and there are other gifts of varying amounts to every conceivable institution of learning. Yet nobody thinks of endowing our orchestra, and its support is left to the faithful little band of men and women who have stood back of it for so many years, and to that small but equally faithful public of local professional musicians and music students.

Now, it is a certain fact that we can never hope to get anywhere, musically, until we have more orchestral concerts and a wider range of programmes, even though our warring choral factions should emulate Damon and Pythias.

Orchestrally lies enlightenment and the stimulation of general interest abroad. The whole great field of modern orchestral composition—complex, graphic and superbly colored as a great master painting—lies just over our horizon. Cannot some one help us to reach it?

A true "popular" programme—which is unknown here—does not mean rubbish and barrel-organ relics. We have hundreds — thousands — of energetic young people in this city, all paying some little attention from time to time to music, yet not knowing in what way to direct their efforts. To many of these the true artistic prophet is the plebian vaudeville singer, or rather, shouter. Yet how many, in this big, susceptible, young army would not listen with intense interest to a well-rendered programme whose numbers included such true gems as the exquisite "Faust" and "Coppelia" ballets, the brilliant "Dance of the Hours" from "Gioconda," the "Dance of the Apprentices" from "Die Meistersinger," the spectacular overture to "Carmen," the somberly melodious overture to "Faust," delicate bits of Strauss's music, the "Lohengrin" vorspiel or the intermezzo from "Madame Butterfly?"

The Philharmonic course of concert artists this year will be opened by Arthur Hartmann, violinist, who will come in the middle of November. Mme. Lillian Nordica, with her company, will come late in December. David Bispham, operatic, oratorio and concert singer, will close the course, in the latter part of March.

Maud Powell, brilliant young American violinist, will return, but will divide the honors of her visit with May Muckle, English 'cellist, and Anne Ford, pianist.

One of the new visitors will be Mme. Frieda Langendorff, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Operahouse, and another will be Josef Lhevinne, the distinguished Russian pianist.

The Philharmonic course, as usual, will be directed by L. E. Behymer.

Pupils of the Misses Carlin gave an enjoyable recital at Blanchard Hall on Friday evening. The programme was given by pupils preparing for vaudeville, and also for musical work.

Programme participants were the Misses Grace and Claribel Carlin, Mrs. George Cook, Miss Jessie Tappe, Miss Mabel Hoyt, Miss Viola Clielt, Mrs. George Marks, Miss Nanon Welch, Miss Juanita Dunlap and Harry Dodge.

The Fillmore School of Music will give a faculty recital in Blanchard Hall on Tuesday evening, September 29.

Riccardo Lucchesi, a very well-known vocal authority, has taken charge of the voice department of the Von Stein academy.

The DeChauvenet Conservatory of Music will give a pupils' recital on Saturday, October 3, at its rooms in the Fraternal Brotherhood building, No. 845 South Figueroa street.

Wenzel Kopta, violinist, and Miss Blanche Ruby, soprano, assisted by Mrs. Hennion Robinson, pianist, will be heard in recital at Simpson Auditorium on Friday evening, October 23.

Miss Lillian Adams, pianist, who has just returned from three years' study abroad, will be heard in recital at the Gamut Club on Tuesday evening, November 17.

California (Excerpts.)

Afar the bright Sierras lie,
A swaying line of snowy white,
A fringe of heaven hung in sight
Against the blue base of the sky.

I stand upon a stony rim,
Stone-paved and patterned as a street;
A rock-lipped cañon plunging south,
As if it were earth's opened mouth.

Brown hawks are wheeling here and there,
And up and down the broken wall
Cling clumps of dark green chapparal, While from the rent rocks, gray and bare,
Blue junipers hang in the air.

Granville Redmond's Exhibition.

Tomorrow afternoon an exhibition of about twenty or twenty-five of the recent landscapes from the brush of Granville Redmond will open at the Kanst gallery, No. 642 South Spring street, to continue till October 10.

Almost all these pictures will be subjects painted in Monterey county, whose picturesque beauties have kept Mr. Redmond busy since last May. He is still there, indeed, and will probably not be in Los Angeles, even for the exhibition. Seven of the canvases have already arrived, and many more are expected by Mr. Kanst as soon as the artist can find the lumber for the box in which they are to be shipped. He is sojourning in an out-of-the-way corner of the county, on a lonely ranch, and the matter of getting his pictures to the market is not so easy as the city dweller might suppose. However, let us hope for the best. We want to see Mr. Redmond's summer work.

The seven pictures already on hand hold out the promise of an unusually strong and interesting showing. Many of them are of good size, and all are painted with that fine dexterity of touch which characterizes all of Mr. Redmond's brush work. A few of them have charming qualities of tone. The titles are appetizing, suggesting subjects that the artist has rendered before with his well-known skill: "Late Afternoon," "Springtime," "Summer Day," "The White Cloud," "Early Moonrise."

The pictures declare a happy and busy summer. They will be studied with interest and appreciation by the large public which Mr. Redmond has already won, and will doubtless enlist many new admirers.

Romance of a Franz Hals Picture.

When the announcement was recently made that the National Gallery of London had secured an unknown example of Franz Hals, at the enormous and unprecedented price of $125,000, the English public and a majority of the newspapers mildly protested. Now that several qualified critics have had an opportunity of examining the "discovery," a better feeling prevails, and the public are now wondering if, after all, the director and trustees of the National Gallery have not stolen a march on the other great galleries of the world in securing one of the few great examples of the Dutch master to be had for love or money.

One of the most popular of Hals's pictures, "The Laughing Cavalier," is, of course, in the hands of the British nation, and hangs in the Wallace collection. For that, too, an unprecedented price was paid. Indeed, it was the purchase of that picture by Lord Hertford at an auction sale in Paris for $10,000 that started the rise in Hals. Previous to that time $250 was the highest that had ever been paid, in England, at any rate, for a picture by the Haarlem painter, and the dealers and collectors present at the Paris auction sale were almost bowled off their feet when the English peer opened the bidding with his $10,000 offer. There was no opposition, and the picture was immediately knocked down to the open-handed Marquis. Since then the record has been frequently broken, and at the Secretan sale in Paris more than $22,000 was bid for the portrait of Pieter van de Broecke d'Anvers.

These big prices were for single portraits, while the present picture which the British nation has just acquired contains no less than ten figures. It is eight feet, four inches in width by four feet, eleven inches height.

The history of the now famous picture is obscure. Its owner, up to a few weeks ago, was Lord Talbot of Malahide, an Irish nobleman, who little suspected its real value. A cleaner, called in to renovate his collection, recognized it as a Hals, communicated with the National Gallery, and after delicate negotiations the deal was closed. Curiously enough, it is believed in some quarters that investigation will show that it is really the painting known as the "Portrait Group of Van Goyen, the Painter, and His Family," which was sold in a London salesroom in 1832 for the absurdly small sum of $250.

The $125,000 Franz Hals.

Newly discovered painting by the famous Haarlem master, which has just been purchased at an unprecedented figure by the National Gallery, London.

ART NOTES.

Emily Rutherfurd, the young English girl, whose artistic wood carving has attracted so much favorable comment, has removed her studio to the new Y.W.C.A. building. Miss Mytton, a well-known bookbinder from San Francisco, will be associated with her in the same studio, which is commodious and well lighted.

The first annual exhibition of the Painters' Club will open at the Blanchard Hall gallery on the evening of October 7, with a reception to friends of the artists. The public will be admitted on the following forenoon, free of charge, and for the two weeks that follow this date. A strong exhibition is looked for, as the club is composed of earnest workers.

Miss Maude Ewing Ross of Los Angeles, former general secretary of the Riverside Young Women's Christian Association, was the complimented guest last week at a number of delightful little prenuptial social affairs. The engagement of Miss Ross to Rev. John Ferguson of Concord was recently announced, the wedding to take place the latter part of next month. On Tuesday evening Miss Ross was given an informal reception at the association rooms by Miss Lenore McCold, present secretary. Wednesday afternoon she was given opportunity to meet the members of the Board of Directors of the association while she was secretary. Dr. Louise Harvey Clarke was the hostess. Wednesday evening the Altruistic Club entertained at a supper party and china shower for Miss Ross.

An old-fashioned country social was held in the parlors of the First Christian Church Monday evening, with the young people of the senior Christian Endeavor Society as the hosts and hostesses. Old-time costumes were worn and a spelling match and dialogue were features of the evening.

A WORD ABOUT FALL SHOPPING

Lane's has been a busy store for the past few months; busy selling goods, busy remodeling. Workmen have been improving every nook and corner from the new front at the sidewalk line to the enlarged millinery department on the third floor. But in spite of any shopping inconvenience there was the brisk continuous trading that told of generous value giving. And so the Fall season finds us better equipped in every way to meet the requirements of patrons old and new. Stocks are replete, service improved and the whole organization keyed up to a point that will add to the satisfaction of shopping at Lane's.

~Fall~ Millinery Opening

The work of enlarging our Millinery Department to double its former size has delayed slightly our fall opening, but if you will come to the third floor Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, we promise to amply repay you in the exhibit we will make of Autumn Millinery fashions—we will doubly repay you in the bona fide savings—we will show you that Lane's Millinery Department is second to none in the city.

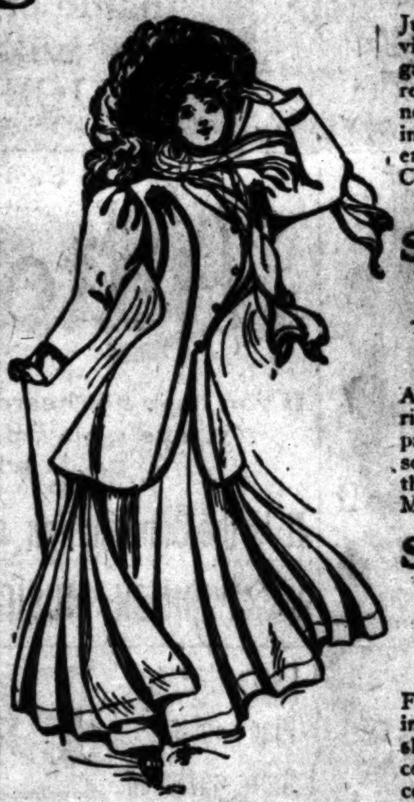
New High-Grade Fall Suits



Just now we want to bring to the attention of the women of Los Angeles and vicinity one of the strongest SUIT STOCKS in Southern California. Our garment buyer has, we might say, "specialized on suits" this season. The result is, that those qualities so sought for in all tailored products, viz. smartness of style, excellence of materials and perfect workmanship are apparent in every line in the stock. But there is still another feature which means everything to the purchaser, and that is price. OUR SUIT PRICES ARE INCOMPARABLY ATTRACTIVE, qualities considered.

Here are two lines every prospective suit purchaser should see Monday.

Smart Fall Suits in All Desirable Styles

$15.00

Almost three hundred man-tailored suits in nobby all-wool materials, wide variety of patterns and colors. There are tweeds, cheviots, broadcloths and panamas in sizes to fit large, small and medium-sized women, while the assortment is large enough to meet all tastes of those wishing to get the best that $22.50 to $25.00 would buy, and at Lane's you possess them for $15.00 Monday.

Stunning Man-Tailored Suits Worth to $35

$24.50

Fall Suits in exclusive models made by three of the best suit manufacturers in New York. The materials are fine broadcloths, diagonals, two-toned and shadow stripes; also a number of hard-twisted worsteds. You'll not find a commonplace suit in the entire lot and you'll not find one that would not be considered good value at $30.00 to $35.00. Choice of the lot for $24.50.

Ladies' Silk Hose $1.19

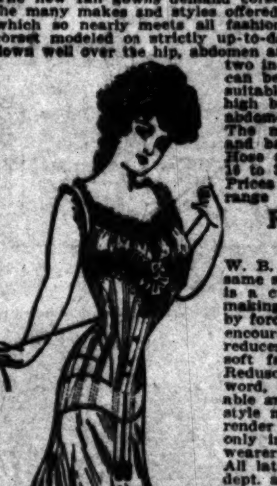
Beautiful High-Grade Corsets La Premiere



The new fall gowns demand corsets of late and approved designs and of the many makes and styles offered for milady's selection we know of none which so nearly meets all fashion demands as La Premiere. A dainty corset modeled on strictly up-to-date lines, with a high bust, and coming down well over the hip, abdomen and back. It is so contructed that a point two inches from the top of the corset, the bust can be turned in, so as to make the garment suitable for low cut gowns, where the extreme high bust is not required. The hip, back and abdomen lines will give the long line effect. The materials are handsome brocaded silks and batistes with white, pink or blue flowers. Hose supporters at front and at sides. Sizes 18 to 30. Prices range .... $5 to $15

Reduse Corsets For the Stout Figure

W. B. Reduso puts every stout woman on the same style basis as her more slender sisters. It is a culmination of the perfections of corset making. A scientific, logical, simple corset, which by forcing the wearer to hold herself properly so encourages deep breathing that nature itself reduces the excess flesh through hardening the soft fatty tissue into muscular fiber. The Reduso is not a harness in any sense of the word, but as simple, as light and as comfortable as any corset made. It has all the latest style modifications and will taper off the hips, render the back lower, less prominent and not only improve the looks but the health of the wearer.

All late models now being fitted in our corset dept. and sold at, per pair ...... $3.50 and $5.50 to intensify its aspect of profound melancholy, an unseen hand went from window to window and deliberately pulled down every blind, for the master of the house—like its former glory—had passed away.

Sale of $4.00 Kid Gloves for $2.98

CHAPTER I.
OOK GRANGE.

The hushed bustle throughout the Grange, stealthy steps, and closing doors had ceased, and Nurse Dixon and Fanny Tootle sat alone over a frugal supper in the wainscoted or Brown parlor.

"And about the story of this house, Fanny?" said the nurse, as she stirred her second cup of cocoa.

"Aye—sure! It was nigh going out of me head! I'll tell you as much as I know, and that's as much as is known in ta village."

"So there is no secret about it, is there?" remarked her companion ironically.

"No—nobbut this being such a lone soort ov hole-in-corner place, the talk and the happenings never spread far; we are not even printed in the Clayborough newspaper, seeing we've no cricket or flower shows, and but a small parcel of voters—most of the folks being widow women——"

"Yes—but about the Fordes?" urged the nurse, with a faint touch of impatience.

"Well, it is true that the owd gentleman come of gude stock—Derbyshire way, or South—and his father wor rich, but a fearful tyrant. When he coom into a room all his children had to rise to their feet; he would send grown folk from the table, and beat big lasses and boys with a stick, and shut them up in the cellars if they went agen him, seeing as they were his body and soul. He was allus talking of eternal punishment, and hellfire, and the worm, and kep' his family half the time on their knees. This Ambrose, one of the young ones, broke out in rebellion and cast off his father, and swore before them all on the Bible that he'd never own him whilst the life was in him. There was an awful stingo, and he wor locked up and beaten; but he managed to run away, and wandered through the country, doing odd farmers' jobs—he was a fine strong lad o' sixteen—till he found himself in Sheffield, and, being real clever and stiddy, got took on in a foundry, and educated himself. Of course, he had had schooling, and Latin and Greek and a' that—but he learnt figuring and useful things."

"Yes, yes," interrupted Nurse Dixon hastily; "I know the old story—and became a partner at last!"

"Better nor that! He had his own works! It took years of striving and brains; but when he was a gude bit over thutty he was a master, and one summer, when on his holiday, he saved a young lady from drowning, and that was a nice easy sort o' beginning to a love affair, she being both young and handsome. Her family were one of the grandest on the Border, and terribly proud, but they made much of Mr. Forde, seeing as he was well-to-do and well looking. When it came to talk of his folk and belongings, he just told them that he was Forde o' the firm of Forde and Pallas, and that was his whole pedigree. He stuck to it, even when it meant the young lady. Of course, a man of no family was not good enough for her, who had high birth and fortune, so the Bothwells shut the door on him."

"And he climbed over the wall?" supplemented Nurse Dixon. A sustained course of novel reading had pointed to this conclusion.

"He did, but not for a long time; she was faithful, and when her sisters were going off she remained single for his sake, though she was the greatest beauty of them all. However, at last he coom along with a carriage and pair and run her away, and they were married by special license; but her family dropped her from that day. So now you see how it comes that Miss Hester has no relations whatever."

"Yes," assented her listener, with a grave nod, "I can understand."

"Miss Jubber was lady's maid, and coom with her mistress to Sheffield, where Mr. Forde had a fine house. She says they two were always like lovers, wanting no society but their own, and kept no company. Mrs. Forde was tall and dark, with carved features, and a sort o' grand air. She was main fond of books and playing the piano, and never seemed to find the time dull. It was in Sheffield Miss Hester was born, and a terrible delicate child; by and by the town air disagreed with Mrs. Forde, being country reared, and they searched for a quiet place not too far from the works, and after a bit bought this Grange. 'Tis eighteen years since the family coom here, and they liked it well. The garden was kep' up lovely, and Mrs. Forde had a carriage and two big, shiny horses, and used to fetch him from the station most days. She made no show of visiting, but was friendly at the parsonage. The Byngs were in it in those days. He was a splendid preacher, too good for us, and got shifted. He had a nice wife and three children——" she paused.

"But the Fordes?" persisted her auditor.

"Before the Byngs left, Mrs. Forde died sudden like. She was never a strong lady, but no one thought she'd be took off like that. It made a real stir, her death, she was so good to every one and the poor. He was just crazy and demented, and the little girl, who was about 7, nearly killed herself crying. After a bit the horses were sold—the carriage is rotting in t' coach-house—the gardeners and servants sent away. He put Miss Hester to a grand school in Harrogate and went and lived in rooms in Sheffield, leaving Miss Jubber to manage the Grange—and she has been mistress ever since; Mr. Forde and Miss Hester only coming for holidays, and every year him getting queerer and more shut up in himself—and extraordinarily saving! Folk used to put it down to Miss Jubber, who has an awful grip on the money, and 'is housekeeper; but it was him, too. Eight years ago he coom back to live, going to and fro to t' station on a rusty old tricycle; half the rooms shut up, and the garden, anyhow. Miss Jubber sent for her sister, Liza, and got in a girl to help, for you'd never believe in the dust there wur in this old house, and whatever Jane Jubber is, she likes to see things clean, and the yearly turn-out is a great rave!"

"I suppose Mr. Forde lost his money?" observed her companion.

"No one knows the reets o' that; he is out of the works this long while—since the day he had the stroke, and Miss Hester was fetched from school; she has been here ever since. Some do say Mr. Forde was a miser and rich; others, that he is—I mean was—terribly poor, and could hardly keep a house over his head. They never had more than one joint a week, and Miss Hester, to my knowledge, has been wearing the same hat this two years. Happen when the will is read folk will be wiser."

"It is a pity there are no young people around—it must be lonely for Miss Forde.'

"You may say so. And he wouldn't let her have a bike, and couldn't abide the piano. He kep' her awful tight—she never had no pleasuring."

"What did she do with herself all day?"

"She read him books and the newspapers, and played chess—he was properly mad on chess, and would stick to it for hours and hours. Oh, aye, Miss Hester was a realgood angel to him and he was most peevish and nattering.

$19.50 for New Suits, $40.00 values and others—scarcely one of them but is fully half under price, and many of them more. Without the shadow of a doubt, the greatest values that have been offered at the price or near it—the very late ideas from the very heart of style interest in the East. Samples of suits their maker has been selling with pride and in quantities to leading exclusive houses in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, to retail at regular prices—the best values at regular prices we have seen in many a day.

He couldn't sell his samples in cities to conflict with other customers. He was looking to the West and Los Angeles for increased trade. When our buyer made him an offer—he snapped it up so quick as to be startling. "It's a loss," he said, "and a big one, but I've made my gain—take them, let's get acquainted."

"Take them"—we did, and quick as we could. The suits are ready Monday first time. The scoop of the season—THE SALE OF THE HOUR.

NECKLACE

lence. The four legatees, seated in a row, were each engrossed in individual speculations. Fanny, with £50 in her pocket, already hailed a husband and a home! Old Luke, on the other hand, beheld the dreaded workhouse receding from his fears. Jane and Liza had also their agreeable anticipations.

"Of course," resumed the lawyer, "there are the death duties, and there will be some considerable delay in paying the legacies."

"The personality is large, I presume?" said the rector, who had risen, and stood beside him. "I am not familiar with legal terms," he added in a low voice, "but I gather that Mr. Forde has left a considerable amount of money."

"Considerable!" repeated Mr. Lewin, rubbing his hands as he spoke. "My dear sir, I think I am understating the matter when I say that our lamented friend has left behind him an immense fortune."

"An immense fortune!" echoed Mr. Cave, startled out of his cautious whisper into a loud echo, "an immense fortune!"

Mr. Lewin nodded his head as he began carefully to collect sundry stiff documents. He was preparing to address Miss Forde, who sat staring at him speechless and stunned.

Overwhelmed by the shock, and amazement at the avalanche of wealth, the words of "an immense fortune" mounted slowly and steadily into her brain like a swelling tide. Fasting, sleeplessness, a long agitating day and unusual excitement, had already done their work. It needed but the stroke of an overpowering announcement to sweep the mind into unconsciousness. The heiress rose, staggered for a moment and then fell back on the sofa in a dead faint.

Tidings of the contents of the will ran, so to speak, open-mouthed about Shalesmoor, and old Forde's fortune increased with every hour—half a million—one million—two millions—surely never had this unfamiliar word been more thoroughly hard-worked and enjoyed!

Mrs. Lovelock, the dairyman's wife, buried (temporarily) an ancient feud with Widow Stock at the shop, on the strength of all the money that was coming to their village. They took tea with Mrs. Jaggers, the sexton's wife, and, after a hearty meal of rabbit pie and soda cake, discussed the news till night fell.

"What would miss do with it?" inquired Mrs. Jaggers. "She never was one to 'laik' (play,) and was like a settled married woman!"

"Happen she'll stay on in Shalesmoor, and keep up a good house," suggested Mrs. Lovelock.

"More like she'll marry," suggested the widow. "I would an I were her!"

"Nay, she's not that gaate—she's never yet been tewed up wi' men! Happen Jane Jubber'll be looking out, now she has savings and brass."

"Nay, though she has gotten great savings she mayn't get note," declared the widow with jealous emphasis.

"Is ta sure?" said Mrs. Jaggers; "when I hear of Jane having savings, and everything so pinched there, I am fair put to school!"

"Yees, sure," replied Mrs. Stock, "pinched she may be—but she lends money oot!"

"The legacies won't be handled till back end of year," announced Mrs. Lovelock—"so old Luke says. He's feared to die afore ever he gets at hissen."

The commotion in the village was not reflected in the Grange, where the usual household routine had resumed its monotonous round—the blinds had been drawn up, save in one room where the heiress lay in a dim light, with eau-de-Cologne bandages on her forehead.

In a day or two she was sufficiently restored to be downstairs; she had wrestled with herself, and done her best to clear her torpid brain and grant an interview to Mr. Lewin, who had come from Sheffield on purpose to confer with his wealthy client.

He was a brisk, clean-shaven, elderly man, who, remembering his own houseful of merry and ill-dowered girls, felt a certain amount of pity for the friendless and desolate heiress. She seemed almost like a wraith, so thin, hallow-eyed, and white was she.

After a little commonplace conversation, he entered upon business.

"Your father's wealth must have come as a great surprise to you, Miss Forde?"

"Indeed, yes," she answered. "I always understood that we could barely make two ends meet!"

"For the last fifteen years Mr. Forde has put aside and invested almost the whole of a large income; he was lucky too, besides being shrewd; all he touched seemed to turn to gold. Six years ago he disposed of his interest in the works for a large sum—he has shares in it still—and it brings into the estate four thousand a year."

"I can scarcely realize it," she murmured, looking round the dark low parlor, with its scanty old-fashioned furniture—once the property of M's Steir—where a bowl of roses, and her own shining hair, were the only notes of color in the room.

"He had become very saving of late years—it grows on a man, you know," imparted Mr. Lewin with a confidential nod.

"Yes, he used even to turn his envelopes, and write on half-sheets—it was these little economies he enjoyed! Once, when I put a penny stamp on a paper instead of a halfpenny, he was upset for days."

"And now, if you were to stamp your papers with five-pound notes, you would not feel it. Have you made any plans, Miss Forde?" inquired Mr. Lewin, as he crossed his legs and steadily surveyed her through his gold pince-nez.

"No—I suppose I shall remain here."

"For a time, at least, I should recommend that; whilst we get the estate into working order. You know that under the will Mr. Cave and I are trustees, and that I am to continue to manage your affairs—till—er—you marry?"—and again he looked at her with fixity.

Miss Forde's sole response was a faint blush.

"I must trouble you for your signature to some papers. You have never had much to do with business, I conclude, or money matters?"

"Oh, no. Jane always manages the housekeeping, and keeps the keys and house money."

"And you had your own allowance?" His tone was paternal as he added: "What was the amount?"

"Twelve pounds a year," she replied, with a touch of reluctance; "but I am thrifty, and made it do."

"I presume you will want some money now, so I have brought you a check-book and a styographic pen."

"But I don't know anything about checks," she protested; "I've never drawn one."

"Have you any funds in hand?" he asked, when he had explained to her how the check should be filled in.

"Yes, I think so," and she produced and opened a shabby little purse—"two shillings and three halfpence!"

"Two shillings and three halfpence," echoed Mr. Lewin, and his smile was superior. "Please sign here—Hester R. Forde. I've filled it in for £300—just to go on with, you know."

"Three hundred pounds! Oh, Mr. Lewin! What could I do with all that money?"

"Why, it's only a drop in the ocean, my dear young lady. Your income is close on ten thousands a year."

"How awful!" she exclaimed. "How could I ever, ever spend it?" and she gazed at him piteously.

"You need not be uneasy on that score; the capacity will develop. Use your money prudently—travel, enjoy life. Of course, wealth is a heavy responsibility."

SWEET SEVENTEEN.

BARONESS KIYO MAKES BOW.

Dainty Maiden from Japan Presented to Capital.

Ambassador's Daughter Is a Hit in Washington.

To Attend Debut Ball of the President's Daughter.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNING.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Western people seem to find their keenest pleasure in studying the natives of the mysterious East and in Washington none of the foreign corps proves as fascinating as the women from Turkey, China and Japan. Japan, the lovely region which looms before the mental vision as filled with glorious gardens and tea houses, with landscapes embellished with never ending wreaths of flowers and cascades of water, and the most entrancing little maidens with flowered kimonos and lofty pompadours, has a worthy representative in the seventeen-year-old daughter of the Japanese Ambassador and Baroness Takahira, the Baroness Kiyo.

Baroness Keyo.

This pretty girl arrived in Washington during the dull days of summer, but she seemed to bring some of the brightness of her native land along. She spent a whole happy month at the capital, tripping the streets in her picturesque robes, taking a peep into the deserted public buildings, roaming the parks and essaying to speak the vernacular with every amiable looking official who crossed her path. She looked like a scarlet tanager in her bright-hued finery, with brilliant red slippers and a bright red flower nestled in the soft, well proportioned pompadour which only a Japanese maiden can build.

During August the little baroness accompanied her parents to Buena Vista, Md., where the home leased last summer by Viscount Aoki continued this season to be the summer quarters of the embassy. Here she witnessed from a discreet distance some of the joys of a popular summer resort, for Deer Park is near by with its handsome hotels, its gay crowds and exhilarating band concerts. But she was not permitted to share any of the pleasures. Japanese parents take stricter views of life than the average American and the butterfly life of the society belle does not enter into their scheme of life.

But Baroness Kiyo saw enough to imbibe the opinion, that it is a lucky fate to be born an American girl and go to some lovely place in summer. She is filling her days just now studying English, for though she will pass most of the winter with her books she has been promised a glimpse of social life when the little season begins. It has been definitely promised that she may attend the début of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, and certainly no prospective bud is looking forward to that great event with as eager longing as this dainty maiden from Japan. But she will be a mere looker-on, for clad in her embroidered skirts and her felt slippers and a kimono not differing greatly from the popular lounge robe, she would be an incongruous figure on a ballroom floor. Then dancing is not a feature of social amusement in the Orient, and the little Baroness, though considered the most accomplished of her sex, does not include the seductive waltz or the fantastic two-step in the category. But she wants to see the President's daughter, a girl who is just her own age, and of whom she has heard so much, and she wants above all things to be present at a real western party.

Sitting in her boudoir already furnished with her own particular treasures, fans and parasols on the walls and ceiling and exquisite silk rugs on the floor, the young Baroness makes a fascinating study. Her chair is low and filled with silk cushions, against which she rests her head as she meditates on the joys of the coming winter. Her tiny feet are covered with silk embroidered slippers, guiltless of heel, and in fact now consisting of not much of anything, being a sort of cross between sandals and no shoes at all. She can make but little conversation yet, to use her own phrase, but she can understand almost anything said. Her hands are busy with a roll of embroidery, a panel for a screen which she is making for her mother's fete, a month hence.

All Japanese ladies can embroider and that most exquisitely, but they rarely apply their art to articles of apparel. In their homes there are no pictures, as the western people understand the word, but in their place are kakemonos, gay strips of silk embroidered in birds, with the seals of one's family or any fantastic design which one may fancy. Young girls make kakemonos for their parents, Baroness Kiyo conveyed with graceful gestures, and the aid of her English book, in which she skillfully pointed out the words which she cannot yet pronounce. She has made several kakemonos for her mother, and she will make three others this winter. When the strips are finished they are set up in a frame of gold brocade or a rim of silver, and they look quite brave on a soft-tinted wall.

In Japan, said Baron Takahira, women are educated with equal care given the men, so his daughter has received a most finished course, including four European tongues, with Latin and Greek and some of the old tongues in which the Japanese literature is so involved. She has studied the classics as well as the fine old folk lore of her own nation, in addition to the scientific studies of astronomy, botany and physics. The Baroness can draw and paint well, and she displays with eager pride a lot of lovely silk fans, on which she has painted flocks of birds or clusters of flowers, and even some lovely little heads of Japanese children looking out of clouds.

The little baroness knows a great deal about Japanese art, much more so than the average American girl can tell of the arts and crafts of her country. She can show some clever drawing which she made from the works of Kose Kanaoka, the father of Japanese painting, and considered as the most eminent artist of antiquity. She can recite some of his verses for, like Michael Angelo, this great man was painter, poet and architect, and he is the pride of all who worship the beautiful in the Orient. Few of his works are extant and these are kept in sacred shrines and are not always accessible to the stranger. But the baroness has visited every temple where they can be seen and she is a devotee of his school. She can tell all about Metnobou, founder of the realistic school and the modern artists of Japan. She intends to spend much time at the local gallery of art in Washington when the season begins, and she may take some lessons in the western ways. She has visited the national museum and was not all together satisfied with the specimens of handicraft treasured there. She thinks that a more comprehensive collection could be gotten together and that some unique specimens could be added. Perhaps she will undertake to supply the deficiency.

Baroness Takahira, who returns to Washington after an absence of more than four years, is immensely proud of her talented daughter and she looks forward to the winter almost as eagerly. During her former visit, when she made so many friends in the official and social world of Washington, little Kiyo was busy at her studies, and did not come to Washington. The baroness comes from an illustrious family of the interior of Nippon, and her father was a diplomatist of high standing. Having passed much of his life in Europe, he educated his daughter partly in Germany and partly in France. The baroness became attached to the western method of dressing and after her early girlhood, she never assumed the picturesque raiment of Japan. She is noted for the magnificence of her costumes—all showing the finished art of Paris. The baroness likewise possesses the most gorgeous pearls ever seen in the American capital. She has great strands of them all the size of large peas and of perfect form and color. She wears on state occasions a tiara and sort of net of pearls, which is the richest ornament which Washington has had the opportunity to admire. Her collection of emeralds is also superb.

Her daughter wears no jewels except some quaint silver pins in which a great carved sardonyx or carbuncle may glow. Unmarried women in Japan must, according to etiquette, wear the native costume. When they become matrons they may adopt the European methods, if they wish. Baroness Kiyo is devoted to her country, and though she admires American maidens exceedingly, she has not yet felt all desire to figure in sheath gowns or Merry Widow hats. In fact, she takes great comfort in her raiment and is fond of displaying her wardrobe. On formal occasions she can show garments which Solomon in all his glory might have envied. One skirt is of pale yellow, padded, of course, lined with satin of deeper color. The entire front and sides show great lotus flowers falling in cascades and outlined in seed pearls. She has another of deep blue satin on which morning glory buds disport and the third favorite costume is a sheeny silver gray, covered with embroidered cherry blossoms. This costume adorned the graceful young baroness when she posed for her picture in her sitting-room at the embassy.

With every costume she invariably wears a broad silk sash, usually of the same material as her gown, and this has embroidered and fringed ends, is tied in the back in a great bow, which reaches from the waist line to the shoulders. But her hair, black as coal, with just a glint of luster, is a delight to contemplate. She wears a great silver comb carved in queer figures with many large silver-headed hairpins to keep her locks in order. Her pompadour smooth as glass, as apparently snugly built as though to outlast her life, is not the double-decker affair whicmh modish girls affect now. It is high in the center, but slopes naturally to the sides, where it becomes a mere suggestion. Rings, brooches, bracelets are unknown to Baroness Kiyo, but she possesses a number of delicate gold and silver purses and the dearest little one which she wears on a chain under her kimono.

The baroness has a wise teacher of English, inasmuch as she is guiding her pupil along the paths of knowledge to speaking perfect English by means of magazines and the serial love story. A love story is the most fascinating thing which the maiden could imagine, indeed, the way love is made in American books is a revelation. She pieces out her story with her dictionary and book of idioms with all the aid she can get from a chance caller. Then Kiyo has enjoyed the treat of the moving pictures. She has been to the theater in Tokio to see long-winded patriotic plays which last a week, but such lively dramas as she has witnessed on the Washington stage was a revelation. The coming winter apparently holds forth great promise for this little Japanese maiden, and she becomes quite enthusiastic in advance. She is going to the White House New Year's, as well as to the ball for Miss Ethel, and she may be among the belles who will smile and bow with the multitude which assembles to welcome the next first lady of the land, on the evening of the 4th of March.

Australian Odd Cranes.

Australia, the land of oddities, animal, vegetable and mineral, has few more curious creatures than the giant cranes—often five and six feet in height, with beautiful blue-gray plumage—which are called native companions. These huge birds mate for life, and, as mates, are singularly and touchingly devoted to one another. Among their practices, that of dancing together, is the most remarkable. To and fro and up and down, beneath a scraggy tree near a creek or water hole, a pair of these curious birds may be seen in the hour of dawn footing it gravely in a sort of grotesque minuet.—[Exchange.

Some New Juveniles.

SIDNEY AT COLLEGE. By Anna Chapin Ray. Little, Brown & Co., Boston. (Price $1.50.)

Miss Ray's previous "Teddy" and "Sidney" books have gained her a wide audience among young people, for she knows thoroughly, and graphically depicts, the heart of a young girl, her ambitions and her endeavors.

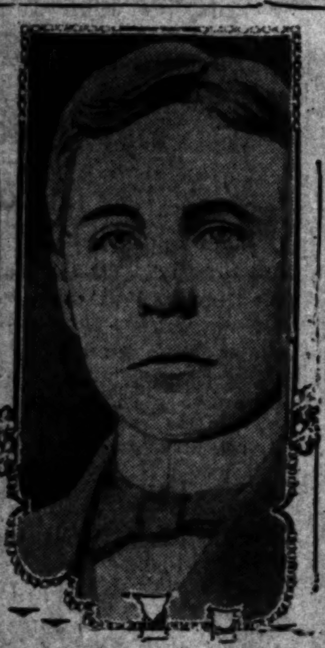
Prof. Willy Reichel, author of "An Oculist's Travels."

In this new volume, the fourth in the series, Sidney Stayre is shown as a freshman at Smith College, enjoying to the full the pleasures that fill her days, having her individual difficulties, and with all the freshman's admiration for upper class girls and happenings.

The story is bright, vivacious and full of action—a sympathetic chapter from the book of a college girl's life. The annual basketball contest on Washington's Birthday is one of the features of the book. Sidney and her college friends form a group of likable young people whom girls readers will take immediately to their hearts.

PRINCESS WISLA. By Sophie Swett. Little, Brown & Co., Boston. (Price $1.50.)

A tale of the strange adventures which befell a little Maine girl, Peggy Piper, the bright daughter of a ship-builder. She accidentally fell into the river and was rescued by an old Indian squaw. As Peggy had hurt her head so that she could remember nothing, and as the old squaw wished very much for a little girl to take the place of her dead grand-daughter, Peggy Piper became the Indian Princess Wisla.



Arthur J. Eddy, author of "Ganton & Co."

How she traveled to Europe and back before her people found her, how she got her memory again, and how she was finally able to help her father out of a great trouble because she had once been an Indian princess, furnish a series of exciting but perfectly wholesome incidents. The numerous illustrations are by Frank T. Merrill.

TOLD IN A LITTLE BOY'S POCKET. By Sara Beaumont Kennedy. Moffat, Yard & Co., New York. (Price 75 cents.)

A book for children that carries instruction as well as pleasure. The heterogeneous articles which every small boy treasures in his pocket; the rusty nail, the bit of string, the marble, the pencil, etc., all become endowed with life. Each in turn tells the others his life story, and in the telling conveys with the fun and adventure a great deal of valuable information.

The book is prettily illustrated, in color and in black and white, by Ada Budell.

AMONG MAGAZINES FOR OCTOBER.

Scribner's contains a number of articles of life and adventure in the open air, appropriate to the hunting and camping season. The frontispiece, in color, is after a drawing by N. C. Wyeth, picturing a Navajo family "On the October Trail." Henry Van Dyke contributes a paper of travel in the Holy Land, "A Journey to Jerash." William T. Hornaday writes of a recent journey in "The Wildest Corner of Mexico." "The Rampart Range" is a vivid narrative of a walking trip made in Colorado by the late Walter A. Wyckoff. Victor Henderson, a new writer, contributes a tale of mountain climbing in the Sierras. Will H. Low concludes his "Chronicle of Friendship" with an account of his last talk with Stevenson. The second article about Richard Mansfield tells of the dramatic period in his life when, at one stroke, he became a famous actor through his interpretation of Baron Chevrial in "A Parisian Romance." The short stories of the number are by Mary R. S. Andrews, Caspar Day and Charles Belmont Davis.

The frontispiece of Putnam's is a portrait of Thomas W. Higginson, drawn by Miss Amy Otis of Philadelphia, and is an excellent likeness of the venerable author, who describes, at first hand, Bronson Alcott, "Emerson's Foot-note Person." Joseph Conrad's somewhat fantastically-named paper, "Rulers of East and West," is a picturesque characterization of the West Wind and the East Wind—rival kings as different in type as a constitutional European ruler from an Asiatic despot. Charles A. Conant writes of Secretary Taft in "The Peacemaker of the Philippines." The story of the Canadian railways is told by James Oliver Curwood in "Winning an Empire." William Winter, the venerable poet and dramatic critic, sings what may be intended for a swan song, "Crossing the Run Rubicon," dealing with the attitude of a man face to face with death but unaffrighted by the inevitable experience. Arthur Colton, contributes a travel sketch, "The Villa of Jove." The fiction of the number is by Don Marquis, Caroline Duer, Alice MacGowan Cook, Alice Duer Miller and Anne Warner.

Are wild animals tamed by kindness? Maurice B. Kirby, in "The Gentle Art of Training Wild Beasts," in Everybody's for October, turns the light on the methods used by trainers to prepare the denizens of the jungle for show, and kindness seems to play a very minor part in the process. John Macy tells, under the title, "Our Blind Citizens," some really astounding facts about the 100,000 blind people in America—what has been done and can be done to make them as happy and as useful as the rest of us. In "Pensioners of Peace," William Hard pleads for a readjustment of our conditions in America and the abolition of the old order of things, where, after years of litigation and expense, the crippled workman may get no compensation at all. There are short stories by O. Henry, Carter Goodloe, Zona Gale, Harrison Rhodes and Kennett Harris.

Success Magazine contains a significant article by Henry Beach Needham entitled "Why the President Is for Taft," in which Mr. Roosevelt gives his own reasons for wishing Taft to be his successor. In the same number Alexander Irvine tells of a social experiment in a New York Fifth avenue church. Walter Weyl describes "The Extraordinary Street Cars of New York," and Charlotte Perkins Gilman discourses upon "The Woman of Fifty." The stories of the month are by Sir Gilbert Parker, Eugene Wood, Elizabeth Payne, Jeannette Marks, Charles Battell Loomis and Emery Pottle.

In Munsey's, Judson C. Welliver prophesies what would happen "If Bryan is Elected to the Presidency." In "The Prolongers of Life," Michael Williams gives some account of eminent physiologists and their work. Col. Charles W. Larned writes of "The New West Point;" William Hard of "The Disappearance of the Great American Desert;" Alvan F. Sanborn asks, "Why Do Frenchmen Retain Their Youthfulness Longer Than Americans?" and Harry Thurston Peck decides to call "Napoleon the Greatest Man in the History of the World"—a stand which is open to some controversy. There are many good short stories in the number, by such writers as O. Henry, Duffield Osborne, George Hibbard, Temple Bailey, Philip Verrill Mighels and Edward Boltwood.

Harper's Bazar for October, whose cover is a swarm of yellow butterflies against a sky-blue background, is a special autumn fashion number, and is therefore of more than usual interest to its feminine contingent. There is, however, a good short story by Florence C. Mallon, and a delightful monologue, "Saturday Afternoon," by Mary Stewart Cutting. Octave Thanet writes of "Men as Friends." There are poems by Charles Hanson Towne, Madison Cawein and Louise Morgan Sill.

In "The Adventitious Character of Women," by Prof. W. I. Thomas of the Chicago University, the women readers of the American Magazine will find truths about themselves that they'll only reluctantly admit. Dr. Frederick van Eden shows "How Mind Can Heal the Body," and Dr. Woods Hutchinson tells of "The Curiosities of Sleep," while Charles Roman gives a strange psychological record of an actual experience, "In the Wonderland of Delirium." Victor Murdock proves to be delightfully satirical in "A Congressman's First Bill." The fiction of the number is by William J. Locke, author of "The Beloved Vagabond;" Venita Seibert, Lincoln Colcord, Jessamine Jones and O. Henry, the ubiquitous and indefatigable.

Technical World Magazine contains a unique ghost story, "The X-Ray Ghost," by Crittenden Marriott. Charlton Lawrence Edholm writes of his experiences in a western mining camp in "Charm of the Day's Work." Harry H. Dunn tells of "Death Valley in All Its Terrors." Articles of technical and scientific interest are: "Government Builds Cities for Farmers," by Roy Crandall; "Compressed Air Saves Wrecks," by C. F. Carter; "Viaduct Extraordinary," by H. G. Hunting; "Making Sheet Glass by Machinery," by P. Harvey Middleton; "One Palm Furnished World's Ivory Buttons," by Werner Boecklini; "Novel Life-Saving Apparatus," by Dr. Alfred Gradenwitz, etc., etc.

Gertrude Atherton's novel, "The Gorgeous Isle," is concluded in the Smart Set for October. Among the shorter stories are: "The Defense of Xantippe," by Katherine Louise Smith; "The Conquest," by Mary Hastings; "The Inalienable Right," by Inez G. Thompson; "The Ugliest Man in the World," by Maud Grange, and "Unsight and Unseen," by Minnie Barbour Adams. There are poems by John Kendrick Bangs, Theodosia Garrison, Clinton Scollard and others.

St. Nicholas has a pretty cover of reddish quail in a greenish covert. Helen Marshall Pratt writes of "Lewis Caroll, the Friend of Children;" Deshler Welch of Sir Walter Raleigh's house at Youghal, Ireland, "A British Home Connected with American History," and Maj.-Gen. O. O. Howard of "Sitting Bull, the Great Dakota Leader." Carolyn Wells introduces us to more "Happychaps," and there are the usual number of rhymes and jingles. The short stories are by Frank Stick, Temple Bailey, Elizabeth Price, Emma C. Dowd and Arthur Upson. Ralph Henry Barbour's serial, "Harry's Island," is concluded.

PEOPLE AND THINGS OF LITERARY NOTE.

Clifton Johnson has a talent for encountering queer and picturesque adventures in his wanderings over the country, and for recording them with camera and pen. His latest explorations have been in the "Highways and Byways of the Pacific Coast," and the record is in the book of that title which has just been published. He has traveled extensively along the western coast of the country. California receives more attention than any other one State, as is fitting, but Oregon and Washington, and the adjacent States and Territories, are by no means neglected. The book contains over sixty of Mr. Johnson's admirable photographs, admirably reproduced.

The rumor, which was never confirmed, that the late Paul L. Ford based the character of his Peter Stirling on that of Grover Cleveland, probably is helping keep up interest in that most remarkable American political novel, "The Honorable Peter Stirling," which Henry Holt & Co. are having to print for the fifty-second time, and for which the demand has been more constant and steady, now fourteen years after publication than for, perhaps, any other work of fiction on their entire list.

When the English say of a voice, "How dreadfully American!" the usually indignant owner would be wiser to repair the defect than to resent the criticism. Those who recall the friendly crusade of Henry James and others against our vocal depravity, and those who have noticed it for themselves, should observe that one practical woman has set about finding a remedy. Katherine Jewell Everts has written a book that the Harpers are about to publish which is said to be filled with arguments to remember, and exercises the practice of which will definitely help to make musical the voice. The book will bear the simple title, "The Speaking Voice."

A sympathetic appreciation of "Lombroso, Prophet and Criminologist," by Prof. Guglielmo Ferrero, is a biographical feature of October Century. The writer is professor of Roman history in the University of Turin, and is to lecture at the Lowell Institute in Boston in November and December on the fundamental problems of Roman history. He says he would call Lombroso neither a naturalist nor an anthropologist, nor a sociologist: "I should call him a Jewish prophet in the garb of a modern philosopher. This is the most accurate and comprehensive definition of his personality."

Much was expected of the Oxford Treasury of English Literature. It is a great disappointment to find its third volume printing such extraordinary versions of well-beloved stanzas of poetry as this:

"She took me to her elfin grot,
  And there she gaz'd and sighed deep,
And there I shut her wild, sad eyes—
  So kiss'd to sleep."

How could any critic worthy of the name accept these indifferent lines for the magical ones—

"She took me to her elfin grot,
  And there she wept, and sigh'd full sore,
And there I shut her wild, wild eyes
  With kisses four."

A clergyman was calling recently on the author of "Potted Fiction," the only vest-pocket Carnegie Library on the market, and while looking around Mr. Bangs's beautiful library espied the typewriting machine upon which his host performs his professional duties.

"Ah!" said the clergyman, "is this the machine that John Kendrick bangs?"

Popular account has it that his host's innate reverence for the cloth was all that prevented him from tearing it into shreds.

"The Duke's Motto" was produced in London on September 7, and news is now expected of an American production, although no arrangements have yet been announced. Mr. McCarthy's source for this romantic play, or more property for the novel—the Harpers having published the latter several weeks before—is ascribed as an old French comedy "Le Bossu" ("The Hunchback.") Mr. McCarthy is one of the most proficient of French scholars, and composes some of his most charming fancies in this tongue.

Some forty years ago Mr. Howells visited Rome and Italy, and the literary fruit of his sojourn is to be found in his "Venetian Life" and the "Italian Journeys." Again, after this long lapse of time, he has made a second trip to the same sunny country, and, returning, he has brought with him a series of papers describing his latest impressions of Italy, which will be published in book form next month by Harper & Bros., under the title "Roman Holidays." In this book he will give his observations of everyday life in Rome as it is lived today, contrasting it with the Rome which was familiar to him in the early seventies.

It is fortunate for H. G. Wells that his new novel, "The War in the Air," is to be published very soon. What with the Wright brothers and all the other experimenters, the conquest of the air is proceeding at such a rate that what Mr. Wells intends as a prophecy may turn out to be a record of accomplished fact. The story is supposed to be of the future, and embodies, in the form of an exciting romance, Mr. Wells's ideas as to the possibilities of aërial navigation.

Since the appearance of her last two novels the book-reading world has almost forgotten its early appreciation of the consummate art which Mrs. Wharton has at her command as a short-story writer. It is thus of interest to know that the Scribners have just published a volume in which are collected the short stories written by this author during the last four years. There are eight stories in the book, including "The Hermit and the Wild Woman," "The Last Asset," "In Trust," "The Pretext," "The Verdict," "The Pot Boiler," "The Best Man," and "Latmos."

"The Witching Hour," the play by Augustus Thomas, which was one of the two most talked about in New York last season, is to be brought out in the form of a novel. Nor is it perhaps too much to prophesy that this news will give the public uncommon satisfaction. A very gratifying point is the fact that the book will not represent the novelizing craft of an outsider, as is often true in such cases, but has been written by Mr. Thomas himself.

Robert Herrick's "Together" has been barred from the shelves of the public library in a New England town. The same library has banished the works of George Meredith. No one but the autocrat of a New England library could conceive so subtle a compliment to Mr. Herrick.

NEW THRILL FOR WOMEN.

Whirling Through the Air in a Modern Balloon.

Miss Ada De Costa Is One of Daring Devotees.

Others of the Fair Sex Who Love to Fly.

Woman's love of daring is now finding its favorite indulgence in aërial navigation.

Swimming, boating, automobiling, all these have become tame in the esteem of the modern daughter of Eve, who is never so happy as when she is defying the laws of safety.

Mme. Therese Peltier, first woman to make an ascent in an aeroplane.

The transit of the air, a new science, a new sensation, gives her just the joy she needs, and the thrill of dangling from the swaying wicker basket at the end of a huge gas bag, is the last word in enjoyment.

In fact, the fair aëronaut has not stopped at ballooning.

She has even advanced a step further in her enjoyment of man's newest means of transit.

She has even essayed the aëroplane, on which experts are now working in hope of producing a practical means by which mankind and womankind may emulate the flight of the birds, and give the final laugh to specific gravity.

Only a few days ago Mme. Therese Peltier, a young sculptress of merit, gained herself the distinction of being the first woman to master the aëroplane.

She made her first flight with M. Delagrange, on the Military Square at Turin, and after having been up with him for several minutes, essayed to make an ascent alone. She didn't go very far up, and the flight only lasted for two minutes, but even at this short duration it was enough to establish a record, and to show that for every forward advance man makes in the great problem of aërial navigation he will find some woman close behind and ready to do likewise.

Mrs. Henry Farman, wife of the distinguished French navigator, who recently, accompanied by his spouse, spent some time in this country, is a woman who has figured in a number of noted flights.

Although she is rich, and was brought up in London, no one would ever think so, for she has been transformed by a ten-years' residence in Paris, and speaks French like a native.

She has been up many times in balloons, but was only recently for the first time allowed to make a trial of the flying machine, and was so elated over her success that she has been promised a chance to repeat it in the near future.

In a number of cities clubs of women aëronauts are being formed, and the ambition of all their members is to go one step further in daring than the sister members.

For once it is not American women who have led the way in this mania for ballooning.

A French woman, Mme. du Gast, a noted sportswoman, who is a hunter, and great automobilist, and who became famous when she was kidnaped in Morocco, set the example in devotion to aëronautics as the most diverting of sports.

The Aëro Club of France leads the way in the science of navigating the air, and naturally those women who are lucky enough to live in the French capital, and to have an acquaintanceship with the members, have something of a start on their sisters in other parts of the world. Ballooning has become so common in Paris that it is nothing out of the ordinary for a French gentleman who wants to entertain to phone to his friends, order a balloon, have a hamper made up, and take the party for a cloudland journey far from the heat and noise of the city.

The Aëro Club has a large park for the tethering and filling of balloons, and a member is much sought after by women who want the novel joys of being entertained on rides through the clouds.

Among the first American women who were permitted to go up as guests of the club were Mrs. Newbold Edgar and Mrs. Courtland Bishop.

Without showing the least sign of concern they went up in the air, far above Paris, and reveled in the joys of that which is said to outclass every form of riding for luxurious comfort.

Both became so enthusiastic that on their return to the United States they immediately took the place of women pioneers of the sport in Uncle Sam's realm.

Mme. Surcouf and Mlle. Gache, first women to ever make ascents in a balloon without professional pilot.

THRILL FOR WOMEN

Courtland Bishop resides near Pittsfield, Mass. Mrs. Bishop persuaded him to take an interest in the new sport, and as a result Pittsfield has become a sort of a center for American ballooning, and Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Edgar have now made so many ascents that they are veterans and no longer can take fright, no matter how much a balloon may tilt.

Mrs. James Brown Potter, the famous actress; Mrs. James Brown Lord, Miss Ada de Acosta and Mrs. P. Lorillard Ronalds are other American women who learned the joys of ballooning as guests of Frenchmen.

Mrs. Newbold Edgar claims the record. In a ballooning sense she says she has been up in the air more times than any American woman, but it is said that she will have some trouble in showing more ascents than have been marked up to the credit of Mrs. Julian P. Thomas.

But the French woman is not content now merely to go along as the guest of some member of the club, or to make an ascent with the balloon under control of some professional pilot.

Now the great ambition of the gentler sex is to operate the balloon themselves.

Mme. Durcouf and Mlle. Gache were the first women to succeed in actually making such a trip.

It was with deep trepidation, and not until after the operation of the balloon was demonstrated to them many times, that they were allowed to rise above an awe-stricken crowd in Paris, and start a journey that lasted four hours.

It was too uneventful a trip, the two frail aëronauts said, to merit any special mention. They got up all right, the balloon acted properly, the winds were gallantly kind, and they made a flawless descent.

The daughter of the Count Von Zeppelin, whose experiments in the development of the airship have been a matter of so much public interest, has made ascents with her father in the famous airship that was recently burned up. She has become ambitious to go up alone, and it is said that she has so well persuaded her father that he will permit her to make a trial when he is convinced that the airship on which he is now working is going to be a success.

Ranleigh, Eng., sees many balloon races, and fashionable women are not only enthusiastic spectators, but some of them have actually been passengers in some of these races.

Philadelphia has a woman's ballooning club, with a membership of twenty.

Miss Ada de Acosta is one of the few women who have ever had the privilege of making an ascent with Santos-Dumont, the noted Brazilian expert. First they went up together. Then an experimental trip was made with the airship fastened by a long guy rope in the hands of the inventor. Then Miss De Acosta went up alone and took a short ride.

Mrs. Julian P. Thomas has attracted much attention by her pluck. She has known most of the thrilling experiences that fall to the lot of the aëronaut. About the only thing that has not happened to her is to be killed. She has known what it is to have the balloon bumping along close to chimneys, steeples and rooftops, without any means of getting higher and putting an end to the peril. She has been in peril innumerable times, but the fascination is so great that every time Dr. Thomas decides on an ascent she wants to go with him, and generally has her way.

Mrs. C. S. Rolls of England, wife of the daring automobile driver, has also made a number of thrilling ascents.

Mrs. George E. Heaton went a little further than these women, for she assisted her husband in building an airship, and just as soon as his tests are completed she is going to show her confidence in the production of their skill by taking a trip in it alone.

When aërial navigation finally gets here right, it won't be any trouble to persuade women to become devotees.

SINGULAR OPERA.

Catalani's "La Wally" to Be Revived in New York This Year—Composer Died in Obscurity.

One of the novelties to be produced at the Metropolitan this season is "La Wally," the last work of Alfredo Catalani, the Lucca composer, who died before receiving the recognition that was his due.

Although "La Wally" met with some success upon its first production at La Scala, Milan, in January, 1892, it was also fiercely criticised, and it failed to find a place in the established repertoire of modern Italian operas until after its author's death, which occurred in August, 1893.

In fact, its ultimate great success in Italy was due to Arturo Toscanini, who was a close friend of the composer. He it was who gave the work in the spring of 1904 in Buenos Ayres, where it was received with such enthusiasm that the following year it was revived at La Scala, and not only it, but the composer's earlier opera, "Loreley," both works meeting with tardy but undoubted recognition.

Since then both works have been given in many Italian cities with equal success. In view of Toscanini's efforts on its behalf, it is singularly fitting that the first American production of "La Wally"—the name is accented on the second syllable—should be under his baton, says Musical America.

This opera, written in four acts, is based upon the novel of the same name by Von Hillern, and the libretto is by Luigi Illica. The scenes are laid in the upper Tyrol, in the early part of the nineteenth century. There are seven principal characters, besides choruses of Alpinists, shepherds, hunters and peasants.

Wally (soprano) is the only daughter and heiress of Stromminger (bass,) in his youth a mighty hunter. As the curtain rises on a scene outside his cottage in Hochstoff, he is seen sitting in the midst of a group of neighbors, assembled to celebrate his seventieth birthday. Vincenzo Gellner (baritone) fires at a target with such true aim that the old man compliments him, at the same time alluding scornfully to the boasted marksman of the neighboring village of Solden, one Hagenbach by name (there is not much good will between the two villages.) Walter, a boyish zither player (light soprano,) sings a charmingly characteristic Tyrolean song, with a yodel-like refrain, which he declares he has learned from Wally. Then a group of hunters from Solden, Hagenbach (tenor) among them, come on the scene, the latter displaying triumphantly the skin of a bear which he has killed in single-handed combat. His boasts irritate Stromminger, who declares that in his day he was a far greater hunter. The two quarrel. Stromminger taunts Hagenbach about his father, and finally the younger knocks the old man down just as Wally dashes on the scene.

All leave the stage but Wally (who gazes after Hagenbach until she, too, goes into her house,) Gellner and Stromminger. When the two men are alone Gellner tells the father of his suspicion that Wally loves Hagenbach, and that his own love for her is, therefore, vain. Furious, the father promises his daughter's hand to Gellner, and when the girl returns and refuses to marry him, turns her from her home. She leaves for the mountains, young Walter volunteering to accompany her, and the curtain falls as the villagers are singing an "Ave Maria."

Act II shows the piazza of Solden. Wally's father is dead, and sh is no wealthy, but shows favor to none wi would win her love, and so is consi ered a cold and heartless maiden. is the festival of Corpus Domini, ar the villagers are all in gala attir After a brief overture, imitating bell there is a gay chorus. The Messe ger of Schnals (bass) is seated amo the others, laughing and talking wi pretty Afra (mezzo-soprano,) the in keeper. Here, too, come both Hage bach and Gellner, and the former seem in high favor with Afra. Walter, to comes in most festive array and de fends those who jeer at Wally as co and a flirt.

Finally she, too, appears. The Me senger teases her and asks her if sh would be willing to dance the famou dance of the kiss, in which the victo may claim a kiss as his reward, sinc Wally has boasted that she has neve been kissed save by the sun an breezes, and she scornfully replie that she would. Left alone with Gel ner, the latter again urges his lov and when Wally repulses him, declare that she is in love with Hagenbac but that he loves Afra. Furious, th girl refuses to listen, but when Afr comes in answer to her summons t fetch her wine, Wally insults her, ju as the villagers come out of th church. Hagenbach promises to aveng Afra, and wagers, unknown to Wally that he will win a kiss from the la ter. When later he therefore challenge her to the dance she consents. Th Messenger has overheard the wager.

The dance, a graceful Landler, be gins, and many couples participate, bu finally only Wally and Hagenbach ar left. The Messenger meanwhile ha told the others of the wager. By th time Hagenbach has quite forgotte it, and, overcome with love for Wally tries to persuade her to give him th kiss, declaring his love for her. As sh has long secretly loved him, she fir ally yields, and then the mocking out cries of the spectators tell her o what she now believes a cruel jest. A they mock her she turns to Gellner and drawing him aside, asks him i he loves her. He says always, and sh then tells him that she wishes Hag enbach's death, and the curtain falls

The scene for Act III is divided. O one side is Wally's room, on the othe a street in Hochstoff, and along thi street pass villagers returning from th Solden festivities. Walter and Wall enter the house and outside the Mes senger, half-intoxicated, passes sing ing. Wally begs Walter to leave he alone, and he goes. She then overhear the Messenger tell Gellner that Hagen bach is in the neighborhood. When th former departs Gellner extinguishes lamp which lights the dangerous pat along which the other must come, bu this Wally does not see. Gellner lie in wait and Hagenbach comes alon the path, driven to seek out Wally an tell her that he loves her, but Gellne rushes on him in the dark and make him fall over the narrow parapet int the abyss below. He then knocks a Wally's door and tells her that Hag enbach lies dead in the chasm. Horror stricken, Wally rushes out and Hag enbach's voice is heard from below calling for help. Gellner disappears a villagers come on the scene, amon them Afra, but it is Wally who climb down into the abyss and finally sh is drawn up by ropes and holds Hag enbach, senseless, but alive, in he arms, and the curtain falls as th crowd acclaims her heroism.

Act IV shows Wally's lonely hut o a mountain top. Walter is trying t persuade her to return to her villag home, for it is Christmas time, an the mountains are covered with snow She refuses, but bids him go, and fin ally he reluctantly departs. As sh sings to herself, with a yodling refrain Hagenbach's voice is heard calling t her. He appears and tells her of hi love, and how he has long sought her As they embrace the sky become overcast and the wind rises, but the do not heed until the whole scene ha grown dark. Then Hagenbach find that the path has disappeared. He de scends cautiously and finally bid Wally descend by the rocks to wher he stands, but even as he calls a avalanche sweeps down upon him, bury ing him. Wally, overcome with despair throws herself over the precipice wit outstretched arms calling to him.

The music is intensely modern.

EDUCATORS, ARTISTS.

JOHN SARGENT, the famous painter, is somewhat of an eccentric in private life. When engaged on any important work he will suddenly disappear from London—only for a few days—and where he goes nobody knows. Then he returns from his hiding place, bringing his picture with him. Mr. Sargent is also a musician of no mean order, and a charming conversationalist.

Prof. E. D. Campbell, director of the chemical laboratories in the University of Michigan, lost his sight eighteen years ago through an accident. In spite of his affliction he has ta [illegible] a high place in education and [illegible] made original researches of [illegible] value, especially in the chemistry [illegible] iron and cement.

Prof. Zephaniah Hopper of the Central High School, Philadelphia, is the oldest instructor in the country both in point of years and of service. His age is 84 years, and this is his sixty-fifth year as a teacher. In 1854 he was appointed professor at the Central High School, and for a time was at the head of that institution, but at his own request he became a teacher again. He thought that as the president of the school he would get out of touch and sympathy with the boys and he wished to be the counselor and chum of his charges rather than their principal.

Earle T. Hobart of Brookline, Mass., has started for China to fulfill a three years' engagement with the College of Science at Peking. He will establish and equip a department of electricity in connection with this institution and the department will be the first of the kind in China.

Guido Horvath, a Hungarian artist, has completed at his studio at Proctor, Vt., a mammoth oil painting of "Washington at the Battle of Trenton." It is proclaimed to be the largest single picture on any subject ever produced in this country. It is 210 feet long and eleven feet high. He has given several years to the work and the research necessary in connection with the same.

A Necklace of Love.

No rubies of red for my lady,
No jewel that glitters and charms,
But the light of the skies in the little one's eyes
And a necklace of two little arms.

Of two little arms that are clinging
Oh, ne'er was a necklace like this
And the wealth of the world and love's sweetness impearled
In the joy of a little one's kiss.

A necklace of love for my lady,
That was linked by the angels above
No other but this—and the tender sweet kiss
That sealeth a little one's love.

HEREABOUTS.

CARL LEONARDT, well-known Los Angeles contractor, returned home after several weeks' visit to Mexico, where he is constructing railroad shops, a roundhouse and other buildings near Guaymas for the new West Coast Railroad. He reports excellent progress and good weather in the southern district. In addition he announces the building of a $20,000 cold storage plant for the Swift Packing Company in San Diego. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete, and will be one of the most complete plants of its kind in the Southwest. Work has already been begun on the foundation, and the building will be ready for occupancy in less than six months.

J. E. Goodman, playwright and author of some note, is registered at the Alexandria with his wife. He came here from New York to watch the rehearsals of his play, "The Test," which will be the offering of the Auditorium stock company during this week, as well as for a much-needed rest and the benefit of his health. He will remain several weeks.

James D. Schuyler and wife returned to the Angelus after an absence of several months spent in Alaska. Mr. Schuyler was in the Far North looking after large engineering problems in the mining districts.

Charles L. Tutt, a millionaire of Colorado Springs, who has been cruising in California waters for four months, is at the Van Nuys for a few days, previous to his return home. Mr. Tutt stated that sailing in this section could not be surpassed anywhere. "I brought the Anemone all the way around the Horn last spring in order that I might try the waters of the Pacific, and really I think they surpass the Atlantic. I have had a delightful stay here, and will come back, perhaps this winter, prepared to make a cruise to the South Sea Islands." Mr. Tutt's yacht is a cruiser 115 feet long and has been placed in dockage at San Pedro for an indefinite period.

A. W. Barker, his wife, daughters Nellie and Bessie, and son Walter, form an interesting party staying at the Alexandria. Mr. Barker is manager of the Paso Robles Hotel and reports one of the best seasons in several years, despite the so-called depression. With his family he is spending his vacation here, where he is well known socially, and in hotel circles.

J. F. Michel, Mayor of Corcoran, and one of the wealthiest ranchmen in California, is a guest at the Hollenbeck. He has extensive real estate interests in Los Angeles which he is looking after. Speaking of the development of Corcoran, Michel stated that the beet-sugar crop this year is larger, even, than expected. "The rain of the past week may have damaged the crop, but I think that most of it has already been harvested, and the damage in all probability is with the beets that are lying outside the plant awaiting crushing." Michel was one of the founders of Corcoran, and previous to going to that section was a property owner near Hanford.

Francis L. Sellew, one of the chief construction engineers at work on the Yuma dam, is a guest at the Van Nuys. He is accompanied by his wife and daughter, who have been guests at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, during the summer. Mr. Sellew reports rapid progress on the dam and on other irrigation projects of Arizona.

J. W. Dollar, a manufacturer of hotel silverware, is staying at the Hollenbeck while in the Southwest on a trip combining pleasure and business. Mr. Dollar is a widely-traveled man and one of his boasts lies in the fact that he has "made a Dollar go as far as any one, from Europe to Japan, and back again."

E. A. Hornbeck, manager of the Russ Lumber Company of San Diego, is at the Angelus, while here on business. Hornbeck is also interested in the Cuyamaca Railroad.

J. D. Stubenrausch, professor of agriculture in the University of California, Berkeley, and also a member of the Agricultural Department of Washington, D. C., is staying at the Hayward while here visiting friends.

C. H. Vance, a prominent merchant of the Philippine Islands, his wife and brother, C. F. Vance, form a party of sightseers staying at the Alexandria. Mr. Vance has his interests principally in Manila.

Frank E. Gates, a retired New York man, who made his home for several years in El Paso, Tex., but who has been spending the summer months at Santa Barbara, is at the Van Nuys, where he will remain several weeks while visiting friends here.

W. B. Kelly, editor of the Arizona Daily Star of Tucson, with his wife, is spending a late vacation at the Hollenbeck. J. Harrison, well known polo player and orange grower of Riverside, is a guest at the same hotel.

A party of St. Paul people who have been touring the Coast, and who are now guests at the Alexandria, comprises I. E. Rose and wife and S. W. Dittenhofer and wife, both prominent merchants. They will visit the Grand Cañon on their return journey.

Dr. R. T. Hall, practicing physician of Fresno, also known in social circles of Southern California, is a guest at the Westminster.

H. Poulin, a manufacturer of harness of Philadelphia is staying at the Nadeau.

Matt Hoveck, well-known mine operator, arrived at the Alexandria from San Francisco, to look after local interests.

George S. Herr, a merchant of Hamilton, Canada, who has been touring the West, is spending a few days at the Lankershim.

G. H. Harkrader, Pacific Coast representative of the Eastman Kodak Company, is at the Hayward while looking after local business conditions.

Dr. E. M. Dallas, a practicing physician of Portland, Or., is passing a vacation at the Hollenbeck.

Newlin Doremius and Warren H. Mack, tourists of Red Bank, N. J., are staying at the Lankershim while enjoying the pleasures of this city.

J. H. Hutchinson, a San Diego real estate dealer, accompanied by his wife, is looking after interests here while at the Nadeau.

M. W. Folsom, a San Diego hotel proprietor, is spending a few days at the Van Nuys. He is visiting friends here.

Karl von Lewinski, a tourist from Berlin, Germany, is staying at the Alexandria. He is visiting points of interest in the Southwest.

Mrs. Frank L. Proctor, wife of one of the officials of the Consolidated Copper Company of Cananea, Mex., is visiting friends in Los Angeles. She is registered at the Hollenbeck.

E. B. Newton, who has been traveling across the continent for pleasure, is at the Westminster. He is a Detroit capitalist.

Dr. C. A. James, his wife and Mrs. E. Spencer are at the Angelus while visiting friends here. They are well known in San Francisco society.

Frank M. Worthington, division superintendent of the Southern Pacific, and party, have returned from an inspection tour of several weeks through the East.

O. H. Coates, a hotel proprietor of Colorado Springs, is a guest at the Hayward.

H. N. Nixon, interested in several lumber steamers plying out of Seattle, Wash., is staying at the Hollenbeck.

G. B. Souller, one of the most widely known hotel men in the West, whose old home is in Phoenix, Ariz., where his mother is still residing, is registered at the Lankershim for an indefinite stay. He came here from Asbury, N. Y., where he closed the season as manager of the Brunswick Hotel. He will remain during the winter months.

PEOPLE OF THE COAST.

MISS JESSIE STORY, one of the popular schoolteachers of Mendocino county, recently shot a big buck while on her way to her schoolhouse on Foster Mountain. She had frequently seen deer on the ranges, and borrowing a rifle she carried it to school with her. On the way she caught sight of the branching antlers and bright eyes of a big buck in the brush about eighty feet away. She raised her rifle to her shoulder, and fired twice in rapid succession, and the big buck came tumbling down the hillside. Miss Story had not killed the deer outright, but quickly cut its throat with a pocketknife and called some boys from the schoolhouse, who assisted her in bringing in the body.

Capt. W. H. McLean of San Francisco has been in the employ of the Pacific Mail Company forty-three years, and is their oldest employé. He is now in command of the Panama steamer City of Sydney. Capt. McLean was on the old side-wheel steamer Colorado, a vessel of 4000 tons, which was the first steamship to leave the port of San Francisco for the Orient. She sailed from the old Pacific Mail dock on January 1, 1867.

Prof. Sparks, a prominent physical culturist of San José, while in the Santa Cruz Mountains Saturday, met an enormous coyote, which showed fight. Sparks was roaming over the Lyon ranch, in the Santa Cruz Mountains, above Los Gatos, when he encountered the coyote, which he says is the largest ever seen in those mountains. The animal sprang at him and Sparks was struck down on one knee. The coyote seemed to be desperate and he had a struggle with it before he was able to reach in a back pocket for a pistol which he carried. Before he could get out the weapon the coyote sprang again and Sparks was knocked over. Just as the coyote was about on top of him he got his pistol out and shot the beast through the heart. The professor escaped, with no injuries except a slight bruise. He expects to have the coyote mounted to exhibit as the largest one seen in the Santa Cruz range.

Rev. Andrias Bard, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Walla Walla, Wash., has resigned his pastorate that he may pursue a course of study in Germany. Besides being a preacher of note, he has written several things which have met with approval by men of literary tastes. Among these are his tragedy, "Glofar," "Unconventional Sermons," and a volume of verse, "Scattered Leaves." Some of his lyrics have been set to music and have been sung by Gadski and Sembrich.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

LIEUT. N. L. JONES, U.S.N., formerly of the staff of Rear-Admiral Brownson, and now an assistant to the Chief of the Naval Bureau of Navigation, is the author of the plan for naval mail clerks on United States warships which has been put into practical operation. These mail clerks are under bond and, while designated by the commanding officers, are officials of the Postoffice Department for all mail purposes connected with the ship.

Lieut.-Col. Robert R. Stevens has succeeded Col. John L. Clem as Chief Quartermaster of the Department of California. He occupied the same position at the Presidio several years ago.

Col. John H. Whallen of Louisville believes he is the youngest living confederate veteran, and no less an authority than Gen. Basil Drake supports his claim. The war ended forty-three years ago, and Col. Whallen now is only 57 years old, yet he saw three years' active service in the great struggle between the States. Col. Whallen was 11 years old when he enlisted in the Confederate army.

Maj. William H. Hart, of the subsistence department, who until lately was on duty at the War Department as principal assistant to Brig.-Gen. Henry C. Sharpe, commissary general of the army, after spending a month's leave of absence at his home in Idaho, is now en route to England, for the purpose of taking a course of instruction at the British military service school at Aldershot, where he will gain information as to the methods of supplying food to the British soldier. Maj. Hart is the inventor of the new army field oven, which is being tested at the maneuver camps at Fort Riley, Kan., and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Gen. James Allen, Chief Signal Officer, while in Europe will look into the work of various inventors of wireless telephones. The artillery board is testing a wireless telephone at Fort Monroe, Va., and it is believed the wireless telephone will be of great value in connection with the coast defense as well as for use with the mobile army. The Signal Corps is negotiating for the purchase of sets of the wireless telephone of various inventors for the purpose of conducting experiments.

Formal announcement has been made at the Navy Department of the detail of Rear-Admiral C. H. Arnold as commander of the third squadron, United States Atlantic fleet. The third squadron will consist of the battleships New Hampshire, Idaho and Mississippi and the armored cruisers Montana and North Carolina, with the Dolphin as tender.

Capt. F. F. Fletcher has been relieved from duty at the Navy Department, Washington, and assigned to the command of the battleship Vermont of the Atlantic fleet, relieving Capt. W. W. Potter, who is to be raised to Rear Admiral and given command of the third division of the Atlantic fleet.

Rear-Admiral William E. Emory, in command of the third division of the Atlantic fleet, will retire on account of age, December 17.

The Secretary of the Navy has written a letter to Robert Conklin, master-at-arms at the United States naval training station at Newport, commanding him for his "prompt and fearless acting in jumping overboard fully dressed and rescuing from drowning Woodward Phelps, a 6-year-old boy, who had fallen from the ferry float at Newport, August 29, 1908."

OVER THE SEA.

LORD CLIFFORD of Chudleigh has purchased the historic abbey of Marmontier, near Tours, thereby saving it from being devoted to business purposes or torn down that the sight might be converted into business lots. The abbey may be said to be the cradle of Christianity in France. It was there that St. Martin reigned as abbot and as bishop, and lies buried.

Capt. Baron Hendrick Van Asbeck, who commanded the Dutch cruiser Gelderland when she went to Curacao at the outbreak of the trouble between the Netherlands and Venezuela, is returning home to assume command of the Dutch naval school. His new command carries with it a promotion in rank. Capt. VanAsbeck is carrying to his government a report on conditions in Venezuela.

Lieut.-Gen. Josceline H. Wodehouse, who has been Governor of Bermuda since June, 1907, has left Hamilton, Bermuda, on his way to India by way of England. He will take command of the Northern (Punjaub) Division in India in succession to Gen. Sir Bindon Blood, and Col. Chapman, the senior military officer, will administer the government of the colony until the arrival of Lieut.-Col. Frederick Walter Kitchener, who succeeds Gen. Wodehouse as Governor.

Gen. Morteza Kahn, Persian Minister to the United States, estimates that within the last few years 30,000 persons have been killed in political riots in Persia.

After acting as Swedish envoy to Denmark for some months, Herman de Lagercrantz, accompanied by his wife and daughters, is now en route from Copenhagen to Washington to resume his post as Minister to the United States.

Cecil Spring-Rice, who has been British Minister at Teheran, is to be transferred to Stockholm. He will be succeeded by Sir George Head Barclay, who at one time was third secretary of the British legation at Washington.

King Edward is the possessor of a wonderful collection of walking-sticks, among which the most remarkable, and perhaps the most valuable, is the nearest approach extant to the horn of the Unicorn, which appears in the Royal Arms. It is cut from the single horn of a white rhinoceros—a species now extinct, from which the heraldic Unicorn is supposed to have originated—and is unique as regards its length, which is forty-two inches. It was given, more than forty years ago, by a Kaffir chief to Louis Solomon, a South African pioneer, and, inclosed in a case of native bamboo, was presented to the King when he opened the South African Exhibition of 1907.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

JUDGE J. M. LEATHERS of the Indianapolis Superior Court recently returned from a European tour, during which he visited the law courts in London. Their method of procedure, he says, impressed him very favorably, because of the business-like methods of the judges and attorneys, who wasted no time in quarreling with each other, as is often the case in America.

Thomas Stewart, deputy Governor of Allipore, near Calcutta, India, is visiting his brother, James R. Stewart, at Orange, N. Y. Until Tuesday last they had not seen each other in thirty years.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, possesses the most roomy and perfectly equipped official car in existence. There are nine rooms in the car, the first being a reception room, with accommodations for fifteen persons. There are also two bedrooms fitted with brass bedsteads, with a bath room between. Farther on is a well-equipped office.

Rensselaer Tenbroeck, for more than twenty years general eastern agent of the Union Pacific in New York, and previously for many years with the Burlington, has reached the age of 70 years and will retire under the pension rules of the company.

J. T. Willett, of South Portland, Me., is the owner of one of the smallest dogs on record. This little bunch of dog flesh and hair is a Yorkshire terrier, 2 years old and weighing one and a quarter pounds. Tiny was imported from England about a year ago. She is about the size of a half-grown kitten and was the smallest dog ever seen at the Bangor dog show. She won the first prize for the best dog.

A. Radclyffe Dugmore, a well-known outdoor photographer, will leave New York in December or January for British East Africa for the purpose of photographing big game in their native state. He was the first man to photograph fish in the water. One of his specialties is the photographing of birds, of which he has taken 10,000 pictures. Among other schemes he has for obtaining his pictures in East Africa is that of having the animals photograph themselves. This he has already tried successfully with caribou and similar big game. For the purpose a string is attached to the flashlight apparatus, and one end fixed to a spring or some other haunt of the animals in such a way that they will step on it, set off the apparatus and take the picture. Photographs taken in this way are particularly valuable owing to the vivid expression which usually appears on the faces of the animals.

Gov. Hoch of Kansas, whose term expires in January, proposes to engage in newspaper work as soon as he lays down the reins of government, and is already casting around for an opportunity. He does not wish to be idle for a moment. The Governor doesn't have to take on any additional work to keep the wolf from the door. His lecture work is good for from $10,000 to $20,000 a year, depending wholly upon the number of engagements he desires to fill. He has demands that would probably yield him $25,000 a year if he would supply them. But he will likely be content to rake in $20,000 or less.

SCIENTISTS, EXPLORERS.

AVISCOMTE MONTMORIN, a member of the French Astronomical Society has invented a new form of sun dial which cannot only be readily adapted for use in any latitude, but can also be adjusted to allow for the "time equation;" he hour scale is made so as to be shifted slightly for each day, according to a time curve laid off on the instrument.

Prof. Sciaparelli, the head of the Italian expedition in Egypt, is making headway in his investigations of the necropolis of Azint. Some 200 Egyptians are at work and a great number of funeral objects are being constantly brought to light, besides many inscriptions which are of great interest in connection with the early Egyptian history. In each burying place the explorers have found an effigy of the defunct carved in wood.

Dr. Jean Charcot, the well-known explorer and scientist, has sailed for the South Polar regions on his second Antarctic expedition. He is accompanied by a scientific staff of eight, and a crew of twenty-two men. The expedition will head for a part of the Antarctic continent south of Cape Horn, and will attempt to make its way along the coast as far as Alexander II. Land, where the vessel will take up its winter quarters. Excursions will then be made toward the pole by means of motor sledges.

After devoting nearly three months to the exploration of Labrador, Eugene Delano of New York, and Clarke Washburn of Chicago, reached St. Johns, N. F., on the mail steamer last Saturday. Delano and Washburn penetrated Labrador from the sea coast to the famous Grand Falls, one of the greatest cascades in the world. The only party of Americans who ever made the trip previously was the one headed by Henry Bryant of Philadelphia in 1892.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

MISS SALLY WORD has just been elected assessor and collector of taxes for Palestine, Tex., and Mrs. E. P. Turner and Mrs. P. P. Tucker have been chosen as members of the Dallas Board of Education. The election of these three women is the result of the opinion given by the Attorney-General that under the Constitution of Texas women are eligible to municipal office.

Mrs. Ada von Boos-Farrar, the daughter of a German noble, and niece by marriage of the late Dean Farrar of London, is maintaining a home for the families of convicts in New York, which she calls Brookside Farm.

The Countess Maria von Linden, Ph. D., of Bonn University, who has been engaged for some time in research and experimental work on the subject of the endurance of hunger among butterflies, is about to publish the result of her efforts. The Countess has found that a butterfly can live for seventeen days without food, losing during that period two-thirds of its normal weight.

Mrs. John O. Johnson of Toledo made a new record as nurse and steamboat captain the other day. Her husband, the captain of the John Schulte, was disabled during a storm on the lakes. Mrs. Johnson not only acted as skipper in his place, but took the wheel and brought the vessel safely down the Detroit River and across Lake St. Clair to Toledo, besides caring for her husband.

Sarah I. Cashman, a fourteen-year-old Jewish girl, has made a remarkably good dramatization of Mrs. Amelia E. Barr's novel, "A Bow of Orange Ribbon," to be performed by the Delancey Club of New York City, of which Miss Cashman is a member. Miss Phillips, who is at the head of the English department of the DeWitt Clinton High School, found it necessary to make very few chances in the dramatized version, despite the youth of the author.

Miss Ruby Abrams, who was recently graduated at the head of the art class in Cooper Institute, is deaf, and until a few years ago was also dumb. She has been an art student ever since she was graduated at the head of her class six years ago at the Institute for the Improved Instruction of Deaf Mutes. She has the record of having won four prizes during her art course.

Mr. Goelet Rolled Away.

One of the "peasantry," as those who live in Newport call others who work for a living, got the best of Robert Walton Goelet the other day according to the Cincinnati Times-Star. He was a newspaper photographer, sent to Newport to get pictures of arid aristocracy for the delectation of a middle-class world. The pictures were to be accompanied by jaunty little paragraphs, in which slight attention would be paid to the superiority of the pictured ones. The photographer set up his machine by the curb and waited. By and by Mr. Goelet, riding hard with a bunch of ladies, came along. He fluttered across the street to the camera man. "Don't you dare take a picture of these ladies," he threatened.

The artist, who had previously snapped his machine about eight times, shot in a fresh wad of films, and then absently said "Huh?"

"I'll break your camera if you dare to use it on our party," said Mr. Goelet.

The camera man, a young person with a fresh colored, rosy face, boasting features pronouncedly Celtic, was roused by this threat. "Now, look-ee here, Birdie," he said. "You make a noise like a hoop and roll away. If you so much as wiggle your little pink finger at me or my camera I will daintily dab you on the map."

Mr. Goelet went away. That was all there was to it. All that afternoon he shrieked about the insolence of the lower classes, but he didn't make any loud noise in the hearing of the camera person.

During our last meeting a gentleman, representing a benevolent order of young men, called and placed in our hands a splendid sum of money to be spent upon these children at our discretion, with the assurance, also, that more would be forthcoming when that had been used. So, though, we are laying aside for the present our own work, we are in keeping with the spirit of our pledge, and when this labor of love is completed, our particular work will be resumed. If there are any who can give a few hours' sewing in this connection, such are earnestly requested to attend our next meeting, or to notify the chairman of the Domestic Science or Invalid Cheer Chapter.

A cordial invitation is given to all to be present Wednesday evening at No. 1617 Girard street, at which time the Domestic Science Chapter will unite with the Fancy Workers for an evening of pleasure.

Invalid Cheer Chapter.

The Secretary of the Invalid Cheer Chapter submits the following report:

The regular meeting of the Invalid Cheer Chapter was held with Mrs. B. Frye, Tuesday, September 22, with a goodly attendance. Quite an amount of work was accomplished, and as we worked we planned a number of things we wish to do in the near future.

A note of thanks was extended to S. S. of Plymouth, for a painted cushion top, which she presented to us.

A BIRTHDAY LETTER.

One Is Requested for Three Shut-in Members of Each and All Society in October.

Mrs. A. E. L., who has always been a devoted friend to the shut-in girls of Each and All Society, makes a request as follows:

Dear members of Invalid Cheer Chapter and girls of the Each and All Society. Here are the addresses of our shut-in members, together with dates of those who will have birthday anniversaries during the month of October. They are all poor and needy. A cheerful letter, inclosing a mite, or some stamps from our girls would make those birthday anniversaries happy days for these dear sick ones.

October 16 will be the birthday anniversary for Miss Bertha Parker, of Irving, N. Y. A happy letter and some stamps would be nice for her.

October 18 will be the birthday anniversary of an Each and All girl, who calls the poorhouse "home." A dime shower would be the most wonderful thing for her. This means that every letter sent to her should contain a dime. The address is Kate Dockstader, City Dispensary, Scranton ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

October 20 will be the birthday anniversary of one of our girls, who is in a home for incurables, at Cincinnati, O. A letter with stamps and a coin, will be greatly appreciated.

Let us strive to make these three shut-in girls just a little happy on these days.

I am glad to meet with you all again and hope to become better acquainted with all the members of Invalid Cheer Chapter. I have been asked to act as corresponding chairman, and it will make me very happy to do so. It is a great and glorious work, doing for others—and we shall never know how much we do until our life's work is over and we meet above. So let us all do all we can and God will do the rest. I am always glad to receive letters and shall be glad to see any of you on Sunday, as that is the only day I have home. I go to business every week and am too tired at night to do anything except write my cheer letters. I am fond of post cards, especially leather ones for my sofa pillow.

Every girl of our Each and All Society should make it a duty to send a cheerful message to at least one of these three shut-in members, for her birthday. It isn't much to do, not a long letter, but a cheerful, sincere note, that will convince that even shut out from the world as they are, they are not forgotten.

Commends Animal Aid Chapter.

Mrs. J. E. of Palmyra, in a letter to Mrs. M. M. of our society, commends her interest in the Animal Aid Chapter. She writes as follows:

I wish to thank you for your appreciation of my feeble efforts in behalf of poor, tortured animals.

If I only had the gift of expression to voice my sentiments and feelings I would gladly use my pen for that purpose. There is nothing that hurts me more than to see, or know, of suffering of dumb creatures from abuse or other causes.

The overdrawn check-rein is often made to be an instrument of torture, raising the head to an uncomfortable position with the eyes exposed to the glare of the sun and in such position that the horse can not see the road, thereby causing him to stumble, and thus he is compelled to go hour after hour.

I thank you for your invitation to join the Each and All Society. I do not fully understand its purpose. I should be glad to join, but do not feel that I could live up to the pledge, as I am a "leaner" instead of a "lifter," for I have been an invalid for two years and a half and am dependent on others for many things pertaining to my comfort and needs.

I thank you for the address of the A. A. chairman, as I should like to know more concerning the object and work of the chapter.

I will close with the wish that the Each and All Society may be the means of awakening a deeper and more widespread interest in all that tends to elevate the human race and alleviate the lot of all dumb creatures.

This girl is already a member of our Each and All Society in spirit and thought.

To the Readers.'

Mrs. B. P. S. of San Francisco is greatly interested in the Readers' Chapter, and has sent something worth remembering on this subject.

As the active members of the Readers' Chapter are about to resume meetings, after six weeks' respite, it may not be amiss to say a special word to them at this juncture and inspire them to fresh courses and greater gains therefrom, mayhap.

In no other way can I reach all readers in and out of the chapter, to share with them these thoughts on "What to Read and How to Read It," by T. P. O'Connor, M.P.

"Reading is part of the great universal 'pursuit of happiness.' Also it is a sea to drown care and a sword to kill time. It is a pastime, like golf, only a much better one. I read because I enjoy reading. I try not to pretend to like things I don't like—and when I am bored I try candidly to admit the fact. I have again and again failed to get through masterpieces, or even to perceive that masterpieces are masterpieces. Therefore, I no longer attempt to read them. But at the same time I do not make a practice in my quest of enjoyment of discarding every book that threatens to prove tedious.

"The main principle which should underlie the reading of every man is the esthetic or intellectual bliss to be derived from reading. His perusals should fall into two divisions—the disciplinary and the pursiv joyous. When he is beginning to form his taste in imaginative literature his disciplinary reading should consist of classical imaginative masterpieces. As time proceeds, the inexperienced student, growing experienced, will discover that his joyous reading approximates more and more to his disciplinary reading. He will discover that the verdict of the ages was right, even though it did not accord with his own early views. He will discover that the reason why the classical writers from Homer to whom you please are esteemed and immortal is not primarily because they are deep and correct, and restrained, and shapely, but primarily because they give joy, sheer joy, to the largest number of cultivated readers."

I approve these sentiments and believe my fellow-readers will concur readily enough at the same time, I like to blend the joy-producing literature with that of a practical character, hence it may not be out of place to repeat what I once said in days gone by: "Let us be sure that what we read is worth reading, and that which serves a need should be given first place.

"Books and essays in harmony with one's profession, trade or calling, be it the most fundamental homemaking and motherhood, are the ones to select before choosing those merely for pastime or because some one else recommends them, though they may be of little or no value to yourself.

"What one reads is second in importance to what one eats—maybe more so, if one can thus learn wiser principles regarding nutrition than one already possesses.

"There will always be two kinds of readers—systematic and desultory.

"The desired factor in either mode is that one gains, not loses, by the plan pursued. I myself feel that practically all girls should be encouraged to read books that will better

EACH AND ALL MOTTO.

Golden thoughts, golden deeds,
Rid life's garden of its weeds.

OUR PLEDGE:

"To make one another happy, to lighten one another's burdens, to share one another's cares, to be lifters, not leaners, to make the world a little sweeter place to live in, to be mutual encouragers, never discouragers of any one, to start songs, not complainings, and to do every day something beautiful, some kindness which will cheer and strengthen another."

fit them for homemaking and motherhood; then, if they are to assume that exalted role, they shall have some qualifications. And to those who do not become wives, the knowledge thus acquired will never come amiss."

It is to be hoped that the pleasant custom of reporting the chapter's proceedings in detail, will be continued, so the distant ones may follow the subjects considered and feel in sympathy with what transpires in the inner circle, so to say.

There are many girls all over the country who are interested in the pursuits of the Reading Chapter, and, as you say, the reports given in detail permit them to keep in touch with the readers. Later in the season, it would be well if the readers would take up a regular course in which the out-of-town girls could follow.

A Simple Prescription.

Mrs. C. G. of Bakersfield, passes on to rheumatic friends a simple cure:

I thank "Juan Alvarado" of Los Angeles for sending clipping about L. Burbank and hope to receive it soon. I inclose my mite toward the wheel chair for our sick member and regret being unable right now to send more, being myself under heavy expense through sickness in my family. Since you have not yet sent me the list of addresses, please add that of "Versatile Verona," and when the present rush is over I will ask her something about pneumonia, as that is my particular enemy.

I am not troubled with rheumatism, but a kind old lady here told us of this remedy, which entirely cured her. I offer it to the Each and All members and all not members and only hope it will be found good:

Five cents worth gum camphor, shaved fine, dissolved in one pint coal oil. Rub three times a day if pain is sever, otherwise twice will do. Cover the painful parts with dry flannel. Don't saturate the flannel itself, as it will blister. In case of the pain being in chest or shoulder, a kind of flannel jacket should be worn. If this remedy doesn't cure, I do not think it will kill, and it costs less than 10 cents. I would be delighted to hear of its benefiting some one, and my address may be obtained, or a postal be forwarded to me by the Each and All Society.

This is indeed a most simple remedy for a most distressing complaint. It is a well-known fact that coal oil possesses much virtue as a liniment.

For the Wheel-Chair.

Mrs. L. and another sympathetic friend contribute to the wheel chair fund:

The inclosed $1 is toward the purchase of the wheeled chair for your San Fernando girl—50 cents from a friend and 50 cents from myself. I learned of this sad case last winter while visiting with relatives who live near her home, and I know how patiently and uncomplainingly she endures her long sickness. We send much sympathy for the invalid and pray for her speedy recovery.

How gladly I am piling up these coins which are coming in for our sick girl's wheel chair. One dollar and thirty-five cents has come in since my report elsewhere in our department today, which makes a total of $8.55. The chair will cost $15, and so we need still a few dimes.

A Beautiful Letter.

A member whom we shall call "An out-of-town member" sends this very beautiful letter to the editor of this department:

Thank you kindly for your word of welcome to the circle of heart friends, though my courage almost fails me when I think of the responsibilities of that pledge—that each day must record some kind word or deed; when so many days are spent with only myself to minister to. Yet, dear friend, did you know the effort each simple duty takes in the doing, I might hope to win approval could I but do it in patience and sweetness of spirit, but I do not always do this; failures come far too often and the tears as well. But even now I am breaking the pledge, and if you could come and see me now would understand that my face is often more cheerful than my pen.

I am in fairly good health now, after nearly four years of invalidism—much of the time in extreme suffering—but am unable to walk (because of a growth on the bone of the knee joint) without crutches except a little after a fashion in my room. Dear friends have given me a wheel chair, so that I get about my daily household tasks quite swiftly. My heart goes out to that other one who needs the same help, and I shall add something to that parcel for that special purpose. I would like to write her, and inclose stamp for address. I would like to send cash, but even every quarter spent means a denial of some essential daily need.

By all this explanation you will readily see that I hesitate about becoming a member of the Invalid Cheer Chapter. I know it all so well that I am afraid my sympathies would be stronger than my ability to encourage or cheer.

I do want to be numbered among the "Would-Be's," as I would so much like to have my pen do a little to help along and I need the help and inspiration of Marguerite Winnifred's earnest purpose and words. I can speak the thoughts that come to me (or have in times past,) but my pen stutters and stops and ideas pass while I am searching the word. Therefore, kindly forward my name to that department. Also, I see a notice of a Bible Study Class, the lessons to be sent to shut-ins. I should especially like to take that up.

And to tell all the story now, and have it done with, I must add that for many years I have been actively engaged in musical work, studying and teaching piano, voice, choral, choir, school, etc., and my greatest grief is that I am no longer able to lend voice or hand to that service, for my heart is there. I love it, I believe in it, as one of the greatest helps in uplifting humanity to an appreciation of the beautiful, the true, the good, and the higher, better life which awaits us when we reach the greater, grander harmonies of the heavenly country. So I would like very much to keep in touch with what that chapter is doing, possibly by becoming an associate member if that is permissable.

Now, have I not proved my selfishness, as stated in my first letter?

I am sorry to take so much of your time, but felt it best if I were to be one of you to have my limitations understood, so that you could the easier find some other place where I could be of use; for this I would be glad to be in any way possible. It is heart-warming to come in touch with those who are doing kind and loving deeds just for the joy of doing them. Be comforted for all the weariness by the comfort you are giving others.

Your letter cannot help but be an uplifting influence to all who read it. Then let that be a sufficient reason for you to grant the forgiveness. I crave, for publishing what you sent to the editor of this department as a private letter.

"IT ALL DEPENDS."

The Conclusion of Hope Russell on the Subject of Business Women and Matrimony.

Hope Russell of Tropico, one of our newest members, gives her impressions most interestingly upon the subject of wives, business or otherwise.

All this discussion about business wives has shown some of us how much there is to learn in regard to a matter on which we supposed we were already pretty well posted. However, is it not a fact that most of us have decided the question from our own individual point of view? Yet it really depends upon the combination of elements or characteristics and conditions which go to make up success or failure in the family as in all the affairs of life.

Take for instance our dear friend Versatile Verona. How overwhelmingly she piles up the requirements necessary to becoming a good wife. One must have, first "business training and knowledge of the value of dollars and cents," also "knowledge of the common sense things of life." "To be a home maker she must understand the harmony of colors, forms, sounds, the value of ethics." She must be a thorough student of physiology and dietetics and their relation to each other. "She must know how to prevent disease, physical, moral, mental and spiritual." (What would become of the doctors, lawyers and ministers." "Must know how to prevent the ills of life." Oh, but then this would be heaven, indeed.

I am greatly inclined to believe that this idealistic V. V. has never undertaken this life of double blessedness or surely some of these beautiful ideals, these visions of beatific bliss possible to this perfect woman of her conception, would have been slightly blurred by the daily friction produced by dirty faces and hands to wash, meals to cook, dishes to wash, beds to make, rooms to sweep, and so endlessly to the last weary hour of a long day, with no moment free to practice either philosophy or chemistry, or hardly the common morality of a sweet temper.

Forgive me, dear friend Verona, it is, indeed, well to have ideals, else we should never desire anything beyond our present state, but, I beg of you, do not put the necessary requirements to becoming a good wife so very far beyond our reach that we give up in sheer hopelessness of ever being able to attain such fitness as to hope to become a partner and helpmeet in some man's joys and sorrows. For this is what we all want to do, and if we are honest we shall confess it.

But why do we want to do this, you and I? To get a home? Why, of course, we expect to have that. To escape the obloquy of being called old maids? Well, that counts. That we may have somebody provide us with luxuries while we sit idle? Perhaps. Because we really love so much that we are willing to give up our whole time and thought and attainments to making this one man happier, better and more successful? Love so much that we forget to demand his adoration, his most polite attention to the rehearsal of our petty household trials? Forget that he is right cross tonight, and only remember that we love him, that he is weary with the rush of the hustling world, and that it is our joy to help make him more comfortable, to drive away the scowls with smiling nonsense, to love him into content and happiness again?

And if we do this, shall we be happy? Well, it all depends.

If the man we married is a strong, capable, energetic, ambitious man, doing with all his might whatever he undertakes; coming home wholesomely but thoroughly tired from his contact with all sorts and kinds of men and conditions, desiring to drop all the cares of the day and forget them—for in this only is rest—and he loves us, or even cares for us moderately, then we shall be happy. For the frowns will soon pass; and if the dinner is good, and the children are quiet and well behaved, the smiles will soon come; for I do emphatically declare to you my belief that ninety-nine men out of the hundred will respond and return to us with good measure, our loving ministrations.

But, given a man well intentioned, perhaps, but not over strong physically, undecided in action, wavering in judgment, who brings his cares with him and likes to talk them over—for men like sympathy as much as women—such a man needs most the wife of business acumen and ability, and will be braced up and helped by her encouragement, advice and business fellowship. The result, we think, would be the same, mutual interests and helpfulness would certainly bring mutual confidence and love and content in each other.

The combinations are endless, each demanding a different solution, each one must be analyzed to know best how to meet it; how best to combine the characteristics of both, so as to produce the best results in the home and life and character.

So, dear girls, Each and All, cultivate all your talents; study, learn, know all it lies within your power to attain; but if you wish to be desired of some good man and to be a good wife, above all else LOVE; for no matter how much you may know of business, science, medicine, philosophy, art or religion, if you do not love, and that both generously and unselfishly, life will be a failure.

And perhaps it matters not so much if you have not any of these requirements, save only tact and common sense, and the desire to be a good wife, if you have love and enough, "all these shall be added unto you."

For when need comes, as some of us know—our friend Juan Alvarado for example—we shall find that "love will find a away," and we shall learn and learn, and even though it be with tears and weary sighs and much waste of good material, the end will be happiness. So you see according to our way of thinking, it all depends.

A Home-Maker.

Mrs. N. T. S. of Los Angeles is a home-maker, above everything else.

Thank you for kindly overlooking my delay. I kept the round robin from its due progress for fourteen days, but could not possibly help it, and only too gladly promise to "do better next time." We are now moved to Los Angeles, if not quite settled yet in our new home, and I hope to become acquainted with you as honored president and others of the Each and All soon. I cannot go out much, with so many little ones to look after, but the way will surely open for closer association.

I sent the round-robin letter on its way today. It has an actual power, of its own, to cheer and enlighten its readers and writers. Last week I received from our shut-in member of Irving, N. Y., a grateful response to a letter sent to her a month ago. Her case (paralyzed fifteen years) is very pathetic. She says she never sees the Each and All letters printed on our page, so I will send her the paper each week.

I think the new bylaws fine. I should so like to be free to attend meetings and participate in all the good work outlined. I can see such a fine field open to the workers in so many directions. But all may keep the beautiful pledge in some degree, even if confined largely at home. I have a package of nice quilt pieces ready to send the "shut-in" at the City Dispensary at Norfolk, Va. The idea suggested by me as to business girls making good wives was perhaps too personal. I was a stenographer for four years, with serious cares outside and only too glad to merge my activities into homemaking. I now think considering the kind of work I have undertaken in our home, and my limited means there is not a happier home in the world. All evidence of this assurance, however, is not on the surface, for housekeeping has often to defer to homemaking—that is, pressing needs of my household, often compel me to leave housework undone as according to the standard. The comfort given through attention paid to the passing wants and needs of the little ones, and harmonizing the whole offsets that defection, however, and home is everything.

However, it must always be remembered that the husband and father has much to do with results, and great is the satisfaction when he is loving and helpful. He deserves his share of credit.

As to contributions toward the "grab-bags," etc., shall we send on little articles for them as first called for? I have no fancy work or nice articles for selling, but quite a collection of small ones which I thought might be suitable for a "grab-bag."

The Round Robin letters are a source of great pleasure to the mothers of the Each and All. There is, as you say, a vast difference between a home-maker and a mere housekeeper.

From Our Sick Girl.

From the San Fernando Valley comes this letter sent by our sick girl.

I noticed in our department of the paper that you started a fund for me for the purchase of a wheel chair, so I thought I would write to you after reading over the article. The chair belongs to a young lady, her father and mother both used it before their death, so I got it second-hand. I was to pay $2 a month for it. I got it January 1. I felt sure I would knit shawls or do fancy work to pay for it, but I could not get the work to do. The wheel chair will cost $15. It is so kind of you dear girls to think of me, I just can't keep the tears back. I do thank you all, and if I can help at any time I surely will be more than ready. My folks were so surprised when I told them. They are doing all they can for my comfort. My father is an asthmatic, and is over 60 years old, and is not able to do hard, heavy work, so I told him that expenses were so heavy I could do without my chair. It surely is a comfort to me, though my sister and sister-in-law take me out riding when I am able to go. Oceans of love to Each and All.

Dear girls, you will see from the above that the wheel chair for our sick girl will cost $15, and we are still quite away off from that amount, $7.25 has been received up to date for this purpose. Those who desire to have a hand in the purchase of the wheeled chair for our sick girl, may send their mites in to the editor of this department.

Wishes Addresses.

S. H. of Los Angeles, has returned to the city after her vacation and wishes to take up the work of Each and All girls:

After an absence from the city for four months, I am happy to return and especially to affiliate once more with the Each and All girls. I joined the society last February and was especially interested in the Art and Invalid Help chapters. Please send me the address of the chairman of the latter chapter; also kindly place my name on your post card exchange list. I would like the names of three of those now on the list, whose addresses I send to you.

These names and addresses will be forwarded to you at the earliest opportunity.

Special Notice.

A cordial invitation is given to all Each and All members and their friends to attend the entertainment Wednesday evening at No. 1617 Girard street. If you are interested in this page, you are a "friend," whether you know us personally or not, and as such we invite you to come and get acquainted. A small admission fee will be charged.

For Post-Card Exchange.

G. M. of Philadelphia, would like to keep up with what the Each and All girls are doing:

I should like to become a member of the "E. & A. Society." What are the requirements and how can I get the page every week? If you have a post-card exchange list, may I have one?

The secretary of the society has answered this letter, and welcomed our Quaker girl among us.

TRANSFER PATTERNS.

The Times, on Sunday, October 4, and each Sunday thereafter, will distribute to each subscriber and purchaser of the paper a four-page TRANSFER PATTERN SECTION. It is a unique, exclusive, attractive feature of particular interest and value to women. It will not injure the most delicate fabrics, and so simple that a child can successfully manipulate the process.

Frances is a pupil of the Westlake School for Girls. Her picture reproduced here today gives a faint idea of what a beautiful little girl she is.

Fun from the Tots.

Auntie: What do you think Alan? God has sent you a dear little new sister.

Alan (already fairly well off for toys;) Oh, I say. Isn't Dod spoiling me?

The Circle tells this: "Jimmie, your face is dirty again this morning," exclaimed the teacher. "What would you say if I came to school every day with a dirty face?"

"Huh," grunted Jimmie; "I'd be too perlite to say anything."

SAND GAMES.

Here is a trio of sand games that may be tried on your next holiday at the beach, children. The first is called "Sandfun." Isn't that a funny name? The second is "Pebblepail," and the last of the trio is called "Sand Checkers."

The sea-beach game called sandfun is to be played with sand pails and sea shells on a nice smooth piece of sandy beach. As many as four may play the game. Two may also play.

Players may all use one sandpail to play with, but it is just as well for each to use his own if he has one. The first rule of the game is "have a good time," but no player must interfere with another's good time.

First, select a nice, smooth piece of clean beach about four feet square. Draw a boundary line around this so as to make a square, as in Figure 1. Second, mark off the divisions as in Figure 2. Third, players seat themselves as in Figures A, B, C and D.

A tosses up a clam shell, which is the counter, and if it falls upon its back A may not play. If it falls upon the sand with inner side next the sand A takes the sand pail and makes a sand cake, which he places in one of the corners of the square which belongs to him. When he has done this B's turn and C's turn and D's turn follow in order. When a player turns down the wrong side of the clam shell counter he loses his turn and cannot play. When a player's sand cake does not turn out well he must forfeit that sand cake and pat the sand back smoothly. The first player to fill all his corners first wins.

PEBBLEPAIL.

Two or three players may play this game.

It is to be played on a sandy beach or where there is a pebbly beach, and the game is played on a diagram for a game board with sand pails and pebbles.

First—To start out, each player hunts over the beach till he has found twenty nice little round pebbles to play with. The pebbles may be of different kinds if he so desires.

Second—Players draw the diagram as Figure 3 represents, making it about two feet long.

Third—The players place two sand pails as represented by A and B.

Now your game is all ready to play and you walk off from it about eight feet, and then sit down on the beach and begin to play, playing always in turn.

Whichever player begins must try to get a pebble into pail A or B. A counts one and B counts two.

Each player starts with a score of ten, but if his pebble does not fall into either pail he loses from his score. If the pebble he has tossed falls on A side he loses one, and if on B side he loses two.

The first player to make the score of twenty wins.

SAND CHECKERS.

Two players may play this game. It is to be played on the sea beach, but it may also be played in a back yard sand pile or on any space of level earth or sand that is large enough to be marked off properly.

First, players select a plot of sand smooth and damp enough to be clearly marked off in a square having a side four feet in length.

Next, players draw four lines across the square each way, as shown in the diagram, figure 4. These lines are equally distant from each other, so that the entire space is cut up into small squares, all of the same size. Now your game board for your sand checkers is ready.

To play the game you must have some shells to use as men in playing, so each player hunts up five seashells of the same sort. They must be different from the other players' shells and easily distinguished from them.

The two players place their men (shells) on opposite sides of the sand game board in the spaces A. B, C, D and E.

Then players play the game as they would play a game of checkers changing the shells to large pebbles when the men are crowned kings. Players distinguish their kings by the color of the pebbles, using black or gray to distinguish one from the white of the other.

Clark Robertson, on his way to school.

A Tiny Artist.

Clark Flood Robertson is the name of the manly little fellow who is pictured here, on his way to school. Clark is quite an artist for a tiny lad of only 8 years. He loves to draw. All his pennies are spent in buying artist materials, and in his little playroom, which is fitted with an artist's desk, he spends all his spare time drawing. His teachers have highly commended his work, and say he shows a remarkable talent for one of such tender years.

Clark is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Robertson of No. 3728 South Grand avenue. He is in the second grade of the Thirtieth-street school.

UNCLE SAM AS TEACHER.

He Wishes His Postmasters to Educate the School Children.

Postmaster-General Meyer has recently isued an order to the postmasters of the country to confer with the school authorities as to the practicability of delivering to the school children short talks on the postal service. It is intended in this way to inform pupils of the great scope of a wonderful mail service, its operations, methods of delivering mail, classification of mail matter, and the operation of the registry, and money order departments.

Incidentally, the plans for betterment of the system, such as the establishing of postal savings banks and the extension of the parcels post will be told. If it is impracticable for postmasters to deliver these lectures, they are to furnish the necessary information to the school supervisors.

Postmaster-General Meyer's idea in seeking to have these lectures delivered to the school children is to impart to them knowledge which will render them useful to the postal service in seeing that letters are properly and plainly addressed. That there is great necessity for a plan of this kind is shown by the great volume of business transacted by the dead-letter office. During last year 18,145,178 pieces of mail matter were sent to the dead-letter office because the postoffice people were either unable to read the addresses, or the letters were misdirected.

Foldable Iron Beds

The standard foldable iron bed is just right for small rooms. It folds up. When in use it is just like any other iron bed. The factory making these beds was destroyed by fire. We cannot get more. On that account we want to close them out. The styles we have left are mostly 3-6 and crib sizes. We have about 16 4-6 size. To close out, your choice,

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,
305½ S. SPRING ST., near Third.
THE CELEBRATED RELIABLE ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST.

A resident of Los Angeles 25 years, and whose work is known throughout this entire land has made a life study of ASTROLOGY AND PALMISTRY, convincing hundreds of the BEST INTELLECTS and persons in all walks of life that his REMARKABLE READINGS and PREDICTIONS for future events in their lives are unparalleled.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The HOROSCOPE indicates the condition of health or disease, tells all about love, whom to marry and when, describing the marriage partner; shows deaths, divorce; tells about children; speculations, the best time to invest or to push affairs, and when to hold on to what has been gained; your talents; your environment; when and where to travel; what to seek and what to avoid; when one will be in danger of illness, accidents, death, losses, troubles; also of your good periods, coming—giving dates of these events for the future.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST, and WITH EACH PALM READING GIVES ALSO AN ASTROLOGICAL READING.

PROF. ALTHOUSE stands at the very head of the profession, having read more celebrated people than any other reader. His readings, too, must in no wise be classed with those of any other readers now operating in this part of the country, and his skilled work has no comparison with theirs whatever.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Frederick Warde, Louis James, Paul de Longpre, Admiral Schley, Senator Clark, ex-Gov. Pardee, David Starr Jordan, Gen. Chaffee, Baron Rothschild, Joaquin Miller, Ysaye, Sousa, Edison, Capt. Hobson, Caruso, Josef Hofmann, Huntington, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Lillian Nordica, Calve, Julia Marlowe, Modjeska, Sembrich, Jefferson, Lillian Russell, Nat Goodwin, Maxine Elliott, Fritzi Scheff, and hundreds of others.

PRICES REASONABLE—within the reach of all—but PROF. ALTHOUSE cannot read you for the very cheap price that a cheap humbug reader pretends to read you for.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of horoscopes and hand reading has brought him a large and successful practice. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

Never before in the history of occult science has a man of PROF. W. E. KING'S professional standing consented to place his services at the disposal of the public for such a nominal consideration. Realizing that this city has been overrun with pretenders and that many of its citizens are anxious to visit a genuine psychic PROF. W. E. KING has decided to place his consultation fee within the reach of all. Years of study, travel in far eastern lands, and endless experience, coupled with rare psychical gifts, have made him the world's greatest living exponent of HINDOO and OCCULT MYSTICISM.

DO YOU WISH TO KNOW
How can I have good luck?
How can I succeed in business?
How can I make home happy?
How can I conquer my enemies?
How can I marry the one I choose?
How can I marry well?
How soon can I marry?
How can I conquer my rival?
How can I make any one love me?
How soon will my lover propose?
How can I get a letter?
How can I get a position?
How can I remove bad influences?
How can I control any one?
How make distant ones think of me?
How can I settle my quarrel?
How can I hold my husband's love?
How can I hold my wife's love?
PROF. W. E. KING tells all—never asks a question.

EXTRAORDINARY PSYCHIC POWER, combined with his superior knowledge of occult force, enables him to read human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age; his powers are wonderful and indisputable; his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise and to the point, in love, marriage, divorce, sales, wills, patents, journeys, old estates, investments, property mortgages.

I WILL GIVE YOU THE LUCK that wins success in love, marriage, divorce, speculation, business, health and transactions of all kinds; restore lost affection; I will tell you how to gain the love of the one you desire, even though miles away; will tell you who and when you will marry.

I WILL TELL YOU HOW TO ATTRACT, control and change the thoughts, intentions, actions or character so that you will reach the highest possible development of mental vigor, health, happiness and capacity to earn wealth; how to accumulate a fortune and be happy.

I WILL TELL OF YOUR HUSBAND, WIFE, lover, friends, or enemies; who is true and who is false; will tell you every hope, fear, ambition, better than you could tell it yourself; those that are unsuccessful are made prosperous and started on the road to wealth; tell you how to make your husband or wife, or any one, be kind and true to you.

IF YOU ARE GOING TO SEE A PSYCHIC WHY NOT SEE THE BEST?

As the best is always the cheapest in the end. Better consult no clairvoyant at all than one who is unable to help you, as false prophets do more harm than good, as they leave you in a worse condition than before by their false advice, based upon guesses; but PROF. W. E. KING has an established reputation; testimonials and credentials from thousands of your own citizens and friends.

If you have already made a mistake, thrown away your money and lost confidence through dealing with much-advertised and self-styled palmists and psychics and their cheap, clap-trap methods, start from the beginning and consult PROF. W. E. KING. He will tell you frankly your condition and what you may expect; if nothing can be done for you he will not take one cent of your money. Has not this honesty on the face of it?

PROF. W. E. KING FORETELLS MANY EVENTS.

Some of the prophecies made by Prof. W. E. KING and which were fulfilled to the letter and day were:

The explosion of the United States warship Bennington at San Diego, Cal. It was predicted that on that day the government would lose a ship in the Pacific.

Prof. W. E. KING, Psychic, had warned the public of San Francisco's earthquake of 1906 for years.

Prof. W. E. KING predicted the Japanese-Russian war. The day of the month and year was predicted on which hostilities would be begun and the victory of the Japanese.

Prof. W. E. KING predicted the late President McKinley's assassination at "Buffalo Exposition."

Prof. W. E. KING predicted the assassination of Carter Harrison the elder three weeks before the weak-minded Prendergast fired the fatal shot at Chicago's chief executive.

Prof. W. E. KING predicted the earthquake at Kingston, Jamaica, W.I.; the earthquake in Chile; the Thaw-White tragedy; also predicted the Galveston flood.

On Jan. 17 two earthquake shocks were felt at Oban, Scotland. They had been predicted by W. E. KING.

Prof. W. E. KING, Psychic, has foretold many great events that took place on the day set.

Prof. W. E. KING is now located at 247 S. Hill st., where he will be pleased to meet his clients and many friends.

Recommended by a New York Judge: August 20, 1905—I cheerfully recommend Prof. King as a gifted psychic. He predicted my election and located important documents that had been lost three years. JUDGE F. B. CROWELL, Supreme Judge.

FROM LILLIAN RUSSELL, THE WELL-KNOWN ACTRESS.

I was greatly impressed with PROF. W. E. KING'S reading. His powers are truly marvelous. He develops in one a force that enables them to attract people, to interest them and to please them to their good and to your advantage without the least effort on one's part. His advice and assistance have been of great benefit to me.

FROM A PROMINENT MINISTER.

I desire to bear evidence to the genuineness of PROF. W. E. KING'S work. God gives to us an intuition whereby we may guide our lives. That PROF. W. E. KING possesses this guiding power to a marvelous degree is evident. The fact that his clients are his warmest and truest friends is alone a tribute to his sincerity and honest methods in dealing with all. He has rendered me immeasureable assistance. Rev. W. C. Jessup.

FROM M. ROTHSCHILD, THE WELL-KNOWN FINANCIER.

For the past five years PROF. W. E. KING'S advice and assistance have favorably influenced my business and financial affairs. I have tested nearly every psychic in this country and find PROF. W. E. KING'S advice reliable and far superior to any that I have ever met.

PROF. W. E. KING: I wish to give my testimonial for the benefit of those who wish to read it. Since I consulted you several weeks ago I have followed your advice and the instructions you gave me as nearly as I possibly could, and I can truly say the result has been marvelous. I shall consider it a privilege to recommend you to any person who will take the trouble to write to me. Yours truly, Maurice Winkler, 2529 State St., New York.

To Whom It May Concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. W. E. KING, as a psychic of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mental psychiship. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his services.
Dr. John Westerfield,
President Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.

In consulting a Psychic the very best is the first to be considered. The name

KARMA is famous in two hemispheres for her accurately correct reading of human life from cradle to grave.

KARMA
FROM INDIA stands alone in her magnificent power of reading the future of human kind.
Born with a double veil.
Educated in the Occult,
Mystery and Hindoo
Philosophy in India and Egypt.
KARMA gives you important dates, facts and figures; tells you of loved ones, living or dead;
YOUR SECRET TROUBLES, the cause and remedy—
in fact, tells you everything.
Locates absent ones, overcomes your rivals and enemies, gives infallible advice on all affairs of life, including business, law,
health, changes, travel,
patents, financial troubles,
love, courtship, marriage.

KARMA IS NOT A PSYCHIC FROM CHOICE, BUT BECAUSE FATE
HAS SO DECREED IT.
HER ANCESTORS WERE POWERFUL PRIESTS AND PHILOSOPHERS, AND HAVE FOR AGES HANDED DOWN THEIR WONDERFUL POWER
OR GIFT FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION; SO SHE HAS RECEIVED THE RICH INHERITANCE TOGETHER
WITH COMBINED KNOWLEDGE AND PRICELESS KNOWLEDGE OF GENERATIONS. NO MATTER WHAT YOUR PRESENT TROUBLE MAY BE, OR WHAT YOUR PAST EXPERIENCE HAS BEEN, YOU WILL SAVE TIME AND AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT BY AT ONCE CONSULTING HER.

YOU MAY WISH TO KNOW
"If it is advisable to make a change in business, in love, in marriage?"
"Shall I succeed in my new undertaking?"
"Can I obtain my hopes, my wishes, my ambitions?"
"Shall I ever enjoy the luxuries of wealth?"
"Can I trust my friends?"
"When shall I marry?"
"Shall I ever be divorced?"
"Does another share the love that rightfully belongs to me?"
"If so, whom?"
"Am I loved in return?"
"Is there a rival in my love?"
"When shall my love affairs terminate in marriage?"
"When shall my domestic troubles end?"
"How can I make my life and home happy?"
"Why do I not receive a letter?"
"Should I invest my money?"

"TRUTHFUL IN HER PREDICTIONS; RELIABLE IN HER ADVICE. No matter what troubles you may have with yourself or others, come and she will guide you. Mme. Karma advises you with a certainty, higher than human power.

Mme. Annuve gives reliable and important advice in all affairs of life, business transactions, speculations, claims, collections, mortgages, inventions, patents, stocks, law suits; brings about marriages, reunites the separated, helps more people to health, wealth and happiness than any psychic in America. Will tell you what business or occupation to follow to be successful. Where you shall go and whom to avoid. Her advice may be the means of saving you thousands of dollars and a great deal of trouble. Her parlors are visited by business men of good repute, anxious for reliable information as to the outcome of present and future investments. Whatever may be your troubles, anxiety, hopes, fears, and wishes, call on this gifted psychic, who has helped others and why not you?

Mme. Annuve has found it unnecessary to use columns of advertising space to secure patronage, for her business is already of a character to insure success; built up thro' accuracy and the demonstration of wonderful psychic power, she depends not on extravagant advertising of impossible character. She presents herewith a modest, truthful statement, which her work will verify in every particular.

322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store,)
by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND-READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn, in his investigations along psychological lines, that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT INFORMATION.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health, marriage and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
(Daily and evenings; Sundays, 9 to 2.)

WANTED—
To Purchase, Real Estate.

WANTED—TO PURCHASE REAL ESTATE. I want to purchase a good apartment building, or other good income city property. I own an elegant large tract of 48 acres in the northwestern part of the city, close to street car line, which I purchased to subdivide into lots. I paid $20,000 cash, and there is a balance of $28,000 which will not be due until nearly four years, with easy release clause when lots are deeded. On account of the money stringency that set in shortly after I purchased the property, I have been compelled to use all my ready cash and devote all of my time to other large enterprises, in which I am interested. This tract should bring its subdividers $125,000.

I am open for a good honest trade on a cash basis value of $30,000. What have you to offer that is worth the money? Address Z, box 35, TIMES OFFICE. 27

WANTED—TO PURCHASE.

MY MAGAZINE—"INVESTING FOR PROFit," (which I'll send free,) is worth $10 a copy to any man who intends to invest any money, however small; who has money invested unprofitably, or who can save $5 or more per month, but who hasn't learned the art of investing for profit.

It demonstrates the REAL earning power of money—the knowledge financiers and bankers hide from the masses.

It shows how to invest small sums and how to make them grow into fortunes—the actual possibilities of intelligent investments.

It reveals the enormous profits bankers make and shows how one can make the same profits safely. It explains HOW stupendous fortunes are made and WHY they are made—how $1000 grows to $22,000.

To introduce my magazine, write me NOW; mention this paper, and I'll send it six months FREE.

DO YOU KNOW EUCALYPTUS? HAVE you investigated the enormous profits to be derived from these wonderfully fast growing trees? Do you know that large tracts of land suitable for Eucalyptus trees can be bought CHEAP, subdivided, planted and sold at a remarkably BIG profit? We are organizing a company for the purpose of purchasing suitable Eucalyptus land that is extremely low priced, which we will plant, cultivate and offer for sale in small tracts. We have a selling plan that will cover a big territory and get RESULTS. This is the best investment proposition YOU were ever offered and will stand a most rigid investigation. For further particulars inquire.

BUSINESS CHANCES—

I own a beautiful subdivision of 220 lots in the northwestern part of the city, which has cost me nearly $70,000. The street car line runs through one of the main streets, in the center of this elegant tract. Nearly $10,000 has been spent in grading and street work and fixing up the tract. From the schedule of price I have established, the sale price of the lots will bring over $140,000. I desire a capable man with $10,000 cash or two men with $5000 each, or might organize syndicate to raise said sum, to further improve same, and immediately push the sale of these fine large lots at a very reasonable price per lot, and on the basis of $25 down and $10 per month. Address Z, box 38, TIMES OFFICE. 27

A¹ NO. 1 BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

FOR

EXPERIENCED BUSINESS MAN ONLY.

An opening that occurs once in a life time is now presented to a practical business man, who could assist in the Auditing and Financial Department of a large manufacturing, importing and jobbing business. The business is long and well established, growing rapidly, and the sales now running over a third of a million dollars annually. In the face of existing conditions this business is showing this year an increase of over thirty per cent. over last year; possibly no business in this city can show such a record. The concern has ample paid-up capital and no new stock for sale, but a fair-sized interest of a retiring member can be bought on favorable terms, and with a salary of from twenty-five hundred dollars to three thousand dollars per annum goes with it to the right man only. Banking references given and required. Fifteen to twenty thousand dollars will make the turn but party should be financially able beyond this. Will answer letters from business men only, giving their name, and the correspondence will be treated with the greatest business courtesy and confidential. Address W. box 37, TIMES OFFICE. 27

FOR SALE—ARE YOU IN THE RACE FOP any of our

$50 CASH PRIZES?

$20 first, $10 second, $5 third, fifteen $1 each. Easily earned in an hour or more by any boy or girl, man or woman, but only one in each family, without any cost to you, and no peddling or canvassing. And to each one competing we will also give a useful article. Send postal for particulars, mentioning this paper, to WEST COAST MILL, 705-709 South Griffin ave., makers of the celebrated the biggest selling poultry food on the market because the cheapest as well as the best. Not a strong tonic and stimulant, but a highly nitrogenous, concentrated Poultry Food, very rich in protein. A little fed daily with good grains will keep hens healthy, make them molt early, feather out quickly and lay lots of eggs. Have you tried it? Many have and are pleased. Here is just one:

ARTHUR H. GREEN, President of the Mechanics Bank of Los Angeles, writes: "Having used your Egg-More for the past two years, I take pleasure in adding my testimony to its merits. It is difficult to measure the benefit derived from feeding an article continuously, and it was only by accident that I am able to state definitely the true value of

EGG-MORE.

I fed up what I had and neglected to order more for at least two weeks, when my attention was called to the fact that we were getting less eggs than we had been getting. I at once ordered more Egg-More and in a few days we were again getting our usual number of eggs. I now see that there is a supply of Egg-More constantly on hand so as not to disappoint our egg basket again."

You better try it. For sale by many dealers. If not by yours, we will prepay freight on 12½ lbs., $1; 25 lbs., $1.90; 50 lbs., $3.65. If you don't want the trouble of mixing, or if you can't buy grains much cheaper than to shop them from here.

WEST COAST EGG FOOD

TALK HERE IS BACKED UP BY THE goods. Good goods. Low prices beat competition and stay ahead. Pace is set by us. A swift one. Let others follow. See what we have to offer, then use your own judgment. Experience counts and we've had 14 years of it. That is why we sell more than all the other dealers combined. They don't like to hear this. They'll knock us, of course, but every knock is a good boost. That's why we're doing the business. Have you called at our WAREROOMS? If not, you had better do so. Bargains for every one. Runabouts, roadsters, touring cars, all types and styles, fully equipped, $250 to $2500. All our stock is carefully selected by an expert, thoroughly overhauled and when placed on our floor are beyond a doubt the best that can be found in the market. We stand ready to prove all we claim. Write for our stock list, also our special storage warehouse plan. LOS ANGELES AUTOMOBILE WAREHOUSE, largest warehouse on the Coast, 1122-1124 S. Main st. 'Phones F5209, Main 3855. 27

MINING—

A LARGE COMMERCIAL CORPORATION IN San Francisco owns a group of five mining claims, situate on an island off the southwestern coast of Alaska. The only mine worked on the same island has produced over [illegible] and is about three miles from this group, on the other side of the island and on the same lead; only sufficient work has been performed to obtain United States patent. This work has exposed about [illegible] tons of ore. Ten tons were milled and the ore averaged $7.50 per ton. The ore is free milling. With the claims are two water rights and a mill site. The undersigned has a bond on these properties, expiring August 1, 1910, at an extremely low valuation, and will turn same over to a responsible party or parties who will furnish money to develop, in consideration of his receiving an interest in the property. Report and diagram by expert mining superintendent who supervised the work done, and who is willing to take charge of operations for moderate salary and stock bonus. Situate on a fine harbor, accessible the year round. Highest banking references given and required. Address WALKER W. [illegible], Monrovia, Los Angeles Co., Cal. 27

INCORPORATE UNDER ARIZONA LAWS. No franchise or annual tax, no public statement; members exempt from corporate debts. Hold all meetings, do business and keep books anywhere. EDUCATIONAL—
Schools, Colleges, Private Tuition

SPANISH.
One opportunity more. The last one.
Five dollar tuition reduced to one dollar.
Number of students limited to eight.
No grammars, only a notebook needed.
Time for registration, Monday and Tuesday only.

Applicants by the tens were refused admission at the Spanish class started at 619 S. Hill st. last Tuesday, the number required having been completed.

Not having any more evenings to dispose of, but desirous of showing the people of Los Angeles my appreciation for the distinction with which they have accepted and honored my work for the last eight years, and willing to commemorate, once more, the appointment of my pupil Mr. C. J. Van Vliet as the Spanish instructor in the High School of Covina, Cal., I have determined to start another class in the day time, reducing my $5 tuition to $1 a month for the complete term of six months.

The class begins Tuesday 29th, at 2:15 p.m. This hour will be changed, if necessary, to suit the majority.

No grammars or so-called readers needed. My pupils learn how to speak and understand the language, and at the same time how to read, write and put the words together by means of written exercises in an inexpensive notebook. In a very short time they are able to hold a position where a perfect and practical knowledge of Spanish is required.

Secure your course by applying immediately.

Ricardo Uribe, Spanish instructor at the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. and HEALD'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, 619 S. Hill st. 27

BLACK HAND GANG CONVICTS

Nine Sentenced at Fernie to Penitentiary.

Levied Blackmail and Two Confessed.

Grewsome Ceremonies Used by Society.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nine members of the Italian black hand, convicted through the confessions of members of their own society, were today sentenced at Fernie to terms of from six to seven and a half years. They began to levy blackmail five months ago among the business men of the up-country mining city. When fire last month wiped out Fernie, five of them escaped, but later they were recaptured, and today all were landed in the penitentiary.

Through confessions of two, nine were convicted. The betrayers of the Mafia got off with two years each. The story of their depredations were startling. The ceremony connected with the first initiation into the society, according to the confession, was called piccoto. All present divested themselves of weapons, and a circle was formed by joining arms. It was pointed out to strangers that the space in the center of the circle represented an abyss, where everything spoken was completely buried.

The final "camertato" degree was grewsome indeed. A circle was formed as before, and five knives were laid in the center, with the points radiating to the circumference. Upon these a handkerchief was placed, leaving the blades exposed, and upon the center lay a stiletto. Lots were drawn, and the man upon whom the choice fell had to bare his arm, while his neighbor seized the stiletto and stabbed him in the wrist. The candidate for initiation was then forced to suck the blood spurting from the wrist of the man who had been stabbed.

Three of the convicted men threatened to kill citizens if blackmail was not forthcoming.

AARON BEHYMER PASSES AWAY AT FRIEND'S HOME.

Goes to Wedding and Is Stricken Suddenly—Well-Known Son and Many Friends Mourn Departure of Man Who Had Lived Long in Los Angeles—Veteran of Civil War.

Aaron S. Behymer, father of Len E. Behymer and of Sylvia Behymer, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the home of George A. Cortelyou, on Budlong avenue.

Early in the day, Mr. Behymer, with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. L. E. Behymer, and his grandchildren, arranged to attend the wedding of a dear friend, Miss Cortelyou, at her father's home. At the close of a very happy reunion, in the middle of the afternoon, complaining of trouble in breathing, Mr. Behymer was escorted by his daughter, to a retired portion of the Cortelyou home.

Dr. Fox, one of the guests, was called, but felt no alarm as to Mr. Behymer's condition. A granddaughter was convinced that the case was more serious than supposed. The doctor was called again, but Mr. Behymer died in a few minutes. Heart failure was stated as the cause of death.

For more than twenty-two years Mr. Behymer had lived in Los Angeles with his son and daughter at their home on Carondelet street. He was loved and honored by all who knew him. He leaves a son, L. E. Behymer, a daughter, Sylvia, and three grandchildren, End, Elsie and Glen Behymer.

The funeral will be held at the family residence, No. 623 South Carondelet street, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Friends of the family are invited. Interment will be at Hollywood Cemetery.

Mr. Behymer was born at New Richmond, Claremont county, Ohio, on July 28, 1832, and resided in that State until 1865. He was the son of a pioneer, Samuel Behymer, of Fincastle, Va. He came of a family of pioneers whose names are intermingled in the history of Virginia and Ohio.

In his younger days, Mr. Behymer was a carpenter and architect. In 1854 he was married to Miss Charlotte Leach. Two children were born to this union. In 1862 he enlisted in the defense of his country, and except when disabled by wounds, served until the close of the war. He was wounded July 3, 1863, at McCauley's Mill, on the North Carolina River in Virginia. He was captured, taken to prison, escaped, crawled over the mountains fifteen miles, and finally rejoined his regiment at Pawpaw station, on the Potomac.

Leaving Ohio, he moved to Shelby-

ENGLISH DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE EMPLOYED IN DESIGNING HANDSOME WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS HOME.

DISTINCTIVE in its Old English architecture, the new home of William E. Ramsay at Nos. 2425-2501 Western avenue, is among the finest in Los Angeles. Occupying an elevated site on the mesa in West Adams Heights, just where the plane rises to a slightly higher altitude, the house commands a view of the beautiful residence section immediately adjoining, along Hobart, and Harvard boulevards, while the business portion looms up far on the east, a substantial indication of the wealth and progressiveness of the city. The owner is a well-known lumber man from Michigan, and the South, and has brought his interest here.

Probably no more entrancing spot could be found in all Los Angeles on which to build a handsome home. Formerly the site of one of the city's pioneer residences in the section, the lot is embowered with trees, and shrubbery, impossible to produce short of twenty years of growth and cultivation. The lot is 225x300 feet. The distinctive touch to the place from the street is the brick wall surrounding it. This is typically English in its appearance except that it is by no means as high as are those of general run of English country homes, it having been modified by American ideas. A handsome entrance gate of granite and wrought iron allows of complete privacy in the grounds. A wide, and gently sloping macadamized drive leads from the street on past the house to the garage in the rear.

Once in the grounds a wealth of beauty in landscape gardening is immediately apparent, the old trees about the place having been left undisturbed, while the sylvan effect has been heightened by the addition of pergolas, sunken gardens, lily ponds, and rustic seats.

To the north of the drive is an especially attractive pergola with a sunken lily pond, and a fountain. One side is bounded by the brick wall of hard burned blue and red material, while the pergola pillars are ranged on the other three. The entire place is paved with similar brick to those used in the wall. As this place is shaded by a weeping willow, it forms an ideal spot on a sunny day, and is much used as a cool retreat.

The house is built on a square of land to the south of the drive and faces east with a long wing extending along the [illegible] line of the property, that portion of the building flanking another delightful garden, raised slightly above the drive, and separated from it by a low stone wall. This garden is paved solidly with brick immediately adjoining the house on the west, while from the building, through a long pergola, a wide paved walk leads to the tennis court on the west. Spaces are provided for plants, and many varieties are now showing a vigorous growth, although the place has only been turned over by the builder less than three months. Great trees shelter part of this court or garden, and the unique brick wall tends to greater seclusion.

Flanking the western side of the grounds is the tennis court, several steps below the garden, and house level. The brick wall is higher here, and along one side there are several recesses, in which are lily ponds, and cosy shaded seats. English ivy will be planted, and soon will cover the entire stretch of wall, giving the entire place an air of age, difficult to obtain in any other way.

The house is distinctly of the typical English domestic architecture. The exterior is of stone and half timber, and plaster finish, while the roof is of slate. It is probably the finest example of the purely English type of dwelling in this city.

Entrance is gained over a wide porch, paved with the ever present hard blue brick, laid in unique patterns, which leads to a massive portal, flanked by heavy stone columns, supporting a slight projection over the front door. This is a heavy mahogany, and opens directly into a magnificent hall. This hall is one of the features of the house, and one pauses to fully appreciate the beauty of the room, before venturing into those on either side. It is heavily beamed and wainscoted with mahogany. Immediately to the west is the stairway leading to the upper floor. This a massive example of the stair builder's art in mahogany. The stair is beautifully lighted by a large group of art glass windows, the delicately tinted light from which streams through into the reception hall.

To the right, or north, the living room and library opens. This is a very large room, with an exposure on three sides, and a wide door opening into the walled garden. A huge mantel occupies the center of the east side, and is flanked by deeply recessed bay windows, looking onto the front porch.

The dining-room opens off the hall on the left or south side, and is another beautiful feature of the house, also finished in mahogany. At the left-hand corner of the hall is the entrance to the owner's den, a cosy room, elevated several steps above the level of the other rooms, and finished in oak, and blue brick, the floor and walls to the height of the [illegible] rail being of this material in distinctive patterns. Beams and wrought copper electric fixtures are characteristics of the place. Conveniences in the way of closets, bookcases and a lavatory are also handy features.

To the rear of the dining-room is the service portion, consisting of a butler's pantry, large kitchen, with a servant's dining-room, on the west. Numerous store rooms, etc., make the care of the place easy. A porch on the south side, opening off the dining-room and butler's pantry, forms a delightful place for breakfast and luncheon for the family, when the weather is pleasant—a year round feature in this climate.

A vaulted hall from the stair landing leads through the second floor on both east and south wings, and all the chambers open into this. These are beautiful rooms, finished entirely in white enamel, with built-in conveniences, large closet rooms, etc. There are five of the large sleeping rooms on this floor. Each has a large bath-room adjoining. The latter are floored and walled with white enameled tile, and are fitted with every modern convenience. There is a sewing room on the western side, overlooking the garden, and a sleeping balcony opening off Mrs. Ramsay's room.

The third floor is almost entirely taken up with a large assembly hall or ballroom. This is a very distinctive room, some [illegible] feet in size, with an open truss effect in the ceiling, with exposed beams, and high wainscoting. Window seats, deeply recessed, and a large fireplace of the peculiar small blue, hard burned brick, are other novel and attractive finishings. Room is provided for a billiard table at one end. Opening off this hall is a trunk room. The western wing on the third floor is occupied by the servants' quarters, bath, linen closets, etc.

The hallway and stairs to the third floor are finished in solid cedar, of a beautiful satiny finish in the natural color of this beautiful wood. The service portion of the house also is finished in the cedar finish.

All windows on first floor are of leaded glass, with metal sash, and are all casement windows. The electric fixtures, of course, harmonize beautifully with the interior finish, those in the living-room being of brass with Tiffany glass shades. The hardware also is of exclusive designs.

There is a large basement under the southern side, in which are a low pressure steam-heating plant, automatic water heater, wine cellar, and store rooms. The overall dimensions of the building are [illegible] feet.

The garage in the rear conforms exactly to the style of architecture with the main house, and is almost as large as the ordinary two-story dwelling found on the near-by streets.

The architect who designed, planned and superintended this exceptionally fine job, is Frederick L. Roehrig of this city. He has been very successful in planning fine homes, and many built from his plans occupy beautiful sites in Pasadena and Los Angeles. He considers the Ramsay home one of his best efforts. Mr. Roehrig also planned the landscape gardening, and the entire layout of the grounds.

HOMESEEKERS BUYING.

Water Development and Building Operations at Beaumont Show Progress in Year.

Favorable news on water development helped to make last week a banner one for sales of Beaumont apple lands, the total reaching $4850 from three excursions. The bulk of the buying was in the Cherry Valley West Addition, the company's fifth farm tract of 360 acres, and most of the purchasers will plant apple and pear orchards this fall.

Two cars of the fine apples of the yellow Bellefleur and Rhode Island Greening varieties have already been packed this season. The ranchers have their own packing-house on the place, and are putting up an extra pack for the fancy trade. The fruit is carefully selected and each apple is wrapped much the same as oranges are handled.

Uninterrupted building progress is shown by the announcement of new structures for W. A. Blakemore, cottage; G. M. Salvage, bungalow, and C. D. Kemper, fire-proof [illegible] Fifth and California streets; and also a two-story office building behind the bank. Over seven cars a week of lumber are arriving from Los Angeles wholesalers, and the present average volume of weekly building operations is said to exceed $5000. L. F. Huffman, Beaumont's seventh building contractor, began business last week.

Five new mercantile establishments have been opened by the following owners: Theodore Backus, produce store; M. Palmer, tailor shop; W. M. Brown, plumbing shop; John R. Hallman, confectionery, and O. A. McDonnell, painter and decorator.

A summary shows that Beaumont now has [illegible] miles of streets, eight miles of oiled roads, maintained by the county, and ten miles of telegraph and telephone lines. Progress is revealed by the yearly report of the Beaumont Water Company, showing 122,000 feet of steel and cement pipes laid, 162 domestic and irrigation water connections made, and a gross expenditure for equipment of over $40,000 for the fiscal year.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

A. W. Kinney, president of the Arthur W. Kinney Company, who returned yesterday from a business trip to Boston, New York, Washington and other eastern cities, reports that there is renewed activity in all lines of business and that the outlook for a large winter travel to California is most encouraging for local real estate men.

HOMES FOR SALE

WESTLAKE DISTRICT.
$[illegible]

We have a beautiful house of 12 rooms in the Westlake district on the high ground on an east-front lot [illegible] beautifully improved with choicest flowers, trees, etc. This place, without doubt, is one of the handsomest homes in Los Angeles. Downstairs it has an exceptionally large living-room, dining-room, den, reception hall, pass pantry, kitchen and a good-sized back porch. It has hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, and the dining-room has a handsome built-in buffet, paneled walls, etc. The second floor has four large bedrooms, sewing-room, hallway and two baths. The third floor being fitted up with servants' bedroom and billiard hall. Vacant property on this street cannot be bought under $[illegible] per front foot, and we are offering the house and lot for the sum of $[illegible], which is less than it can be duplicated for today, and satisfactory terms can be arranged.

WILSHIRE DISTRICT.
$[illegible]

Nine rooms, besides reception hall, [illegible], etc. A large two-story house, completed a short time ago, and considered one of the most attractive in the Wilshire district. It is only a short distance from Wilshire boulevard, on the highest point in Wilshire Boulevard Heights and near Vermont avenue. The floors are oak throughout. The interior finish is the best that can be had, and the house contains all of the necessary built-in features, furniture, etc., that one can possibly wish. The lot is [illegible] to an alley and an east front, and is nicely improved with lawn, flowers, etc. There is also a large two-story garage on the place. We have succeeded in getting a price of $[illegible] on this house, which is about $[illegible] under value.

WESTLAKE DISTRICT.

Just completed. One of the most attractive homes in the Westlake district, located a short distance from the car line and on an east-front lot [illegible]. It has nine rooms and is thoroughly up-to-date. Hardwood floors throughout. It would be rather difficult to describe in a small space the interior finish of this house, but it will compare favorably with that of any $[illegible] house in Los Angeles. The house is absolutely new and never occupied and can be sold at a very low figure of $[illegible].

GRAMERCY PLACE.
$[illegible]

[illegible] the description first. Notice the price [illegible] no conclusion—being sold without [illegible]. The home is located on lot [illegible] front and rear yards highly improved. The house has large living-room, reception hall, and den, paneled and covered with vines; dining-room with plenty of panel work and beautiful built-in buffet; breakfast-room and kitchen. Upstairs, the front bedroom is [illegible]; hallway and two other bedrooms good size; bath fully in keeping with balance of house. Last, but not least, a large covered screen sleeping porch, 12x[illegible]. It is one of the most artistic and original planned homes in the city and the location needs no description, Gramercy Place being one of the choicest streets on the high ground. Our price only $[illegible].

SOUTHWEST.
$[illegible]

We have just completed a very handsome six-room bungalow, located a block from two car lines and in the southwest. It is finished up with hardwood floors, a very handsome built-in buffet, writing desk and bookcases, and in fact everything that goes to make a model home. The bungalow is built on the [illegible] It has the real bungalow effect, with large columns in front and a cement porch clear across the front. This house can be bought for $[illegible], and on easy terms of $[illegible] cash and $[illegible] a month, including interest.

KINNEY HEIGHTS.
$8000.

This handsome nine-room house on a lot 50x165, located in the exclusive district of Kinney Heights. That portion of the city is too well known to attempt to describe the beautiful surroundings of this home. The place is new and can be handled on easy terms. It is complete in every detail, with oak floors and all the built-in fixtures that are necessary for the comfort of the place.

If you are in the market for a home, you will be well repaid in looking this up.

WESTLAKE DISTRICT.
$8500.

We have a charming home of 8 rooms located on the high ground, just a short distance from Westlake Park and on Alvarado street. The owner is called away from the city on business and is willing to sell at a sacrifice of $1000, and would accept as low a cash payment as $2000. The place really has to be seen to be appreciated.

It is up to date, and the location is ideal. In fact, it is close-in property.

WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS.
$8500.

Just think of it! 9 rooms and reception hall; 2½ stories; hardwood floors all over the house and the most beautiful built-in fixtures, such as bookcases, buffet, etc.

The lot is 50x152, and located on a street which practically has no vacant lots. It is all built up and is one of the most attractive sections in Los Angeles. The price of this house has been reduced from $9500 to $8500. It has a garage and the yards are planted with the choicest flowers. If you really want a handsome home, which can be bought below cost, let us show you this.

WEST ADAMS DISTRICT.
$10,000.

This house contains three stories and eleven rooms. Oak floors, downstairs and beautiful white maple upstairs. The lot is 64x135 and an east front. It is just a short distance from the West Adams car and in one of the most exclusive residence districts of Los Angeles. The place is beautifully improved with flowers and shrubbery and without doubt is one of the show places of Los Angeles.

WILSHIRE DISTRICT.
$10,500.

Nine rooms, besides reception hall, bath, etc. A large two-story house completed a short time ago and considered one of the most attractive in the Wilshire District. It is only a short distance from Wilshire Boulevard, on the highest point in Wilshire Boulevard Hts. and near Vermont avenue. The floors are oak throughout. The interior finish is the best that can be had, and the house contains all of the necessary built-in fixtures, furniture, etc., that one can possibly need. The lot is 60x136 to an alley, and an east front, and is nicely improved with lawn, flowers, etc.

There is also a large two-story garage on the place. We have succeeded in getting a price of $10,500 on this home, which is about $3000 under value.

WESTLAKE DISTRICT.
$10,500.

Just completed. One of the most attractive homes in the Westlake district, located a short distance from the car line, and on an east front lot 60x165. It has 9 rooms and is thoroughly up to date. Hardwood floors throughout.

It would be rather difficult to describe in a small space the interior finish of this house, but it will compare favorably with that of any $20,000 home in Los Angeles.

The house is absolutely new and never occupied and can be sold at a very low figure of $10,500.

WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS.
$15,000.

Are you in the market for a magnificent home of 9 rooms, located on a lot 65x150, and on Wilton Place, one of the most exclusive residence streets in Los Angeles? It is an east front and the lot is beautifully improved.

This house is surrounded by similar homes costing from $10,000 to $20,000. The rooms are all large and the house itself is thoroughly up to date in every way. Oak floors throughout and exceedingly handsome living room and dining-room.

We believe it is the first time it has ever been offered. We can deliver this house for $15,000, and would be glad to show it to any one that is interested in buying an ideal place.

WESTLAKE DISTRICT.
$16,000.

We have a beautiful house of 12 rooms in the Westlake district on the high ground, on an east-front lot 70x150, beautifully improved with choicest of flowers, trees, etc.

This place, without doubt, is one of the handsomest homes in Los Angeles.

Downstairs it has an exceptionally large living room, dining-room, den, reception hall, pass pantry, kitchen and a good sized back porch.

It has hardwood floors, beamed ceilings and the dining-room has a handsome built-in buffet, paneled walls, etc.

The second floor has four large bedrooms, sewing room, hallway and two baths.

The third floor being fitted up with servant's bedroom and billiard hall.

Vacant property on this street cannot be bought under $100 per front foot and we are offering the house and lot for the sum of $16,000, which is less than it can be duplicated for today, and satisfactory terms can be arranged.

TOKIO BUNGALOW.

$5200.

Something new and very swell on a large southeast corner located near Adams st. in the southwest. This is one of the most handsome bungalows ever built. Has seven large rooms including breakfast room, which could be used as a servant's room. As you enter you come upon the large living-room with a genuine Salt Lake stone mantel, beamed ceilings, paneled side walls, built-in bookcases and two very beautiful mission settees to fit on either side of the mantel. To the left of the living-room is the library which is also paneled up about six feet, with built-in bookcases and writing desk; this room could be used as a bedroom as a commodious closet opens from it. The dining-room has many new features; the windows being large with quite a swell facing the open street, walls are paneled and the ceiling beamed in a most artistic manner. There is a brown stone gas log grate arranged to give heat on chilly mornings. The kitchen is in buffet style, having cabinets built in on all sides with the usual cooling closet. The bedrooms and bath are in white enamel; the breakfast room in natural cedar. The front porch runs across the full width of the house and is of solid concrete and cement, trimmed with Chadwick stone. Further description cannot say too much for this property.

We can accept $1200 down and $30 per month; purchaser to assume the mortgage now on the place. This is new and has never been occupied and we do not doubt it will be sold within the next few days.

CLOSE TO ADAMS.

$7750.

This handsome home, near the Girls' Collegiate and Marlborough Schools, is located on one of the best southwest streets. The house is a splendid property; large, prepossessing and complete to the last detail of modern convenience. Brick and cement veranda across entire front, very large living-room, large dining-room, also library, all beautifully appointed. Hardwood floors throughout the house; furnace, splendid big bedrooms, balcony for sleeping purposes, etc., etc. This property is worth $9000. It can be bought for $7750. Can you afford to lose it?

WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS HOME.

$8500.

This home was finished just a few months ago; it faces a one-hundred-foot boulevard; north front; large lot with plenty of space on either side. The house was built by the owner for his own home and no expense was spared to make it complete. There are nine beautiful rooms with hardwood floors throughout, beamed ceilings, paneled walls, built-in seats, buffet, plate glass windows, wash trays, large cellar, furnace, garage, etc. The front elevation is very artistic; the spacious porch across the whole front being built of stone and cement. This property must be sold this month, and our price is fully two thousand dollars under value; terms can be arranged.

CALIFORNIA MISSION HOUSE.

$9000.

This house is a quaint replica of the by-gone mission days, artistic and softly beautiful, like a picture in some old book. With its concrete plastered walls, arched entrance, balconies and long, vine-covered porches, it lies in the midst of large grounds completely set to lawn, roses and smiling flowers. There is even a sun dial with roses nodding by. Withal, the rooms are modern, spacious and completely and artistically fitted. Not a large house, we want you to know, but one to please the man who loves beauty, and the ideal location of this high western ground. Fine, large homes, the best residences in the city, lie all about. It will take an hour of your time to see this bargain. See it with us today.

BEAUTIFUL NEW RESIDENCE IN PALM PLACE, NEAR WESTLAKE PARK.

$10,500.

This brand new nine-room house is just being finished. It has been built on honor on a lot 60x140, in an ideal neighborhood; oak floors in every room, beamed ceilings, paneled walls, beautiful mantels and buffet, very handsome lighting fixtures, rich wall hangings and lots of large plate glass windows. The living-room is 18x30 and other rooms in proportion. Brick and cement porch across entire front of house; good furnace and cellar. The woodwork is particularly well finished in fumed and golden oak downstairs, with white enamel (six coats) in kitchen and sleeping rooms. The bathroom is fully in keeping with the rest of this artistic home. Let us show you this.

FOR SALE—
MY BEAUTIFUL BUNGALOW.
2907 BRIGHTON AVE.

I am called to New York and am going to sell everything I own here.

I built this bungalow for my own home. The lot is an east front, 50x150 to an 18-ft. alley; highly improved with fruit and roses; Brighton ave. is 80 feet wide. The house is the only bungalow in a block restricted to two-story houses; has 6 large rooms, bath and cellar; living-room is 25x13½ across the front of the house; dining-room is richly papered 6 ft. to plate rail in imported Japanese leather, in blue with silver embossing; hardwood floors. There are French plate full-length mirrors in the bedroom closet doors, running water in rear bedroom, kitchen has every known convenience; all the fixtures are full combination gas and electric; every room heated from large furnace in cellar, and have additional piping for gas heating; large open grate in living-room. There are storerooms under the rear of the house. Front porch 8x30 feet; extra large screen porch; stationary tub with hot and cold water. There are many other extras in this house that must be seen to be appreciated. If you are looking for an artistic home, and are tired inspecting bungalows built to sell, cut up into dens, inglenooks, and cozy corners(?) with pictures painted on the walls, and you are prepared to make me a cash offer we can trade in ten minutes, as I will make you a price way below the real value. I am going to sell this week. House can be seen any time as I will be home to meet prospective buyers.

The furniture, oriental rugs and baby grand Louis XV. piano will be sold either with the house or separately.

I also own the S.W. corner of 28th and Van Buren Place, 75x137, and the fifth lot south of 28th st. on Normandie ave. Will sell these lots for two-thirds their value.

EASY TERMS.

If you are looking for a complete bungalow in every particular right down to the furnishings, and when we say furnished we mean furnished, not half so, as the china (which is Haviland) has full sets of dishes; the rugs, mission furniture, in fact everything is up to the standard of a $10,000 house. The living-room, which is 27x14, cannot be beaten for size or finish in any bungalow in the southwest, the dining-room is wainscoted and beautifully finished in Flemish oak. The bedrooms, which are large, have many windows, making them very light and airy. The closets are large and commodious. The porch, which extends across the whole front of the house, is overgrown with many beautiful roses and vines and right here is where we will sell the place if you let your wife see these flowers and grounds, as there are no better in the city for a place of its size. Size of lot is 50x125.

Better let us show you this place and your house hunting days will be over.

Remember, completely furnished, ready to move into.

FOR SALE—AN ELEGANT NEW 7-ROOM (and cosy nook) bungalow, very desirably located in "close-in" southwest; all the rooms are spacious and very conveniently arranged; a home of unique design, embodying original features; the attractive features of the interior are the wall decorations, buffet, fireplace and mantel; these alone are worth going miles to see. The nook, dining-room, music room and living-room are finished in panels of selected slash grain Oregon pine, with oak floors and cross-beamed ceilings. The walls above the plate rail are done in hand-blocked imported paper. A corner in the living-room is taken up with a massive cut stone fireplace, with wide mantel shelf, above which is an arch fitted with a mission clock with brass numerals, chains, weights and pendulum. All the other rooms are finished in white enamel and decorated beautifully. It would be impossible to adequately describe this home. Will say, it has all the modern built-in accessories and nothing is omitted that could add to its comfort and convenience. It is strictly of the bungalow type. Call up OWNER, A3948. 27

FOR SALE—HOUSES BY MINES & FARISH.

NEAR WEST ADAMS.

7-room new bungalow, one of the finest in the city; oak floors, paneled and beamed; bookcases and buffet; open grate and piped for furnace. The owner must go north and has reduced his price $1000 in order to make a sale. If you want a beautiful home at less than cost, ring us up and we will show you.

Price $5000; part cash and terms.

LOT 50x130.

Price reduced for quick sale: 8 rooms, 4 bedrooms; large upper and lower porches; $00 mantel, porcelain bath, 2 toilets; paneled and beamed living-room, dining and den; buffet, bookcases, piped for furnace; automatic gas heater; oak floors down, polished hard pine up; this place is new and is one of the nicest buys we have had for sometime. Large closets and screen porch; also garage.

60 FEET FRONTAGE.
ONLY
$6500 WITH $1800.

On high ground, between 16th and Washington, east front; 8 rooms, 4 bedrooms and garage; hardwood floors throughout; buffet, open grate, paneled and beamed; bookcases and seats; furnace, porcelain bath, 2 toilets; large front porch, airing deck and screen porch. This was built by the owner for his own, but circumstances forces him to put a price on it that will effect a quick sale. There are flowers and palms. One block from car.

PRICE REDUCED TO $7250.

$7500—7 rooms, on very high ground, east front, on Bonnie Brae. This place is a good buy and could easily be converted into apartments or flats. This is a modern home, and its charming location should appeal to you. You don't find many places in this section for sale at a price.

LOT 50x150 TO ALLEY.

FRONTING THE PARK.

Read this and call us up and let us show you a gem of a home opposite one of the beautiful parks on a quiet street. There are 7 rooms, 4 bedrooms, 3 for family and one for servant. The living-room is in striking contrast to the average, with its stamp of artistic individuality. There is a large open grate with solid open beam work; exquisite fixtures, specially made. This room is 20x30 and opens into the dining-room, which gets first the morning sun. The dining-room is paneled and beamed and the buffet is also a work of art. The three bedrooms are large, with closets that would please any woman. There are three entrances to the house, one into the spacious front hall, one in the rear, and the side entrance into the basement, as well as kitchen. Porcelain bath, wash trays, furnace and Monarch automatic water heater. Hardwood floors first floor. There are timbers in this house heavy enough for another house the same size, so the strength is there for keeps. The house cost $5000 to build, and is practically new. The ground would be cheap at $6750. Still you can buy this for $10,500. Mortgage $4500, bank loan, 2½ years, 7 per cent. See this place without fail. You will like it. Good garage with cement floor.

LOT 50x130.

BARGAIN, $3000 UNDER VALUE.
PRICE $16,500, CLEAR.

There is not another house in the city, equaling this, that could be had for less than $19,000 to $20,000. Beautiful east front 11-room house, near Vermont and Wilshire blvd. Aristocratic and delightful section. There are 6 bedrooms, sun parlor and finished attic. First floor consists of large living-room, den, dining-room, elegant reception hall and maids' room. The entire downstairs finished in quartered oak, beautifully selected, with piano finish. Unusually spacious cemented front porch. Laundry is separate from the kitchen porch. Floors throughout are ⅞ oak. Woodwork second floor 6 coats ivory finish. The very best plumbing and fixtures. The general plan is graceful, spacious and convenient. You will not find a more beautiful staircase, reception and upper hall, as well as the general effect of the entire house. Combination gas and electric fixtures, cemented basement, ready for furnace. Large garage that will hold two machines. This house was built by day labor and finished in February, this year. It is at least $3000 under value, and is snap for some one. Will that be you?

LOT 60x150 TO ALLEY.

WEST ADAMS HEIGHTS SECTION.

Elegant house of 11 rooms; 5 bedrooms, 2 baths, garage with man's room, Rudd heater, furnace, fine basement, wash trays, several toilets and lavatories. First floor consists of living-room, reception hall, den, conservatory, dining-room, breakfast-room, kitchen, screen porch. Four bedrooms, second floor. Billiard-room and bedroom, third floor. Living-room, den, stairs, reception hall and upper hall exquisitely finished in mahogany; dining-room finished in beautifully selected oak. The entire arrangement impresses you with its beauty, spaciousness and solid construction. The elevation affords a view in every direction. It is without a doubt a most attractive place, and more than that it is a bargain. Owner would sell furnished, but it is not obligatory.

LOT 60x150, A CORNER.
PRICE $17,500.
This will please you. Let us show.

FOR SALE—
OXFORD SQUARE.
IS NOW OPEN FOR YOUR INSPECTION, presenting you an excellent opportunity to get in on the ground floor at opening prices. Situated between Wilshire boulevard and Pico street, in the most popular part of the city, Oxford Square occupies a high plateau with a fine mountain view. The street improvements, consisting of wide concrete walks, combination curbs and gutters and oil tamped streets, are all completed and of the very best quality. The park ways are lined with beautiful large palms. The avenues are 70 feet in width and the lots 171 feet in depth, with a private driveway in the rear. Ornamental electroliers occupy the street corners. In fact, no money or effort has been spared to make this one of the best improved tracts in the city. Pico street is asphalted, making an excellent auto drive. The Pico street electric line passes by the property. The electric subway line has a right of way through the tract and has agreed to build its station there. The Los Angeles Pacific line is one block distant and the Ninth and Sixth street lines are only a short distance away and will soon be extended to Oxford Square. The prices for these beautiful lots range from $1500 up and terms are extremely easy. I shall be pleased to show you this high class property at your convenience.

Never again will land like this, with free water, on the outskirts of Los Angeles, be purchasable at this price and on such easy terms.

This land is at Somerset Station. The electric line passes through it and Somerset Station is in the center. It is the best portion of the old Bixby ranch, famous for years for its remarkable fertility and flowing wells. The market car, loaded at the station, reaches the markets of the city in thirty minutes. The land produces large crops of everything that grows in this climate. Water from free flowing wells is piped to each acre in big steel mains and does not cost a penny.

FOR SALE—LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!
SPRING STREET. NEAR FOURTH ST.

Nos. 414, 416 and 418 South Spring.

60x159 to 20-foot paved alley.

Leased for 3 years.

Look over these columns and see how much real Central Spring or Broadway property is on the market. Look and see. But I need the money and you can get this if you have the nerve to act quickly (before I get a loan or make a sale of 2000 acres at Rialto. See my ads. in Money Wanted and For Sale—Country Property in today's Times) and the nerve to act while the other fellow suffers with congealed pedal extremities. "When the other fellow is breaking his neck to buy, you sell." And when others are breaking their necks to sell, you buy, is a good way to make money. I didn't act upon this when prices were up, so I've reduced this lot from $6500 to $5500, and that's where you get the advantage of my holding on till the other fellows quit buying.

Price $230,000; half cash, balance 3 years at 4½ per cent. interest. Don't get frightened at that rate of interest. It's bona fide. I borrowed money at 4½ per cent. and from Main street savings bank, after the other boom, and you'll see 4½ per cent. money here before 2 years end.

BOAZ DUNCAN.

FOR SALE—

66-ROOM

APARTMENT HOUSE

ONLY $6600; HALF CASH.

Cash has the value; many sacrifices are made to secure it. Here is an absolute sacrifice of $2900. Our price on this property was $9500, which represents the amount this house cost the owner, but financial disappointments on other properties forces the owner to sacrifice the above for $6600; half cash. The house consists of 66 rooms, divided into 2 and 3-room suites, some with private bath, elegantly furnished, disappearing beds, mahogany, birdseye maple and fumed oak furniture, the very best of heavy Wilton carpets (not rugs.) Each apartment has fine kitchen equipped with all cooking utensils, dishes, linen and silver; house has hot and cold water, furnace heat; is a Mission style building located on one of our best corners southwest, close in; location will please you; lease 5 years, $5 per room; over half filled now and paying; house capable of earning $950 per month gross. The building is beautiful, having large balconies on every floor, facing west and south. Storage room in basement; furnace equipped for oil; has economical water heater and is one of the best apartment houses in Los Angeles. This is an extraordinary announcement and at this price this house should be sold immediately. Don't delay.

FARM LAND BY SERVICE BROS.
ALFALFA LAND. WALNUT LAND.
BERRY LAND—VEGETABLE LAND.

No doubt you have been all over the State investigating all the high sounding land propositions on the market, but you have, in nine cases out of ten been disappointed in soil, water, market or climatic conditions.

Right here in good old Los Angeles county, under the cooling influences of the old Pacific, and within a few miles of Los Angeles we have 3000 ACRES of the choicest land that the sun shines on. An abundant supply of the purest water for irrigation and domestic purposes. If you want to see fine fields of alfalfa or thrifty looking walnut orchards, let us show you around this district, you will be convinced. Alfalfa sells in the field at $10 per ton. If you are from "Missouri" let us "show" you some potatoes grown on this land. "Only 12 miles N.E. Los Angeles, in the San Gabriel Valley."

5, 10, 20-ACRE OR LARGER LOTS.
$200 TO $250 PER ACRE.
ONE-FOURTH CASH—BALANCE 3 YEARS, 7 PER CENT.

BEARING ORCHARDS.

47½ acres; one of the choicest walnut orchards, in the celebrated El Monte district; fine, thrifty trees, in perfect condition; enormous crop on trees; 150 inches water; convenient to electric lines; 13 miles from city; price $35,000; will subdivide.

$8250—10-acre walnut orchard near El Monte; trees in prime condition; choice soil; abundance of water; only 5 minutes to car line; will take $5000 and reserve crop; one-half cash. Biggest snap in the district.

$7500—20 acres set to walnuts, in good condition, only 1 mile from car line, convenient to thriving city of Covina; this is a snap, so move quick. See it and be convinced.

ALFALFA AND WALNUT RANCH.

40 acres set to walnuts, 3 years old; all in fine condition, perfect stand of alfalfa, between trees, 45 H.P. pumping plant, pumps 175 in. of water, very choice soil. Location 3 miles S.W. Covina, 1 1-4 miles from electric car line. Price $450 per acre, easy terms.

$8500—20 acres, 3½ miles S.W. Covina, all in walnuts, interset with alfalfa; choice soil; A1 water right; modern 1½-story, 6-room house, good barn, windmill and tank; convenient to electric car line; small amount of cash, balance to suit. This is the best bargain in Los Angeles county.

$4000—20 acres ¼ mile east Hansen Station, Santa Ana line; choice alfalfa or walnut land; plenty of water; 2 good wells; $1000 down, balance to suit.

38 acres in walnuts, 3 years; fine large trees; 24 acres in alfalfa; modern 7-room house, barn, 150 inches water; 1 mile car line, 3 miles El Monte; 15 miles from city, in San Gabriel Valley; a great buy at $417 per acre; one-third cash; this is one of the best buys in Los Angeles county.

20 acres, 2 miles S.W. Covina, 1 mile from car line, all in walnuts, 3 years old; corn between trees; A1 water right; choice soil. Price $8000; $1500, balance 4 years, 7 per cent.

$20,000—40 acres, 2 miles S.W. Covina, all in walnuts, 4 years old, alfalfa between trees, all in perfect condition, modern 4-room house, large barn, water system that pumps 150 inches of water. Income from alfalfa about $300 per month during season. Here is a money-maker and something with a future. One-third cash, balance to suit.

FOR SALE—In order to close an estate I am offering this 207-acre alfalfa and stock ranch at a great sacrifice. This ranch is located seven miles southeast of Chino, or seven miles northwest of Corona. It consists of about 100 acres in alfalfa, slightly rolling land, all piped and ditched; connected with 25-H.P. Fairbanks engine and centrifugal pump to raise the water from a running stream to the high points of the ranch. The water comes from a flowing stream through this ranch, which is worth as much alone as the price I am asking for the ranch.

There is 97 acres of low pasture wooded land fine for dairy purposes, hogs or horses. The balance, 150 acres, is good barley land. All fenced and cross-fenced; two houses, one a five-room brick house the other a six-room frame house. Windmill with large tank and water piped to both houses and barns. Also a bunk house for the help. One large dairy barn for cattle; stanchions for 45 cows, creamery with De Laval separator run by Fairbanks-Morse gas engine; full equipment for dairying purposes; also large horse barn, stalls for 20 head of horses and room for 200 tons of hay; hog pens and corrals with running water; tool house with full equipment of tools.

This ranch with a full equipment ready to operate I am offering for the very low price of $25,000, $15,000 of which may remain for three years at 7 per cent., balance cash. Five per cent commission to agents.

FOR SALE—
FIVE-ACRE RANCHES.
ALFALFA LANDS.

In Orange county, the oldest agricultural section of California, where for 50 years men of limited means have made money—are making money.

These lands are the best close- in land proposition offered today, and to the man or woman looking for FIVE ACRES or more near Los Angeles, these lands will appeal, especially to those who want land that will produce enough to make ranching a profitable enterprise—whether one owns a five-acre ranch or a 40-acre ranch.

When you buy Orange-county land, you buy the BEST in California. You buy where there are no "ifs or ands," you buy where you are certain of a crop.

I have five, ten, and twenty-acre ranches with water, at prices ranging from $250 to $400 per acre, on easy terms—with steam and electric car service—and where you are in a settled community.

If you want the best there is, when it comes to soil, water and nearness to the city, you should look into these small tracts.

ALFALFA LANDS.

The following lands are exceptional for alfalfa; soil rich sandy loam—and are located in the heart of the rich alfalfa belt in Orange county, 25 miles from Los Angeles; electric and steam car service; crop a positive certainty. The average price for past five years has been $12 per ton—and every ton raised is sold and used right at home—none shipped away.

40 ACRES.

Right on Southern Pacific Railroad; perfectly level; price $12,000; 2 miles from Anaheim. Terms to suit.

60 ACRES.

Railroad runs right along this tract—is as fine a body of land as there is in the State of California. Country all around settled by satisfied ranchers. Price $300 an acre; easy terms. Two miles from Anaheim.

30 ACRES.

Within 5 minutes' walk of electric car line, and Southern Pacific Railroad; this tract includes 30 shares water stock and will be piped with cement pipes; price $7500; easy terms if desired. See BRISCOE, 206 Union Trust Bldg., 4th and Spring streets. 27

FOR SALE—
THE BEST SECURITY ON EARTH IS THE EARTH ITSELF.

The products from the Fresno county earth amounted to $28,000,000 for the year 1907, and $31,000,000 for the year 1908. The 900 acres of well developed FRUIT, GRAPE, ALFALFA AND OLIVE RANCHES on the 28,000 acres comprising the KERMAN TRACT, located on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, 15 miles from Fresno, were a very great factor helping out these enormous totals.

THE ABUNDANCE OF CHEAP WATER, from the first water right in the BEST IRRIGATION SYSTEM IN THE WEST, together with the rich sandy loam sediment soil, has made the KERMAN DISTRICT the most sought after of any farming district in California.

THE SUCCESSFUL FARMER of today has learned by experience not to buy land at any price in a district that cannot insure the following qualifications—
First—RICH SOIL AND SUBSOIL.
Second—ABUNDANCE OF CHEAP WATER, GUARANTEED.
Third—A GOOD MARKET WITH GOOD PRICES FOR ALL PRODUCTS.
THESE ARE SOME OF THE MAIN FEATURES THAT HAVE MADE KERMAN FAMOUS.

Join any of our excursions leaving Los Angeles Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, fare $11 round trip, and LET US SHOW YOU.

FOR SALE—PERFECTLY LEVEL RIVER BOTTOM.

The richest body of land on the Colorado River, in Riverside county, has just been placed on sale, and selling faster than any lands now on the market; for the simple reason that said lands are known to produce earlier, larger, surer and a greater variety of crops, than any in the U. S. All accounted for by climatic conditions, in addition to all the water we can use for irrigation, exactly when we need it, flowing from the Colorado River, through a magnificent canal, to every acre. You don't have to bore a well, you don't have to pump. Write for our booklet, or call on O. V. SESSIONS, 502 Bryson Bldg. 27

FOR SALE—
Yes, we are still talking about San Fernando Valley lands and why not when 40 acres cornering the townsite of Lankershim, fine sandy loam soil, just right for peaches, apricots and alfalfa, 15 acres now in bearing apricot orchard can be bought for $210 per acre, about $3000 cash and the balance in small yearly payments at 7 per cent. Nothing better for the price in the valley and will make good home or a paying investment.

FOR SALE—
Country Property.

FOR SALE—SPECIAL BARGAIN. AN ideal California ranch located southwest of Covina, convenient to electric car line, in one of the best walnut districts in this county. There are 25 acres, sandy loam soil, set to three year old walnut trees and sown to alfalfa, also a variety of choice fruit trees for family use, a fine well and pumping plant that will pump 125 inches of water. Modern up to date six-room house, also a two-room house for help, large barn and out houses, horses, cow and chickens, full equipment of farming implements. The place is in first-class condition and will stand a close inspection. It is in a good district and surrounded with similar places. Near good schools, churches, easy reach of the city. The place produced about $3000 this year, but when the walnut trees begin to bear, which will be in two years, this place will produce from eight to twelve thousand a year. Owing to business interest, owner must sell, and while vacant land similarly located is selling for $400 per acre, this property is being offered at the sacrifice price of $16,000 which includes everything. Owner will accept house and lot at its cash value in west or south part of the city up to $5000 in value, as part payment and will give terms for part of balance purchase price.

FOR SALE—
Country Property.

FOR SALE—
SEE HUSE ABOUT IT.

1000 acres in the famous Lindsay district, Tulare county, Cal. Situated about midway between Tulare and Porterville and in the heart of the Woodville district which is noted for its rich soil and the raising of hogs and fine cattle, alfalfa and other general farming products. It also adjoins the famous Lindsay orange district where the price of land has doubled several times in the past few years.

This land is absolutely free from hogwallow, is dotted with many beautiful oak trees; is fenced and crossed fenced with 3 boards and 2 wires, mostly hog tight, a redwood post every 8 feet. About one-half will produce alfalfa without irrigation, but all can be irrigated at a water lift of only 15 feet. Much of it is virgin soil and very rich, having been used for pasture for about 30 years.

County road on two sides, and not more than ½ mile to school from any part of property. It could not lie better for subdivision in small tracts, and would especially appeal to those looking for eucalyptus lands for subdivision.

Our price is from 20 per cent. to 100 per cent. lower than any land in the vicinity.

PRICE $37.50 PER ACRE.

One-half cash, your own time for the balance.

400-ACRE BEAN RANCH.

Situated in Ventura county, 1 mile from good town, and shipping point; 300 acres in beans, balance in wheat, oats and barley. All fenced and cross-fenced, good well, soft water, two tanks, gasoline engine, one barn room for 25 horses, one granary and wagon-shed, one shed and barn for 200 tons of hay, chicken-houses and corrals, and a good 5-room, 2-story house, excellent climate and magnificent view overlooking a large and productive valley. Price $48 per acre, ½ cash. Good bean land usually sells for three times this amount per acre.

165 ACRES.

In Ventura county, 25 acres of fine orchards, 50 acres of very good farming land, balance good pasture land.

A complete farming equipment, some stock and a good set of buildings, near good school and only 3½ miles from station. The products from this land are paying 25 per cent. annually. Price $8000; $2000 will handle it and you can make the balance from the land at your own time.

$19.50 PER ACRE.

480 acres in Ventura county, 2 miles from shipping point; 200 acres farming land, mostly level; 280 acres very fine grazing land; all fenced; one farmhouse, two good barns and other outbuildings; two good wells; plenty of water can be developed for irrigation; family orchard. PRICE ONLY $20.00 per acre. Only $4000 cash, balance to suit.

$135.00 PER ACRE.

122 acres only two miles from SIMI and two miles from Santa Susana, situated on the main county road; is absolutely level, and every acre excellent soil; fine ALFALFA or WALNUT land, and good irrigating well with 12-inch casing on highest point of the land; a fine six-room house, good storehouse 20x40, one horse and hay barn 40x60, one toolhouse 12x20, good domestic well with windmill and tank; water piped to house and barns. This ranch is right in the heart of the fruit and walnut section. TERMS one-half CASH, balance to suit the purchaser.

We are EXCLUSIVE agents for some of the best ranches in Ventura county, at prices ranging from $20 to $50 per acre.

Having sold close to 17,000 acres in the past five months we believe we can convince you that we are authority on the best obtainable. We carry complete sets of photographs, relative to each property.

FOR SALE—AT RIALTO!!

2000 ACRES! 2000 ACRES!

1300 of it as fine level sandy loam as you can find in the State. None better, for oranges, alfalfa, grapes or any other fruits. The balance is water land in the foothills, just west of Lytle Creek. About 25 inches of water, 600 ft. of tunnels, $10,000 dam. A fine 3,000,000-gallon SOLID CEMENT reservoir, cost about $25,000, and, all in all, this is one of the finest propositions in the State, as the water development is only just begun and every inch at Rialto is worth from $1000 to $1200. Besides this, the water land is fine for eucalyptus and the windbrakes on the 1280 acres will give space for 100,000 eucalyptus trees and more.

The Santa Fe runs through the 1280—1 mile—and the oiled road from Los Angeles to San Bernardino splits the 1280 just half in two and is 1 mile in length. Moreover, the electric road from San Bernardino through Rialto to connect at North Ontario for Los Angeles will, I was told today, go through this tract, making 2 miles of frontage on electric line.

Now, Mr. Moneyed Man, I mean biz! I'm going to raise about $200,000 in short order. I'm going to raise it the quickest way I can. I'll borrow it, or if you'll take this before I get the loan, I'll sell it to you. Such opportunities don't come often in Southern California.

Think of it, 2000 acres! IN CIVILIZATION, don't forget that! Not in Mexico!

Price only $70 per acre! $140,000, ⅓ cash, balance 2 years, 6 per cent.

See OWNER.

PALO VERDE.

FOR SALE—
BLYTHE RANCH LANDS
INCLUDING WATER RIGHTS
$35 PER ACRE AND UP.
The richest land in the Palo Verde Valley is that of the Blythe Ranch where the soil is an alluvial deposit ranging from 10 to 50 feet deep throughout the property.
Like all lands watered by the Colorado River the soil is inexhaustible because of the fertilizing quality of the water.
Blythe city lots at from $100 to $500 offer a good chance for the investor because the town is bound to increase in population and importance with the growth of the Palo Verde Valley.

FOR EXCHANGE—WANTED TO EXCHANGE—
REAL ESTATE OWNERS AND AGENTS.
I wish to purchase a fine residence in a desirable neighborhood; also good income property up to $100,000; what have you as above that is actually worth the money asked, to trade for either of my large income orange and walnut or alfalfa and general agricultural ranch, well known and acknowledged as being the richest ranch property in the celebrated San Gabriel Valley. My ranch property has an abundance of water, and is practically level, having just sufficient slope southward to properly drain and irrigate same. The soil is over 40 feet deep, and is absolutely free from adobe, alkali or hardpan, and while it is now conceded to be the choicest and best paying ranch in Southern California, it is also located where property is rapidly increasing in value, and is destined within the next few years to double, and it is even predicted to treble in value. Give full information regarding the property you have to offer in exchange. I am not an agent, but the owner, and will deal promptly when I find the property I desire. Address Z, box 38, TIMES OFFICE. 27

FOR EXCHANGE—I OWN AN ELEGANT large tract of 46 acres in the northwestern part of the city, close to street car line, which I purchased to subdivide into lots. I paid $20,000 cash, and there is a balance of $28,000 which will not be due until nearly four years, with easy release clause when lots are deeded. On account of the money stringency that set in shortly after I purchased the property, I have been compelled to use all my ready cash and devote all of my time to other large enterprises, in which I am interested. This tract should bring its subdividers $125,000.

I am open for a good honest trade on a cash basis value of $20,000 in income city property. What have you to offer that is worth the money? Address Z, box 34, TIMES OFFICE. 27

PIANOS!
PIANOS! PIANOS!
PIANOS! PIANOS! PIANOS!

NO TIME LIKE JUST NOW.

We carry the high-grade lines and save you money. You cannot afford to purchase a piano this week without seeing our stock of new and second-hand pianos. We take used pianos in part payment for the celebrated Steger Player Piano, and on account of large recent sales we have too many of them.

WE SELL THESE SECOND-HAND

PIANOS AS LOW AS $115.

We put them in perfect order. Many are practically new and exchanged only because the parties prefer the wonderful Steger Player Piano. Come in and see our stock. You may choose this week from upward of 40 different second-hand pianos.

WE SELL HANDSOME, NEW,
HIGH-GRADE PIANOS OF
THE $350 CLASS FOR $198.

Not one piano for advertising purposes, but many of them. We buy direct of the makers for cash at the very lowest prices and we make the lowest selling prices and the easiest terms of payment.

SEE WHAT WE DO ON THE BEAUTIFUL STEGER PLAYER PIANO.

This is the piano that makes the whole world play. No lessons, no toil, no time—just sit down and play. It affords to the player the most subtle joys of music—that of producing it himself. We save you $175 on this marvelous piano and give you access without charge to 10,000 rolls of music.

Free public demonstrations all hours.

FOR SALE—
MY PRIVATE COLLECTION OF ORIENTAL RUGS.

I am going to New York to live. My house is for sale, also the furnishings. My collection of oriental rugs is known to be the finest on the Coast. Rare pieces I selected for my own use from the stocks I have handled in the last twenty years. I will sell these beautiful antique rugs for less than the department stores charge you for modern washed rugs.

One antique Serapi carpet, beautiful blues (just like silk,) 13.2x10.1, worth $800, for $325.

One 9x12 antique Khiva Bokhara, worth $[illegible], for $130.

Two rare pieces of antique Royal Bokhara, genuine.

Royal Kermanshah, 7x4.4, a rug dealer would ask for this piece $200; will sell for $120.

Also several rare pieces of beautiful Cabistan-Kazak, Beloochistan, Kurdish, Daghestan, Shiraz and Lesgi, in all about 30 unusual pieces. These rugs are in my home, 2307 Brighton ave., where they can be seen by parties who wish to buy. Would prefer you to make appointment by telephone, as I don't want to be bothered by curiosity-seekers.

I have also the finest baby grand piano (Louis XV burl walnut case,) took 14 months to make, was delivered to me last month, cost me $1125. Will sell at sacrifice.

I MUST BE IN NEW YORK by the last of October and want to sell everything I own here before leaving, as I may be obliged to go direct to Europe for an indefinite stay.

WANTED—MONEY.

We have an excellent loan $3500. The security consists of a $4500 residence, and three lots conservatively worth $5500, being a total valuation of $10,000. We will pay 8 per cent. for 3 years.

For $2500 loan to us on first mortgage we will give close-in highly-improved residence security worth $7000, and pay 8 per cent. for the money. Will also pay 2 per cent. commission to the lender.

We have 3 loans of $3000 each in which the security consisting of highly-improved bungalows on 50-foot lots is excellent, and will satisfy the most exacting investigation. We will pay 8 per cent. for this money for a period of from 1 to 3 years.

All of the above loans are building loans and we can recommend them not only on account of the security, but because the borrowers are all persons of ample means.

Ask for Heineman.

Gold Palms Mining, Mercantile and Transportation Company at 5c per share. Owns Free and Clear Eight Lode Mining Claims Surrounding and Adjoining the Famous Mohawk Herald Anaconda Mine.

Good square practical mining management, at 5 cents a share it is a gift. It is bound to make you big money. If you tried for years you could not buy better for the price. It stares out with four years of prosperity ahead. Its charter enables it to run a mercantile business and also run transportation lines. It has a large treasury stock. But if you want a good stock come in and talk it over with me. You do not have to buy unless you want to, but if you do not you will be sorry, for the whole course of my 20 years of mining experience has been given to this company, and I am glad to say it will work in harmony with the Mohawk Herald Company, as the same people to a great extent control both companies.

Nine Mile, 6c.
Nine Mile at the price is a great snap. Six inches of shipping ore was struck on September 2, and several other bodies of milling ore have been encountered during the progress of the work in the 500-foot upraise. This upraise will be completed in about six weeks, when drifting on the best ore showings will commence. All indications point to the Nine Mile as a very early shipper. Now is the time to invest. DEMOCRATIC ROW.

Williams Meeting Causes Scrap Between National Committee and County Organization.

It looked for a time yesterday as if George Fred Williams, the Massachusetts exponent of Bryanism, who is billed to speak here Tuesday night, would first have to act as peacemaker between National Chairman Nathan Cole and County Chairman A. M. Norton. Cole sent word to Norton that he would expect the County Committee to take care of the Williams meeting. Cole received a reply that Norton would not tage charge of it unless Cole bore the expense. The party was rapidly dividing into two factions, with Henry M. McDonald hurrying between the two, on this new issue until the County Executive Committee got together yesterday afternoon and decided that the county organization must take charge of the meeting at its own expense.

Williams's coming was arranged without consulting the county organization. Since peace was restored the county organization selected Judson R. Rush, Congressional candidate to preside, and the meeting will be held at Simpson Auditorium.

"BUFFALO BILL'S" THRILLS.

Wild West and Congress of World's Rough Riders Filled With Stirring Acts and Pictures.

Men may come and men may go, but "Buffalo Bill," like the brook, goes on forever—rather Col. Cody is about to come on with his Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World, fresh from a tour of four years abroad, and more recently from Madison Square Garden, New York. Many novelties have been added to the big show since it was last seen in Los Angeles, among the special features of the present tour being "The Battle of Summit Springs," and "The Great Train Hold-up," both replete with stirring scenes calculated to picture incidents in the development of the great West. There is a thrill a second throughout these presentations, both aiming at historical accuracy.

The assemblage of horsemen from all parts of the world is given to illustrate the costumes and methods of the various nations represented, and is said to have a high educational value in its authentic picturing. Other branches of the show will reproduce, more or less vividly, incidents in the life of Col. Cody as Indian fighter, scout, guide and plainsman.

CRUSHED BY WHEELS.

Pacific Electric Brakeman Falls Under Car in Company's Yards and Is Badly Injured.

H. M. Boehme, 42 years of age, of No. 1348 South Hope street, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon, when he fell under a Pacific Electric car in the company's yards at Aliso and Anderson street.

Boehme, a brakeman, jumped for the front car of a freight train, and, missing his hold, went under the wheels.

His right arm was crushed off at the shoulder, and his right foot was so badly smashed that it was necessary to amputate it just above the ankle.

He was treated at the company hospital, where the surgeons stated that his recovery was doubtful.

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

There are undelivered messages at the Postal Telegraph-Cable office, No. 431 South Spring street, for W. T. Mills, Si Francisco Suvis, Mrs. J. A. Vallette.

IN WOMAN'S BREAST ANY LUMP IS CANCER

Dr. S. R. Chamley, the World Renowned cancer specialist, whose wonderful cures of cancer and tumors are mentioned so often in the medical journals and magazines the world over has offices at 747 S. Main St., Los Angeles, Cal. He has cured many large cancers of women's breasts here. He has the best book ever printed on cancers cured without knife or pain which he sends free to those who describe their case, 50 cents to others. He has a convincing ad in the papers but gets most of his patients through his many physician friends. The Doctor shows his faith in his remedy by charging nothing until cured and offers $1000 if he ever fails. Strictly reliable; no X-Ray or other swindle. His prices are extremely moderate for such wonderful skill. He keeps his patients only two weeks and guarantees an absolute cure of all cancers he treats in the early stage. You may save a life by sending this to some one with cancer.

SHAMROCK AND HEATHER.

Burr Brings Mulholland Soils and Plants of Ireland and Scotland in the Same Pot.

When former Sheriff John Burr of San Fernando left for a trip to his old home at Aberdeen, Scotland, three months ago, he asked William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles aqueduct, what he should bring him as a souvenir. Because Mulholland was born on the "old sod' of Erin he simply asked for a live shamrock in the soil of his native land. Yesterday afternoon Mulholland was presented with a flower pot containing not only the live shamrock in its native soil, but some Scotch soil in which grows blooming heather. The mixture was intended by Burr to be emblematical of his friendship for Mulholland. Both plants seem sturdy.

HEAVY STORM AT PATTON.

Amounted Almost to Cloudburst and Temporarily Damaged Hospital for the Insane.

The rainstorm of the past week amounted to almost a cloudburst in the vicinity of the Southern California Hospital for the Insane at Patton. Repairs were being made on the roof and one part of the building was drenched.

So much water came down from the hills on the east side of the building that it poured in through windows and doors and partially flooded the basement. Several stone storm drains in the surrounding orchards were damaged as the torrents washed the dirt from around them.

After the storm an inspector examined the building and found that no serious damage had been done. The water in the basement had been absorbed by the earth in a section not lined with cement.

HE HAS AN AIRSHIP IDEA.

Capt. L. S. Kidd, who lives in the rear of No. 137 South Flower street, has been planning an airship that will carry fifty persons. As yet, it is only in the "idea stage," he says, but he believes that experiments he made showing the lifting power of windmills might well be applied. "I made a 12-foot windmill, that is, each paddle, six feet long, and it lifted 1000 pounds easily clear off the ground. My notion is that if we had a light airship made with a large number of these paddle wheels along each side, we could get enough power to lift fifty passengers." Kidd says he was once understudy to Joseph Jefferson, "in the early days, before Jo was famous." Kidd's title was gained as one of the Rough Riders with Morgan, the Raider, according to himself. "I was a personal friend of Morgan," says Kidd, "and instead of being a guerrilla he was one of the kindest-hearted men."

MANY FOREIGNERS COME.

Foreign registrations at the Alexandria yesterday were among the heaviest ever known by any Los Angeles hotel in one day. The list of arrivals is headed by Consul H. Rieth of Antwerp, Belgium, his wife and daughter, and Dr. Karl Rieth, the latter of New York, who have been touring the West for several months, and are here to enjoy the pleasures of Los Angeles and its surroundings. Carl de Gruyter and Herman Crone, tourists, register from Dinsburg, Germany. G. Schlikker, a globe-trotter, also seeing the sights in the Southwest, signs from Berlin. Dr. Fan Ini and his brother, Chew Ini, who have been located at Hermosillo, Mex., for several months, but who come to America from Japan, are here to visit friends.

STRANGE ADVENTURE.

Pioneer Alaska Miner Reappears After Long Absence, Unable to Tell of Wanderings.

John McCullough, a pioneer of the Alaskan goldfields, who disappeared from his Los Angeles home August 13, has returned, but can give no explanation as to his whereabouts during his absence.

McCullough is afflicted with locomotor ataxia. On August 13, he left the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Gunther, No. 332 Omar street, with the intention of entering the County Hospital. On the afternoon of that date he was registered at the hospital and was given a slip entitling him to admission to one of the wards. Instead of visiting the [illegible] dered away. [illegible] searched and all the surrounding grounds, but no trace of the invalid could be found.

Now McCullough has returned to his daughter's home, good of health, but unable to tell where he has been for more than a month.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

With the week ending in a bright day, the markets were overcrowded with farm wagons loaded to the limit with fruits and vegetables, which did not move any too freely. All of the crops left standing for a few days over the rain were picked, and brought in to swell the usual collection. By noon many of the farmers were forced to return home with considerable of their produce still on hand. Prices were well supported by the market dealers, and there were no heavy breaks in any commodity.

Case count eggs were advanced ½ cent a dozen, which seems scarcely adequate, when northern stock, although candled, sells almost 2 cents higher. Receipts of local eggs were 34 cases. There were good demands for the stock, and 19 cases were sold. The call for Petalumas was also fair, and 15 cases were taken when offered. More might have been sold had they been forthcoming.

There were large offerings of cooking butter but no buyers on hand. Receipts of all outside butter were 25,948 pounds, and prices on all grades were firm, without change on the part of the butter committee.

Swiss imported cheese was the variety in most demand. Longhorns, northern fresh and all local cheese were placed on sale without being taken. Arrivals totaled 6160 pounds.

Best grade potatoes are holding their prices very well, and are not superabundant. In any but fancy stock, the market is weak and shows signs of continued feeling of a similar character with a possible break in the week to come. Arrivals are fair, and yesterday totaled 1457 sacks.

There has been little doing in the past week in onions. Receipts have been light and prices unaltered. They were 103 sacks yesterday. Bean receipts were 23 sacks. Reports of harm done the crop are meager, and the market shows no tendency to become firmer.

Sweet potato arrivals were 123 sacks, and there were some fair sales on the street. There were also a number of sweets spoiled by the dampness and improper handling on the part of dealers.

Pearmain apples were listed among quoted stock. They have been in for several days and form some of the best offerings obtainable. The quotation called for on them is $1.10 per box. Fancy King apples are showing up beautifully. They are a dark red and pack 3½ tiers to the box. Arrivals of apples were 1682 sacks.

Muscat grapes showed the effect of the rain by jumping 20 cents in value. Many of them were spoiled completely, and even the grapes on the bushes were hurt. There was a fair demand for Tokay grapes. Imperials were well received, and Concords have about disappeared. The wet weather had a tendency of bringing out all of the berries at once, and as a result there was almost a slump on them. Blacks and strawberries were chiefly affected.

Crawfish, or lobsters, as they are more frequently misternmed in this section, were an actual glut. The fishermen in this part of the State have been making tremendous hauls, and yesterday the crustaceans were so plentiful they could scarcely be given away. Many are placed on ice to keep for several days, and others cooked to keep for distribution on the following day. The price on these is very low in comparison with other years.

OLINDA THE FEATURE.

Demand Good and Stock Sells Freely at Slight Advance—Associated Quiet.

For a week-end market the call on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was unusually brisk. Trading was fair, bidding active and prices well maintained.

Of Olinda Land 14,000 shares were handled at 19 flat. The demand for the stock was pronounced, and it closed at 18 7-8@19 1-4, up 1-4 point in each quotation.

Columbia Oil was an active trader also, selling to the amount of 2000 shares at 97, and closing strong at 97@98, the bid being up 2 points.

Associated was not handled and closed at 29.50@30.62½, off 1 1-4 and 1 3-8 points, respectively. Central was quoted at 88@97½, up 1, and off 2½ points, respectively.

Union Oil was unchanged at the close. Sales of 20 shares at 80.00 were reported off board. A 1-4 point advance was scored in the bid for Union Provident, while the asked price was 3-4 point higher than on Friday. The close was at 79.50@80.25. United Petroleum was 1 3-8 points above the asked price of the previous close, at 80.25@82.00.

In the industrial stock there was no trading. Edison preferred was quoted ¼ point higher in the bid at 79.00@81.00, while the common closed at 58.00@62.00, up ½ point in the holding price. Home preferred was at 46.87½@47.37½, fractionally off in each quotation. Los Angeles Harbor common was up 2 points in the bid at 25.00, but none was offered. Los Angeles Investment was 5 points up in the bid at 2.35@2.55.

The bond list was inactive and the few fractional changes were of little importance. Bank stocks remained at about the same level as on Friday.

On the mining call, 5000 shares of Nevada Searchlight sold at 5-8 of a cent, buyer 60 days; 5000 of California Hills at 1 3-4, buyer thirty, and an additional 1000 at 1 5-8, regular delivery. Consolidated Mines was handled at 1 3-4, and 6000 shares of Johnnie Consolidated sold at 6.50 a lot.

LOS ANGELES-NEVADA EXCHANGE.

QUICK JUMP ON STRIKE REPORTS.

DAISY BOOSTED MANY POINTS BY NORTHERN STORIES.

Twenty-six Hundred Shares Sold at Morning Session at from Seventy-nine to Eighty-one—Booth Also Makes Gain and Whole List Grows Stronger.

Daisy was the feature of the morning session of the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange yesterday. Sales totaled 2600 shares, and the prices ranged from 79 to 81, showing advances of from 15 to 17 points over the final bid of Friday. The stock closed at 79@81. This advance and activity were due to reports of a rich strike on the property. These came from San Francisco, together with buying orders from northern brokerage houses, and the local market was soon cleaned up. The quick advance caused a scurry among those short of the stock, who, in covering their lines, advanced the price still more.

A gain was also scored by Booth, strike reports causing the demand. There were no sales on the floor, but the close was strong at 46 bid, a rise of six points. Booth was bought heavily in San Francisco, and there were buying orders here, but the stock was held closely.

As a result of the boosting of Daisy and Booth, the remainder of the list gained strength and several advances were recorded in quotations.

Consolidated sold at 5.75, to the extent of 100 shares, and closed at 5.70@5.80, off five points in the bid. Florence was quoted at 3.35@3.45, with no sales. The bid was up five points, compared with Friday's close.

Combination was a trader to the extent of 200 shares at 1.22@1.23, and closed in good demand at 1.22@1.23, up five points in each quotation. Homestake was handled at 27 to the extent of 2000 shares, and Jim Butler sold at 25. Two hundred shares of Montana sold at 1.05. Kendall went at 15½; Silver Pick at 17½, and Baby Florence at 8.

Four thousand shares of Johnnie Consolidated were handled at 6.50@7.00 a thousand, and 10,000 of Searchlight Parallel at 2. Adams sold at 4.

Twenty shares of Associated Oil were handled at 31.00; Globe Oil sold at 12½, and a six-share lot of Union at 79.00.

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

LUCKY STRIKES BOLSTER MARKET.

BOOTH AND DAISY GO UP ON REPORTED FINDS.

Activity in These Stocks Has Salutary Effect on Remainder of List, and Many Close With Small Gains. Shorts Cover on Daisy, and Induce Additional Strength.

[Special service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, No. 112 West Third street. Member Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The reported strikes on Daisy and Booth gave the market a very good tone this morning in these stocks. This helped out the balance of the list, and all during the session there was active trading in these two issues with salutary effect on the balance of the market.

Daisy moved up from 63 on last night's close to 80 bid tonight, and Booth went from 40 to 46.

Fraction closed at 1.22½, a gain of five points, and the medium low price issues show gains of one to three points. There was considerable short covering of Daisy, which had been tipped by the insiders to go to 40.

The market opened with a much better feeling and there was good buying of Goldfield, Consolidated, Fraction and Belmont. Bullfrog Homestake was weak on profit taking. The following are the closing bid and asked prices with sales on the formal call:

ROCK ISLAND IS NOW SUSPECTED.

SPECTACULAR MOVEMENT IS SUSPICIOUS.

Rumors of Completed Plans for Supplying System With Needed Capital Lacks Authoritative Confirmation—Fluctuations Narrow in Stock Market After Excitement.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The narrowing fluctuations in today's stock market followed the usual precedent after the more excited and violent fluctuations of the earlier part of the week. A downward plunge in prices followed by a rebound of corresponding violence is almost invariably followed by a succession of decreasing swings leading to a subsidence into dullness and a pause to await new issues. The lack of authoritative confirmation of the rumors of completed plans for supplying the Rock Island system with needed capital, put the spectacular movement in the securities of that company under suspicion of a stock market device. Their advance hurt rather than helped the general market, which showed weakness even before the sharp reaction in the Rock Island issues themselves. The mercantile agencies reported an improving tendency in commercial affairs, but in conservative fashion. Growing attention is given to the radical reduction being effected by railroads in their operating expenses. The Financial Chronicle points out the important fact that a comparison now is with the period last year when expenses were on an extraordinary scale owing to a congestion of traffic, and urgency of shipments, so that economical measures were then impossible. Reports on 172,124 of mileage for July show a cut in operating expenses compared with last year of $30,690,276, against a decline in gross earnings of $27,262,110. It is common knowledge also that the railroads are keeping repair work and improvements down to the lowest point practicable. The largest decrease in surplus of idle freight cars occurred in the two weeks ending September 16, for any similar period since the reduction began, the American Railway Association reporting a reduction in that time of 50,563 cars, or a decrease of 242,696 from the maximum of 413,338 idle freight cars which was reached on April 29. Cars sent to shops for repairs do not figure in the surplus equipment in this computation, and here also allowance must be made for the substitution of good cars from the idle equipment to save or defer expense of repairs.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $2,025,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

GENERAL EASTERN.

QUIET REIGNS IN WHEAT PIT.

VOLUME CHANGING HANDS IS SMALL.

Snow and Rain Reported from Parts of North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota, and Atchison, Kan., Has First Rain in Seventy-five Days—News not Exciting.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The volume of wheat which changed hands today was small, and the range of prices narrow, never getting far below or above last night's closing. The news of the day was not exciting. Snow and rain prevailed in parts of North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota, and Atchison, Kansas, reported the first rain in that section in 75 days. December wheat closed 3-8 under yesterday, at 1.01 1-4. Corn was dull and easy early, but firm later. Support was given the market because of predictions of frost. After a few early sales there was no pressure on the oats market and prices were maintained with little effort. Cash oats were steady. Save for the selling of October lard, the provisions market was neither interesting nor active today. Closing prices were 2½@7½ over yesterday. This was indicative of the lack of pressure.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was firm; winter patents, 4.15@4.75; straights, 3.90@4.60; clears, 3.60@3.50; spring patents, 5.25@5.60; straights, 4.00@4.90; No. 2 spring wheat, 98@1.02; No. 2 red, 1.01¼@1.02; No. 2 corn, 79¼@80; No. 2 yellow, 80@80½; No. 2 white oats, 50¼; No. 3 white, 48@50¼; No. 2 rye, 46@46½; fair to choice malting barley, 59@61; No. 1 flaxseed, 1.14½@1.23; No. 1 northwestern, 1.24¼; prime timothy seed, 3.15@3.25; clover, contract grades, 9.00; short ribs, sides (loose,) 9.62½@10.00; mess pork, per bbl., 15.25@15.37½; lard, per 100 lbs., 10.25; short clear sides (boxed,) 10.25@10.50; whisky, basis of high wines, 1.37.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Bankers and Brokers, Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 112 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—On disappointing cables cotton opened steady, 3 to 5 points down, which made a good showing. Trading was light, but it had good undertone. The weekly figures were bullish. Spinners' takings for week were larger than for some time and larger than last year. The feeling here is inclined to be bearish and the short interest is large. Monday will be first notice day on October and it looks like there will be very few out. We favor the bull side on all breaks and the long side seems to be the favorite with most operators. The Journal of Commerce in making up its report, claims there has been considerable shedding in Arkansas, Louisiana and conditions have fallen off very much for the month. This crop is by no means going to be a large one as most people have been looking for. We would buy at the market on all recessions.

The New York Commercial says: Liverpool was due to come 3 to 4½ points up today. There was good tone to the market yesterday. The shorts seem to be afraid of the coming government condition report, which, it is said, will show a decided deteriorating in many States. The October condition report is more important than all reports that go before it and cotton men who believe in conditions report at all, usually take it as being a very good indication of what the crop is going to be. Next Monday will be first October notice day and there seems to be little prospects of any considerable quantity of local stock being tendered. It is not to be expected that tenders will be free when the stock is demanding a premium on October.

The Chronicle's figures on cotton are as follows:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.

MONROVIA REALTY MOVES.

Better Feeling in Market for Suburban Property Is Evinced by Sales in Foothill Town.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MONROVIA, Sept. 26.—The characteristic of the realty market during the past week at this place has been the rather unexpected increase in the number of prospective purchasers, and several important deals are pending. Little activity was anticipated by dealers until after election. The influx of northerners and easterners will naturally be delayed until late in November, and the sudden rehabilitation of business is somewhat of a surprise. The aggregate of sales reported for the week ending Thursday, September 24, is $9000.

W. H. Evans sold for J. O. Thayer, to C. H. Post of Nebraska, a new bungalow and lot on North Myrtle avenue, for a consideration of $4200.

Robert Manford sold for A. W. Barka, to J. A. Wheeler of Alhambra, two lots on Wild Rose avenue, in the Oak Park tract, for a consideration of $800. The purchaser has commenced the erection of $4000 residence. The same agent, acting for Mrs. D. Huntington, sold to Joseph Rogers of Los Angeles two lots on White Oak avenue, Oak Park tract, for $1000. The purchaser will build a $4500 residence.

Caverly and Hockman sold for Mrs. Isabella Hazen a house and lot on Heliotrope avenue to T. E. Haas. The consideration was $1300. The purchaser will remodel the house. The same agents sold for J. W. McGraw to W. C. White a lot 50x150 feet in Idlewild tract for $700. The purchaser will build.

BUYING FOR HOMES.

Robert McGarvin reports the following recent sales:

For the Elysian Park Company to Mrs. Augusta Harste, a lot running from Casanova street to Park Row, for $625. This was bought to improve for a home. The same company sold to E. L. Bowers a lot 40x140 feet fronting on Solano avenue and running back to Amador street for $750 cash. This was bought to improve for a home. Also to Joseph Eck a lot 40x150 feet running from Solano avenue to Casanova street for $2700. This includes a six-room modern bungalow, now being built which will be occupied by Mr. Eck as a home as soon as completed.

From the Pico Street Villa Land Company to T. C. Cryer, two lots each 55x123, for $1400 each. These lots are on the east side of Woolsey avenue, midway between West Pico and Sixteenth street.

For D. C. McGarvin to T. C. Cryer, a lot on the west side of Norton avenue, north of Pico street, 60x170 feet.

IN MONETA AVENUE SECTION.

G. Dombrowski, manager of the Moneta Avenue Realty Company, reports the following sales:

For H. G. Cain to Kathrine Jones, the modern eight-room, two-story residence at No. 200 West Vernon avenue, on lot 44x140 feet, for a consideration of $3000 cash. The property was bought for a home.

For Andrew Lewison to Thomas J. Osgood, the modern seven-room, one-and-one-half-story residence at No. 224 West Forty-second Place, on lot 47x135 feet, for a consideration of $5000. This was also bought for a home.

For R. E. Halstead to Janet and Frank Hopkins, the modern six-room new bungalow located at No. 342 West Fifty-fourth street, on lot 40x135 feet, for a consideration of $2950 cash.

For Gus Hillman to Peter Olson, a lot 40x136 feet, located on the south side of Forty-seventh Place, between Moneta and Figueroa, for $1050 cash. Mr. Olson has already commenced on a modern six-room bungalow.

$6.50 an Acre Down for TERRA BELLA ORANGE LANDS

In the Orange Growing Belt of Tulare County a Few Miles South of Porterville

$65 to $110 Per Acre

Pay Us 10% Cash -- Balance Monthly

Over Four Years' Time

The man with small cash capital and ordinary common sense can make a success of orange growing at Terra Bella. The soil is right. Abundant water is available. The land can be bought for less money than you would pay for ordinary farming land elsewhere, and on terms that almost everybody can easily meet. If you want a profitable orange grove, develop it at Terra Bella. There is your opportunity to do so at a relatively small cash outlay.

Developed Orange Groves Pay $250 to $1000 an Acre

Oranges are one of the most profitable crops you can raise in California. Orange growing has been developed to a point where the element of chance is almost eliminated. It takes a few years to put an orange grove on a paying basis, but after that time it is a steady income payer, bringing its owner anywhere from $250 to $1000 net a year per acre.

Terra Bella is in the orange growing belt of Tulare county, a few miles south of Porterville. The land is proven orange land, with plenty of water available. Bought on the basis of $6.50 to $11 per acre cash, with the balance payable monthly during four years, it is thoroughly practical for a man with small capital to start an orange grove at Terra Bella. His holdings will pay for themselves in a few years, and it is possible for him to make an income from his land in the meantime.

In the Terra Bella district oranges ripen much earlier than those grown farther south. The grower can land his fruit in the eastern markets early, thus securing the top price for it. With proper care his grove can be made to produce considerable fruit its fourth year, and in six years it will have paid back all the money expended on it, and be showing a profit. Further, it will we worth over three times its cost, representing a value of about $1000 an acre.

Visit our office. Let us tell you what others are doing in this district. We have facts and figures based on the actual experiences of the growers, which will interest any man or woman who wants to grow oranges for profit. Remember, a cash payment of $6.50 to $11 an acre starts you. Come in and talk with us tomorrow.

COOKING CONTEST.

MEATLESS DISHES NOW TO THE FORE.

Opening of the Hygienic Chapter of "The Times" Cook-Book, and Another Installment of Dainty Desserts. Symposium About Completed.

AWARD of prizes for recipes printed last Sunday:

First, $5—Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado; fruit tutti frutti.

Second, $2—Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 North Hill street, Los Angeles; fruit cup.

Third, $1—Nina Bell Sherman, Long Beach; ripe guava cream.

With the fourth installment of the chapter on desserts, The Times chef also presents today the opening of the chapter on hygienic cooking, conducted by Harry Brook of the Care of the Body department of the Illustrated Sunday Magazine, together with an introduction prepared by him. All material now is in hand for The Times Cook-Book No. 3, a part of which already is on the press, and the volume will be ready for delivery within a very short time. Owing to the great popularity of the contest, publication of the book has been delayed from week to week, but the buyers will be the gainers through the fact that every new installment means a book just that much larger and better—all for the price originally set, 25 cents, with 5 cents added for postage.

DAINTY DESSERTS.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT.

ORANGE CHARLOTTE.—(Mary Carver, No. 138 West Twenty-first street.) Soften 1-3 box gelatine in 1-3 cup cold water, then add 1-3 cup boiling water and 1 cup sugar, let dissolve over kettle boiling water. Remove from fire, add juice 1 lemon. Strain through a wet cheesecloth, add 1 cup orange juice and pulp with little grated rind. Put in medium-sized wet mold and set on ice. When it begins to harden beat till white with dover beater and add beaten whites 3 eggs. Beat all until stiff. Mold, put on ice. Serve with soft custard made of yolks 3 eggs, 1 pint milk, and 1 scant tablespoon sugar to each egg.

ORANGE CREAM.—(Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 Hill street.) Heat ½ cup each, orange juice and sugar; beat yolks 2 eggs with another ½ cup sugar, and cook in first mixture over hot water until thickened; add ¼ package gelatine softened in ¼ cup cold water, and strain into 1½ cups cream. Turn into mold. Serve icy cold.

ORANGE CUSTARD.—(Mrs. C. C. Hall, Hollywood.) Yolks 5 eggs, creamed with 2-3 cup sugar. Add juice and grated rind of 2 oranges and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until it bubbles and thickens. Beat 5 whites of eggs stiff, and gently stir custard into them. Chill and serve in glass cups.

ORANGE DESSERT.—(Mrs. R. C. Walsh, Glendale.) Peel 5 or 6 oranges, cut in thin slices and sprinkle over them 1 cup sugar. Boil 1 pint milk and add while boiling yolks 3 eggs, well beaten, 1 tablespoon corn starch, made smooth with little cold milk; stir all time, to prevent lumping. When thick, pour over fruit. Beat whites of eggs stiff, add 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, pour over custard; brown lightly in oven. Serve cold.

ORANGE PUFFS.—(Mrs. A. G. Burgess, No. 121 North Hill street.) One-third cup butter, ½ cup milk, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1⅔ cups pastry flour. Beat eggs until light, add 3 level teaspoons baking powder to flour. Bake 20 minutes. ORANGE SAUCE FOR PUFFS: Two or 3 eggs, whites beaten stiff; 1 cup powdered sugar, grated rind and juice 2 oranges, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add sugar gradually.

ORANGE PUNCH.—(Mrs. Charles C. Bell, R. R. No. 2, Norwalk.) Boil 1 pound sugar with 1 pint water until it threads, remove from fire and add grated rind 3 oranges. When cool, strain; add strained juice 2 dozen oranges; let stand over night; when ready to use, add either plain water or Apollinaris in sufficient quantity to dilute to required amount.

ORANGE SHERBET IN ORANGE CUPS.—(Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 Hill street.) Make cups by cutting slice from top of each orange and removing pulp and juice to use for sherbet. Cut each cup into points and set on ice. At serving time place cups on pretty plates, garnished with holly or flowers, and fill with orange sherbet, pressing through pastry bag and tube, upon each one, a star of whipped cream.

ORANGE SOUFFLE.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) Empty carefully as many oranges as persons to be served. Make WHITE SOUFFLE: Whites 5 eggs, yolks of 2. Beat separately, making whites very sweet with sugar. Flavor with orange juice, beating it in with yolk. Mix lightly, fill skins with mixture, and bake 10 minutes in moderate oven.

PEACH COBBLER.—(Mrs. W. D. Lunsford, R. F. D., No. 1, Burbank.) Make paste of 1 pint sour cream, 2 tablespoons lard, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 saltspoon salt and flour enough to make stiff dough. Mix as any puff paste, roll thin and line deep baking dish. Take ripe peaches, pared and quartered, put layer in dish, sprinkling well with sugar. Put strips of paste over them, then another layer peaches and sugar, and so on until dish is full. Put on top crust, leaving hole in middle through which pour in 1½ pints water and 2 tablespoons butter. Bake until crust is nicely brown. Serve with cream and sugar.

PEACH COBBLER.—(Mrs. C. W. Kendrick, San Dimas.) Line large deep pie dish with good paste, rolled ¼ inch thick. Fit and trim this crust well, then butter edges. Fill heaping full of ripe, juicy peaches, pared and quartered. Put in several pits. Cover with crust, pinch edges lightly, prick top. Bake ¾ hour in brisk oven. Then take off top crust, mash peaches in pie, sweeten well, beat in lump butter size of walnut. Add 2 tablespoons sherry, let stand a minute, then dip out fruit enough to cover top crust. Sprinkle with sugar just before serving. Cream, either whipped or plain, may be served as sauce. Or fruit may be lightly sweetened when opened and served with very rich sherry winesauce. Sherry flavor accords better with peaches than that of any other wine. Delicate eaters prefer to have peaches left almost tart, and then to cover pie with whipped cream, sweetened, and flavored with sherry.

PEACH CREAM.—(Nina Bell Sherman, Long Beach.) One pint new milk, 3 teaspoons flour, ½ cup sugar, whites 2 eggs, beaten dry. Cook in double boiler. Line mold with fresh peaches, pared, remove pits, cut in half. Pour over this filling when cool. Make cream with 1½ cups milk, yolks 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons sugar. Cook in double boiler until thick. Cool and pour around pudding. Serve with flavored whipped cream.

PEACH LOAF.—(Mrs. Louis Flackenstein, No. 1626 West Washington street.) Beat to cream, 1 egg, 1 cup sugar and ½ cup butter; add 1 cup milk and grate in very little nutmeg. Sift 2 cups flour and heaping teaspoon baking powder into another dish and stir it in mixture little at time. Open can peaches and cut about half fruit in small pieces. Butter inside of good-sized cake pan well, put in layer of cake batter, then light layer of peaches, then layer batter. Repeat till all material is used, having batter for last layer. Bake loaf in rather quick oven and serve either hot or cold with cream and sugar.

PEACH SURPRISE.—(Mrs. W. D. Lunsford, R. F. D. No. 1, Burbank.) One quart peaches cut in small bits, 2 cups sugar, whites 3 eggs. Do not beat eggs at all; just mix everything together and put into freezer and turn till stiff. Delicious dessert.

PEACH AND RICE MERINGUE.—(Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 Hill st.) Prepare rice croquette mixture. Cut peaches in quarters, plunge into boiling water to remove skins; drain and slice. Make border of rice on serving dish. Surround with halved peaches; inside border dispose peaches and rice in layers, sprinkling peaches with sugar; cover with meringue, dust with sugar and set in slow oven 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

NOVEL WAYS TO SERVE PEACHES.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) 1. Pare and quarter peaches, sprinkle well with powdered sugar, place in glass jar, adjust rubber and lid and bury in ice and salt several hours. At serving time, place in glasses, with tablespoon whipped cream on top. May be served in place of ice cream at evening parties. 2. Peel large, very cold peaches, cut in two, lay each ½ hole side up on round piece of sponge cake. Cover each peach with spoonful whipped cream, sweetened to taste; garnish with candied cherries.

PINEAPPLE ICE.—(Mrs. C. C. Hall, Hollywood.) Boil 1 pint sugar and ½ pint water till it threads, as for candy, and whip into the well-beaten whites of 3 eggs. Add contents of 1 pound can grated pineapple, juice of 3 lemons, 1½ pints water, and freeze. Makes ½ gallon.

RASPBERRY ICE.—(Mrs. Virginia A. Cosnan, No. 2207 Leoti avenue.) Take 2½ pints water and 4 cups sugar, boil 10 minutes. Set aside to cool. When ready to freeze, add pulp and juice of 2 boxes red raspberries, 1 of Loganberries, and the unbeaten whites of 2 eggs; freeze hard. Serve in sherbet cups, with a spoonful sugared raspberries on top.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM.—(Mrs. C. C. Hall, Hollywood.) Boil 1 pint sugar and ½ pint water till it threads and whip into well-beaten whites of 2 eggs. Wash and cap a quart of strawberries and put through a fruit press. Add juice of 2 lemons. Whip 1 pint heavy cream thoroughly. Stir all together, and freeze. Makes ½ gallon.

VANILLA ICE CREAM, WITH HOT SAUCES.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) A good foundation for vanilla ice cream is as follows: Beat 1 quart new milk with 1 pound [illegible] sugar until sugar is dissolved [illegible] fancy demands that it be served with some sort of hot sauce. CHOCOLATE SAUCE: One-quarter cake unsweetened chocolate, cut up fine and covered with hot water. Add butter size of walnut, ¾ pound sugar and cook until rich syrup is formed. Sufficient for 6. MAPLE SAUCE: Dissolve maple sugar in just enough water to keep from burning. When clear, but not waxy, add chopped walnuts and pour over ice cream serving at once. HOT STRAWBERRY SAUCE: Mash 1 pint strawberries and bring to a boil with cup sugar, until rich, thick syrup is formed. If clear sauce is desired, strawberries may be rubbed through fine sieve before boiling with sugar.

LEMON CUSTARD.—(Mrs. A. L. Parsons, No. 228 West Forty-second street.) Pare 2 large lemons and pour 1 pint boiling water over rind. Let stand 3 or 4 hours, take out peel and to liquid add juice of lemons and 1 ounce arrowroot, previously mixed with little water, ½ pound sugar and 2 eggs, well beaten. Pour into saucepan and stir until thickens slightly. When cold, pour into custard cups.

LEMON SHERBET.—(Ida A. Sherman, Garvanza.) Mix 2 cups sugar, 1 cup lemon juice, 4 cups cold water and use thinly-shaved peel 2 lemons. Let this stand 1 hour, strain and freeze until mushy, add whites 2 eggs, beaten frothy. Freeze firm. Serve in tall glasses.

LEMON SHERBET, WITH STRAWBERRY MOUSSE.—(Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 Hill street.) Beat white 1 egg until dry; beat into this generous ½ cup sugar, beating until very stiff; then fold into mixture a cup each cream and strawberry pulp, with juice beaten very thick; turn into chilled melon mold lined with lemon sherbet and let stand, packed in equal parts ice and salt, 2 to 3 hours.

LEMON SOUFFLE.—(Mrs. Sheldon Bosworth, Redondo.) Four eggs grated rind and juice 1 lemon, 1 cup sugar. Beat yolks and sugar until thick, then add grated lemon rind and juice. Fold in whites of eggs, beaten until dry; turn into buttered pudding dish, set in pan of hot water, and bake 25 minutes. Serve with or without sauce.

LOUIS' WELLS.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) Work into 1½ pounds sifted flour 1 pound best butter worked to waxy cream in cold water; add 2 heaping tablespoons shredded almonds, 1 tablespoon cordial, pinch salt and dessert spoon sugar. With ice water work to smooth pastry, using care as in making puff paste, to not use too much water. Roll out, cut round rings of different sizes, making several of each size. Brush these with beaten egg, and with each size separately build up hollow forms by laying rings on one another, and bake separately. Fill these, beginning with largest, which has been placed on flat serving dish, with alternate layers of plum marmalade and whipped cream, and build shapely pyramid, having smallest form on top.

MACAROON CREAM.—(Blanche Parker, No. 345 West Sunset boulevard, Hollywood.) Soak 1 tablespoon gelatine in ¼ cup cold water. Make custard of 2 cups scalded milk, yolks 3 eggs, 1-3 cup sugar, big pinch salt; add soaked gelatine. When dissolved, strain, cool and add 1 cup pounded macaroons (the thin brown ones,) 1 teaspoon vanilla, stirring until mixture begins to thicken; then add whites, beaten until stiff and dry. Mold, chill and serve with whipped cream.

MAPLE BAKED CUSTARD.—(Emma C. Esterley, No. 857 Gramercy Place.) Four cups scalded milk, 6 eggs, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 45 to 60 minutes. Scald milk in double boiler; mix sugar, egg and salt and pour the hot milk on mixture, stirring all the time; add flavoring. Put 3 tablespoons maple syrup in baking dish, strain the custard into it and bake in pan of water.

MAPLE MOUSSE.—(Emma C. Esterley, No. 857 Gramercy Place.) One cup maple syrup, 4 eggs, 1 pint cream, 1 tablespoon gelatine; beat yolks of eggs, add to syrup gradually. Heat a little and pour over gelatine, dissolved in ½ cup cold water; beat this until cold. Add the cream (whipped,) a little salt, a teaspoon vanilla. Be sure syrup is hot when you pour it over gelatine.

FIG ICE CREAM.—(Mrs. C. C. Hall, Hollywood.) Boil 1 pint sugar, ½ pint water till it threads, and whip into well-beaten whites of 3 eggs. Peel 1 quart very ripe figs (black or white) and put through fruit press, add juice of 1 lemon. Whip 1 pint heavy cream thoroughly. Then stir all together and freeze. Makes ½ gallon.

MERINGUES WITH WHIPPED CREAM AND STRAWBERRIES.—(Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 Hill street, Los Angeles.) Beat 1 cup whites of eggs (enough to allow for 8 persons) until stiff; then beat in ½ cup fine granulated sugar. When clean cut can be made, fold in second ½ cup sugar; shape in oval portions (for 8 people) on paper fastened to board. Bake ¾ hour. Invert, remove centers and fill with sweetened, whipped cream and strawberries.

MINCE PASTIES.—(Mrs. Alice Watson, No. 133 Hill street.) Make puff paste; spread with mince made of boiled tongue, suet, apples, raisins, orange juice, cider, sugar, citron, currants and preserved peaches; cover with pastry, cut into stars and bake delicate brown.

MINT VELVET.—(Mrs. R. C. Walsh, Glendale.) Break 15 sprigs mint into cup ice water and let stand an hour, strain water, add 3 cups sugar and boil until it threads; add whites 3 eggs, slightly beaten, juice of an orange and a lemon, 2 teaspoons each rose and almond extract, and 1 pint whipped cream. Freeze.

MOCHA SOUFFLE.—(Mary Carver, No. 138 West Twenty-first street.) Three tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, ¾ cup coffee, ¼ cup cream or milk, ½ cup sugar, 4 eggs, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Make same as custard souffle and serve with mocha sauce. Mix yolks 2 eggs with 1-3 cup sugar, few grains salt, ½ cup coffee. Cook in double boiler till mixture thickens; cool. When ready to serve, add 1 cup whipped cream.

NUT CONSERVE.—(Mrs. Charles C. Bell, R. R., No. 2, Norwalk.) Take 3 pints any fruit juice, preferably grape or currant. To each pint juice add 1 pound sugar, 6 oranges, sliced thin, juice and grated, 1 pound finely-chopped walnuts, ½ pound finely-chopped filberts. When fruit juice has dissolved sugar, add other ingredients slowly and cook slowly about an hour. It will be thick like marmalade and should be put in glasses. A delicious sweetmeat.

EXPERT'S IDEAS ON HYGIENIC COOKING.

BY HARRY E. BROOK,
Editor Care of the Body.

From a strictly hygienic point of view all cooking of food is more or less spoiling food. It is a recognition of this fact that has led to the recent popularity of the raw-food diet.

It has been said that cooks kill more than cannons. However this may be, there is no doubt that a great majority of the human race will continue to demand and to obtain cooked food for many years to come. Therefore, the next question is, as to how food may be best cooked so as to well nourish and least injure the human body.

The most important thing in cooking is to retain the necessary organic salts, which are the essence of the food, imparting to it its delicate flavor. To do this it is necessary to cook in closed receptacles. This is the main secret of the celebrated French cooking.

These salts are largely removed in bolting flour, so that white flour is, to a great extent, a starvation food, also in the discarding of the water in which vegetables have been boiled. To do this is just about as reasonable as it would be to boil tea and then throw away the liquid, retaining the tea leaves, as some old ladies are said to have done when tea was first introduced into England.

Steaming is much better in every way than boiling. Baking is the most hygienic form of cooking. Frying should be avoided altogether, as in heating fat, acids are liberated which are most irritating to the lining of the stomach.

Table salt (chloride of sodium,) is a slow poison. If used at all it should be partaken of very sparingly, and the sooner you abandon its use altogether the better. Chloride of sodium is craved because people change or destroy in cooking the chlorine and sodium, which are found in natural foods.

Another substance which works incalculable harm to the people of this country, where it is consumed in such enormous quantities, is concentrated refined cane sugar. For this may be substituted sweet fruits, or if you will, a little pure honey or maple sugar.

The recipes in the following chapter are by no means all strictly hygienic. If only such had been accepted in response to the request for hygienic cooking recipes, there would have been scarcely more than enough to fill a page of this book. Some of those rejected were so absolute[illegible] health as to be amusing. The amount of salt given in some of the recipes received was sufficient to drive a man to a beer hall. In one respect the dishes printed all agree. They are all meatless dishes. It should be remembered, however, that the mere dropping of meat from the dietary may, from a hygienic point of view, be a step backward rather than forward.

In conclusion, the following simple suggestions are put forth as representing in a nutshell the laws of right living:

(1.) Eat only when you are hungry, and only sufficient to satisfy hunger.

(2.) Eat few things at a meal.

(3.) Eat dry. This means not only no water, wine, beer, tea or coffee, but also no soup or slops of any kind at meals.

(4.) Chew all food thoroughly, to a pulp.

(5.) Never eat when you are exhausted, worried, overheated or angry.

HYGIENIC RECIPES.

FIRST INSTALLMENT.

APPLE AND RICE PUDDING.—(Mrs. C. M. West, 632 North Wilson avenue, Pasadena.) Have pudding dish three parts full of apples, prepared and seasoned as for sauce; put bits of butter on top; then a layer of steamed or boiled rice about an inch thick; steam 1 hour or cover and bake ½ an hour.

APPLE-CORN PONE.—(Mrs. Rose Ashley, Newport Beach, Cal.) Pare and chop fine a quart of sweet apples. Scald a quart of corn meal with a pint of boiling water. Add new milk enough to make a stiff batter, then stir in the apples. Bake slowly in a close vessel 3 hours. Butter the dish well. Serve with cream and sugar.

APPLE SALAD.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) Cut some apples into dice, mix with mayonnaise or boiled dressing and serve on a bed of shredded lettuce leaves.

ARROWROOT BLANC MANGE.—(Grace Hawkins, 960 East Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles.) One large cupful of boiling milk, 1 even tablespoon of arrowroot, rubbed to a paste with cold water, 2 teaspoons of white sugar, flavor with rose water. Boil and stir 3 minutes. Turn into a wet mold and when firm serve with cream and powdered sugar.

ARROWROOT GRUEL.—(Grace Hawkins, 960 East Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles.) Add a teaspoon of arrowroot to ½ a pint of boiling water; mix well, add ½ pint of milk and boil together for 2 or 3 minutes; sweeten to taste. A little lemon juice or wine may be added.

ASPARAGUS.—(Mrs. Adele Larsen, Hollywood.) Scrape or peel off fibrous parts, barely cover with water, boil till tender, about 30 minutes, thicken with one or more spoons flour, adding same amount butter, add beaten egg when ready to serve. CAULIFLOWER: Cook same as asparagus, in same time.

ASPARAGUS.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) Wash carefully and break (not cut) into inch pieces as far as each stalk can be broken. When tough boil the hardest part first and add the tender heads after 10 minutes. Let the water boil down and add cream.

BAKED BEANS.—(Louise C. Holmes, 126 West Jefferson, city.) Pick over, wash and place beans in a baking crock, with 2 tablespoons of olive oil, 2 green chiles, 1 large onion, 1 tooth of garlic, 1 bay leaf and parsley, all chopped fine; add 1 quart of tomatoes (from which the skins have been removed.) Bake in a slow oven all day. Be sure to cover the crock.

BAKED ONION.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) The nicest way of serving an onion is to bake it. The method is simplicity itself. Put the onions in a hot oven and bake until tender, remove the skins very gently; place on a hot dish and serve with butter, or serve cold with a French dressing, made of California pure olive oil and lemon juice, and season to taste.

ONION AU GRATIN.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) Cut onions rather fine. Place in a baking dish and cover the top with dry bread crumbs and a little grated cheese. Add milk enough to cover the onions and bake ¾ hour. Season to taste.

BAKED ONIONS.—(Mrs. A. G. MacArthur, 333 West Third street, Long Beach.) Parboil medium-sized onions in boiling water. Wrap each onion in an oiled paper, place in dripping pan and bake in moderate oven 1½ hours.

BOILED CUSTARD.—(Emma Gatske, R. D. No. 1, Ventura, Cal.) One pint of milk, 3 eggs (yolks only;) 4 tablespoonfuls sugar; flavoring. Put the milk into a double boiler on the stove. Beat the eggs and sugar, and when the milk boils pour it over them (if you add the eggs to the milk there is danger of curdling,) stirring briskly as you do so, return to the fire for a moment to cook the eggs, stir all the time. Remove and when cool mix in the flavoring. Maple sugar gives a delicate and agreeable flavor to custard.

BRAN JELLY. (ALICE REYNOLDS, Long Beach, Cal.) Put bran into a porcelain kettle and cover with cold water. Stir it up well and leave it to settle. When the water looks clear, skim off anything that floats on top. Drain, and add boiling water until of the consistency of thick gruel. Boil slowly for 3 hours, strain it and allow the liquid to come to a boil. Add a very little cornstarch dissolved in water. Pour into moulds and set aside to cool. Serve with fruit.

BREAKFAST CEREAL.—(Mary S. Berry, 1045 Eighth street, San Diego.) A good breakfast food can be made from shorts and honey. To one quart shorts add two large (overflowing) spoons of honey. Mix thoroughly and brown slightly. Dry mixture before browning. The product resembles grape nuts in crispness and flavor. Eat with cream or with sliced bananas and cream.

BREAKFAST DISH.—(Mrs. H. Hudson, Ocean Park.) One cup raw rolled wheat, 1 pound coarsely chopped nuts, 2 pounds coarsely chopped figs or dates. To be eaten with cream. Nice with berries or peaches and sugar instead of the figs or dates.

BROWN BETTY.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) Equal measures of tart apples cut in small pieces, and coarse bread crumbs thoroughly dried. Cook the apples in thin syrup of water and maple sugar or honey till hot through, adding lemon juice and rind if liked. Moisten the crumbs with melted butter or olive oil and place in layers in a pudding dish having crumbs on top. At least a cup of liquid is needed. Bake at least an hour; longer if needed, to bring to a nice brown color. Serve with fruit juice sauce. Good for breakfast dish as well as a dessert.

BROWN BETTY PUDDING.—(Mrs. C. M. West, 632 N. Wilson avenue, Pasadena.) Two cups finely chopped tart apples, one cup of bread or zwieback crumbs, one-fourth cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoonful butter cut into bits. Butter a quart pudding dish. Put a layer of apples on the bottom, then sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon and butter. Cover with bread crumbs, then more apples and so on, having a layer of crumbs last. Cover and bake three-quarters of an hour. Then remove cover and brown the top.

BROWN BREAD.—(Mrs. Ida A. Sherman, Garvanza, Cal.) One-half cup each of flour, corn meal and best molasses; ½ cup whole wheat flour, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 small level teaspoon of soda dissolved in a little water. Use ½ pound baking powder cans. One will serve each person. Fill the cans half full, steam one hour and a quarter.

"CAUDLE."—(Grace Hawkins, 960 East Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles.) Beat a raw egg with a wineglassful of sherry. Add to it half a pint of hot gruel. Flavor with orange peel and sugar.

APPLE WATER.—(Grace Hawkins, 960 East Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles.) Slice two large apples; put them in a jar; pour over them a pint of boiling water; cover for an hour; pour off fluid and sweeten if needed.

APPLE TEA.—(Grace Hawkins, 960 East Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles.) Roast eight fine apples; put them in a jar with two teaspoonfuls of sugar; pour on a quart of boiling water; let stand by the fire for an hour and take it as desired.

CABBAGE AND CRESS SALAD.—(J. W. Green, 706 North Main street, Los Angeles.) One small head cabbage washed and drained, then sliced very fine; 1 bunch water-cress washed, picked over and sliced fine; mix well and garnish with 2 hard-boiled eggs grated; dress at table with a French dressing in which lemon juice is substituted for vinegar.

CARROT FOAM.—(M. H. Coates, No. 128 Fremont avenue, Santa Monica.) Take raw carrots in quantity rather more than you would choose for one meal; and as the carrots are to be grated, select the largest, because they are the most easily handled. Cut off the tops and discard all green colored meat near the top; wash perfectly clean; wipe dry, and grate them (raw) on a very coarse grater. Sprinkle with lemon juice; ladle into individual dishes, but do not pat down; drop a teaspoonful of mayonaise upon each and serve at once. Grate the carrots, do not grind them. The grinding machine kills their vivacity (using this word for want of a better.) Grating reduces carrots to a pleasantly edible state and adds a deliciously foamy lightness.

CAULIFLOWER AND NUT SCALLOP.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) Steam your cauliflower until tender. Cool and pull into small pieces; chop or grind two cups blanched almonds that have been thoroughly dried. Line your oiled baking dish with bread crumbs and sprinkle alternate layers of cauliflower, nuts and crumbs until your dish is filled, and lastly turn over all two well-beaten eggs in one cup of rich milk or cream, and bake in a moderate oven.

CELERY SALAD.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) Wash thoroughly some stalks of celery; cut in small pieces; mix with cold slaw dressing and serve on lettuce leaves.

CELERY SAUCE.—(Mrs. P. L. Mason, Route 1, box 179, Long Beach.) Put a cup of lemon juice and butter the size of an egg on to boil. Beat the yolks of 4 eggs. Pour the boiling lemon juice over the beaten yolks, stirring briskly. Place again on the stove and continue to stir till like custard. When nearly cold add 2 tablespoons of brown sugar, and one of bruised celery seed. This will keep for weeks in a very cool place. Before using add equal portion of thick cream. This is always ready for all kinds of salads, sliced tomatoes, cucumbers and cold meats.

CHEESE SOUFFLE.—(Nettie E. Wasson, No. 709 West First street, city.) Three tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 cup grated cheese; season to taste. Mix thick white sauce by blending flour and butter in pan over the fire; add milk and stir until it boils. Cook 3 minutes, then stir in cheese and yolks of eggs, beaten until thick. Season to taste, remembering that the cheese [illegible] whites [illegible] 25 minutes.

[illegible] 122 Johnston street, city.) Remove pits from 2 cups of cherries, mixing white and red, equally; put in each cherry a freshly baked peanut, or hazelnut; arrange on circular platter the crisp heart leaves of head lettuce; sprinkle cherries all through the leaves. Serve with French dressing, using 2 tablespoons cherry juice in place of lemon juice.

CORN BREAD.—(J. W. Gheen, No. 706 North Main street, Los Angeles.) Pour a pint of boiling hot milk over yellow corn meal to make a batter as stiff as you can stir. Do this in the morning if you want the bread for lunch or dinner. When ready to bake add one tablespoon brown sugar and two of melted butter or vegetable oil, 3 eggs, not separated, but beaten stiff in a large bowl with a wire whip; pour into shallow oiled pans and put into a hot oven, lowering the temperature a little after a few minutes.

CORN CAKE WITH FRUIT.—(Mrs. Rose Ashley, Newport Beach, Cal.) Pour 1 quart of boiling water on 1 quart of corn meal and stir quickly. Wet the hands, and form the dough into small round cakes ½ inch thick. Bake in a hot oven. The addition of a few raspberries, or any other sub-acid fruit is a decided improvement. Sweet apples chopped fine, are also good.

CORN CAKES.—(Mrs. Rose Ashley, Newport Beach, Cal.) Pour hot water on corn meal to make a stiff batter, and let it stand over night. In the morning add milk to thin it, then stir in graham flour, in which is a little baking powder, until it is of the right consistency for baking. Bake in gem pans and they will be light.

CORN CHEESE.—(Mrs. Harry Ellington Brook, Los Angeles.) One quart of boiling water; a large onion, cut small, 1 cup yellow corn meal, red pepper to taste. Boil slowly for 2 hours. Then add ½ a pound of good mild cheese. When the cheese is melted, put the mixture into mold. Serve hot or cold. This is more nourishing and more appetizing than maccaroni and cheese.

CREAM ROLLS.—(J. W. Gheen, No. 706 North Main street, Los Angeles.) Stir gradually 1 pint of thin cream into enough whole wheat flour to make a stiff dough; knead until it is fine and elastic (about 20 minutes,) turn on the board and shape with the hands into rolls about the size of a finger. Bake in a moderate oven from 20 to 30 minutes.

CREOLE SAUCE.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) One cup finely shredded onion, 1 cup finely shredded green pepper, cooked till soft in 3 tablespoons olive oil. Cover closely and do not let brown. Add 1 pint sliced tomato and simmer gently till all is soft and consistent. It will take about 20 minutes.

DATE PUDDING.—(Della D. Hughes, Sierra Madre.) Cover bottom of granite pan with cracker crumbs, then a layer of seeded and chopped dates, layer of crumbs, layer of walnut or pecan meats, another layer of crumbs. Use the beaten whites of 2 eggs with 2 tablespoonfuls sugar, as meringue; set in quick oven till it browns on top. Cooked prunes may be substituted for dates if desired.

DRESSING.—(Mable Brown, No. 772 East Sixteenth street, city.) Make regular dressing of dry bread, onion, sage and salt. Press into a pan, pare potatoes and put in with the dressing; pour over them cottonseed oil, baste with the oil while cooking. When done the potatoes should be a golden brown and the dressing crisp crusted.

EGG TIMBALES.—(Dot Bosworth, Redondo.) Beat 4 eggs lightly, add a cup of rich milk, divide equally among 6 well buttered timbale molds, stand in a pan half filled with hot water, bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. Turn out in a heated platter. Pour around some tomato or bread sauce, serve with lettuce salad and cheese.

STEAMED EGGS.—(Mrs. G. Matheson, Glendora, Cal.) Butter a pan and break in the eggs; set in a steamer, place over a kettle of boiling water, and steam until the whites are cooked. The whites of the eggs, when cooked in this manner are tender and light, and not tough and leathery as if cooked by any other process. If cooked in the shell they taste of the lime contained in them; and if broken into boiling water it destroys their flavor.

WHIPPED EGGS.—(Mrs. E. M. Pease, Claremont, Cal.) Beat in a deep bowl the yolks of two or three eggs, add the whites and beat again, add half a cup of fruit juice, half a cup of almond cream or half a cup of ground pecan or other nuts. Pour over flaked Durum wheat, or flaked rye or pearled wheat.

EGG RAISED GEMS.—(Mrs. H. Hudson, Ocean Park, Cal.) Grease iron gem pans and set on the stove to heat. Take 2 cups fine whole wheat flour, 2 cups sweet milk, 1 egg thoroughly beaten. Do not use salt. Mix, put in pans and bake in hot oven 30 minutes. If removed too soon they will be soggy.

EGYPTIAN ROLLS.—(Mrs. Charles C. Bell, R.R. No. 2, Norwalk, Cal.) Pick leaves from large loose head of cabbage; boil 5 minutes in boiling water and let stand until wilted; drain, cut out the mid rib; have ready ¼ pint lentils soaked over night and boiled for 30 minutes and ½ pint rice boiled for 15 minutes; drain and mix together; add 1 chopped onion. Put 1 tablespoonful of the rice mixture in center of cabbage, fold over ends and roll up. Place compactly in deep sauce pan; cover with boiling water and put in 2 cloves garlic; simmer 1 hour. Lift rolls out, drain and dish. Put 2 tablespoonfuls each butter and flour in a sauce pan; add 1 pint water the rolls were boiled in; stir until boiled and thickened; salt if wished and add the juice of 1 lemon; pour over the rolls and serve at once.

ENTIRE WHEAT GEMS.—(Mrs. E. G. Burgess, 560 Euclid ave., Los Angeles.) Two cups sour milk, ½ teaspoon soda beaten well into the milk. Add entire wheat, 2 cups, put into gem pans, bake rather quickly.

SALAD.—(Mrs. E. G. Burgess, 560 Euclid ave., Los Angeles.) One head of lettuce sliced, except a few pretty leaves for the edge of bowl, 3 tomatoes peeled and sliced, 1 onion sliced, 1 cucumber sliced, ½ dozen leaves nipped from the top of mint, shredded. Then squeeze a lemon over the whole.

FARINA DUMPLINGS.—(Mrs. Adele Larsen, Hollywood.) Coarse farina is boiled in milk, part water, spoonful butter, until it is quite thick. Add to it boiled raisins and a beaten egg or two. The mass must be stiff. Brown bread crumbs in butter, dip a spoon in them and then in the farina, taking off a spoonful at a time in this way and put in a dish ready to serve. Serve with this boiled fruit. Fresh prunes boiled are especially good, or preserved fruit.

CHESTNUTS.—(Mrs. Adele Larsen, Hollywood.) Boil chestnuts with the shells 10 minutes. Then peel and boil with water, a trifle butter and raisins one hour. When done the water should be quite absorbed by the nuts.

FIG PASTE. (A Laxative Food.)—(Miss E. L. Dooly, 137 North Soto street, city.) Pound of prunes, ½ pound figs, ounce senna leaves. Tie latter in cheesecloth bag. Cover all with cold water and boil slowly an hour. Remove senna leaves. Mix well and keep in cool place. Serve as dessert or ad libitum.

FLAXSEED LEMONADE.—(Miss E. L. Dooly, 137 North Soto street, city.) Put 2 tablespoons whole flaxseed in quart cold water. Let come to brisk boil, add 2 mashed lemons and strain. Sweeten with 2 tablespoons strained honey. Serve hot or cold. Excellent for a cold.

FRUIT PORRIDGE.—(Mrs. Rose Ashly, Newport Beach, Cal.) Put a quart of blackberries over the fire, boil about 10 minutes and sweeten to taste. Stir in heaping cupful of Graham flour; cook ten minutes longer, until porridge leaves sides of kettle. Wet a mold in cold water and pour in porridge. When quite cold turn out and serve with cream. Apples, dates and raisins are all very nice cooked this way.

GRAHAM CAKE.—(Mrs. Chandler Robert Holmes, 1020 East Eleventh street, city.) One egg, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 large cups graham flour, sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup crushed hickory nut meats; bake in square cake pan. Cut in squares when done, ice with maple fudge. Grind maple sugar through a coffee mill or meat chopper, use 2 cups sugar, 1 cup milk, boil until a soft ball can be formed in cold water; stir until creamy and soft to spread; decorate with hickory meats.

GRAPE JUICE FRAPPE.—(Mrs. Elaine Waldeck, Pasadena.) Strain grape juice through double cheesecloth, sweeten, turn into a freezer. Freeze stiff. Serve in chilled glasses with spoons.

GRAPE PUDDING.—(Mrs. Elaine Waldeck, Pasadena.) Boil 3 cups of ripe grapes until soft, strain juice and pulp through strainer; add ½ cup of sugar, ½ cup tapioca, juice of lemon, cover and boil until tapioca is clear. Mold in ridged jelly tumblers. Place near the ice until it is served with flavored cream.

ZINFANDEL GRAPE PIE.—(Nina Bell Sherman, Pasadena.) Line a deep pie dish with the best crust you can make, fill with tender green grapes, seeded, layer of grapes, layer of sugar, until the dish is full; tablespoon of water; choice of 1 crust, or use top crust. The juice is red, resembles closely a cherry pie.

FRESH GRAPES IN JELLY.—(Nina Bell Sherman, Pasadena.) Dissolve 1 package of lemon jello with boiling hot grape juice, sweeten to suit, rinse a large bowl with cold water, place a bunch of grapes in it, pour a little of the jelly over them, let this harden, then pour over the rest of the jelly and chill. Unmold. When you serve it, break the jelly with a fork, leave enough on the grapes to frost them. Zinfandel grapes ripe, and sweet, have a red juice like cherries. This grape makes a red jelly, like currants, and pies that look and taste like cherry.

HOT POTATO SALAD.—(Mrs. A. G. MacArthur, 333 West Third street, Long Beach.) Boil potatoes in their jackets, peel and slice while hot. Between layers of the potato, put raw, white onions, sliced very thin, and a sprinkle of white pepper. A little finely-cut parsley may also be added. Dress salad with plain dressing made of lemon juice and olive oil, 1 part juice to 2 of oil.

HYGIENIC BISCUIT.—(Helen Magee, No. 122 Johnston street, city.) Add to a quart of bread dough, the beaten yolks of 3 eggs, ½ cup of butter, or olive oil, and 1 cup of sugar. Let this dough rise very light, form it into flat biscuit; bake in a quick oven until done; as soon as taken out, split them and set in a closet under the oven to dry, or dry in the oven, with the door open 24 hours. When they are thoroughly hard and crisp throughout, put them in a bag of coarse cloth, and let them hang in a dry place for 2 weeks. At the end of this time they are ripened and ready for use. Eat with milk and berries.

HYGIENIC CRACKED WHEAT MUSH.—(Mrs. Rose Ashby, Newport Beach, Cal.) Take a quart of clean white wheat and put in a slow oven to parch (not brown.) Be sure that it is well dried, for therein lies its pleasant flavor. Grind it in your coffee mill, then put it into a double boiler with enough water to make a thin gruel. Boil 1½ hours or until of the proper consistency. Eat with cream and sugar, warm or cold, as preferred. Half of this quantity will be enough for a small family. It is a better cure for constipation than all the patent medicines you can carry home.

HYGIENIC WAFFLES.—(E. L. Merrilees, [illegible] North Fremont avenue, Los Angeles.) Use 1 [illegible] graham flour for each waffle. Stir in [illegible] nut meal for each cup [illegible] water to make a batter of [illegible]. Beat vigorously for some time in order to insure lightness. One or more eggs may be added after being beaten to a stiff froth, but are not necessary. Rye, barley, corn or rice flour, oatmeal, oat flakes or wheat flakes may be substituted for the graham or used in connection if desired. Banana flour is also an excellent adjunct. Eaten cold these waffles make an excellent substitute for fermented wheat bread.

JUJUBE OF PLUMS.—(M. H. Coates, No. 128 Fremont avenue, Santa Monica.) Fresh, ripe plums, take in quantity no more than you can handle easily at a drying; say, your tray holds 3 dozen large Damson or egg plums; remove skin and pits, split into halves, spread thinly on the tray and set in sunlight for 2 days (or in cool oven with open door for 8 hours,) to fix the juices; then run 2 tablespoonfuls of honey in a thin stream over; return to sunlight or oven, and keep there till cured—several days, depending upon strength of sunshine. Inspect daily, watching for mould, and protect from night damps. When cured, dust lightly with powdered sugar (confectioner's icing sugar is best,) cut with knife or shears into 1-inch squares, wrap in waxed papers and pack in paper boxes; keep in dry place. Plum jujube run through a grinding machine makes an excellent filling for sandwiches.

LEMON MILK.—(J. W. Gheen, No. 706 North Main street, Los Angeles.) Take 1½ pints of fresh milk and ½ pint of cream, put in a large bowl, and with a wire whip beat in slowly the strained juice of 2 small lemons. Care must be taken that the milk be thoroughly agitated before the lemon juice is dropped in, and that dropping slowly continues. If properly made the milk will thicken by forming minute curds. Orange may be used with the lemon if desired.

LENTIL LOAF.—(Mrs. Charles C. Bell, R. R. No. 2, Norwalk, Cal.) Soak 1 cup lentils over night; add fresh water and cook until soft, keeping just covered with the water; rub through a strainer and add to the pulp enough fine bread crumbs so the mixture will hold together. Season with a little freshly-chopped celery; press into an oiled baking tin and bake in moderate oven 1 hour; loosen and turn out on platter; can be served hot with mint sauce, tomato sauce or cucumber sauce; or can be served as a cold dish garnished with sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, curled celery, shredded green peppers, parsley, rings of hard-boiled egg or tomato jelly; or it can be cut in cubes and served with a mayonnaise dressing. Cold cooked cereal can be mixed with the lentils and bread crumbs.

LENTIL AND TOMATO SOUP.—(Mrs. Charles C. Bell, R. R. No. 2, Norwalk, Cal.) Soak 1 cupful lentils over night; drain; add fresh water and cook until soft. Rub through a sieve; add 1 cupful strained cooked tomato and enough hot water to make 3 pints liquid. Season if desired and thicken with 1 tablespoonful of flour and 1 tablespoonful of butter rubbed together.

MAPLE DESSERT.—(Miss Emilia Lundberg, Coronado.) Cut whole wheat bread (not too fresh,) in cubes; warm in the oven. Remove to serving dish. Strew thickly with pure maple sugar (scraped from a maple cake;) heap whipped cream over the bread cubes and serve at once.

MEATLESS STEW.—(Mrs. E. M. Goodhue, No. 418 South Grand avenue, city.) Put into fry pan (with cover,) a generous tablespoon of butter. When hot put in 2 or 3 bay leaves, 3 or 4 green cucumbers, pared and each cut in 4 flat pieces, (first cut length ways and then across,) 2 green peppers, cut in inch pieces, (seeds and inner strips discarded.) Fry these slowly until the cucumbers are nicely browned on both sides, but not burned. Now add 1 pint hot water and cover tightly. When once boiling, add 4 to 6 small onions, cut cross ways of grain, 2 or 3 ripe tomatoes, cut same way,) or pint of canned tomatoes, and red pepper to taste. My 9-inch fry pan is plenty large for this quantity, but lacking this size turn fried vegetables into stew pot (with cover.) Now stew very slowly, keeping well covered for ¾ hour, when add 3 or 4 small (½ inch) sliced potatoes. These I parboil a few minutes to avoid spoiling delicate flavor of stew, with the strong potatoe taste, and must be put in while hot. Now pour over all a tablespoon (heaping) of flour, mixed smooth in a little water; cover and cook until potatoes and flour are done. The bay leaves and slow cooking in covered pot is the secret to a successful meatless stew. With these directions closely followed, one will have an appetizing and delicate stew, equal in color and flavor to any meat stew, and sufficient for 3 persons.

MINCE PIE.—(Della D. Hughes, Sierra Madre, Cal.) Five cups of tart apples, chopped fine; 5 cups protose, minced; 1 cup of prune marmalade (prunes thoroughly cooked, seeded and pressed through the colander;) 2 cups boiled apple juice, (boiled down till almost thick as syrup;) 1 cup crushed walnuts or pecans, 1 cup malt honey, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup of raisins, butter the size of an egg; cook all the ingredients (except the raisins,) together for 2½ or 3 hours; cook the raisins about ½ hour. This is enough for 5 large pies. It may be sealed in glass cans and kept for any length of time.

MINT ALE.—(Helen Magee, No. 122 Johnston street, city.) Juice of 3 lemons, small cup of sugar, 2 stalks and leaves of bruised peppermint, large pitcher, half filled with cracked ice, 1 bottle of ginger ale.

MOCK OYSTER SOUP.—(Mrs. A. G. MacArthur, No. 333 West Third street, Long Beach.) Cook 1 quart cabbage and 3 large potatoes, both finely chopped in plenty of water to cover, for 1 hour. Season with peper and a little butter. Add 1 quart of milk; let come to boil, then simmer for 15 minutes. Serve with oyster crackers.

WHAT'S SAID IN SAN FRANCISCO.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Due notice is hereby given to the kodak fiends of the world that they must hurry if they wish to snapshot our ruined City Hall. The dear old wreck has served as an awful example of the late earthquake and now it is actually proposed to tear it down and put up a modern building.

The outraged depositors of the defunct California Safe Deposit Company were thinking of making Christmas gifts when Receiver LeBreton announced that a dividend would soon be forthcoming. Their joy is modified, however, by the statement that the dividend will only be 24 per cent., payable in about five years, so the depositors think that they are more fit to receive Christmas gifts than to give them.

Several times in the last twenty years the social supremacy of Ned Greenway has been threatened, but he always managed to weather the storms. Now Mrs. C. O. Alexander is to give him battle and her cotillions this winter will make the veteran society leader sit up and take notice.

James Clay Dunphy, wealthy ranchman, is not a good loser, though he is somewhat of a sport. His wife got a divorce and alimony from him, and now he insists that not only was she married three times before wedding him, but she also neglected to get a divorce from her third husband.

There are all kinds of juries, good, bad, and indifferent; but the twelve men who constituted the jury in the suit of Mary Cashman against the estate of the late Sarah Hiller deserve special mention. They gave the plaintiff a verdict of $2000 for psychic aid to the deceased, despite the defense that the recipient of the aid was insane at the time it was alleged to have been given.

A number of statesmen will be in attendance at the twenty-sixth annual bullshead breakfast at San Leandro of the Iroquois Club, October 4, and the flow of oratory will be commensurate with other flows. There will be one vacant chair at the feast and one eloquent voice will not be heard. Because of a slight misunderstanding over dues and principles, William Randolph Hearst, a former member of the club, will be absent.

There is no use worrying about a war with Japan, because the Rev. John Hyde Forrest, a missionary just returned from there, says: "Japan will never willingly enter into a war with the United States. The Japanese look to America as their teacher and revere her. It is part of their religion never to quarrel with their teachers. They realize that this country has made the greatest advancement of any of the nations of the earth, and they are trying to follow in the footsteps of America."

Even a blind man can see that John L. Larsen and Mrs. Sophia Durst disagree. The former in addressing the Sociological Society said: "Women do not ask for anything which will make them better wives and mothers. They do not care to fight for the rights of their homes and their children. Their sole purpose is to gain a more complete individual freedom for themselves." The lady addressed the W.C.T.U. as follows: "Women are the coming political power, and men cannot keep our rights from us much longer. Men have been able to say that the destroyer of our homes should be sold to our sons whether we would or no, but now we rise to say that it shall not." PLUTO.

Cocoanut Shells Sold for Fuel.

"Mine is rather a curious business," said a man who owns a small warehouse and shed down near the docks. "I deal in cocoanut shells, and last year I sold more than 50,000 bagfuls of them as fuel.

"I buy thousands of cocoanut shells from stallkeepers all over London, from confectioners, from cocoanut oil extractors, from market sweepers and others. I won't tell you the usual price, but sometimes I get them for nothing—for carting them away, in fact. I sell them at 4d. a bag, most of my customers being poor people, who mix them, when broken up, with 'slack' coal. But in scores of hotels and large houses a quantity is bought to be mixed with coals as fight lighters, for the immense amount of oil in cocoanut shells makes them take fire at once.

"I have rivals in the business in other parts of London, and some of the makers of patent fire lighters mix large quantities of the shells in their compositions."

at a Hibernian Club would have orated on Ireland's woes and grievances, at the Celtic Club left that particular subject alone simply because he knew that such controversial topics were rigidly tabooed in this general association. Similarly the Scot for the nonce toned down his superlative Caledonian pride, and never ventured to suggest that he would be ashamed of himself had he been born anything else but a Scotchman. Irish patriotism and Scottish pride were not suppressed; they were merely ignored, and merged in common love and admiration for both Ireland and Scotland.

Herein lay the solution of the second part of the problem, for such a spirit of mutual respect, forbearance and esteem was engendered that the Celtic Club, so far from antagonizing the other clubs, has become a friendly rallying point for all. The presidents of the Caledonian, Hibernian and Cambrian clubs of Los Angeles have been banqueted together at the Celtic Club, and the latter institution, when a Burns's night, St. Patrick's night or St. David's night comes round, sends a group of its members, Scotch, Irish, Welsh, Cornish and Manx indiscriminately to participate in the special celebration of the one particular nationality. It is from just the same motive that the Celtic Club proposes this autumn to banquet the president of the St. George's Club, for this Celtic brotherhood of our breeds the broad, warm-hearted spirit of cordiality recognizing the proud achievements of the Anglo-Saxon and other races as well as our own. We claim for the Celt the recognition that is duly his and has too often been lost sight of in the past mainly through loss of unity, but we do this in the warmest feeling of comradeship for every other race that is helping to carry forward the banner of human progress.

BIG TUNNEL IS COMPLETE.

MINERS ON OPPOSITE ENDS SHAKE HANDS AT VERDE.

Variation in Engineers' Estimates Less Than Half an Inch—Work Has Consumed Two Years—Big Story from McCracken Mine—Deal in Sonora.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 26.—The United Verde drain and service tunnel was completed, as expected, last week. Early Thursday morning, the miners from either end broke through the wall and shook hands. The variation between the tunnel and the long drift which had been run from the shaft was only three-eighths of an inch. The work had been in progress since 1906, and has been finished very much ahead of the time scheduled. It is well understood that this tunnel, 6892 feet long, is to be made the main outlet of the great mine, and that the reduction works will eventually be placed below its mouth. It will be a notable economy in draining the mine, which it strikes at the 1000-foot level.

The last story from the McCracken mine near Signal is that four feet of ore has been found that averages $102 in gold per ton. It is claimed that this value is from bona fide samples, and that the ledge will actually run that much. If this be true, the McCracken may be put down at once as the greatest gold mine of the Southwest. The find was made on the sixth level, and the news that it was a great surprise to the management is not doubted, for the McCracken has been a silver-lead mine ever since American miners first penetrated Arizona. On the second level it is told that a very fine new body of silver ore has been opened up. Announcement is made that the company proposes to build a railroad connecting the district with the Santa Fé.

A large number of employés of the Santa Fé Railroad Company have invested in a company which has claims upon coal fields near Winslow. It is told that these veins are much larger than those at Gallup, N. M., and that the quality of the product is better. The company has invested in a large automobile for carrying supplies and passengers between Holbrook and the coal field.

DEAL IN SONORA.

Something over a million dollars is understood to have been paid for the Old Rosalie mine in Arizpe district of Sonora. The mine is an "antiqua," and authentic records show that gold valued at fully $6,000,000 was taken from it in the days when worked by the Spaniards. It was later sealed up, and its location lost for several hundred years. Only a few years ago two American prospectors found the old waste dump, and, with that as a basis for their investigations, finally dug into the old mine and came upon the old workings. Though it had been worked in a crude manner, rendered necessary by absence of machinery, the mine was found in reasonably good condition, with large bodies of good ore still intact. Some carloads shipped assayed as high as $96,000. But the richest of the strikes are understood to have been worked out, leaving immense bodies of lower grade ore which are valuable only to a corporation which can install proper reduction works.

The new shaft on the Stonewall Jackson mine at MacMillan, Gila county, is now down over 200 feet. At the 300-foot level, it will be connected with the old shaft. This drift is expected to cut through a large silver ore body. A cyaniding plant and a grinding mill are to be put upon the property within a few months. With this new equipment, Superintendent V. Y. Smith believes that silver ore running as low as six ounces to the ton can be profitably handled.

Thirty feet of development has been done on the new strike of the Arizona Copper Belt and Gold Mining and Milling Company in Globe, in ore that runs above 7 per cent. in copper with nearly an ounce in silver to the ton, 25 per cent. iron, and about the same in silver. The company is capitalized almost entirely in Indiana and Kentucky.

Worse Than Paying Damages.

Not long ago there entered the office of the superintendent of a trolley line in Detroit an angry citizen, demanding "justice" in no uncertain terms.

In response to the official's gentle inquiry touching the cause of the demand, the angry citizen explained that on the day previous as his wife was boarding one of the company's cars, the conductor thereof had stepped on his spouse's dress, tearing from it more than a yard of material.

"I can't see that we are to blame for that," protested the superintendent. "What do you expect us to do, get her a new dress?"

"No, sir, I do not," rejoined the angry citizen, brandishing a piece of cloth, "what I propose is that you people shall match this material."—[Harper's Weekly.

Senator Scott's Start in Life.

"I went to make my home with a Friend (a Quaker) when I was 9 years of age, and stayed with him until I was 16," said Bay Scott, United States Senator from West Virginia, to an interviewer. "When I was leaving to go west to look for and to make a fortune in 1850, on the 17th day of March—St. Patrick's Day—he said to me as he handed me the little money he owed me:

"'Farewell, Nathan, thee has been a good boy. Remember that it is not what thee eats that will make thee fat, but what thee digests well. Remember, it is not what thee reads, but the kind of reading [illegible] and retains that [illegible] man. It is not what thee earns that will make thee rich, but it is what thee saves. Farewell,' and he handed me as a parting gift a 25-cent penknife.

"But the advice he gave me," continued Senator Scott, "on leaving was worth thousands of dollars to me in my future life."

THE CAMPAIGN.

THE GREAT STAKE OF THE PLAIN PEOPLE.

Republican Policy of Tariff Protection Is the Vital Question of the Day.

Bryan Would Beat Down the Buttress That Keeps Wages up—Strong Presentations of Truth Carefully Collated for Readers of "The Times"—Many Sharp Eyes Brought to Bear on the Issues of the Day.

Tariff Planks, 1908.

REPUBLICAN.	DEMOCRATIC.
The Republican party declares unequivocally for a revision of the tariff by a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the next President, and commends the steps already taken to this end in the work assigned to the appropriate committees of the two houses, which are now investigating the operation and effect of existing schedules. In all tariff legislation the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries, and the benefits that follow are best secured by the establishment of maximum and minimum [minimum and maximum] rates to be administered by the President, under limitations fixed in the law, the maximum to be available to meet discriminations by foreign countries against American goods entering their markets, and the minimum to represent the normal measure of protection at home; the aim and purpose of the Republican policy being not only to preserve, without excessive duties, that security against foreign competition to which American manufacturers, farmers and producers are entitled, but also to maintain the high standard of living of the wage-earners of this country, who are the most direct beneficiaries of the protective system. Between the United States and the Philippines we believe in a free interchange of products, with such limitations as to sugar and tobacco as will avoid injury to domestic interests.—Adopted by the National Republican Convention at Chicago, June 18, 1908.	We welcome the belated promise of tariff reform now offered by the Republican party in tardy recognition of the righteousness of the Democratic position on this question, but the people cannot safely entrust the execution of this important work to a party which is so deeply obligated to the highly protected interests as is the Republican party. We call attention to the significant fact that the promised relief is postponed until after the coming election — an election to succeed in which the Republican party must have that same support by the beneficiaries of the protective tariff as it has always heretofore received from them, and to the further fact that during the years of uninterrupted power no action whatever has been taken by the Republican Congress to correct the admittedly existing tariff iniquities. We favor immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products should be placed upon the free list and material reductions should be made in the tariff upon the necessaries of life, especially upon articles competing with such American manufactures as are sold abroad more cheaply than at home, and graduated reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis. Existing duties have given to the manufacturers of paper a shelter behind which they have organized combinations to raise the price of pulp and of paper, thus imposing a tax upon the spread of knowledge. We demand the immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs, and that these articles be placed upon the free list.

Free Trade Soup Houses.

Bryan is still harping on the tariff question. It is too bad he can't use a stereopticon to show the soup houses which are always conspicuous features of every Democratic tariff régime.—[Haverhill Gazette.

American or English?

Shall we continue to operate farms and factories under a protective tariff, or shall we let down the bars and resort to the fiscal policy of Great Britain?—[Hagerstown (Md.) Herald.

Free Trade or Protection

Mr. Bryan's "tariff reform" and the tariff revision which the Republican party is going to undertake are as different as day and night. Mr. Bryan wants to reduce the tariff sweepingly, to abolish it in part. He wants to destroy the protective system. The Republican party intends to readjust the schedules and leave the protective system intact.—[Albany Journal.

What Protection Has Done.

The magnificent industrial development in the United States owes its existence and prosperity to the protective tariff. But for the protective tariff there would be no sugar factories in the United States today. The protective tariff built up the iron, steel, tin, and, in fact, every industry of note in the land. The stronger the tariff protection the greater the development of industries. Hence the more the American people should cling to their industrial development and foster and encourage it by wise legislation. Were it not for the tariff there would be but few smokestacks, mills or factories in the United States. Those countries that had their manufacturing interests highly developed and that were paying labor wretched wages, could hold the American market indefinitely with their products, and their competition would make it unprofitable and impossible to develop American industry.

Under the stimulating influence of the tariff this country has become the leading industrial center of the world. The high degree of development it has attained in this respect may warrant certain modifications in tariff schedules, but this should be carried out by the friends of protection—not the veiled advocates of free trade.—[National Farmer.

The Real Revenue Tariff.

It is obviously a more certain source of revenue from customs to put the tax on what we must have but cannot produce than to place it on commodities which we can make, and, therefore, may not import at all.

The Republican policy is the precise opposite of that. Since the party, unwisely in our judgment, has so far yielded to free-trade sentiment as to undertake to interfere with a tariff law under which the country has prospered so mightily, we insist that it is absolutely essential to the prevention of a complete break-up of business that the revision shall be made by a party pledged to the continuance of the protection of American industries, and that only at our peril could we commit the work to a party which is pledged to the abandonment of that principle and the overthrow of the protective policy.—[San Francisco Chronicle.

What Bryan's Plan Would Do to Men Who Work for Wages.

Bryan's assertion that the Republican party is upholding the trusts because it does not agree with him on tariff revision, is only another dream of the "Peerless One." Any thinking man knows that low revenue tariff would injure the working man, because it would reduce wages to the level of the cheap working men of Europe; would cripple many industries in the country that have not yet secured such a foothold in the industrial world as to be able to compete with free-trade conditions and starvation wages of the countries where no protection is provided by law.

Bryan does not seriously believe in revenue tariff himself. He considers it, however, good bait to catch the laboring man's vote. His only mistake is in considering the working man of today to be an ignorant creature, made up of credulity, and ready to swallow any sugar-coated pill of promise held out to him.

Yesterday the laboring man took time all over the country to celebrate his own attainments, and the representative crowds that filled Lafayette's streets showed no strain of mental weakness in their faces. On the other hand, intelligence, brains and common sense were to the fore in every speaking countenance. Such men as marched so joyfully in yesterday's parade are in the habit of thinking for themselves, and are educated as much as Mr. Bryan along lines of business prosperity. Such men would laugh if the proposition was seriously put to them to exchange the protection now afforded them by the present tariff—with all its imperfections—for the starvation wages and low standard of prices for all American produce that would mark Bryan's theory of revenue tariff.

The Republican party has pledged itself to revise the tariff and make it as amenable as possible to the country's condition. But it has also promised to take care of the laboring man, and this thought it will ever have in mind while adjusting this important issue.—[LaFayette Courier.

Bryan and Understudies.

Mr. Bryan says the tariff is the mother of trusts. His understudies have been preaching that doctrine in Iowa for several years.—[Des Moines Capitol.

Labor the Great Interest.

We think the intelligent union worker knows that what the labor programme of the Democratic party is after is not the bestowal upon the unions of all that they want in the way of legislation on injunctions, but the votes, along with the cash contributions, of organized labor. And we also think the intelligent union workman knows that the most important thing to him and to the country is that he should have full work at good wages. Neither he nor any one else can see in a Bryan political prospectus the work and the wages that he has actually experienced under the practical policy of the party which makes business, first of all, for American industries and therefore work for American wage-earners.

There was little enough for labor to do, in the mill and factory or on farm or railroad, after the election of 1892, bearing war upon American industries in answer to the protests of Mr. Bryan's "beggars" and to satisfy the demands of Mr. Haskell for secret discrimination against union labor. But the want of those days would become plenty in comparison with the ruin which would be made of our producing agencies if farmers, manufacturers, merchants and wage-earners were threatened with an enforcement of the policies of Mr. Bryan and a Democratic Congress in sympathy with and subject to him.

We don't imagine anybody can fool the wage-earner, organized or unorganized, into believing that there will be an abundance of work for him when business indefinitely shuts down or that there can be wages, or anything but bread-line support for the workingmen of the United States, skilled and unskilled, when there is no work. One would need to have a minimum of faith in the common sense of organized labor to credit it with complete ignorance on the cause and the underlying foundation of its welfare—a natural programme that stimulates business, and with it work and wages rather than one which ravages our industries and impoverishes our workers. And it would be necessary for organized labor to be utterly bereft of all memory to believe that the man who has always been proved wrong in all his prophecies and promises since he first began to make them would now be right in the new prophecies and promises which he puts out as he again seeks the votes of those who have refused to follow him into error and misfortune.—[New York Press.

Wild and Woolly Philosophy.

It is characteristic of the school of alleged thought—of ideas based on superficial emotion and not on the knowledge of the ages—that it seeks to reform by subversion. Bryan has been the mouthpiece of this "wild and woolly" philosophy. Abolish the gold standard, said he, in 1896. Of course it wasn't done. There was nothing the matter with the gold standard. Adopt the policy of scuttle for the Philippines, he said in 1900. No, said President McKinley. No, said Mr. Taft, and he went over there to live and to show how to educate and train the Filipinos. Now the Bryan cry is "Wipe out American industry," by confiscation at one end and by demolition at the other. Guess not. This is not the year to scuttle Protection and to surrender prosperity. The Republican party is the only party with the experience in and loyalty to the Protective principle sufficient to maintain it while adapting it to varying conditions. The American factory can be kept in order without blowing it up with the Free-Trade bomb. The explosive policy might harmonize with the position of a Philippine datto but not of an American President.—[Troy "Times."

CONSERVATIVE MINING.

Operating Company Organized in Los Angeles Has Bank Guarantee Plan Behind It.

To bring legitimate mining interests and financial interests on a common ground of conservatism and to further the development of mineral resources and divert their products and profits into Los Angeles is the purpose of the Mines Operating Company, organized here, and which has to guarantee its conservatism, the backing of one of the oldest financial institutions in the city.

The Mines Operating Company's plan is to issue, through the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, certificates of obligation, running five years, with the guarantee of the First National Bank that the amount invested will be returned within that time. These certificates may be cashed before maturity at a fixed discount, but the return of all the money at the end of five years, whether the mining enterprises engaged in all fail, is guaranteed by the bank. The bank will act as escrow agent for the certificate holders, and no money is to be paid out until the certificates are issued to the investors. In addition the Merchants' Trust Company will act as registrar, thus insuring against any overissue of stock.

The company intends to use the capital thus invested to develop mines that are proved, and that are undeveloped because capital fears. The company has on its directorate ex-Judge John D. Works, Fielding J. Stillson, L. F. Parsons, manager of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange; W. H. Neiswender, F. H. Brown, V. C. Benjamin, J. R. Loftus, L. J. Bond and A. C. Labrie. Prof. W. L. Watts and E. M. Jefferson are to be consulting engineers for the company.

With the abundance of mines in California, Nevada, Arizona and Mexico that merely await development to produce riches, the company believes its field and its guarantee system will fix mining on a conservative basis, just as other businesses.

The Farmer and the "Vicious" System.

The Protected Farmer: "Well, Mr. Bryan, if it's a 'vicious' system that has given my farm the richest ten years I ever knew, and then, even though crippled with give-away foreign trade agreements, has enabled the country to weather a year of hurricane panic, then all I have to say is that the system isn't quite 'vicious' enough to suit me. I'm going to vote for the man that's under orders to keep it as 'vicious' as he can."

BANQUET TO HONOR BUYERS.

The heads of departments of the Fifth Street Store enjoyed a banquet given by W. A. Faris at Levy's last night, in honor of the buyers, who have just returned from the eastern markets. Many issues relative to the fall campaign for trade were discussed, and plans outlined for the pursuance of aggressive business methods. A feature of the dinner that caused considerable comment was the apparent youthfulness of the heads of this great store. Assembled around the board they appeared to be a gathering of undergraduate college men rather than experienced representatives of the business world. Among those present were W. A. Faris, president and general manager; R. H. Walker, vice-president and merchandise manager; F. Morris, secretary and treasurer, and C. Smales, T. V. Millea, T. C. Palmer, D. W. Sidey, A. G. Wilson, E. C. Yourell, W. E. Grether, W. Bartling, V. C. Williams, H. W. Sjostron, A. W. Heywood, A. B. Ellis, department managers.

WAS IOWA PHYSICIAN.

Death of Man Who Was Twenty-two Years Secretary of the State Medical Board There.

Dr. J. F. Kennedy, who died yesterday morning at the Schemmerhorn Inn, where he had been in poor health for some time, was a prominent Iowa physician. For twenty-two years he was secretary of the medical board of that State, and had been active in church and philanthropic work. He was a member of the Loyal Legion. The remains will be sent to Iowa for burial.

FURNITURE COMPANY QUITS.

Announcement was made yesterday by the Los Angeles Furniture Company that it will retire from business at once, after a career of many years, in the course of which it attained enviable prominence in its line. The closing out of the great stock is to be effected as rapidly as possible, and it will be complete.

CORCORAN LAND OPENING
TURNBULL RANCH
3000 Acres
Of the Best Income-Producing Land in San Joaquin Valley

Among the choicest lands in the now famous Corcoran District—right in the heart of the flowing well and natural gas section. Adjoins Corcoran's great dairying and sugar beet industries. Right on the main line of the Santa Fe—between California's greatest markets—Los Angeles and San Francisco, with townsite and shipping point on the tract.

A virgin opportunity to buy the best land in the Corcoran District at considerably under its market value—and on the most liberal terms. Take advantage of this exceptional land opening. A similar opportunity may never occur again in the Corcoran District.

Corcoran is today the most logical point for the prospective rancher—dairymen, orchardist, vineyardist, sugar beet grower, stockman, poultry man, truck gardener, or asparagus grower—from the standpoint of soil fertility, proximity of markets and price of land. The tide of settlers is flowing "Corcoranwards." Go and see for yourself the splendid opportunities Corcoran has to offer you. Be among the early buyers of land on the famous Turnbull Ranch.

Call at our office. Talk with our courteous and well informed salesmen. Look at scores of large photographs of the Corcoran District. Secure copies of our illustrated booklets. Do this TOMORROW.

F. M. Tyler plans a five-room bungalow for A. W. Johnson on Third avenue near Twenty-eighth.

Train & Williams plan one and one-half-story six-room residence for B. T. Skelton. It will have stone foundation, large veranda, hardwood floors, Oregon pine interior finish, electric fixtures, bath, first-class plumbing.

Train & Williams plan a two-story seven-room residence for Miss Moir on St. Andrew's Place, near Pico. It will have brick foundation, shingled roof, interior finish Oregon pine, furnace, electric fixtures, hardwood floors, first-class plumbing. The same firm plans a two-story eight-room residence for J. A. Richardson.

C. C. Rittenhouse plans a two-room frame schoolhouse to be built on the Grant site, Redondo Villa tract at Redondo. Bids received until September 29.

C. C. Rittenhouse has plans for a two-story eight-room residence for James Kincheloe to be built at Eagle Rock. The same architect is preparing plans for a one and one-half-story seven-room residence for Mr. Judd at Oneonta.

C. C. Rittenhouse is preparing plans for a seven-room residence for J. A. Hodgers, in the New York Valley, Eagle Rock. The same man has completed plans for an eight-room ranch house for Mrs. E. M. Wagner of Ventura county. It will be a one-story typical California ranch home.

Bids will be received by the Supervisors until 2 o'clock, October 20, for changing the present steam heating system at the County Hospital into a vacuum heating system.

C. S. Pitzer of Pomona has completed his plans for erecting a $5500 residence and work will start immediately. J. A. Fitch has let the contract for building his proposed $6000 residence, which is to be located at Palomares street and Holt avenue, in the same city. Mrs. Sarah S. Slocum is to build a $4000 residence immediately, on Towne avenue, Pomona.

Anthony Beimer has completed plans and is taking figures for the construction of an eight-room one and one-half-story bungalow to be erected for Prof. D. B. Sturges at the southwest corner of Tenth and D streets, San Bernardino.

Contractor F. L. Sherman has started the construction of a $1500 residence on McKenzie street, Riverside, for Mrs. Jennie McKenzie.

L. C. Waldman has prepared plans for a two-story residence to be built for R. C. Brinkerhoff, on Third, between Market and Almond, Riverside. It will have all modern conveniences, and will cost $4000.

A harness factory is planned for Corona. P. L. Stombaugh has commenced the erection of a building, 41x100 feet, to be built of brick, and which will be equipped with the necessary machinery.

It is reported the Benson Lumber Company of San Diego will erect after the first of the year a plant for the manufacture of carbolic acid, turpentine, wood alcohol and other chemicals. A power plant is also to be constructed, at a cost of $30,000.

It is reported bids may be readvertised for in connection with the construction work on the Washington-street schoolhouse, Santa Monica, it being charged that Contractor Morris Hurwitz has not complied with the specifications in the work so far done. The contractor has ordered his men off the job, following a reported inspection of the excavation work by the school board and the City Engineer.

Bids will be received until 1 p.m., September 30, by C. O. Gardner, clerk of the board of trustees of the Santa Ynez Valley Union High School district, for the construction of the proposed union high school at Santa Ynez, near Santa Barbara. Bids will also be received at the same time by Mrs. J. P. Parker, clerk of the College School district, Santa Ynez, for the construction of a grammar school building.

It is reported the Pacific Electric road has announced its willingness to expend $10,000 in the erection of passenger and freight depots at Irwindale, provided the citizens provide the site.

It is reported the 100-foot lot owned by Crouch Bros., in Santa Monica, will be improved within the next few months with a three-story pressed-brick office block and theater.

The Board of Supervisors of Orange county, who have during the last few months, inspected the principal hospitals throughout the State, will call a special bond election for November 3, to put before the voters the proposition of issuing $60,000 in bonds for erecting a model county hospital.

The Council of Santa Monica has given Andrew Carnegie a pledge to raise 10 cents for library maintenance on every $100 of assessed valuation if he will donate $15,000 for an addition to the present building, which will double its capacity.

The City Trustees of Santa Paula have sold the $7000 bonds recently voted for purchasing a site for a combined public library and city hall; $10,000 is available for construction work.

Two offers have been made to the City Council of Long Beach, which has been considering the question of establishing a municipal water system. One offer was from the Alamitos Water Company for the sale of its plant at $250,000, embracing the entire plant except the abandoned portion. The property consists of 114 acres of land on which are a lake and a gum grove. The other offer was from the Long Beach Water Company to lease its plant to the city for $5000 yearly rent for a period of fifteen years. The offer of the Alamitos Water Company is said to be favored by the Council.

C. S. Chestnut, president of the Home Gas and Electric Company of Redlands, offers to supply that city with electricity at so much per kilowatt plus 2 cents, and allow the city to have its own distributing system, selling consumers at whatever price the city may see fit. It is said the city could wire the city for $15,000 or $20,000.

The Azusa Irrigation Company, which recently purchased the Irwindale Land and Water Company's plant, the Orange Avenue Water Company's plant and the Cypress-avenue plant, has now purchased two acres of land on the Snodgrass ranch at Irwindale and intends building another reservoir.

Juan Camarillo, a wealthy rancher living near Ventura, has accepted plans in the rough state, for the marble and granite Grecian chapel he is to have built on his ranch for the use of Catholics in the neighborhood. The chapel will seat 250. The working plans are now being prepared and construction will be commenced as soon as they are ready.

The members of the Congregational Church of Pomona have decided to build an addition to the present structure, to be used by the young people. The estimated cost is $1500.

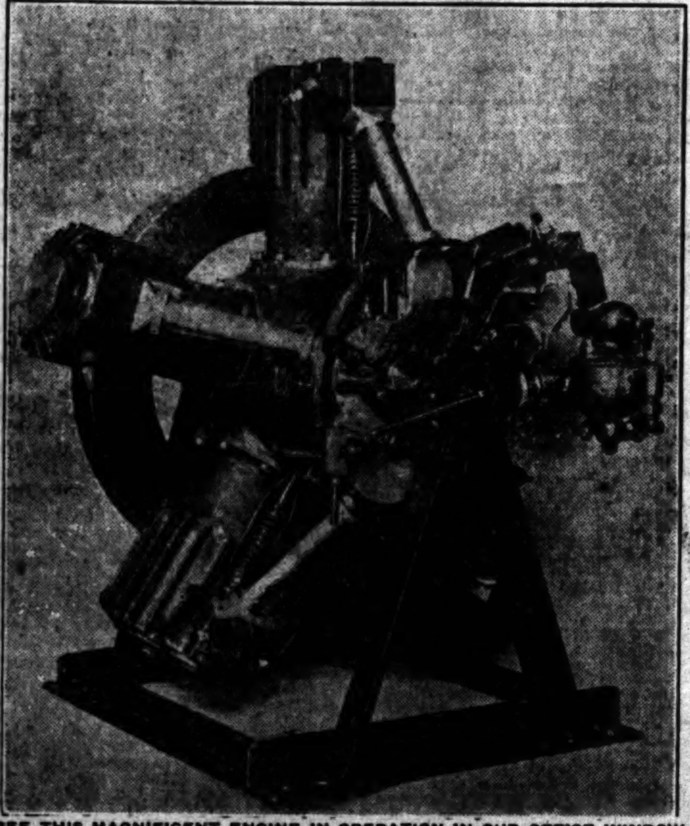
It is reported work on the frame addition to the First Methodist Church building at Pomona has been stopped by the legal obstacles interposed by J. C. Beale, who charges the proposed work is in violation of the fire laws.

The $35,000 issue of school bonds of San Bernardino has been sold at a good premium; the proceeds will be used for building an industrial school building and a separate school for Mexicans.

The Supervisors at Redlands have sold the $50,000 school bond issue, the proceeds to be used for erecting the proposed Lugonia school building.

Bids on readvertisement will be received until October 3, for the construction of a frame gymnasium building for the Union High School at Hollywood. Estimated cost about $10,000.

The Los Angeles Rotary Gas Engine



Is Attracting Wide and Favorable Attention

There Are Reasons Why

It is air-cooled, absolutely.

It runs more slowly on high gear than any FOUR or SIX.

It picks up speed faster and more easily on the throttle.

It has practically NO vibration.

It runs with a silence unknown to the FOUR or SIX.

It makes gear shifting almost unnecessary.

It has no equal for hill climbing.

It weighs only one-third as much as the ordinary motor.

It costs only two-thirds as much to build it.

It does away with reciprocation.

It has a simple and positive lubrication system.

It has no fly wheel.

It has no radiator.

It has no water pump.

It has no water piping.

It has no water jackets on the cylinders.

It has no cooling fans.

The Los Angeles Rotary Gas Engine Company is a "home industry" company that has passed the experimental stage, having perfected this engine in every particular, and is now ready to place its product on the market, thereby assuring the investor quick returns on his investment.

We feel that this is something that will bear very close investigation. It is managed by local Los Angeles business men of unquestioned integrity and business ability, which fact insures cautious business methods and a careful handling of the funds. There is already a world-wide demand for this engine.

The Rotary engine is adapted to many purposes, and the cost of construction as compared with the vertical type of engine is materially reduced by reason of the elimination of many parts.

We shall be glad to have an opportunity to show you this engine and to explain to you all of its advantages and to make you thoroughly acquainted with what the Company proposes doing.

The officers and directors of the company are:

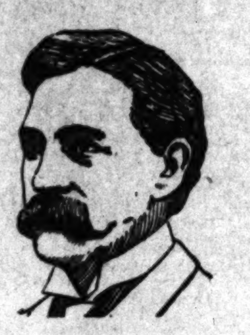
Men's Diseases

SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT

My success has come as a reward of ability and honest, earnest and scientific application of thorough understanding.

There is not another physician or specialist anywhere who treats men's diseases as I treat them. This is a fact that should be duly considered by those who have repeatedly been disappointed in their efforts to obtain a cure. In no other branch of practice has medical science so lagged and the forms of treatment now commonly employed among the profession are largely based upon theories that have been handed down through generations of doctors. An evidence of this is the prevalent inability to successfully cope with several of those ailments peculiar to men.

MEN ONLY



DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist.

ORIGINAL METHODS

I depend upon nobody's theories, but treat my patients in the light of my own knowledge and experience.

I have learned nature's laws applying to their cause and cure. Through this knowledge I have perfected forms of treatment wholly original and distinctive. Every requirement for a thorough cure is scientifically met, and as a result I am able to completely master cases commonly regarded as incurable. I especially invite those who have been long afflicted to consult me. My success in curing difficult cases has brought my marvelous growth of practice and made me the foremost specialist treating men's diseases.

All medicines are prepared in my own private laboratory and are absolutely fresh and pure.

My equipment for X-Ray work enables me to make a most thorough and scientific diagnosis.

Not a Dollar Need Be Paid Till You Are Well

"Weakness"

I am confident that I have cured more cases of so-called "weakness" than any other physician. There may be doctors in the large Eastern cities who have treated more cases than I, but they cling to the old and ineffective practice of dosing with tonics. "Weakness" is merely a symptom of local disorder that requires local treatment. This is a truth that I have discovered and that has been fully established by my success in effecting permanent cures. My method is original with myself and is employed by no other physician.

Free Consultation

To judge my ability without personal consultation may be an injustice to yourself that will cost a lifetime of suffering. Consultation is free and confidential and you place yourself under no obligation to me whatever by coming to talk with me about your case.

Contracted Disorders

To but partially cure a contracted disease is almost as dangerous as to allow it to go untreated. Unless every particle of infection and inflammation is removed the probability exists that the disease will gradually work its way into the general system. Still greater is the danger of the prostate gland becoming chronically inflamed, which always brings partial or complete loss of power. Perhaps twenty-five per cent. of the cases of so-called "weakness" are a direct result of some improperly treated contracted disease. During the past five years I have treated thousands of cases of contracted disorders and have effected an absolutely thorough and safe cure in each instance. There have been no relapses or undesirable developments whatever, and my patients have been cured in less time than other and less thorough forms of treatment require in producing even doubtful results.

Varicocele

Under my treatment the most aggravated cases of varicocele are cured in a few days' time. There is no pain, and it is seldom necessary that the patient be detained from his occupation. Normal circulation is at once restored throughout all the organs and their natural processes of waste and repair are again established. If you are afflicted with varicocele consult me at once. Delay can but bring on aggravated conditions and nervous complications that will impair the vital functions and involve the general health.

No other physician employs a like treatment and so thorough is my work that there need not be the slightest fear of a relapse into old conditions.

My Colored Chart

Of the male anatomy will be found both interesting and instructive—free at office.

If you cannot call, write for diagnosis blank.

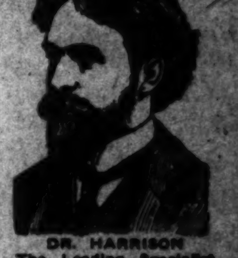
MEN, WAKE UP!

No ailment peculiar to men, is so trivial as to warrant neglect, or excuse unskilled and improper treatment. Many of the apparently slight ailments to which the average man pays little or no attention, may lead to serious complication and irreparable injury, if not promptly and skillfully treated. Between the indifference and inexperience of the general practitioner on the one hand, and the questionable business methods of specialists on the other, the man who is wise enough to seek advice and aid is often between the horns of a serious dilemma.

Sixteen years of eminently successful and honorable practice, right here in Los Angeles, coupled with the indorsemeent of many of the leading business men of the city and our well-earned and enviable reputation for square dealing, are excellent reasons why ailing men should consult us in preference to others.

We have the largest practice because we cure our patients.



DR. HARRISON
The Leading Specialist
16 Years in Los Angeles

PLAIN FACTS

Men whose vitality is exhausted, who have some private disease or weakness lurking in their system, and who are prematurely old while still young in years, broken down wrecks of what they ought to be, and who want to be strong—and to feel as vigorous as they did before they wasted their strength—to enjoy life again—to win back the vim, vigor and vitality lost, should consult us before it is too late.

It is humiliating to know that your manly strength is slipping away—to be weak, nervous, fretful and gloomy, have pains and aches in different parts of the body, your sleep disturbed, weak back, headache, despondency, melancholia, too frequent urination, palpitation of the heart, unable to concentrate your thoughts, poor memory, easily fatigued, specks before the eyes, aversion to society, lack of ambition, will power depleted, dizzy spells, vital losses, poor circulation, to feel cold, lifeless and worn out, primarily induced in many cases by abuses, excesses and overwork.

Vigorous manhood is the stepping stone to success in life. The man who has preserved the vitality given him by nature, or having lost it, has again regained it by securing proper treatment, is enabled to shove aside all barriers which impede his progress, both commercially and socially. It forces men to the front in all walks of life. Do you want to be strong, possess nerves of steel, self-confidence, strength in every muscle, ambition, grit, energy and endurance in order to make your life complete? We have gladdened the hearts of hundreds of young and middle-aged men—restoring them to perfect specimens of physical manhood. If you are lacking in these essential elements, you should consult us at once.

WEAKNESS—Its Cause and Cure

Nearly every man suffering from so-called vital weakness has a curable cause which is at the bottom of the trouble. The main causes are stricture, varicocele, enlarged inflamed prostate, results of abuses and excesses, badly treated disorders, etc., which obstruct the functional centers. When a man applies thus suffering from weakness we find and remove the cause, just the same as an expert engineer or electrician finds and removes the cause when machinery fails to do its work. We have no difficulty in curing these cases; we have cured them by the thousands. We have the necessary knowledge, skill and experience to find the cause and give the proper treatment, thus putting the organs in a normal condition, when the weakness disappears, which was only a symptom of the real trouble. We were the first specialists in the United States to publicly announce Prostate Diseases as the Primary cause of Weakness. By our new, original and improved methods we have cured hundreds of cases pronounced incurable by other specialists. And today we are the only specialists curing Vital Weakness under an absolute guarantee. Prematureness, Loss of Power, are invariably due to local disorders, and cannot be cured by internal medicines or electric appliances. Our treatment quickly removes all abnormal conditions in the organs involved and invariably results in complete restoration of functional activity.

We will cheerfully pay One Thousand Dollars to any physician or layman who can produce a case of weakness occurring in any man of good habits under the age of 65, not complicated by any organic disease of the heart, liver or kidneys, or by the sequelae of chronic venereal diseases, that we cannot completely cure in from four to six weeks by our new and improved method of local treatment. The local treatment is entirely painless and does not involve the use of "instillations, suppositories," etc. We will effect the cure without prescribing a single drop of medicine and without using a single pill, tablet, or granule. In the treatment of the more obscure forms of weakness which may be classed as Psychopathic, Neuropathic, Congenital and Traumatic, we offer a modern and eminently successful line of treatment.

Psychopathic weakness is usually due to some form of mental aberration; Neuropathic weakness is due to diseases of the brain and spinal cord; Congenital weakness is due usually to mechanical organic impediments; Traumatic weakness is due to local inflammation due to abuse, venereal infection or injuries; Asthenic weakness usually follows exhausting diseases of various kinds.

VARICOCELE

No case of Varicocele ever was or ever can be cured without an operation. Our operation is absolutely painless, devoid of all danger, and the result absolutely certain. By permission we can refer you to many of the leading business men of Los Angeles who have been cured by our method. If you have been "up against" doctors who advertise to cure Varicocele without an operation, and have spent your hard-earned money for naught, come in and have a friendly talk with us. We will gladly explain why varicocele cannot be cured without an operation and explain the technique of our painless operation. Only one week's detention from work is necessary and the cure is complete and permanent in every instance.

CONTRACTED DISORDERS

Of all diseases peculiar to men contracted disorders are the most abused by cut-and-try, hit-and-miss treatment administered by good friends, druggists, doctors in general practice and most of the would-be specialists. It is certainly interesting to hear the story of the average patient telling his experience with the different kinds of so-called treatments he has been "up against." A large majority of our patients come to us with all the original disease and part or all the complications resulting from delay and mistreatment. We generally have to cure them after some or all of the following symptoms have developed: Stricture, or all of the chronic bladder troubles, diseased prostate, sores, swelling, etc., besides a patient whose confidence and mind are also diseased through failure and disappointment. Don't trifle with these disorders; go to a doctor who knows how to cure you; it is the cheapest, surest and shortest way out. We have been 25 years in the business, 16 years in Los Angeles.

Kidney and Bladder Trouble

Dr. Harrison & Co. are phenomenally successful in these troubles. Every case that comes to them is carefully examined and the true cause found for existing conditions. It is then easy for us to treat the case understandingly. Not all cases are easily understood. Not all men know how to treat them. Our success in curing demonstrates the positive proof of our ability.

Stricture

Pain is entirely eliminated under the treatment we have developed and perfected for the absolute cure of stricture by our improved PAINLESS METHODS. WE HAVE CURED MANY CASES THAT RESISTED ALL OTHER FORMS OF TREATMENT. CALL AND INVESTIGATE. BY PERMISSION WE CAN REFER YOU TO MANY CURED CASES IN TOWN. We do not pretend to work miracles and cannot claim the almost supernatural skill of some of our would-be competitors, such as "dissolving" strictures as easily as the warm rays of the rising sun dissolve the snow.

Contagious Diseases

May be inherited or contracted. When the system becomes tainted with the poison it may manifest itself in many ways—ulcers, sores, scrofula, eczema, stiff and painful joints, eruptions, copper-colored spots on the body, little ulcers in the mouth, swollen or inflamed tonsils, loss of hair, decay of flesh and bone. If your symptoms are any of these, we invite you to take advantage of the treatment we offer, which will completely eradicate the last taint of poison from the system. You are cordially invited to consult us in person, and we will give you such advice as will be for the betterment of your condition. Our treatment has been acquired through 25 years' arduous work. It contains no injurious drugs and goes to the very core of the disease.

WE NEVER TRY TO SCARE OUR PATIENTS. THE EXACT NATURE, PROBABLE DURATION, PERIOD OF CONTAGION AND THE DIFFERENT METHODS OF TREATMENT ARE CAREFULLY EXPLAINED TO EACH PATIENT. We also explain the differential diagnosis of purely local infection and constitutional infection.

WORKERS' PAGE—California Climate Assures a Most Lucrative Indus

Uncle Sam to Raise Eucalypts.

INVESTIGATION AND EXPERIMENTS MADE REGARDING THEIR GROWTH ON THE PUBLIC LANDS

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

THE growing of eucalypts in California, as a commercial proposition, has only just begun, and looking ahead a few years it is not too much to expect that an industry will be built up along this line that shall compare favorably with any of those for which this State is already famous. Nearly every one who is at all interested in the subject has learned what the growing of eucalypts means to Australia, their native habitat, and with Southern California possessing climatic conditions equally as good there is no reason why we should not achieve the same success in their propagation as the mother country.

In Australia, more than 150 distinct varieties are found, of which about two-thirds have been introduced into the United States. In their native forests are to be found trees as old as 500 years, some of them reaching a height of over 400 feet, with diameters of 12 to 15 feet. Indeed, next to our own Sequoias, they are probably the largest trees to be found in the world, and in height they even surpass the Sequoias. The oldest eucalypts grown in California are only about 40 years of age, and while, within the past few years, remarkable advancement has been made here in demonstrating the many uses to which eucalyptus can be put, yet we must turn again to Australia to find the best examples of the universal qualities of the gum trees. There, they serve practically every purpose to which timber can be put, and the great number of varieties, each possessing some distinct quality, but all possessing the quality of rapid growth, render eucalypts widely available.

The growing scarcity of all kinds of timber in this country, the numerous uses to which eucalyptus can be put, the rapid growth of the trees, and the enormous crops yielded, all tend to make their growing here one of the most lucrative industries of the present day. And like the citrus industry, California can have practically a monopoly of this new source of wealth, for the requirements of the eucalypts are nearly similar to those of citrus fruits, thus largely confining their successful growth to areas where the latter are to be found. One feature of this new industry that means much to the State is the fact that the growing of eucalypts will not mean the crowding out of some other agricultural crop already established, for land which is incapable of producing other crops will successfully grow these trees. In Southern California alone there are thousands of acres of waste land that, if devoted to eucalptus culture, would add millions of dollars annually to the productive wealth of the community, and with the interest shown not only by individuals, but the large corporate users of wood in this subject, it is only a question of a few years before vast stretches of now vacant land will be transformed into huge groves of trees. As in many lines of new production, however, there are plenty of people who will rush enthusiastically into eucalyptus growing, expecting the greatest possible returns with the least possible effort, and without possessing that knowledge and experience necessary to make a success of any business.

The Federal government, recognizing the importance of this subject, several years ago assigned a trained forester to the task of making a thorough study of eucalptus culture, with special reference to California conditions. Several reports have already been prepared and distributed embodying the results of these investigations, and a vast amount of data has been gathered which has not yet been published. The State Forester of California has also given the subject considerable attention, and several pamphlets have been issued giving the results of his studies.

The Forest Service has, for several years, been engaged in the propagation of conifers for reforestation purposes on our mountain watersheds. This work is being carried on purely from the standpoint of water conservation, and not with any idea of making a money profit from such planting. Trees which aid in conserving water must necessarily be able to grow at high altitudes, where frosts are common. Since eucalypts are very susceptible to frosts, and few can survive a temperature below 20 deg. Fahr., the use of these trees for reforestation purposes has not, therefore, been considered. Apart from the special studies made by the government foresters, no effort was made to raise eucalyptus stock in any of the government nurseries until about a year ago, when certain experiments were carried on at the Henninger Flat nursery, located in the mountains back of Pasadena. Some 20,000 eucalyptus seedlings were raised, but of this number about 25 per cent. were lost through frost. All of the remaining trees, with the exception of about 2000, were shipped to northern forests. These 2000 trees were planted on sites selected along the foothills near Sunland. The planting areas were thoroughly plowed just before the seedlings were planted, but aside from being occasionally cultivated, no special care was taken of them, and no irrigation was possible. The great majority of the trees thrived from the beginning, and they have now grown to a height of five or six feet, and the long [illegible] drouth has apparently had [illegible] upon them. So successful [illegible] experimental planting that [illegible] decided to go into the [illegible] raising eucalypts on a [illegible] plans have been [illegible] Included within [illegible] Forest are thousands of acres of land lying at altitudes which will permit the growing of eucalypts, and which, at the present time, are non-productive. In keeping with its policy to put the public land under its jurisdiction to the best use, the Forest Service is now considering whether or not it would not be advantageous to the government, from a business standpoint, to transform these vast areas into eucalyptus groves. In years to come they would not only serve to beautify the country, but would be a source of revenue to the government, through their timber supply. While the present experiments are designed to test the growth, durability and value of the different species under the conditions met with, yet should these experiments prove successful, and it is found that land, now barren and unproductive, can grow these trees, it is more than likely that, as rapidly as possible, such waste lands will be planted to gum trees. Whether or not this is ever done, the public will, at least, have the benefit of the experiments now undertaken by the Forest Service.

In raising the conifers used in reforestation work here in Southern California, the entire supply of seedlings is raised at one central nursery, and the stock distributed to the various points where planting is to be done. It is planned, however, to raise the eucalypts directly on the ground where the plantations will be made. To this end, an experienced nurseryman has made a tour of inspection through the forest and selected sites which were found to be best adapted for eucalyptus growth. At such points the nearest ranger has been charged with the duty of planting the seed and looking after the plants until they are ready to be set out permanently. At each site, about 3000 trees will be raised at one time. About eighteen of the most valuable varieties will be experimented with, and the necessary seed has been procured and distributed.

The seed is first planted in "flats" twenty inches square, made of 1x4 redwood. A sufficient number of these flats are built not only to accommodate the seed, but also to allow for transplanting when the trees have reached a height of two inches, and begin to crowd each other. After the seed is sown, a light layer of leaf mold is sprinkled on the surface to retain the moisture and prevent the seed from being scattered by the wind or while being watered. Germination follows in from four to ten days. After being transplanted the eucalypts are left in the flats until they reach the stage when they may be transferred to their permanent home. Planting is not done until after the winter's rains have thoroughly moistened the soil to a depth of at least a foot. When planting is to be done, the flats are removed to the planting area and the eucalypts taken directly from the flats and transferred to the ground, thus avoiding as much exposure of the roots as possible. After being planted, the soil will be cultivated sufficiently to enable the trees to secure all the moisture possible in the ground, but they will be compelled to get along with the natural water supply only, as the experiments are designed to see whether or not the eucalypts can be successfully grown without irrigation during the first two years, when irrigation has heretofore been thought to be necessary. If successful, these experiments will mean much to private land owners, who might thus be enabled to grow trees on land where irrigation is not possible.

CHANCE FOR YOUNG MEN.

They Can Rise in Any Position If They Pay Attention to Business of Their Employers.

In speaking about the opportunity of young men to reach the top of the business ladder, Charles A. Moore, president of the New York firm of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, says:

I have 195 people in my office in New York, and I have the rule that the boy entering there enters at $5 a week; that is the liberal sum which is given at first. Graduates from the High School have come with certificates to that effect, and the son of the president of a railroad and the son of a president of a bank, but the most successful young man in my office today is the son of a deck hand on a Wall-street ferryboat. Show me any country on the face of the globe where a boy could do that without the power of family, without wealth or without social influence. When a boy comes to me with not a soul in that establishment whom he has anything in common with, and shows himself regardless of any jealousies, and is not always coming to me telling me who did this and did that, by his intelligence of purpose, by his attention to business, just by that God-given power of brain that makes man above the animal, he rises right along. And then they say to me that a young man cannot get along!

There is a misunderstood idea about opportunities for young men. They tell me in confidence, "I don't see any show for me." I say, "There is not if you expect $10,000 a year right off. I had rather pay you $10,000 than $2000 if you show me you are worth it, but I am from Missouri; you have got to show me." That is the kind of competition I like. And any man that is smart and knows the business will in no way be handicapped by us in getting all the information, all the trade, all the popularity, all the control of business that he can, and then he has got to be smart enough to utilize that for his benefit, and both of us will be made happy.

EARNING AN EDUCATION.

Girls Work Their Way Through College by Acting as Saleswomen and Nursemaids.

All the girls who attend college do not have wealth behind them. Hundreds upon hundreds of them are changing the work of their brains and hands into dollars to help out their expenses, says the Delineator. The average girl could hardly earn her entire way through college; it would mean too great a mental and physical strain. She can and does, however, earn a part of her way.

Here are actual experiences from girls who have accomplished it:

"I had sixty dollars I earned. This sum was to pay for everything except my board and tuition until Easter. I am employed in the college library and postoffice and can earn 25 cents an hour during all my spare time. Ninety-five dollars covers books, dues, clothes and incidentals."

"I care for specimens in the biological laboratory, the pollywogs, frogs and fishes, for 20 cents an hour. A scholarship helps out my living expenses."

"I earned $65 of my expenses by acting as nursemaid in a professor's family. I acted as proctor at examinations, which pays $10. I helped get morning and evening meals ready for my board."

"I am earning my senior year expenses by acting as saleswoman in the college coöperative store. I do light housekeeping with two other girls. My living expenses are about $16 a month. The work this year interferes with my studies, as I am frequently too tired from standing at the counter to remain awake. I believe, however, a girl should work her way rather than do without a college education."

"I bake cakes for spreads, birthdays and afternoon teas. I get 50 cents for a large cake. I have all the orders I can fill."

"I do shampooing for the girls at 35 cents a customer. I have help from the Students' Aid Fund."

TO SUBDIVIDE AT ONCE.

The California City Land Company, which has purchased the Jacob ranch of 15,365 acres near Hanford, in the San Joaquin Valley, has engaged surveyors to subdivide the land for sale to home-seekers. A survey for a complete irrigation system for the ranch will be made and the site of California City will be laid out.

Industrial Independence.

THE CALLING OF SYMPATHETIC STRIKES RESULTS IN THE ASSESSMENT OF PERSONAL DAMAGES BY THE COURT.

A NEW condition has been injected into the question of the right to strike and the right of officers of a labor union to call sympathetic strikes. The secretary of the Electricians' Union of Paris called a sympathetic strike as a protest to the suppression of rioters by troops, with the result that the people and places dependent upon electrical lights were left in darkness. Two music hall artists who were deprived of their opportunity to provide entertainment and therefore lost their wages for the evening, sued the secretary of the Electricians' Union, and secured damages, the court awarding them the amount they had been prevented earning by the strike. The principle laid down by the court was that the strike was unwarranted, that it had not been called to enforce a right or assert a corporate need; it was therefore malicious, and in carrying it out there had been not only an interruption of the industrial and social life of the community, but an invasion of the sacred right of work of those who had to earn their living. The outcome of the case raises questions that must cause the officers of unions to stop and think. If they are to be held personally liable for damages resulting from calling a sympathetic strike they will likely hesitate when asked to take such action. Sympathetic strikes have been a common means of the Parisian unionites of protesting against the action of the government, and occasionally serious trouble has been occasioned by such action. The decision of the Massachusetts court some months ago that a sympathetic strike was a boycott and therefore illegal is along the same line as the French decision, and now that these unionite methods of enforcing demands are being taken into the courts it is more than probable that the legality of other than sympathetic strikes may be presented to the court for determination. When this occurs a broader construction of personal rights may be obtained. No one will question the right of any man to strike, but when this is done for malicious purposes a different than the primary question is involved, and the court will be likely to construe the question in favor of the parties injured by the action.

Union Label Battle.

Some interesting questions regarding the use of the union label have been taken into the courts at Cleveland, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The latest case was started with a warrant for the arrest of James A. McKay, proprietor of the Citizen Printing Company, 1100 St. Clair avenue.

"The label law is a class legislation in that it affords to union made goods a protection which does not extend to all goods, thus denying equal rights to all manufacturers," is the language of the complaint which may upset the law in the upper courts.

The warrant against Mr. McKay was asked by Frank Seffing, secretary and James Hoban, president of the printers' union. Mr. McKay formerly had the use of the union label, but it was taken away from him according to the printers' officers. He had ten plates carrying the union label, and gave up all but one, saying, Seffing told Prosecutor Cull, that he had lost the other.

The union man suspected that Mr. McKay was still posing as a union printer. They went to his shop two days ago and discovered that he was using the tenth label, they say. Cull issued a warrant for Mr. McKay's arrest.

The other case, which started two weeks ago, was brought against John Olderman, clothing merchant, Lorain avenue and West Forty-third street. One of Mr. Olderman's customers wanted a union-made suit, and the proprietor, it is charged, ripped a label from a suit of overalls and sewed it on the non-union suit. His case is still pending.

Agitation against the label law is backed by the Manufacturers' association, composed of open-shop advocates. They say they have strong grounds for knocking out the law. The union men will make a hard fight for its retention. The case will be national in its scope and effect.

President Lewis Hooted.

The United Mine Workers at Linton and Sullivan, Ind., gave President Lewis the time of his life the other day. A strike of miners had been called because of the discharge of a driver who objected to what he considered dangerous conditions. President Lewis ordered the men back to work, and when they refused he took away the charter of the union to which the strikers belonged. On visiting the locality in an endeavor to smooth out the affair, he was hissed, and told to go home, and otherwise treated with indignity. When a vote was taken on the question of the men returning to work there was not a vote in favor of it, which was a direct slap at Lewis.

The only real enthusiasm President Lewis was able to stir up for himself was by threatening to lick any man who would repeat the charge that he was a stockholder in West Virginia mines, and therefore not really a miner. At this the miners cheered him, but there were hisses also heard.

Unionites Double Expense.

The Supervisors of San Francisco are facing the question of a double expense for inspection of work on buildings for the city. The city has in its employ a number of inspectors who are familiar with building work of all kinds, and it is claimed are competent to pass upon construction work in general.

The Bricklayers' Union has a provision in its constitution setting forth that union men shall be permitted to work on only such public jobs as are superintended by a competent bricklayer and a member of the union.

Right here the trouble comes, and it shows the importance to a municipality of preserving open shop conditions. Knowing the value of their own inspectors the Supervisors object to having a special superintendent of brick construction when one superintendent can look after the brick work as well as other portions of the building, and Supervisor McLeran has suggested to the Building Trades Council that the union amend its constitution so as to give the city an opportunity to employ inspectors who are not members of the Bricklayers' Union, although familiar with brick work by reason of experience in building. Similar letters were sent direct to the Bricklayers, the District Council of Carpenters and other labor organizations that are interested in the matter. Particularly the Supervisors have in mind the appointment of inspectors for the new buildings which are soon to be erected under the bonding scheme and are anxious to have the matter settled prior to the undertaking of the brick work on any of these buildings. So union-ridden is the city that the Supervisors do not dare to take the open shop position, a fact which is well recognized by the unions, and which has been rubbed into the Supervisors by a letter from O. A. Tveitmoe, secretary of the Building Trades Council, in which he says that in accordance with instructions of the council he begs to advise the Supervisors "that the question of amending the constitution of the Bricklayers' or any other union is a matter we believe that should originate in the organization affected. Furthermore, it is a well established union doctrine that any trade is the best judge of its own business and has a perfect right to enact such laws for the protection of its members as it may find wise and necessary, in accordance with the statutes of the commonwealth."

The cowardly Supervisors are therefore up against the question of duplication of superintendents and consequently a duplication of the cost of superintending building construction for the city. This is the result of the cowardly way in which the people and officials of San Francisco have allowed the unionists to get into the saddle.

Demand a Bonus.

Building operators have need to keep their business in their own hands and allow no union dictation. The importance of this comes from union-ridden San Francisco. The San Francisco Chronicle says: "The members of Felt and Composition Roofers' Union, No. 1, of whom there are about 120, struck a week ago last night on the refusal of the master roofers to incorporate the bonus of $1 a day in the wage scale. Since that time the employers have been doing their own roofing, but now they threaten to employ non-union roofers unless the members of the union return to work at the adopted scale.

"The scale of the union, which has also been adopted by the Building Trades Council, is $6 a day for foremen and $5 a day for journeymen. After the fire an emergency bonus of $1.50 a day for foremen and $1 a day for journeymen was granted by W. W. Brackett, a master roofer. The bonus was to run for two years, and the other master roofers have paid it, although they say they were not parties to the agreement. The two years expired in July.

"When the master roofers brought the matter to the attention of the Building Trades Council they were informed that the bonus should be paid on existing contracts, and the master roofers assert that it has been so paid. But they refuse to pay the bonus on new contracts, and so notified their men more than a week ago, whereupon the latter walked out."

Give the unionites an inch and they will take an ell, a fact that has been proved time and again in connection with all concessions to unionism. It is now up to the operators to prove their rights or submit to union dictation. The employment of non-union labor is apparently their only way out.

TO REMEMBER.

COURTESY IS A GOOD ASSET.

NEEDED BY BOTH THE WORKER AND EMPLOYER.

You Cannot Tell Under What Circumstances You May Meet the Other Fellow Next Time, and It May Mean Much in a Business Way.

[Chicago Tribune:] If there is one thing that the average man who has made some sort of a success in business is apt to forget it is the old and ever true maxim that "it pays to be courteous." There is a certain secretary of a large machinery company who can vouch for the truth of this, and who might add that he learned the same to his own regret.

The secretary is today one of the most courteous and decent men in the world,' in his business relations, at least. But once upon a time, shortly after he had left the ranks of minor employés and was graduated to the desk of a major worker, he ganged his wa' on the theory that the business world was a place where courtesy and being obliging were huge mistakes, at least for one who occupies the exalted position of secretary of a great concern.

The secretary, besides being a secretary, was vice-president of a neighborhood improvement association. He had been a mere private in the ranks of the association until the company gave him his big advance, when he bounded to the vice-presidency. The improvement association was proud to have an officer of the big company upon its roster of officials. It told the secretary so. Perhaps this was one of the reasons why he deemed it advisable to be so imperious in his dealings with men exactly as good as himself and perhaps a little better.

SETS DOWN ON A PRINTER.

It happened while the president of the improvement association was out of town and while the vice-president was the association's head. A printer had orders to prepare a circular containing the names of the members, and having received the names in indifferent fashion he wished to verify their spelling. The acting president was the natural source from which to seek this information. The printer sought. And this is what he got:

"What do you think I am? Somebody with nothing to do but answer fool questions. Don't you know that I'm a busy man? Do you suppose that I can stop to fool around with you on things like this? I can't understand men like you—you must have a wrong idea of your own importance."

The printer started to explain, and found that he was talking to nobody; the secretary had rung off after delivering his tirade.

But witness the queer tagent of the twin pendumums of circumstances and personality: A publishing-house, having outgrown its small, cramped city quarters, removed to a factory suburb and erected a large, spacious building of their own. To fill this building with its proper equipment of machinery necessitated the expenditure of thousands of dollars in new material. And this was just two years after the little printer had called up the secretary and had been so cruelly turned down.

WHERE THE TABLES TURNED.

The secretary's company went after the business incident to their line in equipping the new publishing plant. Ten thousand dollars was what they estimated their share of the business to be. But there was more advantage to the deal than the mere profit accruing to this amount of orders; the new place would be a model publishing plant and the firm whose machinery was most adequately represented therein would have a lasting advertising display the value of which it would be hard to estimate.

So the secretary himself pulled down the roll top of his desk and sallied forth to land the contract. He knew that the importance of his position and his own personality would do the work. He wanted to be sure of the thing; that was why he wouldn't let even the star salesman make a try for it. He just would go out and land it.

He drove to the office of the publisher in a cream colored runabout. He stated his business, and the officer who talked with him said:

"O, yes; glad to have you come. Been looking for some of your people for some time. We're rather favorably inclined to your stuff. Not exactly a businesslike way to start buying anything; but I'll take you into our mechanical superintendent and leave you to him. He has complete charge of the equipping of the place. Step this way, please."

Then he led the secretary into the mehcanical superintendent.

HOW THE PRINTER GOT EVEN.

Nothing startling about that? O, no. But, you see, the mechanical superintendent was that little printer upon whom the great secretary two years

AWARD BRIDGE CONTRACT.

National Concern Lowest Bidder for Structure Across San Gabriel at Naples.

The contract for the 200-foot bridge over the San Gabriel River, between Naples and Bay City, has been awarded the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Company, and that concern has referred the plans to the County Engineer. This structure will be the second one to be built in the development of the good roads system. A 400-foot bridge was completed last week by the Mercereau Bridge and Construction Company, across the western arm of the bay.

The new road into Naples will be finished by the week's end.

The electroliers along the bay front at Naples have all been installed, and at night produce a beautiful effect. The laying of the 15-foot promenade along the western portion of the bay front is being pushed.

Work has been begun on the temporary wooden structures, two of which will bridge the canals at Naples to carry the new automobile road over and on to Bay City. These will be built alongside the sites of the reinforced concrete structures. Bids on the latter are being received by A. M. and A. C. Parsons.

SALES AND EXCHANGES.

The Jones & Ryder Land Company reports the following sales:

For a Mr. Stevenson, to G. F. Whiting, a six-room new modern cottage at No. 625 Forty-first Drive, on lot 40x135 feet. This property was bought by Mr. Whiting, an arrival from New York, for a home. The consideration was $3500.

For the Southwest Land Company, to Mrs. F. W. Baldridge, three lots in Vermont Square, 44x130 feet each, on the north side of West Fiftieth street, between Raymond and Normandie avenues. Mrs. Baldridge intends shortly to build on these lots. The consideration was $2100.

The following exchange also is reported for H. B. Hotchkiss of El Cajon: A ninety-acre improved ranch in the valley, about two and one-half miles southeast of El Cajon. Thirty acres of this ranch are set to different varieties of grapes, about ten acres to oranges, lemons, peaches,

Blythe Ranch

The Heart of the Palo Verde Valley and the Paradise of the Farmer

It is a second edition of the Imperial Plain. At the present time you can buy rich bottom lands from the Blythe Ranch tract in the fertile Palo Verde Valley for $35 per acre and up on which you can duplicate the successes recently made by farmers in the Imperial Valley. The reason for that is that the two are next door to each other and that in soil, water and climatic conditions the Palo Verde Valley equals the best portions of its larger neighbor.

Increasing Sales of Land Attract Attention That the tide of settlers going into the Palo Verde Valley this Fall is attracting wide attention is evidenced in the volume of inquiry we are receiving and also in the character of the homeseekers who are calling at our offices. We recently sold in one week 750 acres from the Blythe Ranch tract, all of which will go under improvement this Fall. Not one of the visitors who have accompanied our agents to the property have found any fault with the statements we make regarding Blythe property and none of them have accused us of exaggeration in any particular.

Blythe Ranch Conditions Are Ideal The soil of the Blythe Ranch is a rich alluvial deposit washed down by the tributaries of the Colorado River for thousands of years and spread by its waters over the Palo Verde plain to a depth of from 10 to 50 feet. It can never lose its productive strength because it is irrigated and fertilized by the same agency which originally produced it. Prof. Forbes of the Arizona Experimental Station says of Colorado River water that it is equal in enriching power to $8.50 per acre per annum of commercial fertilizer.

Superior Water Arrangements at Blythe The water supply at Blythe is the mutual property of the farmers, each of whom is the possessor of one share in the Company for each acre he owns. The Company is so capitalized there is one share for each acre in the Palo Verde Valley, and as these rights cannot under the rules of the Company be sold to anyone who does not own land, there is no possibility of interference between the farmer and his supply. In addition, the system from an engineering standpoint is ideal because the water is diverted through a solid rock intake and the silt of the River precipitated in a natural basin on the property, before the water is introduced to the irrigation canal.

Titles Are Clear and Land Values Sure to Increase Before Long The title to Blythe Ranch land is derived from the United States Government through reclamation and is beyond successful contest for that reason. This is important in view of the fact that land values in the Palo Verde Valley are certain of material increase with the completion of the Santa Fe cut-off from A. & C. Junction in Arizona to Bengal, California, promised during the Fall. At present the road is completed to Parker and the new $1,000,000 steel bridge across the Colorado River completed and in use. The rapidity with which settlers are at present going into the Valley and universality with which they place their land under improvement would unquestionably bring this about without any other consideration.

Blythe City Lots at From $100 to $500 Will Make You Money If you are not "the man with the hoe" but simply an investor we would like to have you join us in the upbuilding of Blythe City, the new town which we are creating to be the commercial and manufacturing center of the Palo Verde Valley. The owners of the Blythe Ranch are busy down there now, burning 300,000 brick which are going into a hotel, bank, church, implement store, livery barn, real estate office and other structures this Fall. Blythe City is surrounded with 100,000 acres of the finest agricultural soil in the United States and the new City will soon become the center of an active community devoted to stockraising, dairying, cotton growing, sugar beets, ramie fiber, grapes, cantaloupes, eucalyptus culture and general farming.

Blankiron Bros. Louis Evans

"When the Civil War broke out, I was eager to go to the front as a photographer. The art was so new in those days that it was a very great pleasure for me to practice it. My establishment on Broadway, New York (and before that in Cincinnati) had brought me in contact with many of the leading men of the nation. It was not long before I was following with interest the work of the two great armies in the field, North and South. I knew leaders on both sides.

"I got my chance in 1863, when through a mutual friend, I was introduced to Gen. Wright, joined the service, and was ordered to James Island, S. C., as official photographer. I had to take pictures of earthworks, roads, bridges, and so on.

"My risks, as an army photographer, ranked with those of a man on a desperate detail, as a spy. Had I been caught with my camera, it would have been treasonable evidence of the rankest kind. Of course, it was necessary for me to dodge around and keep out of harm's way.

"Some of my photographs were taken from treetops, others from haystacks. I was generally within gunshot of the rebels, for, of course, in those days we did not have any of the comfortable devices that today enable a field photographer to take a long-distance picture.

OLD "WET PLATE" DAYS.

"Those were the old days of the slow wet-plate process, as it was called, and I had to prepare my own plates, one at a time, as each was needed, right on the field where I expected to make my picture.

"It was hard work, and the wonder is that, with all the preliminary fussing necessary, in a field darkroom made of blankets, our whole outfit was not taken. I had three assistants, and we used, as I said, blankets for a darkroom.

"Many a time I could see the rebel flags, and was taking pictures with the roar of musketry not far away, but I always managed to escape.

"I was not, of course, on actual scenes of battle. My pictures were used to help plan the campaign, and were sent to Washington. It was my duty, chiefly, to scout around and get views of localities that were liable to come within the field of general action; also, whenever possible, pictures of earthworks and other positions held by the enemy.

"I cannot say that I ever had any desperate personal encounters, or hair-breadth escapes, but the life was very wearing, and was filled with excitement from morning till night.

"I often worked between the lines, but was never caught red-handed, else I would not have reached my present age, and still able to do a day's work.

"I made hundreds of war pictures in the course of my official work for Gen. Wright, liked the business very much and was anxious to go on with it, but the malaria of that swampy country got the best of me, and I resigned from the service.

LIKE WORK OF A SPY.

"As I look back over my experiences in the field, I can best compare them with the risks run by a spy in actual service. No scout ever took more chances than I did in the James River country. Our outfit would fill a good-sized wagon, and even with all possible efforts at secrecy, we were still taking big chances in going between the lines.

"Coming back to my professional work in New York, I met and photographed scores of national heroes and was a close friend of many of them. Lincoln came often to my gallery and we were soon intimate friends. I heard him tell many stories, many of them now in the books.

"It is a singular fact that, only since Lincoln's death has he been accorded the position of a great national hero. Is it not strange how men's fates go? In his own day Lincoln was regarded as a sharp, shrewd politician of log-rolling propensities; story-teller and all that; but it is difficult for me to look back and find any actual parallel between Lincoln of the Civil War period and Lincoln as he is commonly set forth today.

"I sometimes wonder whether, should he suddenly return to earth, he would be able to recognize his own portrait. Certainly, in his lifetime he was slammed good and hard for many political and social shortcomings, was far from regarded as the great man he has since been discovered to be. Queer thing, this human nature and this fallible human opinion!"

Supply Business.

The Associated people are negotiating with John A. Bunting to buy the Bunting Iron Works at Coalinga. An inventory was taken some weeks ago and a sale was reported, then, but this was premature. The terms are still, it is stated, under discussion.

The Associated intends to enter the supply business on an extensive scale. Houses will eventually be opened in all the fields.

BIG INCREASE IN BUSINESS.

MANY SALES SWELL TOTAL OF LOCAL CONCERN.

Advance of Fifty Per Cent. Over Six Months' Average—Increasing Demand for High-class Residence Property and Choice Building Lots. Deals the Best Evidence.

Althouse Bros. report that their business in the last two weeks has shown an advance of 50 per cent. over the average of the last six months. There is an increasing demand for high-class homes and choice building lots, and business conditions are improving daily. Following sales are evidence sufficient to bear out the above statement:

Mrs. Kate Mason of the Mason Operahouse sold to Clara Pitt Durant the fourteen-room frame residence located on a lot 75x210 feet, at No. 1909 Harvard boulevard. This is one of the show places of the city, being very pleasing in style of architecture and in keeping with the climate. The entire lower story is finished in Chatsworth Park sandstone. Mrs. Durant is a resident of Michigan, having many manufacturing interests there. She intends to live here during the winters. The reported consideration is $25,000 cash.

Mary S. Mills has sold to Senator Henry M. Willis, the handsome nine-room two-story frame dwelling located at No. 1721 Westmoreland boulevard, on lot 50x162 feet. Senator Willis is the State Senator from the Thirtieth District, and intends making Los Angeles his future home. The consideration was $10,000 cash.

Althouse Bros. sold to Evangeline Caven the property at No. 1522 Manhattan Place, consisting of a modern nine-room two-story frame and plaster house on lot 51x135 feet. This house contains all the modern conveniences, and the walls are hung with imported tapestries. The consideration was $8650 cash.

The same grantors sold to Susana Dumont the eight-room two-story and basement mission plastered house on lot 45x135 feet, at No. 1554 Manhattan Place. Mrs. Dumont has large rubber and sugar interests in South America, and will make Los Angeles her future home. The consideration was $6250.

G. W. Gottschalk sold to L. M. Winchell the modern eight-room bungalow located at No. 2909 Kenwood avenue, on lot 50x150 feet. Mr. Winchell is a retired naval officer of the United States navy, and is known throughout the East as an artist of much talent. Mr. Winchell intends making Los Angeles his permanent home. The reported consideration is $6000.

S. L. Briggs sold to Lotta B. Lorimer a lot in Norwood terrace, on the east side of Harvard boulevard, near the corner of Fourth, 50x150 feet. Mrs. Lorimer is having plans drawn for an eight-room two-story house to cost $5000. The consideration was $1750.

Hattie P. Martin sold to Fanny W. Dumble the six-room modern bungalow on lot 41x135 feet, at No. 2330 West Twenty-ninth Place, for a consideration of $3600.

Charles A. Erickson sold to Leon F. Grosse a lot on the northwest corner of Forty-first Place and Normandie avenue, for $1600 cash.

Althouse Bros. and Arnold & Dodge have sold to Joseph L'Hommedieu an unimproved lot, being the southwest corner of Garfield avenue and Glendon Way, Ramona Park, 50x152 feet. Mr. L'Hommedieu will improve at once with a modern eight-room two-story house, to cost $4000. The consideration was $800.

The same grantors have sold to Arthur D. Bond a lot on the east side of St. Andrews Place, north of Linden avenue, 50x150 feet, for $1500. Mr. Bond intends building immediately a modern two-story house to cost $4500.

Althouse Bros. and Arnold & Dodge have sold to Dr. J. B. Cutter the nine-room two-story house at No. 421 Manhattan Place, on lot 60x150 feet. Dr. Cutter is surgeon for the Santa Fé Railway Company, and has purchased this property for his home, and intends to occupy it at once. The reported consideration is $8650.

Althouse Bros. sold for Hubbard & Gardner, to W. H. Jackson, the modern two-story eight-room house at No. 1681 Oxford avenue, on lot 50x115 feet. Mr. Jackson is a retired manufacturer of Rockford, Ill., and has decided to make Los Angeles his home. The consideration was $8000.

The firm reports other sales pending which will further swell the total.

LANKERSHIM SALES MANY.

District to Front With Talk of Electric Line and Commencement of Work on Aqueduct.

With the commencement of active work on the Owens River aqueduct and the planning of new car lines, there has been a great deal of inquiry by investors for lands and numerous sales have been made in the Lankershim section. This is situated on the south side of the San Fernando Valley just north of Hollywood in the vicinity of what was formerly known as Toluca. The section for years has been noted for the fine quality of its peaches, apricots and other deciduous fruits grown without irrigation.

Crissey & Cartwright report the sale of a thirty-acre peach and apricot orchard for A. P. Hoffman to W. R. Snyder, recently from Hastings, Neb., for a consideration of $10,000; also sixty acres with about fifteen acres in apricots for Mrs. Nancy R. Thayer to Helen Hay and Henry Hay of Covina, for $12,000. Also a thirty-seven-acre tract with small house and barn for A. L. Crane to a Mr. Constant of this city, for $6500. Another tract of fifty acres, set to peaches last spring, was sold for a Mr. Crane to Frank G. Tyrell of this city, who transferred a fine residence property in the southwest part as part payment of the land. A fine fifteen-acre tract, part of the townsite of Lankershim, in a full bearing peach and apricot orchard, for A. P. Hoffman to T. A. Thompson, formerly of Sioux City, Iowa, for $350 an acre.

Mr. Cartwright has also bought a well-improved forty-acre ranch about a mile west of Lankershim as an investment, paying $10,000 for it.

A fifty-six and one-half-acre tract in peaches and apricots on San Fernando avenue, near Hewitt station, was recently sold by a Mr. Wagner of Chicago to a Mrs. Bassett of Pasadena for $400 an acre. Some Chicago real estate entered into the transaction as part of the consideration.

DEMAND IN EAGLE ROCK.

Many Lots Sold to Homebuilders—Extensive Improvements Under Way There.

Since the inauguration of through car service to Eagle Rock there has been a strong demand for building sites in that pretty little suburb. The resumption of tract improvements is also increasing the activity of prospective purchasers. Many new streets are being graded and curbed and several oiling outfits are employed on various subdivisions in the valley.

The Edwards & Wildey Co. report the following sales:

To E. B. Tupper, two lots on Myrtle avenue, west of Valley Drive, 100x135 feet, for $300. This was bought for immediate improvement. To Carl German, a lot 140x270 feet, for consideration of $1000; this was bought for improvement. To the same purchaser a lot 50x150 feet on the south side of Colorado street, near Central, for $500. To Anna Gregg, two lots, 100x135 feet on the north side of Myrtle avenue, $300. Mrs. Gregg is already building. To J. J. Crego, a lot 140x270 feet, on the south side of Myrtle avenue, for $1000. To Mrs. Daisy Laws, two lots 100x150 feet on the west side of Central avenue near Myrtle, for a consideration of $1000; Mrs. Laws will improve with a six-room bungalow to cost $2500. To Ellis L. Greist, a lot 50x140 feet on Central avenue, north of Colorado street, for $450. To Kenyon L. Long, two lots 100x140 feet on Rowland avenue near Colorado, for a consideration of $750. For Mrs. M. L. Schneider to Frank Midgley ten acres fronting on Hill avenue and running through to the crest of Eagle Rock Hills, for $4200. This has been bought for improvement as a suburban home place. For Carl Laux to Dr. Curtis M. Beebe, a lot [illegible]x175 feet on Acacia avenue near Colorado street for a consideration of [illegible]. Dr. Beebe is having plans drawn for an artistic seven-room bungalow to cost about $2500 which he will occupy as a home.

HUMMING AT CORCORAN.

Many Investors Attend Excursion to Turnbull Ranch in Great San Joaquin Valley.

That the real estate market is rapidly emerging from the dull period has been satisfactorily demonstrated by the well attended excursion conducted by Newport and Milner, which left Los Angeles for the opening of Turnbull Ranch Wednesday evening. This is but another evidence of the constantly increasing interest being manifested in the great San Joaquin Valley, and particularly that section which centers around the well known Corcoran district.

There is more activity in farm developments at Corcoran at the present time than ever before. Houses and farm buildings are being erected everywhere, water and natural gas wells are being developed, pumping plants are being installed, trees, shrubbery and vineyards are being set out and the land being prepared for next season's crops. On every hand there is evidence which points to a period of great activity at Corcoran this fall.

The dairying, vineyard and other industries are being greatly increased. A large acreage is being prepared for sugar beets. The already extensive field of asparagus on the Lewis Asparagus Farm will be greatly increased next year, and this will in time no doubt become a very important industry in the Corcoran section.

F. A. Cleveland, who has lately become interested at Corcoran, is busily engaged in erecting a large number of farm buildings in the vicinity. He has already secured contracts for over twenty-five buildings and is rushing the work to completion with a large force of men.

The first edition of the Corcoran Weekly Journal will appear this week, under the management of L. P. Mitchell, a newspaper man of Azusa, with many years experience in the newspaper field. Mr. Mitchell has erected a building and installed a very complete printing plant.

A large number of prospective investors have already been booked for the second big excursion which leaves Los Angeles Wednesday evening.

The lease is for about ten years and calls for $100,000. Eisner & Co. will spend several thousand dollars in remodeling. Possession will be given them October 1.

BEAUTIFUL CLASSICAL BUILDING ALMOST COMPLETED.

Dancing and Assembly Hall, which is one of the most striking buildings recently constructed in the city. It is a handsome two-story structure, at the southwest corner of Sixteenth and Flower streets. This is a fine example of classical architecture, as worked out in wood. Many have remarked on the beauty of the building as they passed on the cars, and have watched the construction and finishing with interest. It will be used as a dancing and assembly hall for various societies and lodges. The structure cost approximately $20,000.

BY THE BAY.

SAN DIEGO MEN ARE ENCOURAGED.

TAKE PRESENT BUSINESS AS INDICATION FOR FALL.

Many New Plans Announced for Ensuing Months—Numerous Building Projects to Be Begun Shortly. Biological Association to Have Million-Dollar Home.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 26.—Local realty operators see much to encourage the belief that the present brisk demand for homes and building sites will continue and become more pronounced in the large number of building projects that are now under way and are being planned.

During last week it was announced by Julius Wangenheim that it is hoped to soon begin work on a plant representing an outlay of $1,000,000 for the San Diego Biological Association at La Jolla. Mr. Wangenheim, who is one of San Diego's wealthiest citizens, is largely interested in the development of the present station, and being chairman of one of the important committees, will undertake to raise the funds needed to build the most complete institution of the kind to be found in the United States.

O. L. Galbraith of Los Angeles, Southern California manager for Swift & Co., while here last week closed contracts for the construction of a cold storage plant. This will be of reinforced concrete, 75x100 feet, with thirty-foot walls. The plant will be ready for operation by January 1. Material to be used in the building is now being delivered.

Permission having been granted to the Benson Lumber Company for use of certain tide lands, plans have been drawn for a building to be erected at the foot of Twentieth street to cover an area 150x250 feet. The building will cost about $20,000 and will be put up by the San Diego Wood Products Company for manufacturing wood alcohol and other chemicals. The company will soon be ready to award contracts.

Capital to keep real estate moving continues to flow in from the outside. Dealers say that there will be a larger influx of colonists this fall and winter than ever before. One of the best sales of the week was the transfer of Gordon ranch at El Cajon to Fred A. Springsted for $15,000. The ranch comprises sixty acres set to fruit trees, and contains a packing-house. Some years ago this ranch was founded and improved by the late John T. Gordon, a street-railway magnate of Pittsburgh, Pa. The purchaser is from Spokane, Wash., and is a prominent lumber man.

Another sale of importance was the transfer of an unimproved lot on the south side of C street between Second and Third, through Rice & Porter, to S. W. Campbell of Texas, for $7000. The purchaser will erect a two-story brick building on the lot.

There is a steady demand for residence property and building sites. Ed. G. Brassington, local manager of the Barber Asphalt Company, has bought the northeast corner of Columbia and E streets for $5000.

Mrs. Katherine Spalding has purchased a lot at the southeast corner of Fifth and Thorn streets for $3000. The location is on a hill commanding a fine view of the bay and Point Loma. Mrs. Spalding will erect a home, plans for which are now being drawn.

Frank L. Whitney bought of the Ralston Realty Company two lots and a six-room cottage on Collier avenue and Idaho street for $2800. The home of S. G. Ames has been purchased by Mrs. Rosaline F. Winter for $4000. The property consists of a nine-room house and a lot at First and Walnut streets. Mrs. Winter recently moved here with her family from San Francisco. Jacob Price has bought of Mrs. Mary W. Perry four lots on University avenue, near Park boulevard, for $2600. J. L. Cotton of New York has invested $3500 in a lot at the northeast corner of Columbia and Ash streets, which he will hold for developments. Jenkins & Stout have sold to C. S. Winchell four lots at Roseville for $2000. The purchase was made for an investment.

W. H. Fraser has sold to a San Diego man a lot 50x100 feet at the corner of Fifth and Kalmia streets for $3500. The purchaser will erect a residence.

REPORTS TWO SALES.

C. L. Woodbury reports the sale to William R. Uber of eleven lots in N. C. Kelly's Mountview tract. The consideration was $10,000. This tract is on Pico Heights near Robert Marsh's Country Club tract and commands a superb view of the surrounding country.

Mr. Woodbury also reports the sale to Henry A. Kessler of forty acres of fine alfalfa land at Buena Park for a consideration of $10,000. Mr. Kessler [illegible] and put in a large [illegible] alfalfa.

CONSTRUCTION PROGRESS.

MANY HOMES BEING BUILT.

CLASS C STRUCTURES COST HALF-MILLION THIS MONTH.

Total Valuation Close to Three-quarters of a Million for Five Hundred and Fifty Permits—Evidences of Continued Growth of Permanent Population.

Building operations so far this month have reached a total of $715,643, this amount representing the cost of 550 new buildings, permits for which have been granted in the twenty business days this month. This record is compared with the one for the corresponding period a year ago of 605 permits, with a valuation of $953,692.

Two hundred and seventeen permits for one-story class D frame houses have been taken out, at a valuation of $246,560. Thirty-five permits for buildings of the story-and-half height were issued, with an estimated cost of $72,391, while the two-story structures number 43, and have a valuation of $183,393. One three-story house, to cost $10,000, also is being erected. This makes a total valuation of houses this month of $513,344 for 296 buildings. These are either private residences or apartment-houses, and their number shows the constant increase in the permanent population of the city.

Fourteen class C structures, ranging from one to three stories in height, have been begun at a cost of $120,015. The following tabulated statement shows the week's activity in building:

ON WEST TWENTY-FOURTH.

Hay & Hardwick have sold for Mrs. Dora S. Middleton the property at No. 2258 West Twenty-fourth street, on lot 75x150 feet, to Thomas B. Tomb of Kansas City for $12,500. The property is improved with a two-story eight-room residence. The same firm also has sold for Neil Ferguson to Mrs. E. B. Walker a lot 50x150 feet at No. 2940 Harvard boulevard, improved with a two-story seven-room residence, for $4250.

SELLS YOUNG GROVE.

H. E. Ward of San Dimas reports the sale for E. A. Day to S. J. E. Hayes of Pasadena of a ten-acre grove on Gladstone avenue, near San Dimas, for $5000. The property was purchased by the grantor in April, and was at once planted with Valencia Lates and Washington navels. He sold at a handsome profit, after deducting all expenses of planting and preparing the land for the orchard.

SALE ON SAN PEDRO.

The Traders' Exchange report the sale for Robert A. Smith to McCarthy Company of the property at Nos. 768, 770 and 770½ San Pedro street, consisting of a lot 60x125 feet to an alley. Improved with three little dwellings of nominal value. The consideration was $30,000.

The McCarthy Company will improve this lot with a substantial store and flat building.

ON EAST FORTY-SIXTH.

The Cornell Company has sold for James C. Lewis to Fannie L. Lee the property at No. 1142 East Forty-sixth street for $3500. The lot is 50x142 feet and is improved with a five-room cottage.

FACT AND COMMENT.

condition, while a vacant lot either side is left from year's end to year's end without the slightest attention. The weeds grow up along the sidewalk until in wet weather they bedraggle the pedestrian to the hips with moisture and mud.

The City Somewhat to Blame.

This street is much traveled, yet the city has neglected at a good many points to put in crosswalks, or if there is a crosswalk a bridge over the gutter is lacking. Witmer street becomes impassible after an inch of rain falls. Just east of Witmer, going up toward Crown Hill, a beautiful section, a lot was filled in on the south side of Sixth street a year or more ago, and the sidewalk is still covered nearly a foot deep with dirt thrown there to allow the wagons to run over. It is innocuous in the dry season, but the first inch of rain that falls will make an impassible puddle of mud there thirty or forty feet wide. Farther west another lot on the same side of the street is being filled it. Along the sidewalk is strewn nearly a foot of earth to break the effect of the wheels. Pedestrians are forced either to become all strewn with dust or to pass out into the street around this obstruction. We are a very good-natured people, or a very untidy people.

The Care of the Trees.

Perhaps in nothing is our good nature, or lack of artistic sentiment, shown more than in our neglect to take care of shade trees where they are planted, as well as our negligence about planting them where they are not. The power companies are unobstructed in their butchering of the handsomest shade trees, which they happen to think are in the way of their wires. With absolute impunity they hack these trees to their hearts' content. The wood butcher sent out by the companies to do the work is far from an artist. The City Forester has suggested an excellent thing in an ordinance which would put the care of these trees in the hands of the city government, and let them take care of all shade trees planted on all the streets in the city.

One More Block.

On the north side of Sixth street, between Carondelet and Coronado, there are two improved lots, each having a good house, with lawns and gardens well kept. The sidewalks and the grass-plot between the cement and the curb are usually in excellent condition. From Carondelet street westward are three vacant lots in a row. Then comes a house, succeeded by another vacant lot, then another good house, and beyond that three other vacant lots. It is about as spotted a block as you could find in the whole city. Here are two improved lots to seven vacant ones. The occupants of the two houses take much pains and show a great deal of pride in the care of their property, while the owners of the seven vacant lots scarcely ever pay any attention to the sidewalks in front of their property. These lots stand from three to six feet above the sidewalk. There is no retaining wall. The earth is continally crumbling down in summer, running down in mud in the winter. The little parking between the cement and the curb is nearly everywhere encumbered by a great heap of the dirt shoveled off periodically from the pavement. Straggling natural growth of a plant something like tasseled fuchsia, commonly called the tobacco plant, hangs down from these bluffs, making the sidewalk ordinarily difficult to pass, and exceedingly uncomfortable after a rain. There is probably no violation of any law in the neglected condition of these lots, as they are today. There ought to be a provision for the care of such unimproved property, compelling the owners to have a little respect for the comfort of their neighbors along the street.

These Not Exceptions.

The Fact and Comment man selects these concrete examples to show the need of such ordinances as he suggests, not because they are exceptional along Sixth street, nor has he selected Sixth street because it is particularly exceptional in the city. The selection was made simply for the reason that the street and these particular points in the street are familiar objects to his eye at least once almost every day in the year. There are fifty other places on one side or the other of this thoroughfare as bad as those he has selected, and there are hundreds of streets all over the city no better than Sixth street. A movement is now before the Council looking to the pavement of this street from Fremont westward to the city limits. The work will probably be done before many months pass. It will be only half available in the way of comfort to those who live on the street or pass as long as these vacant lots may be left in the neglected, unkempt condition they are in today. The vacant lots almost everywhere are overgrown with weeds, now standing six inches to two feet high or more. They grow many of them from year to year higher and higher, and spread out into larger bunches. They are very unsightly, and there is no excuse for this condition, for the reason that the putting of one of these lots into proper condition will cost only at the most a very few dollars. The expenditure of the money would be worth many times more to those who are speculating in the property by making it more presentable and attracting more favorable consideration to their holdings.

ACTIVITY AT COLLEGE TRACT.

Investment Company Reports Exceptional Business in Selling Houses and Lots.

The Los Angeles Investment Company reports that the demand for new homes in College tract is very good, and steadily on the increase.

This tract is located at Forty-eighth street, Gramercy and Wilton place and Arlington avenue, on the Grand-avenue car line. The company reports the following sales in the tract:

GOOD TOURING RECORD.

Earl Osborne of This City Makes Remarkable Trip Through Center of State.

Earl Osborne is touring the center of the State in an Auburn. He is taking his time and is enjoying the trip immensely, he writes. He is now in the Yosemite, where he will remain for the next few days. He has experienced no trouble with his car and has traveled about 2000 miles.

After leaving the Yosemite Valley Osborne will visit San Francisco and will then travel leisurely down the coast to this city. Osborne is an experienced driver and has had remarkably good fortune with his machine. He has had scarcely any tire trouble and nothing has occurred to cause him to stop for repairs anywhere.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW.

Barbee Hook has purchased a new model Stoddard-Dayton roadster, fitted with a baby tonneau. The car is handsome and fast. Hook's Stoddard will be delivered to him in New York on October 20, and he will keep it in the East until after the Vanderbilt Cup race. The car was sold by Norman Church of the local Stoddard-Dayton agency. T. B. Marshall has purchased a Model K Stoddard roadster.

The Packard "Eighteen," or the new five-passenger Touring car, will be received the latter part of the coming week. This will be the first five-passenger to reach the Pacific Coast. It is a new departure on the part of the factory, and the car will create a deal of interest for the reason that there are many buyers who would like to own Packards, but who do not need the large seven-passenger cars.

Six Chalmers-Detroit "30's" will reach this city next week.

Earle C. Anthony will return to the city on Tuesday, the 29th inst.

Frank E. Hartigan has gone to San Francisco to meet his son, John D. Hartigan, who is coming home on a visit.

Roy Drew has purchased an Auburn touring car from the Central Motor Car Company. J. W. Overholtzer of Claremont also bought an Auburn last week.

H. D. Ryus of the White garage left on Thursday for Cleveland, O., to look over the new White output. He will endeavor to hasten the delivery of the new 1909 line of steamers.

Leon T. Shettler has just closed a contract for the Kisselkar agency with Green & True of Highlands, with John Rauch of Uplands, A. Thackeray of McKittrick, Kern county, has secured the Reo and Kisselkar agency for the entire county.

C. T. Covell, outside agent for Leon T. Shettler, left Friday night for Bakersfield and Fresno. He will be absent for some time.

Norman Church returned on Friday from a stay of two weeks in San Francisco. He reports business as somewhat dull in the Bay City.

Eight Buick runabouts were received Friday by the Western Motor Car Company.

Bert Latham and C. T. King will leave tomorrow for a spin over the road to San Diego. Latham will endeavor to clip several minutes off the coast record to San Diego, and will try, he declares, to clip several hours off the round-trip record mark.

C. A. Eastman, the manager of the White company at San Francisco, arrived from the northern metropolis Thursday on a business trip. He says the automobile business is improving. Sales at the White average one automobile a day, he says, and many orders are coming in for the 1909 model Whites.

F. C. Fenner, president of the White Garage of this city, left for San Francisco Friday night. Fenner will make a short business trip, returning here Sunday.

Several Packard "30s" are en route for Dr. Cochran, Jacob Bean, Isaac Milbank, H. G. Hayes, J. F. Dodds, W. G. Kerckhoff.

Manager Nelson of the Diamond Rubber Company branch in this city reports to the Akron factory that his volume of business is now more than three times as large as it was a year ago, and that it is almost impossible to get the tires here fast enough, although recently as much as $60,000 worth of Diamond tires have been rushed here by express in one shipment.

C. E. Smith, a well-known eastern rubber man, has been sent out here to join the Fisk tire branch in this city and aid the present manager in fighting for the tire business.

William Reuss is one of the new agents who come into auto row to fill up the vacancies created by others retiring from business.

The Motor Racing Association of New York has announced another twenty-four-hour race at the Brighton Beach track, October 2 and 3.

A magnificent triumphal arch will be the central feature of the decorations of the Ninth National Automobile Show in Madison Square Garden, January 16 to 23.

The Automobile Club of San Francisco proposes to continue signboarding roads leading out of the city until they meet with the signs erected by the Automobile Club of Southern California, affording tourists a continuous series of guide posts.

While driving along a mountain road near Shamokin, Pa., two motorists noticed that the machine suddenly slowed down. Alighting, they discovered a rattlesnake twisted tightly about the axle.

The Kansas City Park Board has adopted a new system of warning signs for automobiles entering the parks at night. Red gas globes are being placed at different intersections, and will indicate "keep to the right."

As a result of the compromise agreement between the A.A.A. and the A.C.A. the grand prize gold cup of the latter will be the great international trophy of this country, and the William K. Vanderbilt Cup, the trophy for a national annual speed contest.

The Dowager Queen of Spain has been the first motorist to legitimately cross the great St. Bernard in an auto. The Italian side of the road is open, but the Swiss is, however, closed. Her Majesty, however, telegraphed to the Swiss government for permission, which was at once granted.

ORANGE LOSES TO OCCIDENTAL.

Club Men Outweigh College Boys, but Are Slow.

First Football Game of Season Draws Crowd.

Capt. Wieman Shows Class by Making Field Goal.

Occidental College, 27; Orange Athletic Club, 0.

The first game of the Southern California football season was played yesterday afternoon on the Occidental gridiron, in which the Presbyterians won an easy victory over the Orange Athletic Club. A small-sized crowd turned out to witness the opening contest, and although the play was slow and ragged, enthusiasm was manifested by the spectators, who appeared glad again to see the moleskin warriors struggling on the sawdust.

The weather was too warm for football, and the men suffered from the heat and lack of training. The Orange county men outweighed the Presbyterians four or five pounds to the man, but the players did not work together, and there was no organized defense.

The feature of the game was a goal from placement, which Wieman of Occidental kicked from the 35-yard line. The ball was booted at a slight angle, and sailed over the goal posts in a direct course.

Northcross of Orange played the best game for the visitors. He was the only man on the team who worked hard from start to finish, and his tackling was consistent and certain.

The Presbyterians scored all their points in the first half. Several substitutions were made in the second half which enabled the visitors to defend their goal successfully. The best scrimmage of the game occurred soon after the second half had opened, when the Orangemen held the Presbyterians for downs on their three-yard line.

Fred Thomson played a plunging game for the Presbyterians, using his great strength to advantage in the line and in running in the open field. The Presbyterian linesmen outplayed their opponents, although the Orangemen were heavier, but on several occasions the clubmen broke through for gains. Occidental used only a small variety of plays, among which was a revolving formation that failed to prove effective in gaining ground. Most of the gains were made on end runs and through gaps in the line, although several well executed forward passes netted yards that counted toward the score.

The first touchdown was the result of a fluke after the teams had been struggling for about ten minutes. Wallace kicked off twenty-three yards to Thomas and the Presbyterian failed to gain. Wieman punted to Hart, who was downed in his tracks by Johnson on the visitors' 40-yard line. Orange failed to make the required distance and the ball went to Occidental. Thomson made six yards on the first down, but Orange held and the Presbyterians lost the ball on downs on their 35-yard line. Smith gained five yards, but the ball went to Occidental on a fumble. Wieman kicked to Hart on the third down, but he missed the punt on his 25-yard line, and Thomson secured the ball and ran for a touchdown.

The second touchdown was made by Fred Thomson on a 70-yard run, in which he bowled over six men and literally tore his way through the field. Hopkins scored the other touchdowns on runs from his end position.

The St. Vincent's football squad was in the bleachers, taking an object lesson in the game under the direction of Coach Hempel. The Catholics are to meet the Orange County A.C. next Saturday.

The Occidental freshmen and sophomores will play their annual football game tomorrow afternoon. The other class games have been canceled in order that 'varsity practice will not be interrupted.

The line-up:

Occidental.		Orange A.C.
Hopkins Robertson	L.E.R.	Brunton
Landreth Patterson	L.T.R.	Farwell Reed
H. Thomson	L.G.R.	Urshell
Conrad	C.	Fullerton

F. Thomson	F.B.	Wallace Lerner

Length of halves, 20 and 25m. Touchdowns, Hopkins, 2; F. Thomson, 2. Goals from placement, Wieman. Goals from touchdowns, Wieman, 3. Umpire, Al Merrill. Referee, Wilson. Linesmen, Wood, Hamilton.

HARVARD SCHOOL.

MUCH NEW MATERIAL.

Although seven members of last year's team will be missing from the line-up this year, Harvard School students believe that the prospects for a winning eleven this season are better than they have been for several years. The new material that has registered at the military school is considered the best that has ever matriculated, and the men are getting down to work with the determination to surpass the record of the team last year.

Among the most promising of the new men is Rogers, who played last year on the eleven of the Western Military Academy of Illinois. He is a candidate for an end position, and has all the qualifications of a good player.

The squad was called together for the first time Friday afternoon, and Coach Boren instructed the men in the rudiments of the game. Regular practice will begin tomorrow, and will continue daily throughout the season. A schedule has not been arranged as yet, but games will be played with Hollywood High School, Throop, Santa Ana High and Pasadena. It is not probable that the young soldiers will meet Los Angeles High School, unless the difference in weight between the elevens is less than it has been heretofore. A trip may be made to San Diego to meet the High School of that place.

"Shorty" Davis will captain the team this year. He played a half-back position last year, and is one of the strongest players on the eleven. Robb will act as manager. Heath, left end; Thorpe, quarter-back; Rindge, guard, and Fife, right end, are the last year's players who will form the nucleus of this season's eleven. The vacancy caused by the graduation of Elt Brown, the 1907 captain, will be hard to fill, but the students are counting on the new men to equal or surpass the work of the veterans who are missing.

OCCIDENTAL ELEVEN.

CANDIDATES LOOK GOOD.

Although the Occidental football squad has been practicing less than two weeks, the Presbyterian students are speculating on the personnel of the 'varsity that will represent the college in the intercollegiate games. Coach Gorton has been using the candidates for the team in different positions for the purpose of learning whether they have been playing in the places for which they were best adapted, and the result has been that some of the old 'varsity men probably will be seen in new positions this year.

Fred Johnson, who played an end position last year, has been tried out at left half-back, and he has shown better form in that place than he did in his former position. He is one of the hardest men on the team to stop, and he is fleet of foot and uses good judgment in picking openings in the line. Capt. Wieman probably is permanently located at right end, which position he seems better adapted to than his former tackle place.

Pierce Thomas seems to be leading in the scramble for the quarter-back position, and his showing has been a surprise to the student body. Thomas has been at Occidental three years, but has never turned out for the 'varsity before, and he had not been counted upon to try for a place this year. Unless a dark horse turns up, he probably will be a permanent fixture at quarter-back.

Patterson, who has served several years on the 'varsity team at right guard, has a close competitor for the place in Smart, formerly of Santa Ana High School. Henry Thomson, substitute guard on last year's 'varsity, seems to have a regular place secured on the 'varsity, and probably will play on the left side of Conrad, who will occupy the pivotal position.

Landreth, a freshman from Pasadena High School, is making a strong bid for a tackle position, and is likely to win a berth. He is husky and active, and has played interscholastic football several years. Kellogg is being tried in the other tackle position. He is big and active enough for the place, and his experience as a subsitute last year gives him an advantage over the new men. McDermont, a substitute tackle last year, has not turned out for practice as yet, but he will be on the field this week. He will make a strong bid for a tackle position, and may supplant Kellogg or Landreth. Hopkins seems to have the best chance to land the vacancy at left end. He got into one intercollegiate game last year at the end of the season and surprised the students by his heady work.

Fred Thomson has his place at full-back cinched. He is the heaviest man on the team and probably is the strongest, although Collins, who will again play at right half-back, gives him a close run for "strong man" honors. Carus, formerly of Pasadena High School, W. Thomson and Fish have been showing up well in the back field.

Beginning tomorrow, the 'varsity practice will be curtailed in order to give the class teams an opportunity to prepare for the interclass games which will begin next week. The freshmen, sophomores and "preps" will put separate teams in the field, and the juniors and seniors will combine to form an upper-class eleven.

The academy team is practicing daily, and Manager Goodell is arranging a schedule for the "preps."

THE QUAKER TEAM.

WOODWARD A HUSTLER.

Football enthusiasm is running high at Whittier College, for the strenuous practice of the last week by Coach Woodward's colts has shown to the Purple and Gold rooters that this year's squad is by far the strongest that has ever reported on the Quakers' gridiron.

The team has been materially strengthened by the addition of three "babies" in the squad. Crites, who comes from the prep department of Central City College, Central City, Neb., has the reputation of being the best quarter in the secondary schools of Nebraska. Besides being a good punter, he gets in every play and is a good general.

Graves, a "freshie" from the prep department of Kingfisher College in Oklahoma, is showing himself to be made of the stuff that will make the followers of the game sit up and take notice before the end of the season. Built on the same plan as Shevlin of Yale, he combines speed with tackling ability, being with the possible exception of "Little" Renneker, the surest tackler in the squad. Another member of the incoming class is Raymond, who is being tried out by Coach Woodward at right half. Although inclined to be a little slow, he is gritty and has the weight to make a good line plunger.

The only members of last year's team who will not be back are Wilder, Boyle and Wade. "Big Chief" Wells, the giant tackle, will be in the line this week and Stokes and Holton will also enroll, while White will be back next week.

The Quakers' schedule will include all the teams in the south this year except St. Vincent's. Preparatory games will be played with Santa Ana and L. A. high schools and the schedule with the colleges include:

O.C. and Whittier, October 24.
Pomona and Whittier, October 31.
U.S.C. and Whittier, November 7.

A game with Sherman Indians is still to be arranged, but will perhaps be played the last of November. There is a possibility that Manager Marshburn will bring the Earlham College team from Richmond, Ind., out here to clash with Whittier during the Christmas vacation. A contest between the two Quaker institutions should be a strong drawing card.

AT POMONA COLLEGE.

NEW MATERIAL TAKES PLACE OF VETERANS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Sept. 25.—Pomona College is going to turn out one of the strongest football teams she has developed in recent years. Such is the conclusion reached by the rooters after the first week of practice.

There have been several disappointments; some of the old 'varsity men expected back have not returned, there appears to be a scarcity of heavy material for line positions, there is a hole at fullback, and not a man has appeared who can do more than very average kicking.

On the other hand, the size of the squad has swelled from twenty-two on Tuesday, the day before college opened, to about fifty at the end of the week, with every prospect of further additions to make it the biggest in the history of the college; Coach Stanton has proved to be the very man needed for the place, sure to develop fighting spirit in the team, and sure of personal popularity; there is an abundance of material out for halves, ends, and quarter to develop keen competition for the positions; and there have been some freshman "finds" to help out considerably. Shutt, the freshman quarter, appears to be the one man that a football coach is always looking for and rarely finds.

Interest centers in the new men, the veterans being accepted as a matter of course. Freshman Shutt from Santa Monica High promises to remain in the foreground throughout the fall. He is a small man, weighing only about 140, but chunkily built and full of strength and football instinct. In build he recalls Stott, Stanford's star quarter from Portland a couple of years ago. If not used at quarter, he may be tried at half, for he carries enough football in him to insure him a place on the team.

In the freshman-sophomore "fence-rush" of Thursday, Shutt was billed to look out for Vail, 'varsity quarter and captain of the sophs, and handled him with ease.

CARVER PROMISING.

Carver, the Occidental middle-distance runner, is out for half, and is more than apt to make a place over men of more experience. Carver is at present a trifle slow and inclined to be clumsy, but his strength and aggressiveness mark him good football material. He strips above 160 and is closely knit. Panhoe, last year's crack baseball player, comes from prep into the freshman class and is seen in football togs for the first time. He is the Chinese from whom a good deal will be expected on account of his heady showing in other branches of athletics. He will probably be tried out at half. He is rather light, weighing under 150.

Seward, another freshman of about the same weight, will make a try for half or end. Nesbit, who is trying for freshman quarter, may develop into a strong man. At present, though passing well, he is inclined to be a little clumsy.

A good deal is hoped from Clark who has just come out. He is one of the heavier men, weighing well over 160, and should give a good account of himself, as his pounds are there without fat. He is green at the game, but physically well adapted to it. Craig, a sophomore out for the first time, is also showing up fairly well. He weighs between 160 and 170. [illegible] Capt. "Morry" Taylor, Fuller, Crawford, Benner, Mahoney, Weinland, Birdsall, and Vaile are back and working hard. Parker is expected to show up soon, and "Art" Tangeman, crack tackle three years ago, has promised to get back into the game. Gillette, center on last year's freshman team and 'varsity sub, is doing consistent work. Although rather light for center he has the advantage of being stockily built, and will be a hard man to hurt. It is not yet known whether Williamson or Charles Ranney will be back. Lorbeer will be out next week.

The team that will be built from this material promises to be fast, aggressive and experienced, but rather light. If the two or three available heavy men are used to bring up the weight, it will tend slightly to unbalance the team. With two or three men not over 140 pounds, and only one or two as heavy as 170, it will be no surprise if the team as finally picked averages under 160. But if this is the case it will mean that light men have made the positions against heavier competitors, for Coach Stanton will give every man out abundant opportunity to show just what he is worth.

CHUB IS SHIFTED.

One of the first important changes of the season has been the shifting of "Chub" Fuller from the guard position that he played under Noble two years ago, and trying him at center. If available as pivot-man he will add wonderfully to the center of the line for he weighs close to 190 and is very strong. At this time he is somewhat clumsy, but seems capable of developing speed. His competitors at present are Weinland, substitute guard for the last two years, and Gillette, last year's sub-center. Both are lighter men, but speedier. In case Weinland fails to make center, it is quite likely that he will be played at tackle.

Both guards will very likely be new men. Hinckley, a sophomore, is heavy enough for the position, but a trifle slow. Just at present he is enjoying a broken toe procured at a freshman "tubbing," but will be in the game shortly. He weighs nearly 175. Craig, another soph, though green and a little light, may be tried out for the position. In case no suitable men can be developed, a shift will send Capt. Taylor back to his old position, with Weinland as a possible mate.

Coach Stanton at present is expecting to play Taylor at tackle, with Weinland on the other side of the line. If Tangeman comes out, he will make one of the positions, unless he is used at fullback where there seems to be greater need for him. Ranney is another possible candidate for this position. Giffin, of last year's second, is still another possibility.

There promises to be an abundance of material for ends, and the team should be strong in this department. Parker, rated one of the best ends of this part of the State last season, is expected out within a day or two, and should be able to hold his place. Benner, star end of two years ago, who was not out last year, can match him at the other end of the line. There are some that even rank "Mary" Benner above Parker; he is fast, aggressive, heady, and a sure tackler. Gore, a substitute last year, is showing up extremely well and will make a hard try for one of the places. He weighs about 170 pounds, is of a long, rangy make-up, and is fast. Besides these leading candidates there are a half-dozen others who will keep things hot; Birdsall, sub last year, is not going to step aside without a fight.

NEED A FULLBACK.

Behind the line there are plenty of men for everything except fullback. At quarter will be either Shutt, Vaile, or Hartshorn. All three are good men, and any one would run the team to advantage, but the chances seem to lie in favor of the freshman, Shutt. Vail was 'varsity man last year, while Hartshorn was running him hard for the position until a broken collar-bone, just before the Indian game, shut him out of the running. All three are very light, with about five pounds between them, Hartshorn stripping 130, Vail about 135, and Shutt close to 140.

It is hard to pick a winner for either half position. Mahoney, last year's 'varsity man, is out, but will have to work hard to hold his place. Birdsall and Lorbeer, both subs, will go after one of the positions, unless Birdsall is kept at end. One of the likeliest men out is Freshman Carver, whose superior weight of 168 pounds will give him some advantage. There is no doubt that Carver has the strength; at the "fence-rush" he walked away from the fence at one time with a sophomore in each hand. Baker, a sophomore, is another candidate with much to recommend him. He is a hard worker, and consistent. Panhoe is still another one worth watching.

Hartzell is so far the only man out for full. He weighs only 155 and is hardly fast enough for the position. He may develop with coaching, however, and has a better chance for the position than any one yet in sight. If Tangeman comes out, and is not needed too badly in the line, he will probably take the place, with Hartzell for understudy. There is also a chance that one of the new men now trying for half may be switched to the position. Coach Stanton considers Lorbeer, who subbed last year for Will Spurgeon, pretty light for the place, and will probably develop some man who can be used more successfully as a line-plunger.

A punter and drop-kicker must be developed. So far the only man who has shown any particular aptitude with his foot is Gore, candidate for end. In case he develops well he may do the kicking for the team. It is also very likely that one of the new men with good football instincts may be taught the art of booting the leather; such a man as Shutt ought to learn readily. Panhoe, though entirely green now, might win a position on the team by using his jiu-jitsu on the pigskin.

Until the freshman-sophomore game is run off next Saturday there will be little attempt to get the men into definite positions. But once that contest is out of the way the competition for places will begin in earnest, and unless all the signs fail, before the dust clears away Coach Stanton will have evolved a team that will do much toward advancing the prestige of the Blue and White.

Thursday's rain has packed the new top dressing of the football field, making it cleaner and much speedier. It will be in excellent condition from now on. Next week the men will be put to work on the new tackling-dummy.

HEMPEL DRIVING.

TRIES TO WORK OFF FAT.

Dissatisfied with the performance of his football candidates during the past week, Coach Hempel of St. Vincent's ordered the entire squad to report for practice early yesterday morning. After two hours of hard, fast signal practice in which every formation was rehearsed and every available man worked to a standstill, the players more than welcomed their dismissal.

Though the majority of the men have been out regularly and all have been keeping the strict training rules, those on the training table have individually added from three to five pounds to their weight, all of which Hempel argues plainly shows that there has been a tendency to loaf and that the men have not been working any too hard.

Beginning tomorrow it is the intention of the coach to hold morning and afternoon workouts together with half-hour blackboard instructions at noon. The morning practice is to be preceded by fast laps on the running track. With this strenuous routine it is expected that the Saints will rapidly round into condition.

The scrimmage work with the second eleven served a double purpose during the last week in developing a weak spot in the Vincentian line, and uncovering some very promising material among the youngsters. In an endeavor to strengthen the front rank, Hempel has shifted Stewart to center and has filled the vacant guard with Thompson. The change seems to be satisfactory as Stewart is an experienced hand at center and passes with speed and accuracy. Thompson, who is a strong, aggressive player, should find little trouble in making good in his new berth.

On the left side of the line Buckles, the big recruit from Pomona High, was found to be too slow at guard and has been relegated to the second division until he becomes more experienced. Roach appears to be a likely candidate for the place as he possesses both the build and necessary speed of an aggressive linesman and has shown up well in the skirmishes.

In Tom Carrigan, who returned to college yesterday after a year's absence, the Saints have still another probability as a guard. Carrigan, who weights in the neighborhood of 210 pounds, is over six feet in height, has had considerable experience and has played a very creditable game on several occasions. The remainder of the Saints' line is still intact with Rheinschild and Leffert, tackles, and Tortez and Yborrando, ends.

George Stoney is at present just about the busiest member of the back field. Playing at end with every indication of making good until the advent of Tortez, Stoney got a rather late start and as a result has been working doubly hard to secure his old place at right half, where his weight and speed, combined with his ability to boot the ball, should prove valuable.

Several members of the second eleven who have been playing a fine defensive game and on whom Hempel intends to keep an eye, are Will Carrigan, Roulette, Huppert and Dingman. The quartette have shown themselves to be excellent teachers in the open field and have not the least hesitancy in breaking up the heavy interference or getting under line bucks. Carrigan was a member of last season's second squad, while Roulette is a former University of Arizona half. Huppert and Dingman have both played back-field positions prior to joining the Saints, and as both men are working hard, they may be heard from later in the season.

GAS-BAGS HERE.

BALLOONS ARRIVE FOR RACE ACROSS COUNTRY.

THE two big balloons, "American" and "United States," have arrived from St. Paul and are to be taken to Chutes Park tomorrow. These are the two balloons that are to make the big race eastward from Los Angeles November 8 under the management of Dick Ferris and associates.

The big gas bags, cars, and equipment are to be stored for a month and then be unpacked under the direction of one of the aëronauts who is to take charge of the race, probably Capt. Mueller, who has taken part in eastern races, and who has been invited to superintend the flight here.

Ferris is still working hard to arrange for a hydrogen gas plant for the flight, believing that a record is much more likely with the best gas possible. It is probable that this week the arrangements will be completed and that some definite plan will be decided upon.

The balloons are said to be in first-class shape and they will not be unpacked until time for inspection.

The race will take place the day before the entertainment of the Elks begins and should help bring a big crowd to Los Angeles.

AERONAUTICS

Tests made in Germany have shown that a balloon can be hit by army guns at a height of two and one-half miles. On July 30, at Madgeburg, a captive balloon at this altitude was struck thirty times, but did not collapse.

Not to be behindhand in aëronautical progress, Spain has had a military dirigible constructed and trials will soon be made in the presence of the King.

Orville Wright was not overly enthusiastic over the report that President Roosevelt would have liked to make an airship flight with him. "I'm sorry," he said at that time, "I don't believe the President should take such chances. Of course, flying in the air is as safe as riding in a street car, but accidents might happen." Subsequent events justified his opinion.

Under the arrangements made by Count Zeppelin in forming his new company for building airships, he remains manager during his lifetime. He has invested $750,000 of the $1,000,000 contributed by sympathizers in the company and invested the remainder for his own and daughter's benefit. Ultimately all will go to the company.

The aëronautical exhibit which is being assembled by the Smithsonian Institute at Washington will be arranged to show each step in the progress of aërial navigation, from the hot-air balloon of Joseph H. Montgolfier in 1782, to the Wright brothers' aëroplane.

The man who wins the prize of $5000 offered by M. Deutsch by crossing the English Channel in an aëroplane will have a difficult task, inasmuch as he must carry Maj. Rennard as a passenger. Wilbur Wright has denied that he even contemplates attempting the trip.

Count Zeppelin was greatly surprised at the record-breaking flights of Orville Wright at Fort Myer. "They are magnificent," he exclaimed when told of them.

Wilbur Wright has entered for the Michelin cup, value $4000, which is to go to the aviator who shall hold the distance record at the end of December, and for the Aviation Committee's cup, value $1000, for the same record at the end of September.

John Barrett, head of the Bureau of American Republics, who made a balloon trip with Charles J. Glidden, starting from Springfield, Mass., explains that several countries he comes in contact with are interested in aërial navigation and it is up to him to be informed.

Lieut. Lahm, U.S.A., who has won fame by his ballooning work, intends to devote himself to aëroplanes hereafter, and will probably be given command of Orville Wright's machine when it is formally acquired by the government.

The "Geneve," a dirigible of the "Patrie" type, now under construction at Vernier, Switzerland, will have a capacity of 123,620 cubic feet, and be actuated by a 125-horse-power motor. It is to be paid for by national subscription.

It is estimated that the skins of about 600,000 cattle will be required to construct Zeppelin's new airship.

In the annual Grand Prix contest of the Aëro Club of France, fixed for October 4, the starting point, as usual, will be the Tuileries Gardens, and the winner will be the pilot who succeeds in covering the greatest distance without coming to the ground. The prize is $300.

TO HAVE ANOTHER ROUND.

Singer and Freeman to Shoot Off Revolver String in Their Gun Tournament.

The sixth round of the Singer-Freeman match for $250 a side will be shot today at Schuetzen Park, and will consist of twenty-five shots each, with revolver, at bluerocks thrown in the air, the clay targets having been substituted for the glassballs provided in the original agreement.

Singer concedes that Capt. Freeman will pull down his lead in this event, but expects to keep within the margin of safety by breaking a good proportion of the targets.

The contestants have already shot 925 of the possible 1525 points covered by the match agreement, with 600 points possible remaining. As Singer now leads by 94 points, it will be necessary for Freeman to beat Singer by nearly 20 per cent. in the remaining events in order to win the match. Few marksmen in the [illegible] would back themselves [illegible]

BOWLING SCORES.

J. Balch ran his highest game on the Spring-street alleys and had high game of the week, with 248.

J. Borelli made his best run at jimjons and record for the week, 175.

E. Hutchins held the week high ninepin game, with 7.

In the Ladies' Idle Hour Bowling Club session, Miss Mattie Walton made the 5-7 spare and Mrs. Belle Stegeman holds the high game for the week.

Playing off a tie contest, G. Kristie and J. Novacovich won two out of three games and by eighteen pins on totals from J. Balch and J. Dugan, as follows:

TEMPESTUOUS.

TWO SCRAPS PROMISE MUCH.

Feathers and Heavies Are to Clash This Week.

Wolgast and Webster Battle Tuesday Night.

Battling Johnson and Barry Next Friday Night.

Fight fans who have been waiting for something good in the scrap line will have two chances this week in battles that will be pulled off at the Jeffries club and the McCarey pavilion, and both bouts are of sufficient importance to attract attention all over the country. The first one will be between Kid Webster and Kid Wolgast at the Jeffries club Tuesday night, and the other is the Battling Johnson-Jim Barry meeting at Naud Junction on Friday night.

The fights are of equal moment in the realm of pugilism, for the winner of each can well be placed very near the front rank in his class. Both Webster and Wolgast are far from being slouches, and Barry, who is to meet Johnson, is one of the few white fighters who is not afraid of that black wonder, Sam Langford, and draws no color line on him.

Battling Johnson has done about all of his fighting on the Coast, and he had a fine reputation as a heavy slugger in San Francisco. Since coming to Los Angeles he has run against hard nuts, having been beaten twice by Jim Flynn and once by Al Kaufman. He is a fearfully rough and rugged puncher, and can take an awful beating, and these qualities make him a very dangerous customer for any heavyweight, for he never backs up and is always boring in for all the punishment that can be given him. He is very confident about his ability to beat Barry, and makes the statement that his fight with Kaufman should be thrown out of the calculations, for the good reason that he was far from being right at that time.

As a matter of fact, Johnson weighed only about 170 pounds, due to an attack of la grippe, and he was suffering from a diseased nose, which made breathing difficult. Since then he has gone up to 200 pounds in weight and has had an operation performed on his nose that relieved him of all the pain in that organ, and now he breathes as well as ever. He is down to 191 pounds, and will probably enter the ring at that weight.

Barry needs little introduction to the fight bug public. He has lost to Sam Langford a number of times, but almost every other pug who is not afraid of a beating meets the same fate. Fred Cooley beat him in fifteen rounds, and he lost to Kid Hubert on a foul. Aside from these affairs, his record has but few stains, and Johnson is certainly a brave to fight him.

Both men are in fine condition, and as they are not compelled to make any specified weight, they have trained naturally and easily, and the fight bugs will surely see a bruising battle.

Webster a Live One.

Wolgast comes to the Coast with a record that any pug could be proud of, and in Danny Webster he will meet about the best second-division boy in California at 120 pounds, and he may be the best. Danny has been fighting two or three years, and while he has lost five or six decisions in forty fights, the majority of these were due to the fact that he was not aggressive enough. He has never been knocked out, and has put away many good boys. During the present year he has had thirteen battles, and won all except one. He twice knocked out Tommy Hennessey, who claimed to be the bantam champion of New England, and five weeks ago he beat Billy Snailham in twenty rounds at the Jeffries club.

Trendall Going East.

Kid Trendall, who beat Lauder Friday night, was to have remained here to fight Brock on October 16, but will go to Dayton, O., this week to fight on that date. He wanted to stay here, but had a forfeit up in Dayton that the easterners would not let him take down.

Lauder Talking.

It is stated that Lauder's nose was broken in Friday's fight with Trendall. After the fight, in his dressing-room, Lauder cried over his defeat, and declared he would never fight again, according to a rumor floating around yesterday. This is only "bunk," for young boys like him often think their lives are blasted by one defeat. He will surely come to his senses later on.

FALL TRACK MEET.

Stanford Arranges to Enter Athletes in Contests of P.A.A. at St. Mary's College.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 25.—For the first time in several years Stanford is to be represented by a full team at the annual fall meet of the Pacific Athletic Association which is to be held on the new St. Mary's College track, in Oakland, on October 31.

The Executive Committee has voted to enter fifteen men in the meet and the manager was instructed to make arrangements.

Fall training for the Cardinal athletes went into effect on Monday and there are now more than sixty men working every day, many of whom are 'varsity athletes. Capt. Horton is pleased with the material available and expects to send a team to the P.A.A. meet which will make a strong bid for the first place laurels. Several of the freshmen are exhibiting form which denotes the presence of good 'varsity material.

Among the men who may be expected to be given a good tryout for places on the team are: Capt. H. L. Horton of Ukiah, in the hurdles and shot put, C. S. Morris of Pasadena, hurdles; W. D. Pemlee of Blue Cañon, hurdles; W. C. Cline, Jr., of Los Angeles, 100-yard dash and 220 hurdles; W. H. Gardner of Oroville, 100-yard dash; W. S. Porter of Santa Barbara, half mile; S. G. Sweet of Eldbridge, N. Y., 2 mile; B. W. Lee, Jr., of Los Angeles, half mile; C. B. Bradford of Ottawa, Ill., mile; W. M. Rawles of Los Angeles, 440-yard dash; R. B. Wheeler of Pasadena, quarter.

Intercollegiate Committee.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 25.—At the last session of the Executive Committee George Presley, football coach; J. E. Stewart, graduate-manager and R. W. Barrett, '04, were appointed Stanford representatives on the Intercollegiate Committee which has charge of all the intercollegiate athletic relations between Stanford and the University of California, setting the dates for the various contests and settling all disputes that arise over rules or their interpretation. The first meeting of the committee with its new personnel will be held at the opening of the year when the schedule for the season of 1909-10 will be arranged.

SEEK GAMES IN AMERICA.

London Football Wants to Play Stanford Series of Five Contests This Fall.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 25.—Manager Stewart of the football team has received a communication from E. MacEwan, manager of the United Hospitals Football Club of London, asking for a series of five games to be played here some time in December.

The United Hospitals team is composed of the best players taken from the medical colleges throughout England, and is a strong aggregation which annually defeats the team from Oxford and Cambridge. The high class of the hospitals fifteen is shown by the fact that each year they have from four to seven men on the national team which competes in Australia and New Zealand for the international championship.

The club members are especially desirous of securing a series as the Britishers wish to try their skill against the American college teams.

As the matters to be adjusted are those of the guarantee and the dates to be reserved there is small doubt that the English players will be seen on the campus before the close of the semester. Manager Stewart will immediately take the matter up with Manager Merritt of the University of California with a view of arranging for a joint series to be played with the winners of the intercollegiate match.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

BIG GAME IS PLENTIFUL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22.—Big game hunting in British Columbia is attracting considerable attention from American sportsmen. The grizzly, black and brown bear, cariboo, Rocky Mountain goat and sheep and other animals, besides excellent fishing, are to be obtained almost anywhere in Northern British Columbia, and this winter many American sportsmen probably will be showing their friends trophies from these hunting grounds.

Among the parties hunting big game in British Columbia this fall is one composed of Abraham Garfield of Cleveland, O., the youngest son of former President Garfield. He is accompanied by his cousins, L. Williams and A. D. Baldwin, also of Cleveland. Mr. Baldwin hunted in British Columbia in former years, and knows something of the sport to be obtained there. The party left the Canadian Pacific Railway at Lytton, and journeyed north about fifty miles by stage coach along the Fraser River to Lillooet, where they equipped themselves for their shooting trip.

While at Lillooet, the Garfield party met an old college companion, Percy Williams, M.E., of Los Angeles, who has charge of extensive placer mining operations being conducted along the Fraser River by Boston capitalists.

VENICE GUN CLUB SHOOT.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Topperwein to Give Exhibition of Fancy Shooting There.

The Venice Gun Club will hold an informal shoot on its grounds near the baseball park on Wednesday, in which Adolf Toppenwein and wife will participate, and which will be open to all comers.

Mr. and Mrs. Topperwein will shoot about 5000 rounds in their exhibition of fancy rifle and revolver practice.

Mile: Carew won, Kennewick second, Readall third; time, 1:40.

State Auto Fee.

Minnesota motorists are facing a hard fight in the Legislature for the revision of automobile laws, there being a general demand for the reëstablishment of the system of State registration abandoned two years ago. As an offset the Minneapolis Club proposes to exempt automobiles from taxation under personal property assessments, and to levy a State fee of from $5 to $75 based on the weight and power of the car.

SPEED TEST.

CLASSY CARD AT BRIGHTON.

Twenty-four-Hour Meet Will Attract Many.

Crack Drivers to Race on Fast Beach Course.

Entry List Includes Nine Events—Cash Prizes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Entry blanks for the international twenty-four-hour automobile race meet, under the auspices of the Motor Racing Association, are issued. The race will be held at the Brighton Beach track October 2 and 3, with the sanction of the Automobile Club of America.

The Automobile Club has been asked to withdraw its sanction because it is claimed the Brighton Beach meet is not an international affair. The club has refused the request, having satisfied itself that the management of the meet is acting in good faith. There will be several fast foreign cars in the big event, and also in the short races.

The Brighton Beach course is fast. The events this year are very interesting, and a large crowd is expected. From the fact that Montague Roberts will be seen in a Thomas car, De Palma and Capra in Fiat cars, and Lewis Strang in a Renault, the public has a right to expect one of the classiest meets of the year.

The regular short events, beginning Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock include the following:

Two miles—Gasoline stock cars under $1250.

Five miles—Gasoline stock cars from $2001 to and including $3000.

Mile record trials, free-for-all, cash prize of $200 in addition to the trophy, will be given to the driver breaking the Brighton Beach one-mile track record of 54 seconds. Should more than one driver succeed in breaking the second, the prize will be awarded to the one making the best time.

Ten miles—Gasoline stripped stock cars or chassis, $4001 and over.

Five miles, free-for-all (if more than two starters this race must be run in heats)—Cash prize of $200 to winning driver.

Five miles—Gasoline stock cars, selling from $3001 to and including $4000.

Five miles—six-cylinder stripped stock cars or chassis.

International twenty-four-hour endurance contest, open to stripped stock cars or stock chassis, the motors of which have a minimum piston area of 63.617 square inches. All cars to be in accordance with catalogue specifications, except as to gasoline and oil equipment. Three drivers may be named in this event. The prizes are: First, $750; second, $400; third, $250, and fourth, $100.

Among the drivers are, for the Allen Kingston entry, Tod Sloan, Ed Crane and E. V. Rippingille; for the Simplex, Lescault and George Robinson. The Losier cars will be driven again by Mulford, Lynch, Michener and Cobe. The drivers nominated for the Thomas entries are Montague, Roberts, Salzman and Martin.

The Fiat cars will have as drivers De Palma, Capra and Parker. Lewis Strang will drive the Renault. The Stearns car will be driven by the same men as before, Laurent and Marquis. The Acme drivers are Cyrus A. Patschke and Charles B. Rodgers. The Michelin Tire Company again offer cash prizes to the drivers in winning cars equipped with their tires—$250 first, $150 second, and $100 third.

HAMILTON'S DEFEAT OF HIS ASSAILANTS.

Now that the quarrel among the directors of the Los Angeles Racing Association has been settled, temporarily at least, and the sports have had time to think over the situation, it is conceded that the selection of A. W. Hamilton to serve as presiding judge at Arcadia during the fall and winter racing season was the only solution possible in the circumstances.

Judge Hamilton has never been belligerent in his dealings with the racing men, and because some of the bookmakers and owners could not draw him into their schemes for running races, he incurred their enmity. Judge Hamilton's honesty has never been questioned.

H[illegible] as judge is considered a vindication of his principles, as well as a triumph over those who would have done him injury. It also means that Hamilton need not fear to rule off any offenders, whether it be directors of the track, prominent horsemen, or the humblest owner. The chief motive accredited to those opposed to him was one of revenge for ruling off horses and setting down jockeys of prominent officials and owners who were alleged to have been mixed up in shady transactions on the course.

CHESS, CHECKERS.

The chess players of the Los Angeles Athletic Club proposed a team match of five men on a side to the Court-Street Chess and Checker Club, which was accepted at once. Details are now under discusion with a view toward an early date for the engagement. It seems probable that Sunday will be found the most available day for play, a single evening hardly being considered sufficient for the purpose without risking an adjudication of some of the games.

The position which Los Angeles now occupies in the checker world is hardly understood by the public, which probably is unaware that no place west of Kansas City can furnish players capable of withstanding the local experts. After his San Francisco triumphs, W. J. Bowe returned to play a drawn match with T. E. Warren, with a score of 5 each and 40 draws. This showing by the youngster Warren was a surprise even to his friends, and is candidly recognized by Bowe as of great strength and merit.

A series of carefuly-played games between F. S. Hogue and Bowe was pulled off during the vacation of the former, the result of ten games being one win for Hogue, the remainder drawn. This makes a total of 15 games contested between the two experts within the last year, the score standing as follows: Bowe, 2; Hogue, 1; drawn, 12.

The atmosphere of Berlin seems more favorable to Tarrasch in his efforts to secure the chess championship of the world from Lasker, he having scored two games and drawn one out of the last four reported.

Tarrasch won the tenth, Lasker the eleventh, and Tarrasch the twelfth of the match, at which time the score stood: Lasker, 6; Tarrasch 3; drawn, 3. As eight games scored by either decides the match, it follows that Tarrasch was then in such position that he could afford Lasker but one more game, while himself under the necessity of scoring five in order to win. The man who could beat Lasker five games to one has not heretofore appeared.

After the fifth game, at the Ruy Lopez attack, Lasker resorted to the French defense, in the sixth, and secured a draw. Tarrasch retorted by using the same defense in the seventh, and the opening has been adopted in several games of the match.

(b) Dr. Lasker playing the same variation as in the third game might have raised Dr. Tarrasch's suspicion that he had found an improved continuation, beginning with B—Kt5. He might, therefore, have altered the defense likewise and abstained from weakening the king's side pawns, which seems an alternative.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

REULBACH WINS TWICE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BROOKLYN, Sept. 26.—Every one of the 12,000 people who witnessed the two games played today between the Chicago and Brooklyn teams was impressed with the cleanest work of the world's champions. Capt. Chance elected Reulbach to pitch the first game, with Kling behind the bat. That he made no mistake in his choice was fully proven by the 5 to 0 shutout scored by Reulbach and Chance sent the same battery back to work in the second game.

Reulbach did not seem to be a bit tired. He played his position so effectively that a 3 to 0 shutout was the result. Superb ball in every detail was played by the visitors and the only one to make a misplay was Reulbach in the second game. He received errorless support by all of his clubmates. Scores:

First game.
Chicago, 5; hits, 10; errors, 0.
Brooklyn, 0; hits, 5; errors, 3.
Batteries—Reulbach and Kling; Wilhelm and Dunn.
Second game.
Chicago, 3; hits, 5; errors, 1.
Brooklyn, 0; hits, 3; errors, 1.
Batteries—Reulbach and Kling; Pastorious and Dunn.
Umpires—Owen and Emslie.

BOSTON SHUT OUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—Pittsburgh defeated Boston today in a well played game. Score:

Pittsburgh, 5; hits, 9; errors, 1.
Boston, 0; hits, 6; errors, 0.
Batteries—Willis and Gibson; Mattern, Lindaman and Bowerman.
Umpire—O'Day.

TEAMS BREAK EVEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Philadelphia broke even with St. Louis today. Score:

Philadelphia, 1; hits, 7; errors, 0.
Batteries—Lush and Moren; Covalski and Dooin.
Umpire—Rigler.

TWO FOR GIANTS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Steadied by Mathewson's strong right arm, the New York team today atoned in part for yesterday's double-header defeat by landing a double-header victory from Cincinnati, the scores being 6 to 2, and 3 to 1.

The 32,000 spectators who had followed the plays with great enthusiasm, left the field at the close, convinced that New York can get the pennant, for the complete reversal of its unattractive form of yesterday seemed to indicate that Manager McGraw was right when he expressed the opinion this afternoon that the setback resulting from yesterday would be easily overcome.

But Chicago's duplication of her double victory with Brooklyn means that New York must put up a high grade of baseball in the remaining eleven games it has to play.

Chicago has but six more games to play before the end of the season.

Mathewson's pitching was the feature of the first game. There was never a doubt what the result would be. In the second game Tenney lined out a home run. Scores:

First game:
Cincinnati, 2; hits, 6; errors, 2.
New York, 6; hits, 12; errors, 1.
Batteries—Ewing and Schlei; Mathewson and Bresnahan.
Second game:
Cincinnati, 1; hits, 4; errors, 1.
New York, 3; hits, 10; errors, 3.
Batteries—Dubec and McLean; Ames and Bresnahan.
Umpires—Johnson and Klem.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

CLEVELAND STILL LEADS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—Cleveland held on to first place today by winning from Washington, in the most exciting and enthusiastic game of the season. After the game the crowd with three bands paraded the field for half an hour. Score:

Cleveland, 5; hits, 12; errors, 6.
Washington, 4; hits, 9; errors, 2.
Batteries—Joss, Liebhardt and Clark; Hughes, Johnson and Street.

DONOVAN IN FORM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—Only one man passed first base on Donovan until the ninth and seven batters struck out in the first three innings. The visitors got four clean hits in the ninth and had two men on bases when the game ended. Scores:

Detroit, 3; hits, 12; errors, 0.
Philadelphia, 2; hits, 7; errors, 0.
Batteries—Donovan and Schmidt; Plank and Powers.

NEW YORK BLANKED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Chicago shut New York out today. Score:

Chicago, 1; hits, 8; errors, 0.
New York, 0; hits, 6; errors, 1.
Batteries—Smith, Altrock and Schreck; Wilson, Chesbro, Hilliard and Blair, Sweeney.

ARELLANES WINS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—Boston defeated St. Louis again today, Arellanes shutting out the locals. Score:

St. Louis, 0; hits, 9; errors, 1.
Boston, 2; hits, 8; errors, 0.

SIMON GRAFTED.

BOSTON CLUB STEALS HIM.

In answer to several inquiries it is stated that there is not a chance for the Los Angeles team to get Catcher Simon for next year, for the reason that the National Commission has worked a new graft scheme on the local club that easily cheats it out of the player.

It will be remembered that Simon and Howard were bought by Los Angeles from Cedar Rapids during the first week in August and the money sent, it being received August 16. The understanding was that the two players were not to report here until after the Three-I season closed, September 14.

It seems that the Boston Nationals happende to hear of Simon, and drafted him, and now Secretary Farrell of the National Commission rules that all such minor league players purchased must report to the purcahsing club before August 20. There is nothing in the National Commission rules that says this must be done, and this far away it looks as if Farrell was making a rule to help the Boston team get Simon. Pretty cheap way the big grafters have of skinning the minor clubs.

CALIFORNIA LEAGUE.

COMING ON THE HOME STRETCH.

Double-header games in the California League will be played today between the Hoegees and Athletics at Athletic Park, and between the Chutes and Edisons at Chutes Park. The contests will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

With but two more Sundays to play before the close of the summer league series, the teams are playing their best ball. The Edisons lead with one game ahead of Hoegees, but the latter team expects to win out in the remaining games.

A number of good fast league players from the eastern and Coast Leagues are engaged to play with the different teams in the winter series, which opens within a few weeks. Among the men signed are Johnson and Street of Washington Americans who will be found with the Santa Ana team; Leibhart and Clark with Azusa; Marquard and Smith with San Diego; Snodgrass Carson and Carlisle with Hoegees; Gilray and Wolfe with Pasadena; Tobey and Spencer with McCormicks; McCay, Briswalter and Easterly with the Edisons.

The line-up of the teams is as follows:

PLAY LAST GAME.

HAAS-BARUCHS WIN.

The Haas-Baruch baseball nine defeated the Globe Mills yesterday afternoon at Thirty-eighth and Santa Fé, the score being 5 to 1. The winners will disband immediately after a successful season, having won nine straight games. Houlsby has twirled in all the contests and backed by excellent support, the team has defeated all comers.

BASEBALL IN ARIZONA.

Proposition to Organize Winter League in Addition to Annual Tournament.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 25.—There is a strong probability that Phoenix, Tucson, Bisbee and Douglas will organize semi-professional baseball teams for the Arizona winter season. Tucson proposes to have a baseball tournament this fall, the prizes amounting to $1500.

At the Territorial Fair in November athletics will form a considerable part of the programme. Medals and prizes have been provided by the directors for races and other contests of a field day, to which will be admitted teams from the university and other schools of the Territory. An exception to the usual order of entertainment will be provided in firemen's races, for which cash prizes amounting to $600 have been set aside. An especial firemen's entertainment will be given Wednesday night of fair week.

Smoke at the open end of a cylinder indicates that there is a sand hole in the piston, that there are leaky rings or that the lubricating oil in the cylinder is decomposed by the heat. Black smoke at the end of the exhaust pipe means an oversupply of fuel, and white smoke a surplus of lubricating oil in the cylinder.

Seventy-five cars are expected to enter the Motor Parkway Sweepstakes, which will open the new Long Island speedway on October 10. Cars of every class, selling from $1000 up, are eligible. The larger ones will make ten laps, 250 miles, and the smaller ones from four to eight laps, according to their selling price.

WINTER YACHT RACES.

boats develops the finest of sailors and skippers for the larger racers. Nothing has built up Corinthianism in yachting as has the racing of small boats of low cost. Contracts for the boats will soon be let and those who want their boats in the water with the rest of the fleet had better get in communication with Secretary Best of the South Coast Yacht Club.

SAN DIEGO, TOO.

The dory enthusiasm has spread from Los Angeles to San Diego and yachtsmen in the southern city are thinking of building a class of six boats exactly like the boats to be built for the local club. This will afford great sport as the dories can be easily towed from San Pedro to San Diego, or vice versa and interclub regattas sailed. This would do much to promote the sport along the south coast.

No Questions Allowed.

When a certain member of President Roosevelt's Cabinet took up his portfolio he was much impressed by the businesslike rapidity with which his colored messenger fed him with a great number of papers and letters to sign.

One day the Secretary was going through the process like a well-oiled machine, the messenger shuffling the documents toward him one by one and carefully arranging them on their return trip.

All at once the Secretary's attention was attracted by a few words in a letter. They held his attention for some time. He began to harbor some doubt. "What's all this about, anyway?" the Secretary murmured to himself.

Whereupon the messenger indicated with his finger a certain blank space in the paper. "I don't know what the nature of the paper is, sir," he said, in a decisive tone that brooked no contradiction, "but you puts your name right there, sir."—[Lippincott's Magazine.

DEER NEAR SANTA MONICA.

Two Fine Bucks Shot in the Hills Back of the Log Cabin—Parties Prepare Trip.

Councilman R. H. Dow of Santa Monica enjoyed a successful day of sport in the Santa Monica Mountains last week, when, with the assistance of the guides, Peter Marquez and Chester Galvani, he killed two bucks, weighing respectively 150 and 130 pounds, and an enormous rattlesnake.

The deer were shot within three miles of the "Log Cabin," and the snake in the vicinity of Las Tunas. The reptile was so offensive to the horse used for the purpose of packing the deer to Lawton's Cañon resort that it was necessary to blindfold the animal in order to manage him.

Other parties are preparing to pass the last week of the deer season in the same hills.

I Cure Men

A physician is not entitled to his pay until he has done his work, and should not ask it any more than a laborer should ask for his wages in advance. That I have entire confidence in my methods of curing Men's Diseases is best demonstrated by my offer to cure first and collect my fee when the patient is well.

DR. MILES, The Master Specialist.

A Fee That Is Just

$10 My Fee in Any Uncomplicated Case.

I realize that I am making a radical departure from the methods of the old fossil specialists in the city by making such a nominal fee as $10 in uncomplicated cases. They are dumbfounded in figuring out how it can be done, and are trying to retaliate with deceptive schemes of "free" treatment. Of course this is fraud on the very face of it, and the prospective patient with sound sense will not look farther into the trap. The secret of low fees is very simple. Quick and thorough methods that cure in the shortest time cost the least. The usual length of time required is from three to ten days, and $10 is ample fee for the service.

The reason I have placed my fee at the above figure is that I want every weak or debilitated man to avail himself of my treatment, no matter whether he be a millionaire or wage-earner. My immense practice alone enables me to do this. In this practice of my profession it has ever been my chief aim to offer my skill to as great a number of sufferers as possible. My first care is to alleviate suffering wherever I find it, regardless of the sufferer's social or financial status.

I GUARANTEE A CURE

What I offer to do for the above-named fee no other physician or specialist could do for you for any amount, no matter how great. The reason is that I am the only medical practioner who GUARANTEES a cure of all the ailments of men. I can make such a guarantee, because I know that my methods never fail to cure every case I accept for treatment. If, after diagnosing a case, I have any doubt as to whether I can cure it, I positively refuse to treat it. In point of fact, however, 90 per cent of the cases that come to me are curable—and I cure them—by my treatment.

I Cure Many So-Called Incurable Cases

No matter if you have been pronounced incurable by others, don't hesitate to come to me for treatment. I have cured hundreds of men who were told they were incurable. But bear in mind that my methods will cure cases that are practically incurable by any other treatment. My methods are original with me, and are known to no other physician.

I am a specialist in the Diseases of Men, and Men only, and have further confined my practice to the special and private disorders known as VARICOCELE, WEAKNESS, HYDROCELE and CONTRACTED DISEASES. From a study of twenty years, I claim to know all about these ailments, not only from the standpoint of theory, but from a large active practice. I can quickly recognize any curable ailment and arrange a course of treatment which will PROVE ACTUAL RESULTS FROM THE VERY FIRST DAY.

Not a Dollar Need Be Paid Until Cured

Varicocele

There is no necessity for surgical operations in the treatment of Varicocele. This disease yields completely to my mild and painless methods, and results are far better than were ever attained by the harsh and dangerous practice of cutting. But one week is required, and seldom is it even necessary to detain the patient from his business.

Stricture

In the treatment of stricture I have again triumphed over surgery. I employ an original method by which the obstructing tissue is completely dissolved and all inflammation and irritation throughout the system involved is completely removed. No pain, no cutting, no dilating, and a sure cure in every instance.

Contracted Disorders

The serious results that may follow neglect of contracted diseases could scarcely be exaggerated. Safety demands an absolutely thorough cure in the least possible time. I have treated more cases of contracted disorders than any other physician upon the Pacific Coast. My cures are thorough, and are accomplished in less time than other forms of treatment require in producing even doubtful results. I employ remedies of my own devising, and my treatment is equally effective in both recent and chronic cases.

Weakness

"Weakness" is not a nervous disorder, demanding a tonic system of treatment, but is merely a symptom of chronic inflammation or congestion in the prostate gland. This condition exists as a result of early disorder and requires carefully directed local measures only. By my own original methods the prostate gland is quickly restored to its normal state, which results in full and complete return of strength and vigor. My cures are permanent because the condition responsible for the functional disorder is entirely removed, and I am convenced that by no treatment other than my own carefully directed local measures is a radical cure of this ailment possible.

Free Consultation

I do not charge for advice, examination or diagnosis. If you call for a private talk with me you will not be urged to begin treatment. If impossible to call, write.

MEN

Stop That Ailment or Complaint

It is really a short step to strength and health if that step is in the right direction. If you have taken the wrong step, just come in and have a friendly chat with me.

I'll tell you how I cure just such cases as yours, what the cost will be and about the time it will take.

My services are those of an expert who has devoted his whole life to the one study—men's complaints.

Very many men who are ailing do not know how really simple a thing it is to get well in the hands of a specialist who knows his business.

I can and do cure any complaint peculiar to men.
I treat every case privately.
I furnish all medicines free.
I have every appliance that could possibly be necessary to cure men.
A small amount, wholly within your means, clearly understood in advance, is my fee.
I charge nothing for consultation.

You are personally acquainted with many of the Packard owners in Los Angeles, and you know them to be representative of our business, financial, and social interests. Their judgment is sought and considered in all matters, and when it came to automobiles, they bought PACKARDS.

Before you invest $5000 in a car, ask these owners why they bought PACKARDS, and if they would buy another PACKARD, and would they advise you to buy a PACKARD. You cannot afford to disregard their judgment and experience.

The next point is the responsibility of the house handling the car you buy. Are parts carried in stock or would it be necessary for you to wait weeks to get parts from the factory, because accidents occur to any car? A first-class shop is essential. No matter how good the car may be, it requires a thorough overhauling after being run 10,000 miles. Would you feel satisfied to turn over $3000 worth of intricate machinery to amateurs?

In a year or two you may want to exchange your car and if the agency has been discontinued, or the dealer from whom you bought has closed shop (this has happened in Los Angeles) you would be at a great disadvantage.

There are more PACKARDS in Los Angeles than all other so-called high-grade cars put together. Before you buy, talk with the MAN WHO OWNS ONE.

Chalmers' Detroit "30"

IS WHAT WE KNEW WOULD COME

It is not the afterthought of a bad year's business, but the forethought of experienced builders.

While dealers are telling you fairy stories, and showing you blueprints and forecasting the future, we are delivering CHALMERS-DETROIT "30" to our customers—four last week. Call and examine the marvelous car. IMMEDIATE DELIVERIES.

CHEAP CARS—If the question of cheapness is going to govern your selection of an automobile, and you are to follow this proposition to its logical conclusions, you will be riding in the high-wheel "spider" with the rope drive. But if you are going to secure the greatest value for your money you will ride in a Chalmers-Detroit "30." It is not a question of cheapness, but of value.

You cannot beat the game—when you buy a good car you pay your repair bills when you pay for the car. Buy a poor car and you pay your repair bills afterward—and a lot more.

A pretty good automobile is like a "pretty good egg," rather unsatisfactory any way you take it.

Call and examine this marvelous car. We are receiving shipments of six per week, and can make immediate deliveries.

FINE AVERAGES OF CRICKETERS.

Meggett and Bhumgara Share Bowling Honors.

Hurditch and Higgins Head the Batting List.

Centuries Form Conspicuous Features of Season.

BY MARSHALL D. TAYLOR.

Complete lists of the batting and bowling averages of Southern California cricket clubs for the season ending September [illegible], 1908, shows that Meggett and Bhumgara lead the bowling and Hurditch and Higgins lead the batting list.

In the interleague matches between the Wanderer, Zingari and Maryle[illegible] teams, only those bowlers who have played five innings in either of the above teams have qualified for place in the averages. Those who have played in less than five interleague matches are tabulated in the column devoted to "other batters."

The Los Angeles Cricket Club averages [illegible] interleague matches, [illegible] games between [illegible] and Santa Monica and [illegible] with the visiting team from [illegible] Ariz. Like the interleague averages, five innings must have been played to qualify for place. Those falling short of this number will find their [illegible] and corresponding averages in the "other batters" columns. This applies also to the bowling averages. Several members of the Los Angeles and Santa Monica cricket clubs played [illegible] as substitutes for visiting teams, in which case their innings were credited to the team for which they played.

GLENDALE TENNIS.

Finals Reached in Some Events but Tournament Will Run Through Next Week.

Yesterday a large crowd attended the second division of the third annual tennis tournament for the championship of the San Fernando Valley, which is being held under the auspices of the Glendale Country Club. It was expected that all the events would be completed last week, but as the rain interfered with the playing, the tourney will be concluded next Saturday.

The feature of yesterday's playing was the match between Stanton and Howe and Whittaker and McLafferty in the men's doubles. Misses McLafferty and Shults won first place in the ladies' doubles; Morrow and Benson won first honors from Lawrence and Waite in the junior doubles, and Misses McLafferty and Shults took first place in the [illegible] doubles.

Summary:

Ladies' doubles—Misses Ellias and [illegible] beat Misses Cross and George, [illegible]; Misses McLafferty and Shults beat Misses [illegible] and Stone, 6-2, 6-2.

[illegible]—Miss Stone beat Miss [illegible]—Miss Stone beat [illegible] 6-8, 8-7, 6-1.

[illegible]—Morrow and Benson beat [illegible] and Waite, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3.
